The building and site committee has already tackled the biggest task, that is the job of choosing the location. The committee is making a careful study of the available site in the centre of the town, where the old wooden arena stands. They will report back to the executive board by a week from this Monday.

In the meantime the executive has arranged for a motorcade of five boats with committee members to Whitby this Tuesday night for the purpose of showing them the Community Centre building there.

WANT CAR'S DESCRIPTION.

Police today are endeavoring to ascertain the description of a car and number plate seen at the Queensway Hotel corner last night, went off the road, knocked off a mail box and post and continued on. Mrs. M. Ambrose's yard a few feet short of the house. Marks on the lawn indicated that the car turned around and proceeded without the driver reporting to police. Measurements show that from the time the driver left the hotel until the car travelled 43 paces.

B.C. Conservative Leader Assails 'National Leader'

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Deane Finlayson, provincial Progressive Conservative leader, said Friday night that he will resign as the Conservative Party in British Columbia feel Opposition Leader George Drew has let them down."

Mr. Finlayson was met by reporters when he arrived for today's quarterly meeting of the provincial executive.

Mr. Finlayson said attempts had been made to have the executive meeting turned into a personal dispute between himself and Mr. Drew to obscure the real cause of friction among B.C. Progressive Conservatives.

PEOPLE AND LEADER

He said the cause of the friction "apparently lies in the fact that certain people in the party want a national leader" and not a question of B.C. Finlayson attempting to take over provincial leadership prerogative in B.C.

The federal faction got in the first blows Friday when Les Bewley, personal representative of Mr. Drew arrived here with Howard Green, member of parliament for Vancouver-Quadra.

Mr. Bewley said the dispute stems from Mr. Drew's insistence earlier this year that he would maintain control of the party's federal affairs in B.C. at a stand which, Mr. Bewley said, Mr. Finlayson had apparently found to be unacceptable.

SAID RIDICULOUS

"The suggestion that Mr. Finlayson take over complete control of the party in British Columbia, both provincial and federal," Mr. Bewley said, "is about as ridiculous as would be the case if Premier Duplessis tried to assume control of post offices, federal public works, the Canadian National Railways and the Trans-Canada Airlines."

Forest Protection Service Has Eye on Motorist

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's forest protection service has its eye on the motorist employing the 8,000 miles of roads that wind through northern Ontario.

As provincial road builders cut swaths through the sweeping forest lands the service moves in to set up its travel permit system, thus controlling to a great extent the danger of forest fire occurrences as well as keeping tab on wandering tourists.

Service chief T. E. Mackey said in an interview that his department has control gates established at the entrance to most of the roads in the 18 fire districts which stretch roughly from Midland, on Georgian bay, east of Arnprior.

PERMIT REQUIRED

To travel over these northern routes, the motorist must obtain a permit at the control gate. On it he must state where he intends to travel and how long he estimates it will take him. By signing the permit he also acknowledges his responsibilities under the Forest Fires Prevention Act.

Any infractions, such as travelling without a permit makes the offending motorist liable to a fine ranging from $25 to $500.

In addition to the permit, the motorist also receives a short lecture on forest fire prevention. He is also warned to be on the lookout for wild animals that take to the roads at night.

"We haven't experienced too much difficulty with the system," said Mr. Mackey. "There has been co-operation all around.

STARTED FOREST FIRE

One incident, in 1953, does stand out. A transport truck loaded with chemicals and dynamite, travelling along the Trans-Canada highway to the northern gold camps, slid off the road and overturned in the ditch. The cargo exploded, setting off a forest fire that swept over several hundred acres.

Traffic over the northern roads has shown a marked increase each year. In 1953, the year the latest figures are available, 124,193 permits were issued, covering 435,000 persons. In the previous year 114,096 permits were handed out for 422,928 persons.

8 Contracts Submitted

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario highway department said Friday leaders for eight road-building contracts have been submitted, including a $416,780 bid by McHaffie-Hall Construction Co. for a build ing a heavy gravel base on 18 miles of the trans-Canada highway near Fort William.

The next lowest bid for this project was $534,876 by McNamara Construction Co. Other bids went as high as $722,015.

Other contracts included two Manitoulin island projects with lowest bids made by R. A. Hyatt. These were for a gravel base on 12 miles of secondary road from Little Current to West bay and a gravel base on 8½ miles of secondary road between Gore Bay and Kagawong.

A Lift For Living

Safety in the Heights

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

On every national holiday, the first question which more and more people ask is: "How many will be killed today?"

The Fourth of July celebration this year costs America 530 lives, including the 169 drownings and 77 dead in miscellaneous mishaps. In New York City alone, one person is injured every two minutes and one person is killed every two hours—by accidents, most of which could be prevented by carefulness.

Thank God, many people are now becoming safety-minded!

And certainly we are more security-conscious than any preceding generation. Due to the perils of the international situation, military security overshadows all other items in our national budget. Economic security is the goal for which we work, save, sacrifice, and insure ourselves—and how eagerly concerned we are about securing our health!

But in our search for security, which direction are we taking: down or up? The shelter about us around our cities usually point to cellars and caves. With too many, the sense of danger is driving us to seek shelter by going down rather than up. Instead of rising above ourselves, we tend to draw into ourselves.

TURTLE—MINDED SOULS

Many seek peace of mind in self - centered withdrawal from the rugged concerns of living. Many have diminished soul-shrink into a protective shell or unconcerned turtle, with head, neck, and tail, so we say colloquially, for any social advance.

Feeling that the world is filled with hostility, they expose themselves as little as possible. They button up their better natures, pull down their mental visors, and view the world through suspicion. Not a nation, they advocate isolation. For themselves, they try insulation.

Drawing into themselves, they also descend into their lower natures. Their thoughts dwell in the cellars of their minds, down among the mind-bugs and rats and the preserved bitterness. Why am I writing in this third person? We are all caught in the current trend. We are prone to assume the worst in others. Thus the dangers of our day turn our thoughts from the best man to the beast in men.

LIVE ON DEFENSIVE

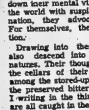
We live on the defensive. Distrust begets distrust. In short, our search for security is driving us more and more toward the caveman attitude of shelter.

In contrast to all this, why not try taking an upward direction to security? Consider, for example, the security given by high thoughts. When our thinking rises above low, selfish, petty matters, our minds become clearer and thereby better able to confront the real issue of life.

High thinking lifts us above the hysteria and propaganda of the demagogue to the sanity leadership, above blind partisanship to broad statesmanship. High-mindedness lifts us above petty insults and the ravages of little worries and personal grudges.

In the early days of the Southern Confederacy, General Robert E. Lee was severly critized by General Whiting. It might have been expected that Lee would wait for a time when he could get even. One day came when President Jefferson Davis asked General Lee to come for consultation.

HIGH MINDED



Davis wanted to know what Lee thought of General Whiting. Without hesitation, Lee commended Whiting in high terms. As officer present drew Lee aside and suggest that he must not know what unkind things Whiting had been saying about him.

Lee answered: "I understood that the President desired to know my opinion of Whiting, not Whiting's opinion of me."

A person whose mind travels on a high level, like Lee's, does not collide with a lower-minded man who may be traveling at cross-purposes. Why can we not organize our "mind traffic" somewhat on the same principle that we have developed our motor traffic? We have built overpasses and underpasses on many highways, so that traffic can cross at right angles without interference. Why those who dislike us want to take the low road, let us take the high road.

And as with persons, so with nations. Instead of trying to meet the Kremlin on its own level of concealments and falsehood, let us pass it on the higher level of frankness and truth.

Now is the time when we need to pray the prayer of the Psalmist: "Lead me to the rock that is higher than I." He knew that the surest safety is in the heights.

What to do...

FOR AN UNCONSCIOUS PERSON

Insensibility—loss of consciousness because of interruption of the action of the brain—is a grave condition and even if it is only for a short duration it should never be taken lightly, says St. John Ambulance.

Among the things that can cause insensibility are; shock, fainting, asphyxia, sever bleeding, poisoning, a blow on the head, a stroke, epilepsy, hysteria, inflammation—violations or the effects of excessive heat. Some less common causes are: diabetes, insulin overdose, starvation, a brain tumor or abscess, meningitis or infantile paralysis.

Practically every one of these causes has its own signs and symptoms, as well as its own treatment. However, for the untrained person there are a number of rules that apply to all cases. These are:

1. If the patient has stopped breathing, perform artificial respiration.

2. If the patient is breathing, lay him on his back with his head turned to one side so that his tongue does not fall back into his throat. His head and shoulders are low if his face is pale. If the face is flushed or a livid bluish-red, raise the head and shoulders unless other injuries prevent this.

3. Undo all tight clothing about the neck, chest and waist.

4. Be sure he gets an abundance of fresh air. Open windows and doors if he is inside and remove him from harmful gases. Keep a crowd back.

5. If he is outside, move him to shelter on a stretcher as soon as possible.

GIVE NO FOOD

6. Give no food or fluids whatever by the mouth while he is insensible—he can't swallow and these would only choke him.

7. Don't leave him until he has been placed in the charge of another responsible person.

8. When he returns to consciousness water may be given to drink in sips. If the pulse is feeble give him hot strong tea or coffee sweetened by sugar. Nothing to drink or eat should be given, however, if bleeding from an internal organ is apparent or suspected.

A dector to sleep should be encouraged except in cases of poisoning by drugs taken to relieve pain or produce sleep.

A doctor should always be called as quickly as possible.

A patient who has been unconscious for even a moment after being hit on the head should be advised not to resume physical or mental activity without the consent of a doctor.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

INVISIBILITY

When certain acquaintances loom up before us as we hurry along the street, we frequently wish we could make ourselves invisible. All birds practise camouflage continually, but some birds are more adept at it than others. Not only has Mother Nature given them suitable costumes for their surroundings, but the trick of how to conduct themselves in the face of danger.

Nighthawks have cleverly appropriated the flat roofs of man-made buildings as nesting sites. Their mottled brown and white plumage blends perfectly with the pebbles. Mrs. Nighthawk lays two whitish eggs, scribbled over with greyish brown, directly on the gravel; and when these hatch, the fluffy little balls of greyish white blotched with brown can barely be recognized as live birds.

The home chosen by the American bittern is usually a marsh of messed up cattails and grasses. This makes a perfect setting for the streaked yellow brown bird. Its nest of dead leaves and plant stems, and the buffy brown eggs. When suddenly disturbed, the bittern assumes a stick-like posture capable of fooling even a seasoned naturalist.

Camouflage plays a very important part in the life of a killdeer plover. Actually nesting in plain sight, it depends on colouration and irregular pattern to hide it from view.

Soft brown feathers on the upper side blend in with the barren stony ground often favored. The white underparts are crossed by two brown bars, and the face pattern of brown and white is a splendid disguise. Pale buffy eggs, scrawled with blackish, sometimes lie for a slight depression, but are often right on the ground. The greatest danger is that we step on them by mistake if the mother is away from them.

A particularly wise mother is the buffed grouse, whose pattern-like plumage of mottled black, brown or grey blends into the surrounding foliage of the deep woods. She builds her nest in a hollow in the ground near the base of a tree, stump, or rock, amidst low bushes, or hidden under a fallen log. This she fills with dead leaves. Each time she goes of her buffy brown, spotted eggs, the leaves scatter over them.

For Parents Only Your Child Is Sick

By NANCY CLEAVER

Your child is sick! Suddenly the sun has stopped shining over your part of the world. You are anxious and eager to get him better just as fast as possible.

If you are in doubt whether or not your child's symptoms are serious, do not consult a relative or a friend for advice about sickness. Phone your doctor's office.

It is a good plan to jot down the details you want his office nurse to know such as the degree of your child's temperature, etc. If the doctor is out or occupied, leave your phone number, or that of a nearby neighbor if wpossible, if your call is not urgent.

(If you consider you need a doctor quickly, explain why, and leave it to his judgment to make a home call as soon as he can. Most members of the medical profession have long hours crowded with work. They like to plan their time carefully. Often they have to do the best they can to answer almost simultaneous calls from different directions.

SYMPTOMS ONSET SUDDENLY

Parents soon discover that their child may be well one day and over night he may suddenly develop symptoms which are disturbing. This is apt to alarm mothers in the late summer and autumn months when polio is prevalent in many areas.

What are polio's varied symptoms? Sometimes there is a moderate fever, a stiff sore throat, headache and drowsiness. Occasionally the person is irritable and vomits. Pain or stiffness in the neck should be immediately suspected. In this case, what is to consult a doctor or health authority if in doubt. During the first acute stage keep the child in bed. It is the worst possible thing to do—for example—to let a child run about and care in a hospital. There, everything is done to give the patient the best chance for recovery. The isolation rule is a protection to the members of the family. The trained attendants at a hospital also know the best way to treat and assist the polio patient during the convalescing period. The doctor is the key man in the polio battle, and he helps those whose muscles are permanently damaged, to learn how best to accept and live with their handicap.

The polio virus is so tiny that it cannot be seen by ordinary microscopes. The proven source of the virus are discharges from the throat, nose or bowels of the infected person. Scientists suspect that this virus enters the patient through the nose or mouth, then travels by way of the blood stream to the nerve cells in the spinal cord and lower portions of the brain.

"What is the child's temperature?" is one of the first questions a doctor often asks. Homemakers should keep a thermometer on hand. Every home should be equipped with a first aid kit. This must be kept stocked with the necessary equipment. Basic supplies should include sterile bandages, bandaids, adhesive, scissors, iodine, aromatic spirits of ammonia, rubbing alcohol (labeled poison) baking soda, petroleum jelly, five grain tablets or aspirin, thermometer. All drugs should be labeled and kept out of reach of small children. A lock on the door is a safeguard from exploring small fingers.

A mother will find a simple guide book on child care invaluable which includes directions for the treatment of diseases and accidents. The provincial and federal Departments of Health are to be commended on their literature. "Up the Years from one to Six" (King's Printer, Ottawa) is especially good. Ask your Department of Health about this book or write direct to the Information Services Division, Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

"TEN THOUSAND TIMES TEN THOUSAND"

Ten thousand times ten thousand,
In sparkling raiment bright,
The armies of the ransomed saints
Throng up the steps of light:
'Tis finished, all is finished,
Their fight with death and sin:
Fling open wide the golden gates,
And let the victors in!

What rush of hallelujahs
Fills all the earth and sky!
What ringing of a thousand harps
Bespeaks the triumph nigh!
O day, for which creation
And all its tribes were made!
O joy, for all its former woes
A thousand-fold repaid!

Bring near thy great salavation,
Thou Lamb for sinners slain;
Fill up the roll of thine elect,
Then take thy power and reign;
Appear, Desire of nations!
Thine exiles long for home;
Show in the heavens thy promised sign;
Thou Prince and Savior, come!

"TEN THOUSAND TIMES TEN THOUSAND"

The rewards which await faithfulness of Christ on resurrection day are vividly described in the fourth chapter of I Thessalonians. The Bible passage pictures Christ's return to the earth to call His saints to their heavenly rest:

"For the Lord Himself shall descend from Heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

"Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord".

The Rev. Henry Alford, famous English theologian, tried to give the same picture in his beautiful hymn, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand", which many Christians consider the finest of all his poems. It first appeared in a volume entitled "Years Of Praise" which had been his preaching sta-

1867. When he died four years later there was an impressive funeral service at Canterbury Cathedral, which has been his preaching station, and as he was being buried in the little churchyard nearby church members sang his resurrection day hymn.

When a tombstone was placed at his grave, his friends inscribed upon it the legend which Dr. Alford himself had chosen, some months before his death.

NO PROBLEM FOR A SOUT

Johnny Coughlin, 33, of Cork, Ireland, is a man with a problem.

If he is to inherit a farm and $8,000 he must marry by November 12th of this year. And he doesn't want a wife.

Having no experience as a marriage broker we must regretfully decline to act as intermediary for the coy young maidens forming a line to the right.

The plight of Johnny Coughlin is the doing of his uncle, Thomas Coughlin, a childless widower, who died last November 12th. Unless Johnny finds a wife, farm and money go to charity.

Relatives and friends eager to see that Johnny doesn't lose his inheritance have introduced him to almost every comely lass in Cork: Johnny, who is handsome, is also shy, and merely repeats, "I don't want a wife."

The path of true romance is never smooth at any time, but in the case of Johnny Coughlin the Fates seemed aligned against him. He has the twin obstacles of a farm and $8,000 to win.

In the first place it will be difficult for him to believe that he is being pursued by all the comely maidens in Cork for himself alone. The thought of such intrigue on this shyness that possibly the girls are interested in his inheritance.

In the second place the farm and the $8,000 pose a handicap for the famed and fabled charms of the girls in Cork. It may just intrude upon the romantic dreams of these lovely ladies that they are being wooed less for their long tresses and flashing eyes than for their signatures on a deed to a farm. And what man cares to contemplate long quiet winter nights by the hearth with the stillness broken only by the dulcet tones of his bride reciting her inevitable suspicion, "You only married me for your inheritance."

It is impossible, at this point, to recommend the rack for Johnny Coughlin's uncle for placing him in this intolerable position.

When one considers the well-known fact that Irish lads have their heads turned romantically sometime after the age of puberty, the nature of an uncle's bequest in rushing a broth of a boy into matrimony at the relatively tender age of 33 stands revealed for the scurvy trick it is.

We can, however, offer our heartiest congratulations to Johnny Coughlin of Cork, and his future bride, whoever she may be, for a long and happily married life. Any fellow resourceful enough to find his own wife will not want to marry her just so that he can inherit a farm and $8,000 is bound to be happy with a girl who is spirited enough to accept the challenge and smart enough to let him think she has been convinced.

URGE TO CLIMB

There are many ways of going up in the world, but one of the most unusual is climbing the Eiffel Tower from the outside.

Johan Thomanek, 22, arrived in Paris from Oppeln, Germany, proceeded directly to the tower and, clad in a pullover and work trousers, began the ascent. The news dispatch from Paris states that he tired at the 375-foot level and lay down on a cross beam and slept. The following morning a tower employee spied him and called police. The youth spotted the police and quickly climbed to the top at 984 feet. He descended to the platform and went quietly with police. He was charged and released on station when he said that his climb resulted from an urge.

It certainly must have been an unusual and powerful urge that sent a young man climbing the Eiffel Tower from the outside. In this case the urge for the unusual spent itself without mishap.

Satisfaction of an unusual urge is not always attended by such luck. This story, however, arouses our curiosity to see what might happen if a can of tomato juice were poured into a fan of some business place. We have the utmost confidence that the inventor of the first urge would receive less than the courteous police escort from the top of the Eiffel Tower. But the idea intrigues us, nevertheless.

RUSSIAN FASTIME

Besides the annual spring purge, one of the chief amusements of Russian officials is blaming for their motherland of all firsts in the field of inventions. Among others, so far they have abducted credit for the discovery of radio, airplanes, and recently, the world's first navy and a successful helicopter flight back in 1754.

It is a patriotic pastime, this boosting of a citizen's confidence in the state's ingenuity with its subsequent demoralization of engineers. Since it is a continuous process, it holds out to us prospects of absolution for some of the contraptions and installations that litter our thoroughfared civilization.

We would be grateful for instance, if the commissars of the Kremlin could see their way to snatch credit for the development of such things as juke boxes, Muzon horns, singing commercials, easy payments, one-way streets, parking meters and the myriad of things which, either directly or indirectly, send us, baldheaded, to an early grave.

As we say, we would be grateful to the comrades if they would, at their convenience, take the credit for giving these to the world, since to repudiate them ourselves in the present international situation would give the impression of kicking a fallen servant in the teeth.

Concluding, may we brazenly counsel the commissars that, in the light of modern Russian prolificness, it would be superfluous of them to acclaim their motherland as the first country to fly to the moon.

OUTWARD SYMBOLS

I wonder does it matter, what
And how it's worn and seen?
Are not the heart and mind the same
At drab and gay affair?
Had I a thousand ribbons to Publicize my name,
Were lifeless mine to suffer,
Would I be soothed by fame?

'Tis said it takes nine tailors of
To make a man complete,
But make him out of clothing I'll Say he never can.

A boor in costly raiment a boor
cost and vest I wear?
Are not the heart and mind the same at drab and gay affair?
garments rich or plain.

I know for all occasions are proper forms of dress,
But the significant thing about pleasing is poseress.

But when removed are jewels,
just as the day before,
The same man wakes tomorrow to go to work once more.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JULY 17, 1934.

Bright Students Win Medals in Public School Interesting Examinations. Miss Ruth Belair, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Belair, Victoria Avenue, and a pupil at St. Michael's Academy, won the coveted Board of Education medal (formerly the Governor-General's medal), the highest award in connection with the high school entrance examinations in Ontario. This clever student distinguished herself in every class in which she was a pupil. She is also a talented musician and received high marks in music examinations this year. The second entrance award in the city was won by Miss Edna Bush, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bush, William Street. Miss Bush secured the I.O.D.E. prize, the same honor which she won last year by her brother, John Bush, now a student at the Collegiate Institute. This young lady has passed first in her class since coming to this city from Tunbridge, England, six years ago. She is an all round athlete and has several medals to her credit. She is also a popular student of the town.

It will be their Diamond Anniversary, and many friends in this city and district will be happy to extend to them congratulations and good wishes. The following account of their wedding is taken from the Daily Ontario of July 19th, 1854: "A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening at seven o'clock at the residence of Mr. G. B. Thrasher, of the third concession of Sidney township, when his daughter, Hester Alberta, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry J. Clarke, science master at the Belleville High School. The Rev. E. N. Baker, M.A., B.D., performed the ceremony in the presence of some one hundred and fifty guests. The bride looked exceedingly sweet and charming in a white satin dress trimmed with silk passementerie and carrying a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Jessie Clarke, Miss Ella Vermilyea and Miss Cora Murdoff were dressed in white muslin. Geo. Thrasher and Ethel Clapp were the two very pretty flower girls, dressed in white muslin. Mr. J. H. Frost acted as groomsman, and Miss Lily Foster played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bride entered and as soon as Mr. Clarke's arm. After the ceremony a bountiful supper to the guests. The presents received by the bride were very numerous and valuable. The groom's gift was a beautiful gold watch. The happy couple left at midnight for a trip to Montreal and Quebec City and other points east. Mrs. Clarke is a most estimable and popular young lady and will be a welcome addition to social circles in Belleville. The groom is also held in high esteem and well merits his good fortune in securing so excellent a bride. The Ontario extends its hearty good wishes."

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

CONCERNING ETERNAL LIFE

What is eternal life?

Before we try to answer that question, we had best ask ourselves, "What is time?" Does it have any reality? Some of the wisest philosophers, among them Immanuel Kant, claim that time is only a category of the mind. We cannot think of anything except in terms of time and space. Even Einstein's latest formula, and many findings of science, are questioning old ideas of time.

The Bible of time as it is God's realm: time is something quite different from what it is here on earth. In fact, there appears to be no time in the spiritual realm; or rather there is eternity of time.

But the significant thing about eternal life is not its duration but its quality. Through Jesus Christ we are promised a quality of life here on earth which, if we cherish it, will be continued to God's glory and our happiness forever and ever. If eternal life means only endless existence, it might not be anything for which we would necessarily crave. It might, indeed, be the most terrifying of all possible alternatives. The endless life has to be an endless good to be good at all.

We know little about heaven but one thing we know is that time, as we are familiar with it here on earth, has no place there. Eternal life is endless in duration and radiantly glorious in quality.

President's Promenade

(Finland Pictorial)

Almost every morning—barring the stormiest and coldest days of winter—the door of No. 1 North Esplanade street in Helsinki swings open sometime after 11 a.m. and a conservatively dressed, rough-haired old man steps out for his daily walk.

Striding slowly but purposefully, the old man—whose rather ungainly figure and craggy face might have been hewn out of grey Finnish granite by a mediocre artist—steps out into the bustle of city traffic.

He attracts little attention — except from two soldiers standing in front of candy-striped toy soldier sentry boxes and a fine policeman, all of whom stop stiffly to attention and salute smartly.

John K. Paasikivi—the President of the republic of Finland—is going for his daily walk like many another hale and hearty old gentleman.

Unobtrusively, a man wearing a light raincoat slips up to walk silently a few yards behind the president. He knows that the president usually was unaccompanied on his customary walks, but Urnolo Hill, head of the state police, is getting old—at 53, he is Europe's oldest police chief.

In the bustle of the street few people recognize the president, for Helsinki's citizens are in a hurry. But the president doesn't hurry. He has a full day ahead—this morning's work at his desk, and this is one of his few pleasures of the day; in the afternoon there are many papers to go through, appointments to keep, parliamentary bills to study, plans for receiving official visitors.

As pleasantly as either side, he turns right at the gate to the Presidential Palace and strolls slowly toward the centre of the city, a lone figure except for the man keeping a few paces behind him. The president reaches a cross street, stops and looks to the left and then to the right, and then continues to gaze straight at a point on the horizon, as if he were ahead of him, apparently deep in thought.

Today his walk brings him to the edge of the Senate Square, facing in the centre of the Esplanade. Suddenly he seems to recollect himself and glances up at the bronze figure of Finland's national poet, a man whose writings inspired such patriotic feelings among the Finnish people that, 100 years ago, a boy of five when Runeberg died. The president turns around. Slowly he strides back to the Esplanade's "White House", past the teeming flower squads, the fruit, meat and fish, biscuits and vegetables, balloons and ice cream, are being sold in the streets.

Once inside, as the sentries snap onto again to attention, and once again the president raises his hand in greeting. The door opens ahead of him and he disappears inside. For the president's daily walk is over.

Time Travel Possibility

(Milwaukee Journal)

In a current copy of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) Features, a reader from Chippenham, Wiltshire, England, asks: "If man's power over speed becomes infinite, will it be possible to break through the barrier of time, so that in reflection would man travel — backward or forward through time?"

The question answer isn't too satisfactory. He takes a dim view of the possibility, but ends up turning to watch a premiere of a Shakespearian play in Stratford-upon-Avon, halfway between prehistoric animals. But he does see some chance of time travel in the future.

He says: "It is reasoned that if an individual could travel through space at a speed approximating that of light, his own time and his own metabolism would be slowed down to correspond with what he left behind him on earth. Returning to his point of departure, for example, only a few years old, he would find the earth some centuries older."

"Don't wish your life away," your grandfather used to say when we wished tomorrow would come. Grandpa was probably right. But when one looks at the state of the world, it suffers in our presence heat spell, looks at the fiasco of the Geneva Conference, and finds his way home through evening traffic, then it is a pleasant thing to think, by yelp! "Space ship, here we come!"

The year 2154 is bound to be better.

Helping Hand To Handicapped

The value of the contribution which handicapped men and women can make to Canada's economic progress is being emphasized in a number of ways. A national committee on which federal, provincial, governments, employer and employee, and social welfare interests all have representation, has stressed the importance of helping the handicapped to help themselves. The great majority of the provinces have now signed agreements to co-operate with the federal government in rehabilitation efforts.

Recently a course of national importance in rehabilitation and counselling of the handicapped was held at the University of Western Ontario. The majority of students were key officers of the provincial rehabilitation division, National Employment Service, The Department of Veterans Affairs and workmen's boards. For a month these students listened to lectures by professors on the 1,400 medical cases, and the vocational aptitudes, and the numerous disabilities and disabilities and how they affected the employability of those who had experienced them.

SPONSORED BY U.I.C.

The course was sponsored by the Unemployment Insurance Commission which administers the National Employment Service. It is a recognition of the value on the part of the Commission and the university, and of the value will become more and more apparent as time goes on. The specialized training course of the National Employment Service is concerned primarily with selecting persons suffering from handicaps of varying nature to suitable jobs with which handicaps for them. This effort, in order to be successful, requires a knowledge of the nature of the handicaps, and their relation to the whole field of work. This is being felt by the Commission that a course which would enable its officers to become familiar with medical side or the various disabilities would be helpful.

More and more it is becoming apparent that the handicapped individual can find satisfaction of living a reasonably happy and successful life if employed where he can feel that he could do something that is worth while. More and more it is also becoming apparent that handicapped persons when given the right work can make a great contribution to the industrial life of the country. The last couple years have demonstrated this value to their country. It has been found that a handicapped person frequently does better work, does work superior to the so-called normal individual.

EMPLOYERS CO-OPERATE

The importance of finding the right work for each handicapped person is becoming more widely apparent. That is the job of the special placements division of the National Employment Service. It is sometimes a difficult one, but remarkable success has been achieved. Employers are now becoming aware of the value of handicapped men. In a number of cases they are co-operating wholeheartedly knowing that by so doing they help both the handicapped individual and themselves.

Students who took the course at Western Ontario University will be expected to hand on the information there gathered to their associates in the offices of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. They came from all parts of Canada and have worked hard obtaining the knowledge dream of the value to put it literally to sleep. I have recovered memories from tea and a ranked from an owl that were undamaged so far as could be seen, but which were in state of complete open-eyed anesthesia. When rested and freed, they moved away as apparently unhurt.

It would be a great thing to have a bullish anaesthist. And the reports of those who in recent

Piano Playing Hard Work

(Montreal Daily Star)

There's only one thing more exhausting than practising the piano for 134 hours and that's listening to someone else play it. We're not much in favor of either but we do marvel at the endurance of Mrs. Reginald Boosey of Hunstanton in Wales who has just accomplished this amazing feat—for what purpose we can't discover.

Consider the task: It requires the exertion of at least two counts to depress a piano key. Now we've never counted the notes in a concerto, or even in a sonata, but we have a hunch it takes up to an hour to perform, there are so many of them. Let's just send. Say 200,000. If the piano is geared to two ounces of pressure that's 400,000 ounces. All our arithmetic is right it's 25,000 pounds, or more than 12 tons. Then remember Mrs. Boosey's diminishes [illegible] and [illegible] such as whether she played continuously [illegible] adagio, is free to do so.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

DENTISTS ARE IN DIFFICULT PEOPLE.

A pediatrician of the trick specialist type that is, a young doctor who is qualified, licensed and, I believe, specially bound to practise general medicine and surgery, but has the means or the benefits to obtain an imposing frontage and hold himself out as a specialist in diseases of children until enough paying customers take him at his word — looked over the Brady Baby Book and told me he would not recommend it. "Why should I?" he asked.

Dr. Brady

By that the doctor meant that the simple instructions given in the booklet for keeping baby baby's bottle might make some of his baby customers realize how silly it is to pay a "specialist" $25 a month for such instructions, as so many [illegible] do.

It must be obvious by now why the latter-day "specialists" who have converted medicine into a business resent me and all my works. (Mind you, my remarks do not apply to real specialists or to genuine clinics, as don't mention your ignorance by informing me that there are some honest specialists and bona fide clinics in Yankeeland.) In compliance with Sec. of Chap. IV of the Code of Medical Ethics, which, ironically, was originally promulgated by the American Medical Association itself, I have endeavored to "warn the public against the dangers incurred and the pretensions made by charlatans". Now that nearly every child of all generations are brisk specialists the devices and pretensions aforesaid are not so dangerous as they were when medicine was a profession.

I have complained that I'm no use in the business men in medicine, as I testified in court, but I just can't understand why the deceptive, or at least their official representatives, do not like me very well.

Throughout my career as a columnist I have seized every opportunity to praise American dentistry and to impress upon the public the vital importance of periodic inspection or examination of the teeth and whatever treatment the dentist deems necessary to keep them.

For years I have been trying to teach people about the value of artificial teeth. Every functionally efficient tooth, whether your own or your dentist's, is worth at least $1,000.

I just don't know what's biting the dentists, because in a way be, I remind you once more that one gets from the dentist a good [illegible] what one pays for, namely, good digestion, good health, functional prestige, vim, good looks and longevity.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HAPPY MOMENTS

For thirty years, and a little more, I have written these brief intimate talks. I started writing them to encourage myself; then I thought it a good idea to invite others to send me letters that I've been answering for some time.

Just yesterday I received a letter from a young man who said he had been reading these talks for years and that he read them. When I read that letter I felt very humble yet pleased that I could interested a teen-age girl. It made me feel that, after all, perhaps these talks, written for so many years, have borne fruit in season and even out of season.

A policeman in Massachusetts wrote me that he carried a book full of these talks in his hip pocket and would hand them out where he thought they would do the most good. Many of the thousands of letters I receive every a period of years are kept in a drawer and give to me needed and welcome encouragement. So, you see, I have my reward.

If I have stimulated many to read good books and build a library, then in turn others have given ideas and new knowledge to me and to my critics. And what a thrill is that of a writer when he finds that he has helped others. That brings about the happy moments —which live so long!

5000,000 Doses Of Salk Vaccine To Be Provided

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government is negotiating for more than 500,000 doses of Salk polio vaccine for use in the province next year, Health Minister Phillips has announced.

The vaccine is undergoing its first big-scale test in the United States.

Dr. Phillips said Friday if the government obtains the vaccine by next March it will be administered to Ontario children before the height of the polio outbreak in August.

The request was made conditional on delivery not later than March 1 because the immunization of children is a lengthy process, he said.

Four doses were needed, the first being administered a week apart and the fourth two weeks later. An additional three months was necessary for the child to develop the polio anti-bodies which provide protection.

TURNED DOWN

A small amount of vaccine had been available this year but was turned down because it would have been too late to subject it to a fair test, Dr. Phillips said.

The vaccine is manufactured from polio virus produced at the Connaught Medical Laboratories in the University of Toronto under an international program in collaboration with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in New York.

Dr. Phillips said health department officials do not want to wait for final results in the United States tests.

Cabbies Will Be Enclosed In Plastic Shield

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto police commission, with an eye to the safety of taxi drivers during stick-up days, has decided that a plastic shield should be erected next year and that passengers will be outlawed from riding in the front seat.

Under the new ruling, effective Jan. 1, 1955, the partition must be at least a quarter of an inch thick and separate the driver from his passengers.

In place of the right front seat normally used by passengers a bucket-type seat will be installed, facing the back seat and set slightly back from the driver's seat.

The commissioners also said the meter must be raised clear of the dashboard. Attached to the meter will be a flag that is up when the cab is vacant and down when occupied.

Minimum insurance rates for injury, death and property damage will be doubled for cab company drivers, commissioners said.

Decision Deferred On Request On Magazines

PERCE, Que. (CP) — Decision was deferred Friday on a defence request for contempt of court action against Canadian distributor of four American detective magazines which published articles on the case of Wilbert Coffin, charged with murder in the slaying of a Pennsylvania beachhunters.

Mr. Justice Gerard Lacroix said he will have to make a "closer inspection" of the magazines before being able to decide whether court action is warranted.

Defence counsel, who made the request Thursday for court action, said Friday they have been unable to trace the distributor of the magazines. They said the publications were sent to Gaspe from Montreal.

BROTHERS DROWN

BOLTON, Ont. (CP)—Two young brothers were drowned Wednesday while swimming in a farm pond near this community 20 miles northwest of Toronto. The bodies of George Mason, 8, and his brother Allan, 6, of nearby Palgrave were recovered from the muddy bottom of the pond.

Wellington on the Lake

VACATION

Oh! I would wander back once more,
Where the laughing waves kiss the sandy shore,
Where swallows skim the waters o'er.

Through all the summer day;
I would watch the sandpiper trip along,
I would list to the oriole's summer song,

And summer joys I would prolong
In such gay company.
I tire of the city's glitter and glare,
Of noise and tumult everywhere,
And I long for the peace and quiet there
Of the fragrant countryside;
To lie and rest on the grateful ground
With the wind and the waves, the only sound
To lull me into a sleep profound,
As far from the world I lie.

—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON—One of the great needs of this busy modern life is peace and rest far from the "maddening crowd". Words worth wrote, "The world is too much with us. Late and soon, getting and spending, we lay waste our powers. Little we see in nature that is ours." Hence the need a quiet holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chase of Paris, Ontario, spent the week-end with friends in the county, and called on Mrs. H. B. Anderson, who almost failed to recognize a former pupil in the fine appearing business man.

Mrs. (Dr.) Wilson and daughters and Mrs. Wilson Sr., returned to Kitchener on Tuesday after enjoying a week with Miss Gleta Benson.

Mrs. Patterson, Belleville, was the guest of Miss Mabel Bell this past week.

On Tuesday, Miss Helen Arthur, of Belleville, visited Wellington and with Mrs. H. B. Anderson and Miss S. E. Blakely enjoyed dinner at Grahamanor. In the afternoon, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Blakely, they motored to Picton, where summer reigned supreme. We were pleased to find that Mrs. Graham though not in the best of health, is able to supervise this fine resort and sincerely hope her health may improve.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Root, Melville, called on Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Leavens on Sunday evening. Mrs. Leavens is improving after a severe illness.

Mrs. Harry Jolley is ill at her home, Maple Avenue. Dr. Bishop in attendance. Her many friends are anxious for her recovery.

The bazaar and tea sponsored by the members of the W.A. of Wellington United Church, Saturday evening was a success, socially and financially. The various sales tables were attractive and well patronized. Tea was served at the tastefully table with Mrs. Fleming selling tickets. Among guests from a distance were Mrs. J. P. Williams of Picton and her daughter, Mrs. Anderson, also Mrs. B. Wilkes, of Dundas.

The July meeting of the W.M.S. of Wellington United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Teskey, Consecon Street, on Tuesday afternoon, with a fine attendance. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Arnold Vanwarmer, vice-president, in the absence of Mrs. G. Stonehouse, president. The Wellington Fry organization was given by Mrs. Robson and Mrs. Vanwarmer. At the close a social hour was enjoyed.

CLUB ENTERTAINING

A delightful time was spent on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jas. Thompson, Hillier, when she entertained the members of the Belleville-Prince Edward Club at her pleasant home. The meeting took the form of a picnic party with the guests seated on the lawn. The president, Mrs. Wanamaker and the hostess, Mrs. Thompson welcomed the guests after which Mrs. W. Baird called the roll and Mrs. H. B. Anderson. Among those responding were Mrs. Wanamaker and Mrs. J. Garbutt, the latter giving two interesting readings.

Dainty tables set on the lawn were attractive with their delicacies to which all did ample justice. We understand familiar faces, including Mrs. Lent and Mrs. Morrison Wesco, who were unable to be present. Also the late Mrs. G. French who last year was with us. We were sorry to have to leave early and so missed a social chat with the friendly guests. Mrs. Trumpour is to be congratulated on the success of her picnic party. Guests attending from Wellington included, Mrs. G. C. Blakely, Miss Marjorie Blakely and Mrs. H. B. Anderson.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was sitting on our front steps by myself, and I could hear the other fellows playing and having fun around the corner, and pop came home from his office saying, Well I hope there's nothing wrong with this picture. Sitting here still and silent while the other boys are having fun and the best of their voices. What's the idea? he said.

I've got a pane, I said, and pop said, So that's it. What have you been eating? he said.

Nothing, I haven't had anything since lunch, I said. Not even an apple, not even a glass of water, I said, and pop said, Maybe you need an apple or a glass of water. It's probably either a bunger pane or a therd pane, he said.

How can it? It's not even in my stummick, I said, and pop said, Is that where it is?

It's kind of in one side, I said, and pop said, Have you told your mother?

No sir, I said, and pop said, You should, it's not a good thing to neglect a pane.

Now, I guess I'll go away, I said, and pop said, Let's hope so for Pete sake. How long have you had it? he said.

Well, I kind of thought I felt it while we were chasing pidgins pretending we were hawks and vultures and eagels, but I wasn't all the way positive, and then we started a contest to see who could run around the block the most number of times without stopping to breethe, and I hadn't been around to times when the pane started for real, I said, and pop said, Ye gods, come in and get washed up.

Meening it wasn't serious and would probably go away.

Which it did.

Five Mennonite Families Return From Mexico Exile

POR ROWAN, Ont. (CP)—Five Mennonite families have returned to Canada after 25 years of self-imposed exile because they were "starving" in Mexico. They are finding it a struggle to settle in this country.

The families, who arrived in the southwestern Ontario counties of Elgin and Norfolk six weeks ago, said Friday made the 3,000-mile trip from Mexico in a covered, two-ton truck. They have no money and unless they get steady jobs soon, they will face the problem of malnutrition which caused them to leave Mexico.

They went to Chihuahua in Mexico—some in 1922 and others in 1925—when their parents received land from the Mexican government. Weddings

BLAKELY—WEATHERUP

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, was the setting on Saturday, July 3rd, at 2.00 o.m. for the marriage of Margaret Mary Weatherup, of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Claude Sharpe, of Orono Ont., and the late Mr. William Weatherup. Rev. Father Hurley officiated. Red roses, lilies and summer flowers adorned the altar.

Mrs. M. Fluery rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Claude Sharpe, the bride was lovely in white Chantilly lace over nylon net and taffeta, featuring a Chantilly lace jacket with neat pearl trim. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a halo of matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and Madonna lillies.

Mrs. Lee Caul, of Belleville, and aunt of the bridegroom, as matron of honor, was attired in mauve net over taffeta with matching jacket and floral headdress. She carried a bouquet of yellow, bronze and mauve summer flowers.

Little Darnel Caul, cousin of the bridegroom, a flower girl, was sweet in yellow taffeta with nylon over lace. She carried a nosegay of yellow, bronze and mauve flowers.

Mr. Lee Caul, of Belleville, uncle of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Charles and Raymond Ryan, cousins of the bridegroom.

The reception was held at the Club Cedars, where the bride's mother, attired in navy sheer with pink accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds, received the guests. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy linen with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara, and Buffalo, the bride chose a navy linen dress with brown accessories and corsage of golden rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Blakely will reside in Belleville.

Guests were present from Orono, Morganston and Toronto.

More Women Prefer Pipes to Cigarets

TORONTO (CP)—Another one-time exclusively masculine privilege is rapidly becoming a thing of the past.

Tobacco stores report that more and more women are turning from cigarets to pipes, especially among young housewives, college and business girls. A recent survey in Hamilton reports liking cigarets to cancer of the lung have caused the change.

Designers are working overtime on pipes.

Per night use, the women can get a light amber-covered model with stainless bristles, or a sparkling sequined number.

A fashion show in New York revealed a matched set of pipes marked Mr. and Mrs. while another designed a pipe that will match a woman's hat and shoes.

One Toronto retailer said a small group of women have been using pipes privately for 10 years.

Another said some wives are too shy to buy a pipe so they smoke their husband's briar.

"So far they haven't dared to puff in public," he said. "But if this trend continues, who knows!"

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

Auction List — They tell the story of the old auctioneer who was taking inventory of the furniture for an estate sale. He picked up a picture, put it down, noted it in his ledger. Then he picked up a table lamp, set it aside, listed it. Then he picked up a decanter, removed the stopper, sniffed the Scotch, took a couple of swigs, put it down, looked around and jotted down in his book — "one revolving carpet."

NOT GOLDEYE ANYMORE.

Talking to some Winnipeggers this week, they say that people out there are going all-out for a new cold drink. They call it "Basket-chewan Red Eye." It consists of half beer and half tomato juice.

THE A'S HAVE IT

Wandering through the public library's Fiction shelves from A to Z, the thought crossed our mind that authors with surnames beginning from about F to Z don't stand nearly as good a chance of being read as the A, B, C, D, E's.

People entering a library automatically go to the A's first, then follow down through the B's. By the time a person gets to F, he has more than likely selected a book he wants to read.

If your thinking of writing a novel it might be as well to choose a surname beginning with initial letters of the alphabet.

GREASY SPOONS

Yesterday, there was an hour to kill while the car was being serviced, so we dropped into the nearest greasy spoon, ordered a butterscotch sundae and started to read Madge Macbeth's Ottawa story, "Over My Shoulder."

When it was nearly time to go, we shut the book, took a look around and a couple of deep breaths in the smoky, smelly snack joint. No matter how much we detest greasy spoon restaurants, we seem to find ourselves in them a number of times through out the year. Why?

Perhaps it's because we can't avoid them. Or is it because we're so used to crabbing about them, we just take them for granted, accept them.

Sometimes you wonder if you were ever far far away from greasy spoons for a long time, would you miss their dark, dirty, little food corners. Would you long, just a little for the old greasy spoon?

You know, after all, with al lis bad points, it's around that corner grub counter that people are as friendly, as sympathetic and as downright neighborly as any place this side of home.

SLEEP PROMOTERS

One radio program which hasn't yet come to the notice of the wealthy manufacturers, is a one-hour continuous program of music and talk meant to put every young child to sleep.

Thousands more radios would be turned on and kept on in the early evening if there were such a show.

Uncle Frontenac says the doctor told an old crony of his to take as much sleeping powder as would stay on a 10c piece to stop his insomnia. Uncle's friend didn't have a 10c piece so he measured his sleeping powder with two nickels. He'll never wake up again, not ever.

UNCOVER PLOT

FEMININE TOUCH IN PIPE SMOKING

Pipe-makers, quick to capitalize on the medical frown directed at cigarettes, are hot on the trail of the great untapped market for their products. The market is the vast number of women smokers who, warned of a connection between cigarette smoking and cancer, may be induced to become pipe addicts. In New York, the pipe manufacturers put on a show to demonstrate just how the feminine touch can be added to pipes — by having a retro-striped pipe to match a retro-striped suit for example. Brook Robin is the model. —(Central Press Canadian).

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

HOSTESS AND HOST RISE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For August my husband and I have rented a cottage at a resort where heretofore for several years we have stayed in a hotel. We have been with members of the country club, and I am planning to give several dinners there as soon as possible after we arrive. I know that in my home I should always rise when I greet and shake hands with an arriving guest and also when saying good-by to a guest. But please tell me—should I also do this when I am being hostess at the country club? —Helen W.

Yes! A hostess or a host always should rise and shake hands with guests as they arrive and as they leave. . . . In their own home, in a restaurant, in a country club, or wherever they are entertaining. These gracious gestures are in the fine tradition of hospitality.

A QUESTION OF TODAY'S USAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Such a heated discussion we're having! The Ad-Group maintains that for a woman, "mistress of ceremonies" should be used, and "toastmistress" and either "chairwoman" or "chairlady." The B-Group insists that it is now considered proper to say "master of ceremonies," "chairman," "toastmaster" regardless of sex. The C-Group says it's optional, that either way is correct. Who is right about this? — ABC

To be fair one would have to say that the C-Group is nearest correct. . .for it really is optional whether one says, for example, "chairman" or "chairwoman" when speaking of a woman. However it is certainly true that today the trend is toward making no distinction as to the title . . . to use "master of ceremonies" for both, "toastmaster" for both, "chairman" for both. Also it is considered best usage today to say "poet" for either a man or a woman (not "poetess" for the woman), or "author" for either one, (not "authoress" for a woman).

However, there are occasions when both "master of ceremonies" and "mistress of ceremonies" would have to be used, when, for example, as sometimes happens, there is both a master of ceremonies and a mistress of ceremonies.

ALL-WHITE. . . LIKE ALL-BLACK, IS DEEP MOURNING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My beloved father passed on a month ago, and my mother and I are wearing deep mourning and plan to wear this for several months. My mother, who is 60 and well, and I are planning to spend August and the first week in September in our country house in a small village not far from here where the life is very simple. Yesterday a friend suggested that it might be a comfort to Mother and me to wear all-white during these weeks in the country, and thought that all-white is as deep mourning as all-black is. It doesn't seem possible to me that this could be true, but I'd certainly like to have it true, is it, Mrs. Beeckman? — Anne W.

Yes. . .this is true. All-white clothes are deep mourning, just like all-black. And I agree with your friend that wearing all-white clothes might be a special comfort to you and your mother, and in the country easier for those with whom you come in contact. But remember, of course, that the white materials must be dull, not shiny, and that all accessories must be white, and suitable to the mourning idea.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

COMPLEXIONS CAN BE TEMPERAMENTAL

Lacking in wisdom is the woman who takes her good complexion for granted, fancies nothing can possibly happen to it and so gives it only casual care. There are enemies at work all the time. Atmospheric dust takes its toll if the face doesn't have a rousing scrubbing at least once a day. Exposure to strong sunlight, summer after summer, will make the texture coarse, the surface leathery-looking. And always there is "old" means Time waiting to get in his cruel licks.

To avoid wrinkles one must not indulge in emotional storms or cut down on the required hours of sleep. A balanced diet will do much to keep the skin attractive because it supplies one with all the food elements that are necessary for cell-building and body repairs. This is a subject to which most women do not give sufficient thought.

The daily bath, during which the body surface is scrubbed vigorously with a soaped brush has cosmetic value because it helps the skin to function as an organ of elimination. An alternating hot and cold shower afterward will bring a glow to the cheeks. A rub-down with a coarse towel also helps to stimulate circulation.

A short session with a nourishing cream, massaging it into face and neck should be on the beauty schedule of every woman. The best time is before going to bed so the cream will be absorbed to a certain extent. The emollient should be a heavy one to offer resistance to the manipulations. A lighter cream should be available for cleansing purposes during the day and to remove make-up.

In the morning, dash on cold water. If the skin is inclined to be oily, follow with applications of an astringent, patting it on with a cotton ball. If the skin is dry, use a light cream, removing it with tissues in half an hour or so.

Readers' Saturday Column

By Mary Moore

. . .We have continued to take your paper ever since we left the city for two reasons, particularly your articles and the editorial page. . . . I have your picture pasted in one of my cookbooks and my two children have practically been brought up with your Pete and Marianne. Now I come to you for help, hoping you please print recipe for Icicle Pickles. . . . A cup of sugar is added each day.—Grace M. W.

ANSWER:

I'm glad you got around to writing at last, and let me in on your friendship. Sometimes when we drive through towns where readers live who have written to me so sweetly it is a sore temptation to stop and look them up.

I hope other readers who will be wanting this recipe for Icicle Pickles will clip it now for pickling time will soon be here.

ICICLE PICKLES

(This is a honey.)

Six quarts 3 or 4-inch cucumbers are washed, dried and cut in halves lengthwise. To 1 gallon of boiling water add 2 cups common salt. Pour this over the cucumbers in a crock or preserving kettle and let stand four days. The last will ferment. On the 5th day drain brine from pickles and cover with fresh clear boiling water. Let stand 24 hours. On the 6th day drain. Dissolve 1 tablespoon powdered alum in boiling water and pour over cucumbers—enough to cover and let stand 24 hours. On the 7th day drain. Make a syrup of 2 1/2 quarts cider vinegar, 8 cups sugar and 3 tablespoons whole mixed spices. Heat to boiling and pour over cucumbers. On the 8th day drain and reserve liquid. Heat to boiling, add 2 cups sugar and pour over cucumbers. On the 9th day repeat about (that is add 2 more cups sugar). On 10th day repeat by adding 2 more cups sugar to boiled syrup and pouring it over. On the 11th day drain. Heat over pickles in jars and seal.

16 cups sugar are added by the time these are finished. To crisp-

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

WHEN IN DOUBT, DON'T!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19, and my boy friend will soon be 21. We have gone steady for over a year and he wants me to marry him.

I think I would like to go out with other fellows occasionally, but I know that my boy friend would break up with me if I accepted dates with anybody else. I do want to marry my boy friend some day, and when I am with him I'm sure that I love him, yet I occasionally wonder.

Do you think I should break off completely with him and go out with others, or consider myself lucky to have as nice a boy friend as he is and be satisfied not to have any other dates? — Pam.

Dear Pam:

Don't you think it's obvious that you're not ready to make up your mind about marrying anybody yet? When people are really in dates with anybody else, and the mere fact that you feel you'd like to go out with other young men should make it clear to you that you just aren't in love.

It would be only sensible to tell this chap frankly that you're not sure of yourself and that it would be wiser for you to be free to go round with other boys regardless. In your present state of mind, it would be a big mistake for you to confine yourself to this one fellow.

YOU'RE NOT ABNORMAL, BUT EXTREMELY UNWISE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16 years old and have dated Al steadily for three months. He is 17, and wonderful in every way.

I need help desperately, though, because I feel our emotions are running away with us. When I'm in his arms, he arouses such desires in me that I'm completely helpless. We both know that we will never go too far, yet we feel we're doing wrong to go as far as we do.

Do you think I'm abnormal in my emotions? Please try to help me, Miss Fairfax. — B.M.

Dear B.M.:

Of course I don't think you're abnormal in your emotions. But I do think you're extremely unwise in the way you give it to them. There's nothing abnormal about liking candy, for instance, but I would be very bad business indeed to stuff myself with it until you made ourself sick.

In either case, it's a matter of self-control, and it's certainly not exercising self-control for you to play around on the fringes of self-indulgence so that it becomes close to impossible for you to refrain ourselves. You seem to think that as long as you don't go "too far" there's nothing wrong, right, but you're not. It's just as wrong to tease and excite ourselves.

What you should do is to keep entirely away from dangerous ground by putting an end to the kind which you're indulging, and the best way to keep away from it, is to stay around where other people are and refrain from going off by ourselves where it would be easy to let go.

'Jim' Maddin Has Slowed Bit Since He Was Hard-Drinking, Hell-Raising Young Lawyer

By IRVING S. WHITNOT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—James W. (Jim) Maddin, who combined a fine legal mind with a flair for courtroom showmanship to win many a criminal case, has wound up his law career after more than half a century as barrister and magistrate.

Behind him when he stepped down as stipendiary magistrate of the steel city was his record of 80 murder trials, most of them as defence counsel. Of the men he defended, only two were hanged. Of the few he prosecuted, two went to the gallows.

Now 79, Jim Maddin has slowed a bit from the days when he was a hard-drinking, hell-raising lawyer who used every legal trick to win his court cases.

SCORNED UNDERWEAR

But he retains his quick wit and remains in good health despite the fact he started wearing socks and underwear only 15 years ago, when his daughter insisted.

In those days he cut holes in the toes of his shoes so he could let the water or melting snow run out before he entered the house. He called them his "self-bailers."

A hot-lover, he once campaigned for mayor of Sydney with promises of free beer in automatic drinking fountains at every street corner, street reform, moral reform, police reform and chlorox reform.

Fellow soldiers who served with Major Jim in the First World War recall the time he convinced Scotland Yard he was an envoy of the Lord Mayor of London.

Behind all his humor, this native of Westville, N.S., who worked as a mechanic to put himself through law school, has a serious side.

RACES JURY SYSTEM

He is a firm believer in the jury system of trial.

"I have never known a jury to convict an innocent man, except in a single instance. Plenty of guilty men have gone free, but it is better so than to have one innocent man convicted."

He admits freely that he has won acquittal for guilty clients.

He once cleared a man of murder and later made representations to Ottawa to have him run out of the country. On another occasion, clearing a client, he told him to get out of sight "because you're guilty as hell."

One of 11 children of an Irish father and Scottish mother, Jim Maddin started his legal career after his younger brother Oliver was charged with murder and brought to trial. The Supreme Court jury threw out the indictment.

"It was clearly an accident," he recalls. "The boys had been playing with a gun and it went off. But the local Sherlock Holmes made a big fuss about it. . .

"They put on a big show. I thought it was all very silly and my parents were heartbroken."

his apprenticeship as a machinist, turned down his tool kit and announced:

"I'm going back to school and be a lawyer."

He worked alternate years to pay his way and graduated from Dalhousie University Law School in Halifax in 1900.

At 26, he appeared in his first murder trial as junior counsel. He made a spirited, two-hour appeal to the jury and the verdict was not guilty.

In one week in 1913 he defended four persons accused of murder. Two got life terms, the others five.

VERSATILE TOO

His career included the additional roles of politician, soldier, movie actor and practical prankster.

Once, unarmed, he captured and disarmed a man wanted for murder and later made representations to Ottawa to have him run out of the country. On another occasion, clearing a client, he told him to get out of sight "because you're guilty as hell."

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

OPEN LETTER TO THE ARENA COMMISSION -

Gentlemen:

We see by the papers that centres of the district that will be represented in the OHA Senior "B" group next season (just a month or two away) have already taken spirited action with regard to their ice-lane representatives.

It seems that by the time the hockey bugles blow the "fall in", they will be ready to ice strong teams in the annual quest for crown honors and the Senior "B" championship.

We hope you can recall what happened last year. Belleville was "too little and too late."

True, we had a good team. But it was not good enough. We have been given to understand that when the 1954 edition of the Arena Commission was formed, after lengthy delay, that efforts would be made right away to arrange for a team, players, etc., that would be comparable to any squad in the district.

What has been done, if anything, along these lines? We would like to remind you that this city is a good sportsman town if it has something to cheer for. Fans become fans, like those of any other centre, like a winning team. They know that any team cannot win them all but they would like a good, strong squad that is, at least, on a par with the rest of the clubs.

So, how about it gentlemen?

The Kingston Goodyears, after mulling matters over, have appointed 36-year-old Les Douglas, stormy petrel of various types of hockey, as their playing coach for next season. The Limestoners turned down a man they have ballyhooed in the past few years because, presumably for publicity purposes only, in the person of Bill Cook, one of the most famous hockey names Canada has ever produced.

But that is neither here nor there.

What with other centres acquiring players and ready-ing for what should be the best Senior "B" season here since the group's inception, what is Belleville doing about it? The fans would like to know.

Your commission, gentlemen, would like to place the Memorial Arena on a paying basis. You are on a par with theatres and other outlets of recreation. A theatre stays at the box office if the show is not up to the patrons' idea of good entertainment. The same applies to any hockey arena.

In this hockey drama of 1954-55, you, gentlemen, have been named as the producers. Good shows are cast long before opening night. Many rehearsals are held before the dramatis personae is given the final O.K. Good shows are not staged on an overnight basis.

We believe Belleville has the nuclei of a good Senior "B" team. But a foundation is only as good as its support.

There was neither wrong with the 1953-54 edition of the Belleville Mcmas that a few good players could not remedy. Other cities are already studying their needs and making plans for their fulfilment.

What is Belleville doing about it, if anything?

We understand that other activities will not permit "Red" Doran to act as coach next season. The Peies with their Redmond; Oshawa with their Dickens; Orillia with their Gregg; Kingston with their Douglas, and other clubs in the group are all set.

How about Belleville?

That is all, gentlemen. But please remember, as goes your team so goes the box office.

Give the fans something to cheer for, and they won't let you down.

They might even forgive you for the arena.

SENIOR "B" MEETING CALLED

And while on the hockey subject, Lorne Cook, OHA vice-president, has announced the annual organizational meeting of the district Senior "B" group will be held in the King George Hotel, Peterborough, on Sunday, August 8, starting at 2.30 p.m.

The five clubs that composed last year's group are expected to be in attendance. These include Belleville, Kingston, Oshawa, Peterborough and Orillia. An invitation has been extended to the Stratford Cilppers, and that club has signified its intention of attending.

DOING GOOD JOB!

"Lucci" Lucciola, bowler, hunter, fisherman and "indulger" in several other sports, hung up his softball glove this year, and turned his attention to the district side of the game. He took over the coaching of the Northern Electric softball entry in the Lakeshore Ladies' League, and his record of 11 wins and three defeats speaks for what he has done for the Northern lassies. He has rounded them into a well-balanced whole, with power in all departments. The Electrics grabbed the league lead at the start and have never relinquished it. In their present form they bid fair to cop the league title.

REGENTS - PICTON TONIGHT

The big baseball attraction here tonight is the clash between Bryson Reid's Regents and Chris Lockyer's Picton Lightfoots at the Exhibition Park starting at 8.30. The Regents have been practicing faithfully for this game under Coach Chuck Marriage and "Red" Carson, and should be in fine shape for the clash with the Pictonites. The Lockyer squad have a fine league record and tonight's game should be well worth taking in. The Regents have not been blessed with big gates, so some box-office and moral support tonight will be greatly appreciated.

Twin Bill Win Boosts Reds To Within 7 Games of 'Bums', Tribe Keeps Pace With Yanks

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's spectacular success in tight one-run decisions has catapulted the Redlegs into third place in the National League today within striking distance of the fading defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers.

In the last 15 games of which manager Birdie Tebbetts' scrappers have won 11, the Reds have engaged in 4 one-run decisions—and they've won eight. To date this season, Cincinnati has played 38 such games, winning 23 and losing 15.

The Reds grabbed another close on Friday as they swept a twi-night doubleheader from Philadelphia's Phillies 7-6 and 9-4. The night before they had edged the Phillies 3-2 and 4-3 to spoil the managerial debut of Terry Moore. Since replacing Eddie Sawyer as Philly manager, Moore has seen his team lose four straight games.

DODGERS LOSE

Friday's double win boosted the Reds within seven games of the Dodgers who dropped their third straight to Milwaukee 6-1. The defeat spoiled the Dodgers' chances of picking up ground on the league leading New York Giants who remained 6½ in front despite their 7-4 loss to St. Louis Cardinals. The Braves' triumph gave them undisputed possession of fourth place with Philadelphia dropping to fifth, only a half game ahead of St. Louis.

Cleveland's Indians protected their half-game margin over New York in the American League with a 8-3 shellacking of the Philadelphia Athletics. The Yankees reached their winning streak to 11 games shading the Baltimore Orioles 2-1. Chicago's third-place White Sox remained four games off the pace, defeating Washington 7-2.

In other games, Boston's Frank Sullivan pitched his second straight shutout, downing Detroit 3-0 with three hits and Chicago's Cubs came from behind to nip the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 on Bob Rush's six-hitter.

HELL BENTS PACE

Gus Bell paced the Reds to their twin triumphs. He drove in eight runs, six in the second game with a pair of home runs. Cincinnati is currently is batting .341 and has driven in 74 runs. The Redlegs won the opener in the 10th on Chuck Harmon's single with the bases loaded.

A crowd of 41,778, second largest in baseball history, watched Conley handcuff the Dodgers with five hits and strike out nine as he gained eight victory of the year and his third without a defeat over Brooklyn.

Brooklyn manager Walter Alston was thumbed out of the 8th inning fun a heated argument protest of a call at the plate by umpire Dusty Boggess.

NIP GIANTS

After dissipating a 4-1 lead in the eighth, the Cardinals roared back with a run in the 9th and 10th to nip the Giants. Ray Jablonski delivered a two-out single that scored Billy Klaus with the winning run off reliever Mary Grissom. Stan Musial hit his 274th home run for the Cardinals while Willie Mays slammed his 32nd for the Giants. Ivy Noren's home run with two out in the ninth gave Whitey Ford the edge in his pitching duel with Baltimore's Joe Coleman and enabled the Yankees to tie the majors' longest winning streak of 11 set last May by Cleveland. Noren had three hits—all singles—to boost his league-leading batting average to .360.

Kinsmen Club Will Operate Stock Car Races

Stock car racing at the Exhibition Park will be revived under brand new management, it was announced yesterday.

The Kinsmen Club of Belleville are the new sponsors. They will inaugurate their season on Wednesday night, with a card that has attracted some 26 entries from Belleville and Kingston.

Arrangements have been completed whereby stock car racing in Belleville will take part, while the Kingston Stock Car Racing Club is sending 12 of its drivers and cars here to help the Kinsmen get under in their new sports "baby."

Meets will be held at the Exhibition Park every Wednesday night, according to Ron MacNeil, newly appointed chairman of the service club stock car racing committee. Members of the club will assist in the operation and administration of the meets.

Ron MacNeil said the entries in the meets will be straight stock car jobs with no "souped-up super-speedsters" allowed.

Heats, races etc. will be run in conjunction with the same rules and regulations that govern regularly conducted stock car race meets.

TRIBUTE TO GUIDE

Mount Wilson in Alberta with an altitude of 11,000 feet was named after Tom Wilson, one-time guide at Banff.

26 Nations Represented In Golf Tourney

MONTREAL (CP) — Fifty-two golf professionals from 26 countries, including the top three finishers in the recent British Open, are expected to tee off next month in the second renewal of the Canada Cup golf matches.

Spokesmen for the International Golf Association, sponsors of the tournament, have announced that 34 countries have accepted invitations to send two-man teams to the meet. Confirmation is still being awaited from Brazil and ence-zuela.

Heading the entry list is Peter Thomson, 24-year-old Australian pro who was a surprise winner of this year's British Open. His partner is yet to be named.

LOCK, KEES, ENTER

Dai Rees, who ended in a tie for second place in the open, will form half of the entry from Wales. Bobby Locke, veteran South African performer who also was second in the open, will be on hand to represent his country.

Long-driving Roberto de Vicenzo and his partner, Antonio Cerda, who last year predicted they would win the matches for the Argentine and backed up their boast with sub-par golf, will be back to defend the 5,000 cup.

The matches will be played at nearby Laval-sur-Lac Golf Club Aug. 20-22 and tournament sponsors have promised that the course will be in perfect shape for all the entries.

Canada's team is expected to be named within a few days. Stan Leonard of Vancouver, who teamed with Bill Kerr of Montreal to finish second in last year's matches is expected to cop one of the berths.

WIDE OPEN

The second spot is wide open, selectors said. Prominently mentioned are Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, Gordon Brydson of Toronto and Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., who were left off well on the United States tournament circuit.

Mexican, 'Zebra' and Referee Combine to Whip 'Whip', Paul

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

A heap of pachydermic blubber flew across the ring in Memorial Arena last night, but understudy Whipper Watson was buried beneath it.

It bounced like a rubber ball. It bounced again. The third time it deflated like prune whip. Then it slowly regaled in the white shirt, who that referees usually wear, waved the hand of victory over the prone Watson.

In other words, three man, defeated two in the main bout at Memorial Arena where Whipper Billy Watson and Paul Baltimore bowed to the new tag team of the Mighty Ursus and one George Bell Jean, who needs a masquerade under the stripes of a Zebra. Probably the reason why Bell and their native habitant in Africa are gradually becoming extinct is that human competition is a criterion, no wonder.

In this reporter's opinion, the flying team of the Whip-Paul combo had it over the Mighty Ursus and Whipper Watson, who was the proverbial tent. The only difference was that Ursus, one of the alleged referees; who should not be allowed out of his cage. This human in white made it so obvious that the Mexican Jumping Bean and his striped partner got in the act so that he had prey to their machinations, thereby hangs the tale of the Whip-Paul defeat.

Hell, there was no happy medium. As a matter of fact, the Whip and M'sieu Paul ran wild at times, tossing the Mexican, and his sobbing partner, in, out, and around the ring.

There was never any doubt as to which was which. Bell and Ursus, two good men cannot beat three bad ones.

Referee Blubbery Bottom, who whimpers and cries like a kid caught stealing jam, and on his best can partner billed as the Mighty Ursus, are typical anti-main boys in wrestling.

But they are crude. Take for instance, the first fall. They subjected the Whipper to severe punishment. They gouged, choked, throttled the pride of East York until he got mad. Then things happened.

The Whip cleaned house. He loosed the enemies out of the ring with-celity. Paul took over. He did the same.

Then the laddybucks picked up the former heavyweight champ of the world as battering ram, crashed 'em head on. There was no brain storm. Nothing that would have to reverse ends to get that effect.

The Whip's new "Corkscrew" hold nearly dislocated the neck of Bell in the first fall. The flying leap of the Striped Menace rendered the Whip whose prospect it did not at it did in the final. But the faithful did not like it. They yelled for the head of the unholy trio. Over 1,500 of 'em would have committed mayhem on the man in white had they got near him.

Ray Villmer and Shi-Ri Lee plus the whiskers but not sideburns, Doc, in a spirited if corny display. But it was good for the laughs.

Gord Brydson, Canadian Leads Stars, Favored to Win Open Golf Tourney

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A cigar-smoking Toronto professional was the odds on choice today to become the first Canadian in 46 years to win the Canadian open golf tournament.

Gordie Brydson, 47-year-old veteran from the Mississaugua course, grabbed a two-stroke lead at the end of 54 holes Friday by carding a masterful 68 for a 54 hole total, six under par.

PUTTER SOURED

Fletcher, tied with San Francisco's Bob Rosburg at the halfway point, turned in his first bad score of the tournament—a 74—when his putter went sour.

The 31-year-old Rosburg had his troubles too. For the first time a straight day his form failed to find the mark and he had to settle for four-over par 75 and a 216 total, after going two strokes out in front on the first 18 holes with a sensational 67.

Going into the final round Cole was tied with amateur Bruce Codd of Portland, Ore. Codd, a 21-year-old university student, the only player under 70 in the first two rounds, slipped to a 73 after going three over on the first nine.

U.S. PAIR

Rudy Horvath, Windsor, Ont., professional, was all alone at 213 with Al Balding, Toledo, and Al Zimmerman, Phoenix, Ariz., were bracketed with 214s.

Brydson, puffing incessantly at a cigar, combined accurate tee shots with some deadly putting to post an even-par 36 going out. He went three under on the back nine with birdies on the 12th and 14th holes, pars the rest of the way.

A second shot on the long 12th dropped into a trap beside the green, but he came out nearly dead pin and missed his birdie putt. As he prepared to blast out a photographer popped out in front of him. When a marshal moved to chase the photographer away the referee waved Brydson forward him off and went on with his shot.

WOULDN'T DROP

Fletcher said after his disappointing round that he was playing his shots just as well but "the putts wouldn't drop."

Codd blew his chances with a fat seven on the 535-yard, par-five first hole.

Bill Mawhinney, former Canadian amateur champion, turned in the best score of the day, a 67. The Vancouver professional was well off the pace however with a 221 total for 54 holes.

The field was cut to 61 players for the final round. Scores of 229 and under qualified. Play starts today at 10 a.m. PDT, with the high scorers away first.

Empire Village Opened With Flag Ceremony

VANCOUVER (CP) — Empire Village, the home-away-from-home for the athletes of the Commonwealth, opened Friday with a brief flag-raising ceremony.

From now until the end of the British Empire Games, Aug. 7, it will be home to hundreds of athletes, coaches and officials. The games open July 30.

Empire Village is on the grounds of the University of British Columbia, 12 miles from downtown Vancouver, overlooking picturesque Howe sound.

Flags of Australia and South Africa were raised beside the Union Jack, hoisted to represent Southern Rhodesia.

The Southern Rhodesian standard had to be sent to the tailor for alterations. It was larger than the standard size decided upon for village flag poles and will be cut down to size.

TEAMS WELCOMED

Teams captains Dick Garrard, Australia, Vic Dreyer, South Africa, and Gerald Brown, Southern Rhodesia, raised the flags for their teams.

Camp commandant Maj.-Gen. J. P. Mackenzie and games general chairman Stanley W. Smith welcomed the teams to the village and the Games.

Flags of the other teams will be raised as they arrive.

At the village recreation centre there is television, jazz records and friendly hostesses to greet the newcomers.

VARIED SERVICES

The men athletes are housed at Ward camp, the home of university students during the school term. Women athletes share three modern co-ed dormitories.

There is dry-cleaning service, personal chauffeur service if the planned transportation hits a snarl, and volunteer guides to help the strangers.

There are three messrooms in charge of Ruth Blair, director of food service at UBC, who expects to serve 40,000 meals to the Games contestants during the next three weeks.

Petes Defeat St. Kitts 9-4

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Peterborough Petes lengthened their lead atop the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior League Friday night by defeating St. Catharines Athletics 9-4.

Russ Slater led the winners with three goals. Mike Bain scored two. Singles were notched by Don Ashley, Harry Wipper, Bob Curtis and Gerry Fitzgerald. Jim Bradshaw scored twice for Athletics. Bill Bradshaw and Derry Davies got the others.

Seven Canucks Qualify For Queen's Prize

BISLEY, England (CP) — Maj. W. Hampton, of Camp Borden, Ont., Friday paced a Canadian team in the grand aggregate of service rifle events, as six other Canadians qualified for the finals of the Queen's Prize rifle match. Hampton's score of 548 placed him 17th, nine points behind the winner, T. A. Silcock of England.

Maj. Hampton was also the Canadian leader in the all-comers' service rifle aggregate, with a score of 286. Although this was only seven points behind the winner, Capt. W. Robson of the Royal Marines, it put Hampton in 50th place.

Other leading Canadian scores in this match were by RCMP Sgt. C. C. Mann, Ottawa, 282; CSM W. McLeod Toughie, a fourtime Bisley contestant 280; and CQMS J. A. Draper of South Porcupine, Ont., 280.

Lieut. W. V. Hall, Camp Borden, 280; Lieut. L. H. Edsell, Britannia Bay, Ont., 334; Bdr. S. H. Thompson, Petawawa, 332.

The six Canadians who qualified for the finals of the Queen's Prize match were Sgt. R. S. Potter, Willow Cove, Ont., and Sgt. Ralph Cushing, Camp Borden, Ont.

England won the Mackinnon Challenge Cup in the International rifle grand aggregate match with the same score that Canada made in competition last year — 1,602. Canada was fifth.

Hasty Road Favored In Rich Classic

CHICAGO (AP)—The possibility of a record-breaking run from Hasty Road, Big Gun or one of 13 other glamorous starters in the richest three-year-old race in history had Arlington Park fans turning out en masse today.

More than 40,000 patrons were expected to jam the suburban oval by the time the horses go to the post for the rich Arlington Classic. If there are no scratches, the gross handle will be a record $1,187,300 with the winner earning $104,475.

Race time is 5:45 p.m. EST. With no rain — Chicago blacked out—from 5:30 to 6.

'Fished-Out' Lakes

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Cruising of Solunar Tables)

No doubt about it, the Department of Biology of the University of Michigan comes out every now and again with some astounding statements. Moreover, they back them up with erudite reports loaded on data which has been collected by reportedly trained men, working contiguously for months.

For instance, they have proven (to their own satisfaction if not to mine) that noise made by outboard motors has no adverse effect upon the quality of the fishing in any given body of water. Ask any guide in the Muskoka or the Florida Keys what he thinks about that one.

They have shown (most incontinently) that the Solunar Tables are useless, not worth the paper they are printed on. If my memory serves me correctly (and I think it does) they have found no correlation between the behavior of fish and the trends and levels of the moon. I have no doubt about it, some of their discoveries are astonishing.

BASS PEE ACRE

Now two gentlemen who are associated with the University of Michigan have figured out some hasty data per lost bass anglers. They have calculated a ratio between the quantity of fish per acre in a lake and the number of strikes you can expect to have per hour of fishing.

So that you can be guided accordingly, they say that a lake should have 50 bass per acre in order for a fisherman to catch one legal bass per hour. With only 17 big bass per acre, then you can't expect to catch more than one legal fish every four hours.

With only six large bass per acre with only six large bass per acre of water your chances are cut down to one fish in every 24 hours of casting, that, they tell us, is when Mr. Average Angler decides that the lake is fished-out.

Frankly, I do not know much about counting accurate population figures of fish in a lake. Moreover, I don't know that I wn very much interested. But I do know something about the behavior of such fish as do happen to be in any pond or lake under consideration.

A FEW TACKLE-BUSTERS

Each summer my son and I fish the headwaters of the Delaware River. That stream keeps itself stocked with a liberal supply of small smallmouth bass with here and there a tackle-buster.

On some days, when fishing conditions are good, it is not uncommon for us to hook, land and release from 75 to 100 bass. Conversely, when fishing conditions are but good, other we have trouble picking up enough pan-size fish to give us an adequate dinner that evening.

The same is true of lakes. No matter how many game fish happen to be in a lake, if conditions are such that those fish are not in a striking mood, then you can cast your arm off with little or no success.

The report I have seen does not take into account the fishing conditions under which this data was collected. By "conditions," I mean air temperature, water temperature, water temperature, water condition (high, low, muddy or clear) wind, barometric trend and level, time of the month and Solunar Periods. I would like to know more about those things and, incidentally, about the fishing records employed by these two gentlemen who did the fishing before I take too much stock in their conclusions.

Another thing is true about bass lakes—once a lake holds bass, if there is an adequate food supply, it will almost impossible to fish-out that lake. One female bass can lay as many as 30,000 eggs in one spawning. At least 5 per cent of these fry survive to legal size and they grow quickly.

So when a pond or a lake gains the reputation of being fished-out, long

Leafs' Return To Lead International

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the circuit's closest pennant races is being staged in the International-Grand Trunk. Toronto Maple Leafs lead Rochester Red Wings by only four percentage points today.

They have been battling each other for the lead since the end of May. Until today the margin has been only three games ahead for either club.

Toronto vaulted into the lead Friday night by defeating Ottawa Athletics 8-4 while Montreal Royals blanked the Red Wings 5-0.

In the only other game, Buffalo Bisons downed Richmond Virginians 6-4. The Havana-Syracuse game was postponed as the Kings' plane was grounded because of bad weather.

Elston Howard drove in four runs for Toronto with a double in the first inning and a homer in eighth. Catcher Don Griffin collected three hits in five trips to the plate for the Leafs.

Pitcher Bill Connelly's sixth inning double was the first hit and the only extra base knock off Roebuck, who won his eighth against nine losses. Roebuck fanned six and walked only one.

AT THE ISLLE—Dorothy McGuire has the screen that's commercial interest in Clifton Webb in "3 Coins in a Fountain", CinemaScope and gorgeous color, showing today at the air-conditioned Bella Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL — Constance Smith is offering love and understanding to the deeply troubled Jack Palance, little knowing that he is the legendary killer, Jack the Ripper. His story is told in the new panoramic production "Man in the Attic", which opens Monday at the Capitol Theatre. Also starred in the Twentieth Century-Fox release is Byron Palmer. On the same program "Man Crazy" starring Neville Brand and John Brown. Both adult pictures are first Belleville showings.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Ribitzer

Bridge will treat you better if your bids follow an order of preference. In each position at the table there is such an order of choice of bids; from the strongest to weakest.

Overcall in opponent suit shows nine tricks, is forcing to a game, and no honors in opponent suit; asks partner to show his longest suit.

Jump overcall shows eight tricks and a rebiddable suit, does not force partner to bid, asks partner to bid if he has two tricks or more, advises him to pass with less than two tricks.

Double for takeout shows any good as an opening one bid, orders partner to bid if no bid intervenes, asks partner to first show if he has any four cards or more in an unbid major suit.

Simple overcall shows five or more tricks without as many high cards and sure tricks found in an opening one bid, advises partner to pass if he does not have support or good suit.

♠ A Q J 9 8
♥ K Q 6 4 2
♣ 9

West doubled for takeout and his side did not reach their best contract. Who was at fault? Compare what west had with the order of choice and you will see that he made the wrong bid selection.

He had better than a simple overcall because he has as good as an opening one bid; enough for a takeout double. He has better than a double because he has eight tricks and a rebiddable suit.

He has a loser in diamonds and not as many as nine tricks. So, it is not as good as an overcall in opponent suit. Therefore, it is a jump overcall of two spades that would be the most correct.

AT THE ODEON McCARTHY THEATRE

Joanne Dru plays a western belle for the eighth time in her movie career in "The Siege at Red River," the Technicolor adventure drama closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

And to prove that this is her favorite type role she and her mother, Mrs. Jean Macaro, have waxed recordings of western songs. She does not sing in the picture, however, but her co-star Van Johnson who has the role of a Confederate intelligence officer behind the Union lines in this action-packed drama of the Civil War is credited. Masquerading as a traveling medicine man, Van sings a song titled "Tapioca," a jingle written by Ken Darby and Lionel Newman as a starring pitch for the patent medicine Johnson peddles.

The cast of the picture dubbed the song the grand-pappy of all singing commercials since the time of the picture's story is 1864 and called Johnson the forerunner of all musical commercial singers.

"The Siege at Red River" is a Twentieth Century-Fox release and the supporting cast includes Joan Bichard Boone, Jeff Morrow, Milburn Stone, Craig Hill, and Pilar Del Rey. Rudolph Mate directed under the producership of Leonard Goldstein.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, JULY 18, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — "It never rains but it pours"! But what if it is a little harder now to get your way, or you must strive more diligently to break even? It is thus that we succeed more surely, in a better way. Start right at church.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Share with others, as is your nature, but do not allow yourself to be imposed upon. Taurus sometimes seems stingy in certain instances, but you may just be practical. However, good will is a big help.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't forget God and do respect others' individuality. It is a better day than it may seem at first. Work with and for it.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — If you cannot have things your way, do not become upset or fretful. All straightens out with poise, practical procedure, and good humor. Add a prayer, and win.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — If you think it is difficult to get matters attended to as you would like, just watch! Watch the problems others are having in this world. Then start anew with a strong will to try, try again.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Home work, research, investigation, developing others' methods and theories are all matter especially good aspects for advancement now. You can do much good if you will — and without anxiety.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—It is one thing to be quick, bright and eager, but it is not good to display these gifts without the added benefit - of a tolerant attitude and allowance for others' normal errors. Be the real you.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Try your best, and offer a prayer as you do. That is the sure way. The world over, since always, has found that God's way is the right way.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—So much for which to be thankful! Yet we are always looking for gains we didn't earn, or which are often not for our good, and wondering why we don't have more! Let's start thinking more!

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—It is a better day than you may give it credit for being. And you will be sorry you didn't take more advantage of it later if you don't make time count. Pray; rest, too.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Utilize forces at your command, even the seemingly "small" ones. They may be the means of fine advancement later. Study policies and temptations — and, make use only of the good.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Don't relax principles! Don't give in to ill will or artifice. Don't heed those who would gain without conscience. You can be a leader in admirable behavior; do.

YOU BORN TODAY are a generous, generous, friendly somebody if living true to your many outstanding characteristics — among which are happily the kind fine people like to have and use. God has blessed you; take good cognizance of this now. Don't let a day go by that you do not strengthen your best traits, and curb faults (likely stubbornness at unexpected moments, feeling hurt at others' lack of feeling, and restlessness). Live in the present, but keep your nice respect of old things and your courtesy to elderly people. You enjoy the company of young ones; can keep them happy. Birthdate of: Wm. Makepeace Thackeray, famous novelist.

WANTS GERMANS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, said Wednesday the Western defenses are considerably stronger than three years ago but at this time "we could not successfully withstand an all-out attack" by Russia. The Gruenther told reporters who met him on his arrival here, for the very reason why we at headquarters think we need a German contribution" to the Western defence system.

Chile Scores Upset Victory In Davis Cup Doubles Match

By WILF GIBSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The experience of a veteran combined with the power of a young star gave Chile the victory it needed to leave the outcome of its Davis Cup tennis with Canada in doubt until today.

Andres Hammersley, 34-year-old tournament veteran, teamed with 21-year-old Luis Ayala Friday to score an upset 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 double win that cut Canada's margin to 2-1 in the first-round North American zone Davis Cup tennis play.

Hammersley and Ayala, previously untested as a team, overpowered Lorne Main and Paul Wilkins, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, Canada's hopes on the second day of the round at the Toronto Cricket Club of making a clean sweep of the first meeting between the two countries.

FIRST CHANCE

Main, former Vancouver resident now living in Winnipeg, who he's not bearing the big-time tennis circuit, will get the first chance today to wrap up the series for Canada in the two remaining singles. Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., will be playing in the concluding singles and if Main loses, it will be up to Bedard to make the clincher for Canada. The winner meets Mexico in the Quarter-finals.

Main, victor over Ayala the first day, will be heavily-favored today whether he meets Hammersley or Ricardo Balbiers, Chile's playing captain-coach. Both defeated in straight sets Thursday. Main was originally scheduled to meet Balbiers but the latter broke his leg and Chilean captain asked to substitute Hammersley.

Balbiers told C. L. Bonus, official referee for the matches, that he pulled a muscle in his right leg in his match against Bedard Thursday and asked to be relieved today after Balbiers is examined by a doctor to see whether he can play.

Hammersley is expected to be no tougher to beat by Canadians. He tain didn't look too good in losing to Bedard in straight sets. Hammersley, who played the match of about 500 with his excellent doubles partner Ayala, put Lorne Main only once before in tournament competition, losing in four sets to Bill Talbert in England's Wimbledon championships this year.

In the doubles Hammersley didn't lose his service once. He got his first point on the first service crashing Ayala-to put away summer-hitting Main to complete the game. They got off to a shaky start in the long, crucial first set. Main and Wilkins got a first break but muffed two set point chances in the eighth game and that proved the Chileans took full advantage.

Willy and Main became overanxious after the Chileans took early margin and the keen edge to their doubles play showed in the second and third sets as the collapse became a rout.

'Rejected' Is Top Favorite

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The King Ranch's Rejected remained the popular favorite to win the $137,100 Hollywood Gold Cup handicap today in a race against seven rivals over a mile and one quarter.

WINS QUEBEC GOLF

HULL, Que. (CP)—Mrs. R. E. Watson of Ottawa Hunt Friday won the Quebec women's golf championship with a 3-and-1 victory over Mrs. H. L. Mussells of Montreal Kenwood.

Six Countries Battle For Tennis Title

TORONTO (CP) — Ninety-nine players from six countries will battle for the men's singles title in the eight-day Canadian lawn tennis championships which open today at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club.

Officials report the entries come from Canada, the United States, England, Belgium, Japan and Mexico.

Champions will also be decided in the ladies' singles, men's doubles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles.

Lorne Main of Toronto, Canadian Davis Cup star who defeated Chilean champion Luis Ayala in the first match of Davis Cup play Thursday, is seeded No. 1 among the singles stars. He is followed by fellow Davis Cuppers, Bob Bedard, of Sherbrooke, Que., Paul Wilkes of Vancouver and Don Plant of Toronto, in that order.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether Terry Moore has the makings of a successful manager remains for the future to tell, but in the brief stewardship of Philadelphia Phillies the old Cardinal ball hawk is doing a good job in handling the managerial abilities of Willie Mays and Robin Roberts.

It is only one man's opinion, but in our book both of the current managerial boys will be on the job long way and make many a catch before the final curtain comes down before he will deserve to be ranked with Terry in the fielding department. Mays is the best all-round who could have them in the way his glove and his throwing arm.

What make the Cardinal star's catches even more amazing was the fact that he used a specially glove which was only very little larger than the bare hand. Even the huge, webbed ball traps favored by most players. Moore could do no such thing.

OTHER GOOD POINTS

Although men he played with outfit him, it always was our feeling that Moore was the solid man of the last two great Cardinal teams, the pennant winners of 1942 and '46. The greatest single play he made in the field and the spirit that he infused into his teammates, it seemed here, were worth more than another 30 points on his batting average over the season.

That is about all we wanted to say about Terry Moore as a player. Our thought was that in all the words written about his appointment as manager of the Phils, too few were devoted to his managerial ability. We wanted only to say that we know exactly what Roy Hamey, the Phils' general manager, meant when he said he hoped Moore could inspire the club to play the way he did.

Moore was not of the fiery, belligerent type in his playing days. He was the quiet leader of the old Cards. But Hamey, a keen baseball student, must have decided something in his makeup that he feels will correct a sad situation.

Cementmen Take Stewart Warner Into Camp 6-0

By GARRY ALEXANDER)

The Point Anne Cementmen chalked up their eleventh win of the year last night with Gerry Mulligan's hitting and Don Hunter's pitching being the main factors in a 6-0 victory over the fading Stewart Warner nine.

Hull, at the present time is in a fateful battle with the league leading championship with Don Sherry of Madoc, and the young shortstop gained considerable fame last night with a home run and three singles in four official trips to the plate.

Bobby Hunter, in the meantime spun a well deserved five-hit shutout and sent nine of the Warner crew back to the bench after taking a cut at his blazing fast ball. He walked only three and helped his own cause with a scoring double as well as coming home once himself.

The winners were the first to score in the first inning, when they plated two, until the seventh by Skippy Decaury made it four for another pair. They added the final two runs in the eighth.

Decaur swasted the distance in defeat, allowing ten hits, while walking six but was unable to fan a batter. His mates connected for four extra-base hits, a double by Decaur's trouble:

With a one-out single opened the game with a walk and Hull got his first single of the night after Warner had retired second on a wild pitch. Mulleny flew out to right field with the front runner scoring after the catch, and John Fitzpatrick also plated Hull with a double. Goyer had sent McDonald over ahead of him the previous inning with a three-bagger to the left field wall.

Fitzpatrick's double sent Tony Pettit romping in with the game's first run in the sixth. Art Wright, who succeeded Bob Bunton in the fifth came through in the clutches for Belleville threatened in the last two frames.

Batas Split Doubleheader With Oakville; Lose First 7-5 Then Win Second by 10-8 Score

OAKVILLE (Special) — Vern Goyer's two-run homer and Keith McDonald's three-run triple sparked a 16-hit attack on two Oakville hurlers as Belleville Batas outlasted the Oaks in a 13-8 slugfest in the nightcap of a doubleheader here last night. The locals claimed a 7-5 decision in the opener.

As a result of the even split both clubs now boast nine victories each but Batas, who have played three fewer games, hang onto third place in the standings via the percentages route.

Brian Scott's grand slam homer in the third frame of the first game gave the Oaks a 5-0 lead they never relinquished. The locals added three more in the sixth when Johnny Principal's double to centre cleared a packed set of sacks.

Batas plated two in the third on four successive singles and Claude Curry's double drove in another in the fourth. Pinch doubles clouted by Vern Goyer and Eddie Wallens knotted the score at 5-all and Batas in the seventh but Bobby Carrick, up from the Belleville Juniors, ended the rally by fanning the last two Belleville batters.

SEVEN RUNS IN SIXTH

In the nightcap Batas came up with a seven-run splurge in the sixth to erase a 7-3 Oak lead. McDonald's triple plated three runners and chased Oak starter Ross Paton. Dick Fitzpatrick, Pete and Dave Jones added the front runners for a second and less impressive relief chore, with a double and a pair of singles. Goyer had sent McDonald over ahead of him the previous inning with a three-bagger to the left field wall.

Fitzpatrick's double sent Tony Pettit romping in with the game's first run in the sixth. Art Wright, who succeeded Bob Bunton in the fifth came through in the clutches for Belleville threatened in the last two frames.

Woodbine Track

TORONTO (CP)—It was longshot day at the Woodbine raceway Friday with exactly half of the thirteen in the eight-race program returning better than $20 for a $2 straight ticket.

A real sleeper was Hall Guy, owned and driven by Lee Gardhouse of Burlington, Ont., a 20-year-old gelding that had already won $11,125 by finishing in the money 19 times in 28 starts this year. Overlooked in the betting, he was paid off at $64.30 to win, $17.80 to place and $9 to show in the fifth race.

Mr. Normby, an eight-year-old owned and driven by Joe Gelzer of Thompson, Man., returned $20.10 for victory in the sixth race and finished first in a photo with 22-6, Lady Victoria J., owned by Dr. A. J. Richardson of Toronto, who finished third and returned $11.60 on show tickets.

Helping set up a daily double of $118.75 was the winner of the first race, Melinda Brook, owned by Mrs. James Currie of Wingham, Ont., returning $20.20 on a straight ticket. Lakeside Miss, Gelzer owned, paid $6.10 in the other half.

Another big price was paid in the fourth race when Clarence Lockhart of Collingwood, Ont., piloted Big Jimmy J to victory and paid $22.80 for straight and $13 for place.

AFRICANS WIN

TORONTO (CP) — The South African lawn bowling team which defeated the British Empire Games in Vancouver defeated a Canadian team 44-39 in an exhibition here Friday.

The two Canadian rinks were made up of members of the executive of the Canadian Lawn Bowling Council.

The South African rink, skipped by W. Steed, defeated the Canadian rink skipped by Frank Richardson of Toronto, 20-15, in one game and also visiting rink skipped by Ray Randall, beat the Canadian rink skipped by Walter Cowan of Toronto 26-18 in the other.

FRANCHISE OPEN

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—President Roy MacDonald of the Maritime Major Hockey League said Friday he understands another club is anxious to take over the Halifax franchise. Garden Notes

Beetle, Bug and Worm Controls

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Believe, we talk about controls let us run over the various beetles and worms which feed upon our garden plants. It would be wise to learn to recognize a few of their natural enemies.

Worms and beetles fall into two classes: those which suck the life or giving juices from the plants and those which chew the leaves. Then there are the borers. These bore into the vegetable, or the stock, and either kill the plant or damage the edible portion.

For the stem borers keep the stocks coated with D.D.T. For corn earworm the treatment is oil used according to direction. Lindane used as a spray is good and can be used before silk appears. Both are poisons and should not be used on the edible parts within a month of harvesting.

MANY TYPES

Aphis, black, green, or brown are sucking insects. Colorado potato beetle is brick red and black striped. Occasionally this is found on other plants. The worms of this beetle chew off every leaf in sight. Mexican bean beetle, a yellow, spotted bug, eats leaves down to the ribs.

Flea - beetle, bright metallic color, eat round holes. There are red spiders, leaf hoppers and thrips.

Then there are the striped and spotted cucumber beetles, which do not mind eating holes in cucumber, leaves, or any of the melons, or squash plants. The blister beetle is striped and the squash bug is a ghostly grey.

This is a measly customer work ing on the under side of the leaves, and is scarcely detected until the damage is done. Beside recommended sprays there is a trick that will often clean them out quickly. Lay a short length of plank, near the vine. Look under this early in the morning and you will find the bugs have collected there. Destroy them before they have a chance to go back to the plants.

Our garden allies include some of the insects as well as the birds. Of course, toads. It is said that each toad is worth twenty dollars per season to the gardener.

The praying mantis is a strange looking insect usually three or more inches long. It eats a lot of harmful bugs.

The lace wing, has delicate green lace-like wings.

The lady bug has a rust, or brick red shell with one or more dark spots. Both of these are our friends. Hang out a few welcome signs in the birds in the form of shrubs with edible berries and bird houses. Wrens are especially friendly, and can easily attracted to your grounds.

POISON SPRAYS

But we will have to use some poison sprays. And, in case you have several, a spray and dust material on hand from former years let us run over the list of those that have been discarded in preference for some of the newer, better types.

If you have any of these toss them out. More effective mixtures have been found— Arsenate, BHC, Cryolite, DD, HETB, TAR wash, Parathion (too dangerous) P-R Mixture, sold under various trade names, and Thyo.

You can reply on DDT., Arsenate of lead (but this is being replaced by DDT, Bordeaux mixture, calcium arsenate, Lindane, Pyrethrum, Rotenone and sulphur.

There is a new chemical mixture for roses for chewing and sucking insects. This is also good on many other plants. Its name is malathion. It is a tobacco by product.

Phygon is a fungicide for scale, mildew etc. It has proved an excellent team-mate with malathion when the two are combined they make a mixture to fight every pest. Phygon will lick mildew on zinnias, roses and salvia seedlings.

Do you have ant hills in your lawn and borders, and do the grasshoppers chew your chrysanthemums? The answer to those problems is chlordane, either in dust, or as a spray.

When using dust sprinkle the plants with water first to make the powder stick. Dust and spray on a still day, or when there is little wind. If plant leaves are smooth, such as cabbage, add a little soap, not a detergent, to the water to hold the powder.

If you have ants in-doors use the spray form of chlordane and apply with paint brush to door and window frames. This is effective for the large sweet ants, or the small grease ants. Chlordane is also effective for other household insect pests. It retains its potency for three to eight weeks after spraying indoors.

FALSE ALARM

SEOUL, Korea (Reuters) — The South Korean defence ministry today imposed a new blackout while investigating a report that a skirmish took place Thursday on the east central front between South Korean and Communist troops. The ban was later lifted. A ministry spokesman said a "misunderstanding" was apparently caused by an accident in which one soldier was killed and six others were injured during hand grenade drill.

Health News

Don't Delay With Appendicitis

Whenever symptoms of appendicitis are present, early removal of the appendix is the only safe procedure, says Dr. John Laing McDonald, in an article in a recent issue of Health magazine, published by the Health League of Canada.

"There is little excuse for a child being allowed to go until the appendix ruptures if proper attention is given to earlier warnings," Dr. McDonald writes. "The first symptom, according to the doctor, is cramp pain. The pain varies greatly in its severity in different children, but is usually centred around the navel.

The pain is frequently followed by loss of appetite, nausea and vomiting, and on examination, tenderness is found on exerting pressure over the appendix. The other signs of fever, rapid pulse, or paleness may or may not be present. Dr. McDonald says. "It is a well-known fact that a patient may have a gangrenous appendix with the pulse and temperature normal."

NOT MORE COMMON

Appendicitis, according to Dr. McDonald, is not more common now than it was a few decades ago, though it appears to be, since nowadays it is more commonly recognized. Before the days of abdominal surgery, physicians and surgeons had little opportunity of finding out what was actually taking place in the abdomen, and wrong diagnoses were frequently made.

Children in the past who died of a condition described as "intestinal colic" or "acute inflammation of the bowels" probably were victims of acute appendicitis.

The pains of appendicitis are caused when some obstruction in the neck of that organ prevents it from emptying itself freely, and it contracts convulsively in an effort to empty itself. It may succeed in emptying the first time or two, but the obstruction that created the difficulty will remain, and the likelihood the intestinal contents that are continually flowing in and out of the obstructed organ will eventually jam tightly and refuse to be emptied.

PREPARATION POSSIBLE

This will result in the appearance of a gangrenous patch in the wall, and as the muscular contractions continue, a perforation may occur here, emptying the pent in contents into the abdominal cavity with serious results.

Castor oil, given to a child complaining of acute abdominal pain, will produce more violent contractions, and can hasten the onset of peritonitis.

In 1922, Dr. McDonald says, of the 81 patients admitted with appendicitis to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, 74 per cent had the appendix ruptured before admission. Because of the improvement in techniques of diagnosis and public health education, that number was reduced to less than 8 per cent in 1954. In the hands of skilled surgeons the risk of removing an appendix in the early stages of the disease is extremely small.

Dr. McDonald is senior surgeon at the Toronto General Hospital, in charge of surgery, Wellesley Division; consultant in Surgery, Hospital of Sick Children; Associate Professor of Surgery, University of Toronto.

CANADA MAY POLICE INDO-CHINA TRUCE

SECRETARY "REPORTS" TO HIS BOSS

President Eisenhower is an intent listener here as John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, visits him at the White House in Washington, reports on his recent talks in Paris with French Premier Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. The consultant officer disclosed that the Big Three formula for unity at Geneva "carries no danger that the U.S. will abandon its principles". He added that, in reaching an understanding with France and Britain on what terms the west would accept for a cease-fire in Indo-China, the U.S. has been "concerned" to find a means of aiding France and the associated states without prejudicing basic principles.—Central Press Canadian.

25 Meet Violent Deaths In East Canada Accidents

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twenty-five persons met violent death in eastern Canada during the week-end.

Drownings claimed 11 lives. Ten persons were killed in highway accidents. One person apparently hanged himself, a miner was crushed to death, a man was reported killed in an airplane crash and another died in a farm accident.

More than half the fatalities were in Ontario. Ten persons lost their lives in Quebec and one each in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. A Canadian Army soldier was drowned.

Police said truck driver Kenneth Rutledge, 30, of Toronto, whose body was found in bushes near Bella Ewart, Ont., apparently hanged himself from a tree. A knotted rope was around his neck and was looped over a tree limb.

MINER CRUSHED

Wolfgang Danz, a 33-year-old Ontario miner, was fatally crushed between an engine and a drift-post while working underground in the Falconbridge Nickel Mines near Sudbury.

A Montreal geologist, Reginald Ledrew, was reported killed when a small plane burst into flames and crashed when taking off at Twin Lake near Geraldton, Ont.

Five persons were drowned in Ontario. Gordon Hasser, 31, of Kitchener was drowned in the Nottawasaga river near Stayner when his small boat tipped and sank.

NON-CONFIDENCE IN DREW VOTED AT P.C. MEETING

Party's B.C. Executive Holds Stormy Session

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—A bitter wrangle between provincial and federal bodies of the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia was climaxed here during the week-end by a vote of non-confidence in J. A. Isaac, leader George Drew.

The executive of the party's provincial association approved the non-confidence motion by a 29-to-1 margin Saturday night following a stormy, day-long session that several times saw a number of women delegates in tears.

STAGE WALK-OUT

Immediately following announcement of the result of the vote, the 34 dissenting delegates, led by Mrs. Margaret Prowse Conroy, native members of parliament, walked out of the quarterly executive meeting.

The three members, Howard Green of Vancouver-Quadra, E. Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops) and Angus Macdonald (PC—Vancouver-Point Grey)—Esquimalt) promptly issued a statement reaffirming their confidence in Mr. Drew and explaining they were dissociating themselves from the provincial association until the non-confidence motion was removed from the books.

The split in party ranks is the open the unrest that has undercut party politics in B.C. for more than a year over the question of jurisdictional rights between federal and provincial factions.

It also marked a clear-cut victory for provincial leader Deane Finlayson in his battle with Mr. Drew for a greater say in running the party's B.C. affairs.

REVIEWS HISTORY

The non-confidence motion was introduced by E. J. Hatch of Victoria and followed defeat of a motion calling for expulsion of party members who disclosed to the press a month ago details of the internal strife rocking the west coast wing.

Mr. Finlayson, in a two hour address, reviewed the history of relations between Mr. Drew and the B.C. organization during the last four years. He charged Mr. Drew had dealt openly with affairs in B.C. and described federal party leaders in B. C. as "agents of the Ottawa machine."

Speaking in shirt sleeves, the 35-year-old provincial leader defied what he termed the "old guard," naming Mr. Green and Gen. Pearkes.

Flag-Pole Sitter Rudely Disturbed

CALGARY, (CP) — George Red MacEwan, who now is atop a 45-foot pole in the middle of the Springbank speedway here entering the second day of what he hopes will be a record flagpole record, received a rude shock early Sunday morning.

Two men and their lady friends attacked the flagpole with axes.

Luckily the pole was thick and they made only a one-inch dent in it but it was enough to ruin Red's sleep the first night up in the sky.

OIL COMPENSATION

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Finance Minister Ali Amini told reporters Saturday the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. will receive £72,000,000 compensation for the Abadan refinery and installations which were nationalized by Iran in 1951. The assets have been generally rated as worth about £350,000,000.

Irate Vicar Assails Socialists Whose Children Revile Churchill

SMETHWICK, England (Reuters)—An irate vicar, whose 11,000 parishioners here are predominantly Socialist, complained bitterly today:

"I have seen the effect on children of a Socialist environment. Almost the first word a child says is not 'mum' or 'dad' but 'labor.'"

Rev. John Chamberlain levelled his attack in his parish magazine today against Socialists "who poison their children's minds" against Conservative Prime Minister Churchill.

The 64-year-old vicar said his outburst was prompted by boys, aged 10 to 13, who have stories with contempt at a Conservative rally in chill and looked as if "they would like to spit on it."

Mr. Chamberlain said not one of the youngsters knows anything about Churchill except what he has been told by his elders.

"Did these people want to spit on Winnie when the bombs were falling, when Dunkirk was being evacuated, when they listened to his courageous messages over the wireless in our darkest hours from 1940 to 1945?"

Oliver Demands Dismissal Of Highways Minister Doucett

Hon. Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal Leader, called for the dismissal of Highways Minister George H. Doucett, Saturday, in an address to more than 60 delegates to the annual convention of the Central Ontario Young Liberals Association held at Hotel Quinte.

"The deputy minister is gone, the chief engineer, the construction engineer and the bridge engineer are gone. All the top men in the Highways department are gone except the pilot. Some men are in jail and some are before the courts, but while the man in charged with the direction of the department for 11 years stays on, the Frost government can not say it is clearing up the mess in the Highways Department," said Mr. Oliver.

"The trouble in the Highways Department found the government. The government did not find the trouble in the Highways Department," he stated.

"For 23 years of political life I have never known a government to sink so far, as fast and so short a time as the Frost administration at Queen's Park. They have wasted millions of dollars with riotous living and reckless spending," said Mr. Oliver.

"On one of the jobs contract the government overpaid contractors $2,000,000 and the auditors of public accounts can't get a nickel back.

"There is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde government at Queen's Park", he continued. "They are frugal on the one hand and so on the other. While they dish out millions to their friends who don't earn it, they find it impossible to supplement the federal old age pension by $10 a month.

"Mr. Frost says the health insurance and hospitalization are expensive and administratively difficult. He tells us that his government will not bring in a supplement to the old age pension for ever or right or wrong," said Mr. Oliver.

"But the government can find millions to give to their friends," he continued. "The Frost government has favored the privileged class in Ontario and ignored the ordinary people on the streets and on the farms."

"The municipalities have not been dealt fairly with," he said.

"They have had to depend on a static tax structure for revenue. The bulk of municipal taxation has come from a levy on real estate. But there comes a time when it is not realistic to go on taxing real estate. Many Ontario centres have reached that point now. Already they are providing services they cannot afford.

"The Frost government has argued for a new deal for the municipalities but the government says 'No' Mr. Oliver said. "At the Eastern Ontario conference the government told the eastern municipalities' requests for aid. They had no money for more roads for roads and none for general grants," he continued.

"The answer to Mr. Frost's wrong way for the province to deal with municipalities," he said, "is a tax system leads to is ever increasing administrative expense and by the time the municipalities—meet the province's conditions and request the grant they could have done the job cheaper themselves.

British Labor's Left Wing Attacks Asia Defence Plan

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—The Labor party left wing has lined up for a strong attack on the planned Southeast Asia defence pact and on Britain's cool line with party leaders on West German rearmament.

A provisional list of 200 resolutions issued Sunday for the party's annual conference in Blackpool includes more than 30 opposing a rearmed Germany.

Many resolutions condemn the proposed Southeast Asia alliance and about 50 demand withdrawal of confidence in Churchill and Eisenhower. Malenkov talks — to outlaw the atom and hydrogen bombs.

One group of resolutions utterly opposes any British military intervention in Indo-China while others call for the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Most of the forces in arms revolution are expected to be found in labor parties which represent, just as the strength of the Labor government's national membership, and are the stronghold of left-wing leader Aneurin Bevan.

The anti-German rearmament resolutions include one from a body which has split the Labor party. The quarrel has been the official lead taken by Clement Attlee with only the narrowest majority support for their defence of the new West German contribution to west European defence.

Police Hunt Nitro-Glycerine Hidden by Hamilton Thief

HAMILTON (CP)—A bottle containing enough nitro-glycerine to blow the strongest vault in Hamilton is reported buried somewhere on the embankment of the Queen Elizabeth Way in East Flamboro township.

Detective James Lawrence received a letter from a man who claimed to be an expert safecracker, who is now serving a prison term, to that effect, during the week-end. The letter contained a map which showed the approximate location of the cache.

Detectives Lawrence and George Larson, along with Councils Larry Reid of East Flamboro force searched for the deadly explosive for several hours Sunday but failed to no avail. They plan to search again tonight.

Detective Lawrence stated that he is afraid that children may use unexploded shell or that it might be blown to bits if they decide to drop it.

ASKS CO-OPERATION

TOKYO (AP)A Japanese official asked Russia at a fisheries conference today that conservation of fisheries required international cooperation, sound scientific advice and 'strong national governments which can regulate" their deep sea fishermen. (Canada is one of the countries represented at the talks.) The official, Shigeru Hori, minister of agriculture and forestry, said Japan agrees with the "main contention's principles and would like to see them extended to other fisheries.

DEFENCE PLANT PROBE LAUNCHED BY McCARTHY

Flanders Will Press For Vote of Censure

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator McCarthy secretary predicted today over a proposed vote of censure, launched a renewed public exploration today of his charges that Reds have infiltrated United States defence plants.

He has said plants in the Boston area are involved. He first announced plans to open the hearings in Boston Saturday, but was disturbed by Senate Republican leaders.

The Wisconsin senator gave no advance hint of his Senate investigations sub-committee's specific agenda for tomorrow, the first regular open hearing it has held in months.

Nor did he have much to say during the week-end about the censure move offered by Senator Ralph Flanders (Rep. Vt.) and scheduled for Senate consideration Tuesday, except that he feels "no concern" about it.

HEARING POSTPONEMENT

Flanders stoked his anti-McCarthy drive in advance by releasing a planned Tuesday speech likening the Wisconsin Republican senator to Hitler and Stalin, reached here, had no comment. He has called Flanders, who is 73, "senile."

As the sub-committee went back to work today, presumably to tackle the 133 names McCarthy says he has, one summoned witness appeared to be Edwin Garfield, 39, an Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. employe.

Garfield said Sunday night in Boston he got a McCarthy subpoena to appear at the Washington hearing. He said he does no defence or war work, but is an active member of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers and is a field and editor a local union paper.

"McCarthy has been trying to get my union for a long time," he said.

Without specifying what his conduct is, the one-sentence resolution of Mr. McCarthy declares a member of the U.S. Senate, is contrary to senatorial traditions, and should be bring the Senate into disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned.

Flanders mentioned details of McCarthy's actions as sub-committee chairman only briefly in his prepared speech. Instead, the Vermont Republican outlined what he said were "patterns of a most disturbing sort" into which he fitted McCarthy.

Mexican Police Alert to Prevent Duel by Cubans

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Immigration agents kept a close watch today to see that a duel-minded Cuban politico doesn't cross swords with a political refugee from the island republic.

Roberto Agramonte, president of the Cuban Orthodox party, has threatened to duel with former Cuban minister of state Aureliano Sanchez Arango in violation of a decree prohibiting such encounters.

TURN OVER JETS

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Sunday the transfer of 82 Canadian Sabre jets to Turkey will increase confidence in Turkey's ability to contribute to the defence of peace under NATO. The statement was contained in a message, released here, which was read at Adana, Turkey, at a ceremony in which the first six planes were handed over to the Turkish Air Force.

Aureole, Queen's Big-Money-Maker, Wins His Last Race Before Retiring

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Aureole, the biggest money-winning thoroughbred British royalty ever owned, left the turf here today. The Queen's golden colt now goes into honorable retirement.

He goes so at the peak of his career, having stamped himself the best horse in Europe, and possibly in the world, with an unforgettable victory in Saturday's Coronation Cup and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot race course. This is the richest race ever run in the United Kingdom, worth £23,000 to the winner.

Consistent and courageous Aureole won in a style that will long be remembered. He triumphed in a field of 17 top performers from England, Ireland, Italy and France. Overcoming a sluggish start, he conquered on hard mud after a long, hard battle.

Aureole then proved his class. He settled in the field and came into the wide turn for home in the first three. He went into the lead a moment later and stayed there, pulling out a little extra in the last 150 yards as the fast-finishing French invader Vieux Manoir ranged alongside.

At the finish Vieux, owned by Madame Suzy Volterra, was three-quarters of a length behind Aureole. Third place went to Prince Bio, third, Souepi fourth, Elopement fifth and Bottlevell sixth.

Aureole was the favorite. His victory Saturday put the final fanciful touch on a turf romance. Queen Cecil Boyd-Rochfort always believed in the colt's greatness but Aureole's temperament marred his racing record. Then a London lawyer, Charles Brooke, was consulted.

Brooke's treatment consisted largely of touching Aureole with his finger-tips, the touch being claimed to transmit soothing impulses to the nervous system. Fanciful as it sounds, the method seemed to work. Aureole has won his last three races like a champion.

The colt now goes to stud, where he is booked for three years. His value as a stallion is estimated at more than £100,000. His turf winnings total £40,000. He has won anything earned by any other royal horse.

Poland and India Would Be Others On Armistice Body

See 'A Chance, That's All' For Settlement at Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France went into the final 36 hours of his diplomatic duel with the Communists for peace in Indo-China today with what a British spokesman described as "a chance, that's all."

Another Western official said he wouldn't even bet on the proposition. The top Communist delegates here kept to themselves.

One high conference source said Mendes-France had pushed away one obstacle to peace in a tentative fashion: the long debated question of the international commission to police the armistice. This source said the French and the Communists seem to have settled on Canada, India and Poland as the members.

There would be last minute changes, it was emphasized.

HAS SUPPORT

The British, it was reported, will support Mendes - France on this composition. The position of the United States has not been announced. In the past the United States has opposed the inclusion of any Communist states on the commission because of the unhappy results in Korea where Czechoslovakia and Poland hampered operations of the neutral national supervisory commission with their veto power.

Progress also was reported unofficially on the question of electing Ho Viet Nam after the armistice. There were reports the Communists were ready to accept a delay of 12 months. Earlier they had asked for a vote on a new government within a month. The French originally asked for a two-year delay.

PREMIER BUSY

Mendes-France saw Viet Namese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do early today and then went to see Premier Chou En-lai of Red China. He conferred with U.S. Undersecretary of State Bedell Smith later in the day and will see Chou again tonight. The lease on Mendes-France's villa ends Wednesday and there was every indication he was prepared to move out, in or out of Geneva.

The determined French premier moved tirelessly ahead with his busy schedule round of private conferences in an all-out final effort to bring his peace terms to obtain a cease-fire by July 20 or resign.

Cigaret Butts Believed Cause Of 9 Grass Fires

An appeal for motorists to be careful with cigaret butts was made today by the city fire department after no less than nine calls for grass fires were received over the week-end.

Firemen said they believed the majority of the grass blazes had been caused through cigaret butts being carelessly thrown from autos and setting fire to the dry grass along the roadside.

Six of the grass blazes occurred on Saturday, one on Canadian Road, another on North Park St., and other at Avondale, on the 5th concession of Thurlow and at Foxboro. Sunday calls for grass blazes were received on Oak Lake and to the 2nd concession of Thurlow where firemen were called back twice.

No less than five grass blazes were extinguished Saturday afternoon at two locations along Highway 14 west of Foxboro.

At the home of A. Lowe fire started along the roadside and got into a hayfield before it was extinguished. A fire break was plowed around the fire to check its spread.

Almost at the same time another four separate blazes were extinguished opposite the home of Col. R. Vanderwater, half a mile west. Here one of the blazes got through a fence into a corn field before it was put out.

The blaze on North-Park Street threatened to get out of hand for a time and two trucks were sent to the fire. About two acres of dry grass was burned over before the blaze spread into clumps of cedars.

RCEME Unit Returns From Summer Training

The 2nd Technical Squadron, R.C.E.M.E. returned to Belleville, Saturday from the annual Summer camp at Camp Borden, Ont.

The unit left Belleville July 10, under Capt. W. M. Rice and C.S.M. L. H. Hunter travelling by unit transport to Peterborough where the personnel were attached to the Technical Squadron, R.C.E.M.E. of that city. The two units then proceeded by army bus to Camp Borden.

At camp both units trained under the direction of Lt.-Col. J. K. Gilmour of 5th Technical Squadron, R.C.E.M.E. of Windsor, whose unit was also in camp. Assistants were the permanent force instructional staff.

Training was carried out in two phases — trades training in 308 Base Workshop and in the field with the workshop each man worked at his own military trade during the first week, and in the repair of the latest military equipment under the supervision of the workshop staff.

While the other ranks received workshop training the officers monitored the ground and arranged a tactical scheme for the 2nd phase. Workshop equipment was taken on an advanced workshop detachment to refit an infantry brigade that had recently returned in a major action and (theoretically) had to be completely refitted in seven days. The work to be performed involved the recovery of vehicles and the repair of vehicles, small arms, tele-com. equipment and light aircraft equipment. Later R.C.E.M.E. equipment was used under field conditions, proper attention had been paid to camouflage, administration etc. Equipment requiring repair was provided by the base workshop during the two days of the scheme, nine vehicles were actually repaired including several major repairs. In the operation of the vehicle section, C.S.M. Smith distinguished himself by his versatility and ability in organization and administration.

The recovery section completed all four scheduled tasks in a day which presented a different problem. One job which had required four and one-half hours the previous week, was completed in one hour and forty-five minutes.

While the object of the week was military training, the social activities were not neglected and were arranged for the same high standard. One evening the troops were transported to Wasaga Beach for a swim and on Thursday evening a variety air force show was ignored while all ranks enjoyed a smoker, with generous refreshments held on, at the site of the scheme.

Brilliant July Weather Favors CNRAA Picnic at Cobourg; Over 600 Attend Big Outing

Nearly 600 employees of the Canadian National Railways Belleville division and their children, detrained shortly before eleven o'clock on their annual summer outing. It is estimated over 100 more attended the picnic after travelling by automobile.

The picnic, held under the auspices of the Canadian National Railways Athletic Association was one of the most successful in the history of the organization. President Bill Parry, and his executive were well satisfied with the fine job done by the various committees under the general chairmanship of George Clapper assisted by Al. Meagher, assistant chairman of the day.

There was not a dull moment all day. The fine facilities at the park were fully used to the utmost and the large crowd revelled in the brilliant July sunshine and other perfect weather conditions.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

There were softball games and baseball games. There was a brilliant stage show offered by talented young artists of the Dorothy Dickey Dance Studio, Belleville. There was a gala sports program held for children of all ages and alike. There was swimming and dancing, and lots of all round picnic good spirit that augured success from the start.

The train with its laughing shouting contingent pulled out of Belleville shortly after eight o'clock. Nine coaches were necessary to convey the party, baskets and baskets of food and pop. And the day's fun started as the train began to move.

Chairman Bill Parry and Ted Hopkins dressed in the grotesquely-funny costumes of clowns went into action. They paraded through the train causing merriment aplenty for the children.

Later officials passed along the aisles dispensing their generous candy to the kiddies.

The Montreal C.N.R.A.A. softball team could not put in an appearance with their scheduled baseball tilt with the Belleville C.N.R.A.A. squad so two teams of the C.N.R.A.A. league gave quite a fine exhibition. At the old-timers were out and a lot of fun was derived from the game that ended in a seven-all tie, or as scorekeeper "Red" Carmichael said.

The large crowd sat down to lunch shortly after noon and at one o'clock several young talented youngsters of the Dorothy Dickey Dance Studio delighted the audience with a splendid stage show. Mrs. Dickey and Mrs. K. Dawson, in charge of this phase of entertainment deserve a lot of credit for a splendid show well staged and excellently given. It took place in the commodious band shell on the picnic grounds proper.

TALENTED ARTISTS

The show opened with "Suwanee" that featured Grace Gray, Alvin Sinclair, Barbara Anne Mattig and Jimmy Fisher. Next came Grace and Alvin in cute dance routine, and Barbara Anne followed with "Yes Sir, That's My Baby." An Irish tap was neatly executed by Barbara and Grace while Karen Post and Ricky Laugh delighted the audiences with their song-and-dance rendition of "Walking My Baby Back Home." Ricky got rounds of applause with his "Doggie in the Window" and Carolyn Chisholm also gave a finished performance in her "Anchors Aweigh" number. Ricky and Karen nearly brought the house down with their "Cute and Beautiful Doll."

SPORTS PROGRAM

Following the baseball game the sports program was held under the committee consisting of Art Pitcher, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, and Geo. Foster. Henry Drury acted as starter.

Following are the results: Girls, 2-4, Karen Star; boys, 2-4,George Johnson; boys, 5-7, Terry Little, Renny Embury; girls, 6-7, Janis Ronsky, Darlene Trowbridge; boys, 8-10, Ian Gowsell, Mrs. Anderson; 8-10, Shirley Boomhour, Pat Starr; boys, 10-12, Stewart Fisher, John Morgan; girls 11-13, Carolyn Keller, Joan Smith; boys, 14-15, Dale Smith, Ken Gaiglin; girls, 14-15, Gloria Cox, Carolyn Fox; married men, 35 and over, Harry Doyle; married women, Dorothy Vicky, Joyce Woodley; thread-and-needle race, Sundstead, Mrs. Anderson; 3, Galpin, Joyce Woodley; ladies' shoe race, June Keegan; men's shoe race, Lyle Lardner.

Mrs. Rod Lickfold won the special draw with Cy Young winning the radio. Leo Finnegan won a special prize.

Special mention should be made of the fine quintet of trumpet players who entertained the crowd at the station and on the train. This group of clever young musicians are members of the Belleville majorette, complete with costume. The various committees and members included, baseball, softball, Harold Bawden, S. Galpin and D. Galpin; sports, Art Pitcher, Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. R. Boyle; talent show, Mrs. F. Dawson, Mrs. Rod Lickfold and Don Foster, master of ceremonies; train chairman, Robert Ferguson; ticket sales, L. Gilchrist, Al. Wardhaugh; children's entertainment, Don Foster, Harold Foote; program, Cy Young, Alan Bushell; draws, Arthur Frankish, R.A.

Mrs. Henry Drury was in charge of first aid with Bert Easton acting as lifeguard.

Police Blotter

Considerable quiet prevailed in the city over the week-end with little more than routine matters to claim the attention of police officers.

A Hawkesbury man, R. W. Bateman, reported to police that he had lost a black spaniel while visiting relatives in the city.

DEAD EARNEST

An "earnest" is a token sum given to bind a bargain; in "dead earnest" the token sum is not allowed for in the final reckoning.

Imperial Oil Cuts Gas Price To Wholesalers

TORONTO (CP) — Imperial Oil Limited today announced a cut of from one-half cent to one cent a gallon in the wholesale price of its gasoline in most of eastern Canada except northwestern Ontario.

A spokesman said the company, which operates no retail outlets, "hopes and expects" the reduction to be passed on to consumers. Setting of retail prices is up to gas station operators.

The new wholesale price of Esso gasoline, regular grade, will be 22.1 cents a gallon in Toronto, exclusive of provincial tax.

Present average retail price in southern Ontario for regular grade is 41 cents a gallon, including 11 cents provincial tax.

Present price of premium grade in Toronto is 43.4 cents.

The cut is the second the company has made this year in the wholesale price of its gasoline. After the previous cut on regular grade in June, some retailers passed on all the reduction, some part, and others none of it.

Bent Coins Give Police Trouble

TRENTON — Bent coins are giving Trenton police a problem to cope with. There seems to be an epidemic of jammed parking meters that is costing the police department time lost and much unnecessary work. The coins appear to be bent purposely by pliers or some similar device. Some of them stick in the insert slot while others drop down the chute to become lodged in the mechanism. In some cases the meter is out of order the best part of a day which means that earning power of the meter has been cut off during that time.

There are several hundred meters in the town of Trenton and if there were an increase in the number being rendered unproductive it could reflect in the potential sum the aggregate are capable of collecting. It is the motorists' duty to notify police of a meter that is out of order. A police trouble shooter can then clear the coin received and the meter is again operating on a paying basis.

LEGION HOLDS PICNIC

TRENTON (Special) — Veterans' children had a wonderful time at the annual Legion picnic held at Cedardale Beach yesterday. About 400 people altogether took advantage of the games and the cool breezes by the lake. There were prizes for all the contestants and free soft drinks and ice cream for everybody.

Accident Shakes Car Passengers

TRENTON (Special) — Extensive head lacerations were suffered by Arnold Savidant, Queen street, Trenton, and his wife and six-weeks-old baby son were shaken up when the car in which they were riding was struck from behind by another vehicle. Savidant was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital.

The Savidant family was riding in the rear seat of a car driven by Lloyd Arthur Godfrey, Trenton, when the car was struck from behind by a car driven by

Mounties Escape Serious Injury In Car Plunge

BANCROFT (Special) — Two RCMP officers from Ottawa, Richard Bruce Southern and Robert E. Williams, escaped with minor injuries when their car left the highway, travelled 200 feet on the shoulder, knocked down two guard rails and plunged over a 30-foot embankment at L'Amable Lake at 6.00 a.m. Sunday morning.

The constables, believed to be on vacation, were treated for minor injuries at Bancroft Red Cross Hospital and released Sunday afternoon.

Their late model car was completely demolished and was sold to a wrecker for $75 on the spot.

The accident occurred on Maple-Bancroft highway about three miles south of Bancroft.

Two Belleville Residents Hurt In Maritimes

On a month's motor trip to the east coast Mrs. Nellis Allin and her mother, Mrs. Martha Lewis, 77, both of Belleville, were injured in a three-car crash near Sussex, N.B., on Sunday and both were taken to hospital.

Mrs. Allin suffered chest injuries and abrasions and Mrs. Lewis, shock. Mrs. Allin is the wife of ex-mayor H. J. Allin. Relatives here said Mrs. Allin and her mother had left last week on an extended motor trip and expected to be gone a month.

The car, driven by Mrs. Allin, and another from Massachusetts collided on a narrow bridge three miles east of Sussex. The American driver was arrested and taken to jail at Hampton, N.B., where it was expected a charge would be laid today.

Child, 3, Killed When Uncle, 15, Backs Up Auto

MADOC—Ivy Lynn Rump, two years, 11 months, was killed yesterday morning, when a car driven by her uncle, 15-year-old Haley Wiggins backed over her outside his home on Highway 7, about four miles west of here.

The child apparently was playing behind the parked car in the yard of Wiggins' home, it was known to the youth. Wiggins was

The three men were flung against the rear seat, the father being cut by flying glass. A baby bottle resting on the seat was broken.

Madoc-Foxboro Highway Called Political Football

"The Madoc-Foxboro highway has been a political football for years. It is significant that action is finally taken to build a better road a month after I was named Liberal standard-bearer for Hastings East, at a convention that pointedly emphasized the lack of activity on behalf of this riding by the sitting member," said Dr. D. C. McVicker, Mayor of Deseronto, in a brief address at the annual convention of the Central Ontario Young Liberals Association convention held Saturday at Hotel Quinte.

Dr. McVicker also took to task the provincial government's attitude towards providing a supplement to the old age pension.

In matters of health and welfare he said "Dr Phillips has been crying that his department has not received its fair share of Ontario grants for health and welfare. Dr. Phillips only took six or seven million dollars of the $16,000,000 granted Ontario for health and welfare by the Federal Government."

Frank S. Follwell, M.P. for Hastings South, brought greetings from the Federal Government. He spoke briefly of the value of the Young Liberal Association to both the federal and provincial parties and stressed the necessity of the provincial organization placing its candidates in the field well in advance of a projected election.

Chairman of the meeting was Quigong president, Harold Richardson, Cobourg.

Mayor Booth, Belleville, was elected president of the Central Ontario Association for 1954 to succeed Harold Richardson of Cobourg.

Other officers elected were: William S. O'Hare, Kingston vice-president; Dr. S. Boyd Upper, Belleville, secretary, and Robert Shepherd, Amelisburg, treasurer.

The convention passed a resolution that constituted the provincial leader Farquhar Oliver and federal leader, Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

THE BRITISH EMPIRE GAMES

Announcement that the contractors have turned over Empire Stadium to the British Empire Games committee and the arrival of more than 800 athletes from 25 countries of the Commonwealth have focused the attention of the sporting world in general and of all Canadians in particular on Vancouver.

From July 30th to August 7th, Canada's princely city on the Pacific becomes the number one city in the country as it plays host to an international sporting event that takes second place only to the Olympic Games for the number of competitors and the number of countries entered.

The people of Vancouver are to be congratulated for their splendid support of the Games. Raising of the $2,500,000 necessary for the staging of the Games was accomplished, not by taxing the people of British Columbia, but by appealing to their generosity. The man-on-the-street has responded magnificently and Vancouver is richer for it.

The purely material advantages gained are impressive enough in themselves. Vancouver now boasts Canada's largest stadium, a bowl seating 35,000 specially constructed for the Games. It is an asset that will continue to serve the half million people of greater Vancouver as the home of the city's new entry in the Western International Football Union. The University of British Columbia will still have one of the world's most modern swimming pools with seating capacity for 10,000 spectators.

The international flavor of the event will be enhanced by the presence of Lord Alexander, former Governor-General of Canada who will officially open the Games, and by a two-day visit of the Duke of Edinburgh who will be making a Canadian tour in August.

Sportswriters from all parts of the Commonwealth as well as the United States will be featuring the Games and Vancouver. Nationwide radio coverage, television coverage in areas with TV outlets, newsreels and movies will bring Vancouver and Canada an unprecedented volume of a most favorable type of publicity.

The only flaw imaginable is the possibility of a week of liquid sunshine. Experience tells us that is not uncommon if we are to judge Vancouver's weather from the delightful cartoons of the Vancouver Sun's Len Norris.

We have a hunch, however, that the weatherman will join in the spirit of fun and co-operate by providing ideal weather for the ideal setting of the Games.

We extend our congratulations to the British Empire Games committee for a monumental sporting and national show well done and our greetings and best wishes to the people of Vancouver for the success of the Games.

THE UNDERSTATEMENT OF THE YEAR

> At 6:26 we plan to begin formal talks for the dispersal of populations of entire Canadian cities in the event of A-bomb or H-bomb attacks.

But these plans call only for short term tactical movements, according to the written statement made public by Hon. Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare.

Large scale compulsory evacuation of non-essential groups of the population out of target areas in the event of war, is not, he declares, in any probability, except in extreme emergency, because of the lowering of morale by such action.

Rt. Hon. Martin expressed some hope that the government might be spared the necessity of resorting to compulsion in dispersing the population.

"A long-term thinning out of the population in target areas, however, could be carried on a voluntary basis," suggested his prepared statement.

It occurs to us that this may well rank as the understatement of the year.

Come now, fellow citizens, who will help the government by foregoing the right to be an A-bomb target? Any volunteers?

HOW TO FRIGHTEN BABOONS

If you ever want to frighten a band of marauding baboons the following solution is offered.

Just manufacture two ghost baboons.

We got this advice with confidence because it has worked already.

Jack Richardson, a farmer in North Transvaal, South Africa, was thrilled at difficulty to raise enough crops because of the pilferings of a band of baboons. He captured two of the band, painted them white, and released them the next time his garden was raided. The painted baboons ran to join their wild companions and succeeded in frightening the whole band so thoroughly that Richardson has not seen a single baboon since. His conclusion is that baboons are afraid of ghosts.

Recently ethnologists from a university in the southern United States dispelled a starling problem by whirling captured starlings in a sack, recording their squawks of distress, and playing the records in the starlings' roosting areas. Where guns, sky rockets, and noise makers failed, the cry of a tipsy starling succeeded.

Starlings frightening starlings and apes frightening apes might initiate a trade thought as to the best methods of doing away with other animal and aerial pests.

However, when it comes to humans we have to bow to Mark Twain who said that people need saying when he wrote: "Man is the only animal I fear. All others kill only to eat."

WEATHER

In summer when the sky is blue
And stilled the leaf on every tree,
I'd like to watch a pouring rain.

Though of snow, a foot or two,
Just then would very pleasant be.
And when the ground is white with snow
And cold the wind and gray the sky,

And when the earth to dust is dried,
In vain I wish again to know
The brilliant sunshine of July.

Although it's useless to complain,
Of weather I am sure of this:
I'm sure, though I must stay inside,
Through all the changes that occur,
I seldom like it as it is.
It's as it isn't, I prefer.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The finest garden in the neighborhood has not many flowers in it. It would never take any prizes in a horticultural contest. Its quality of privacy. Sitting on one of the homely rustic benches down near the foot of it, you can hardly believe you are in the midst of a big, bustling city.

The bushes that surround it are mostly flowering shrubbery, such as orange blossom, lilac, honeysuckle and Japanese plum, which get their flowering over early in the season, and then devote themselves heartily to providing shade and a thick screen of foliage. My neighbor has taken graceful advantage of the situation, and has for years past maintained a number of benches and chairs scattered around the garden, mostly at the foot, where his friends are welcome to come and sit in cool and lowered isolation from the throng and community all around. He has a few flowers in their season: some tulips in early June, a cluster of zinnias here and there to spark up the shadows. But it has not been for flowers we have strolled to sit in this garden: it has been the seclusion of it. Why, you don't even seem to hear sounds from the street, or from neighboring premises.

A few weeks ago, newcomers moved into the house next door to us and began to dig.

They were the first thing they did was clean up their garden. They began to be flower lovers, and have no use for bushes. Underbrush, they call it. They cut down their shrubbery entirely, and the lilac, all grown half wild in the years.

And my neighbor, the owner of the secluded garden, made the horrifying discovery that the bushes around his place were not built on his property, but on the fence, on the neighbors'. A hasty investigation revealed that on all three sides, we are on neighbors' premises.

When a newcomer to a district starts tidying up his garden, it is astonishing how infectious a thing he has let loose. Last week, the neighbor south of my friend uprooted all his old shrubbery. And there is my friend's garden, now naked, bald, all its privacy gone, and on the other side old back yard with some incongruous benches in it.

Privacy is often not of our own making, not under our own control.

Dazzling Diamonds

(Times of London)

"Valuable jewels surround themselves and those who wear them" (as a New York diamond merchant said when he bought the "unlucky" Hope diamond for about a million dollars) "with terror, anxiety and danger" is hardly surprising. The great jewels, especially the great diamonds, are remarkably enduring symbols of wealth and power. Their trend marks the waxing and waning fortunes of dynasties and social classes. The Jehangir diamond, to be sold at Christie's, is in a sense a newcomer to the ranks of the known historic diamonds, since it has not been known to the European experts. But its first owner was Emperor of India from 1605 to 1627, and its second built the Taj Mahal; the names of both these great Mogul Emperors are inscribed on the jewel. The inscription was stamped by the hoof of a horse, and that the diamond might be hung on the Emperor's throne, just most of the inscription remains, whereas comparable Indian diamonds since then have had their own inscriptions when the stones have been recut.

One of the formerly inscribed stones, now bereft of its inscription, is the Koh-i-noor, which is similar in weight to the Jehangir and which, after the annexation of the Soviet Government in Moscow — a valuable and sardonic reminder that the Tsars of the Russian Court was the chief market for diamonds. The Orloff Court had been so earlier, as the history, for example, of Catherine the Great and of the Saxon stone which disappeared in the Revolution. The British Crown jewels include perhaps the oldest of the famous diamonds, the Black Prince's, recorded in 1353, and the youngest, the Cullinan, a present to King Edward VII. Intermixed, which are the principal sources of diamonds, that is, in a more ordinary sense. Although exceptional finds — sometimes of record — as one near Pretoria recently, the world market state 426 carats — the steady business is in more ordinary quantities and sizes. The De Beers boils no doubt of power, wealth and influence, but their origins are great, but whose history will not be recorded. Within their less distinguished days (1888-1902), Rhodes held they do have their romance, and they do have their fortunes, makers and their prices, the changing fortunes of classes and nations. Rajas or maharajahs have never in the long run lost their appeal as their value, intuitive thought they are to prosperity and depression. Whether set in crowns or in engagement rings they are dearly prized in every epoch.

Suburban Industry

(Toronto Financial Post)

At present, the trend to new industry in Canada is being attracted to the larger cities. Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver, for instance, accounted for roughly one-quarter of the total amount spent on new industry and plant expansion last year.

Charts prepared by various provincial governments, however, show there is a definite trend to new industry in the smaller centres. In an article, "The Big Changes in Suburbia," in the April issue of Harper's Magazine, the late Frederick Lewis Allen noted the "discovery of the rural factory business."

Others see you will about the future of this trend; I would venture to say only that I think it is more likely to increase than come to an end," he said.

In view of this move, there is a natural curiosity about the impact of new industry on local business.

After a study covering a five-year period, the United States Chamber of Commerce found that every 100 new workers at one retail sales up $380,000, raised personal income $270,000, and increased population 270,000.

In addition, an increase of 100 industrial workers meant 74 new jobs in other lines of work, 11 more professional men, and population increase of 286.

This new migration of industry is good news for everybody. It injects new life into smaller centres and takes some of the pressure off big cities.

Markets for Gas

(Calgary Herald)

As for the needs of industries which settle in Alberta in the future, the fact is that most of the industries which come here because of our natural gas will need the by-products which must be removed from the gas before it is used and elsewhere and unless we find markets for the gas it is going to waste. The only practical way of extracting the by-products on which our gas processing industrial industry would have to be based.

Just What Is Profit?

(Montreal Gazette)

Just what is profit? Perhaps the time has come when the use of the word will have to be revised.

In company reports there is a statement of the "gross profits". But these are not profits of the company before taxes. The "net profits" remain after all taxes have been paid.

The difference between these two figures is huge. Last year, why should gross profits be singled out to show the vast wealth and profits, when so great a proportion of them will be eaten up in taxes?

A recent publication by the Canadian Manufacturers Association shows that in 1953 for every 5.3 cents of profits distributed as dividends or retained in Canadian companies, 4.8 cents were paid in taxes.

The monthly leaflet published by the CMA suggests that the use of the term "gross profits" is really misleading, as in the realities of the situation. Taxes, in all intents and purposes, should be reckoned among the expenses of doing business. The only real definition of profit is that which is left after all taxes have been paid.

It would certainly make things a great deal clearer if the word "profit" were used for that purpose and for no other.

Do 'Skeeters Spread Polio?

(Winnipeg Free Press)

Manitoba has two unenviable distinctions. It is among the areas most stricken by polio. And it is the home of the first serious conjunctural study ever made of the disease. The conjunctural study has been noted by entomologists at the University of Manitoba. It is based on the theory that mosquitoes and other biting insects may be a contributing factor in spreading the polio virus.

But the theory went untested on the University's shelves until money for the necessary research was found by a community group organized to press for an investigation.

Now, at Winnipeg, a University-directed investigation is getting under way, financed by the newly-incorporated Polio Prevention Association of Greater Winnipeg, which is the first of its kind on this continent. The association is a group of women whose lives have been intimately affected by polio, and it has created scientific basis for the hypothesis underlying the research.

Virus outbreaks, such as polio, are most apparent in the hottest months, when mosquitoes are at their worst. It is possible, therefore, that mosquitoes may be a reservoir of infection and the mosquito (equipped to inject into it a hypodermic needle) dips into this reservoir and transmits the disease.

Even if this theory proves to be invalid — as, of course, it may well be — the study is unlikely to be wasted. The field of polio research is one in which considerably narrowed and useful knowledge will be won in one direction or other directions. For example, the collection of insects can be combined with the usual anti-mosquito campaign and for other purposes such as equine encephalitis.

Collection of insects has already begun. The work is being financed by the association with the help of the rural local authorities. The University zoology department is contributing its specialized and experienced staff men, and volunteers are now running the collection stations. But the project cannot be completed without more money, and the association is launching a $25,000 fund-raising campaign. Part of that large sum is to be collected in this province for such a project.

Milky Rain Old-Fashioned

(Hamilton Spectator)

We are told in Leicester, England, it has rained milk—a piece of intelligence in which we find a refreshing touch of the devil with the pragmatists who will be quick to point out that it was probably the equivalent in milk products, egg pelt, cheese, peas, beans, and the like, pelted down. These are the best food sources of calcium.

Every child requires not less than 1½ pints — three glasses — of whole milk or skim milk if the child prefers it to whole milk — every day to maintain normal growth, health and vim. There's no substitute.

The child or adult who can and does enjoy sufficient exposure to direct sunlight or diffuse daylight every day may manufacture his own vitamin D, which is necessary to insure normal utilization of calcium in the body. If this is not practical, then a strong source of vitamin D should be taken by mouth daily.

If the bay fever sufferer will not or cannot drink whole milk he may take Vi-Syneral Calcium Acidophilus milk or Bulgarian milk or evaporated milk or eat yogurt or cheese. Best the next best thing, so far as susceptibility to hay fever is concerned, is a suitable daily ration or dicalcium phosphate and calcium fluconate preparation. Vi-Syneral D is suggested in the pamphlet on Hay Fever, available on written, signed request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Don't tell me you are allergic to milk.

But if you insist you are, I've already given my advice. While the advice applies to hay fever, I think it would be well to applies to hay fever only secondarily. Primarily I recommend milk and it is the best prophylactic and corrective for any kind of allergic exposure, such as hay fever, asthma, eczema, urticaria (hives), sinusitis, neurodermatitis (plaut hives), migraine (periodic sick headache), bronchial or spasmodic headache), hypersthesic rhinitis (temperamental coryza) or what have you.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LAMPS ALONG THE WAY

I like to see lighted lamps along a beautiful street or avenue at night. It makes me think of the lamps along life's highway—friends as lamps, books, all nature a lamp lighted by the stars in the firmament.

I like to think of many a teacher I had in school who was like a lighted lamp to me, with a kindly counsel direction and encouragement. Though many of them have gone to their reward the lamps they lighted in my mind and heart still brightly burn.

Every important experience is like a lamp lighted for guidance, and it is by experience that we learn most of our good lessons. Every out standing piece of writer is a lighted lamp for those who would be guided and directed by the light.

Every book in my library I look upon as a lamp. I open it and see and there is light all about it. T can close my eyes at night before being lost in sleep, and the light from that book still shows bright. It may have been the story of a child or a grown person with a soul to it, or a book like the story of Joseph Conrad, in which the author wrote as he felt, and largely revealed all mankind through the medium of himself.

As a boy in a small Midwestern town I used to watch a grocer kick out of walking behind the town's street lamp lighter. As each light was lit that man touched on the street would glow. Thanks to Edison and the genius finally responsible giving light to the entire world.

If it were not for these lamps along the way, think of how we would stumble, lose our way, and come to the final end. The lighted lamp has a silent voice but its leadership is always evident. There is a feeling of safety with lamps along the way. We can never be one of those lame ourselves, guiding someone else to his or her safe destination.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

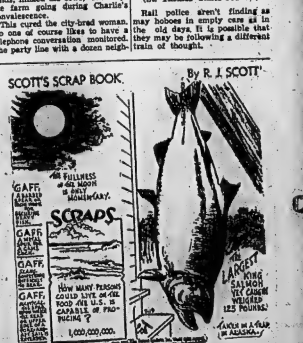
DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE PASTE LINE

A woman who had been born and brought up in the country married a man from her marriage. Her household was on a party tele phone line. She knew that every time she lifted the receiver, a dozen other people lifted their receivers and listened in on the conversation. She resented this bitterly.

One day, however, her husband was seriously injured in the field. She ran to the telephone and asked the operator to connect her with the hospital. Immediately there were voices from all the different homes. "Hurry, Central! Please do we do!" Within a half hour her driveway was jammed with cars. Neighbors came miles around came. They took over harvesting of the fields, milked the cows, fed all the farm going during Charlie's convalescence.

This cured the city-bred woman. No one of course likes to have a telephone conversation monitored. The party line with a dozen neighbors hanging on can be very irritating. But we can forgive a lot of morbid curiosity in people who rejoice with us and sorrow with us enthusiastically and energetically.



In every household there are bound to be little circumstances which just have to be overlooked in the light of larger and better qualities on the part of those who cause the irritation.

The marriage services say, "Bear with each other's infirmities" and we want to commend Good Books says, "If there be any virtue or if there be any praise, think on these things."

Change of Trains

Rail police aren't finding as many hoboes in empty cars as in the old days. It is possible that they may be following a different train of thought.

16-35 Age Group Has Unenviable Accident Rate

TORONTO.— The odds are more in favor of death striking at drivers between the ages of 16-35 than any other age group, according to all the All Canada Insurance Federation.

Officials of the Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, told that traffic fatalities in the 16-35 group are nearly twice as great as in the 36-55 age category.

Insurance experts also said that fatalities and injuries are heaviest over week-ends because of the large number of cars on the road.

In order to minimize week-end highway accidents, insurance officials recommend that drivers refrain from travelling when fatigued. Long hours on unfamiliar roads can be hazardous and build up abnormal nervous tension, they said. . .

When drowsy, motorists should pull over to the side of the road at the earliest opportunity, insurance spokesmen said. Frequent change of action and rotation of drivers helps to prevent sleepiness or hypnosis which may lead to accidents, they said.

Wild Carrot Hay Field Pest

While florists who use it in floral arrangements under the name of Queen Anne's Lace may consider it to have some beauty, wild carrot is anything but a thing of beauty to the farmers of Ontario.

While it may add to the attractiveness of a bouquet when arranged in a living room vase, farmers and road superintendents have yet to be convinced of its usefulness nor are they impressed by the way it seeds and the spreading white panicles or white flowers. To them it is a pest and a menace. In cultivated land it does not present much of a problem, but in hay fields and in wasteland this weed is becoming more widespread and difficult to control each year.

This weed can be controlled by a planned spray program but knowledge of its growth pattern is necessary to plan such an attack. The seedlings emerge in late summer and early fall after the normal winter season is over. One or more pounds of 2,4-D acid per acre applied in the seedlings are about 2 inches high will clean out most of them. If not controlled in the fall early spraying does not do much good since the small plants in the next year's growth till late in the season and are usually protected by the dead growth of their stem that start growing. Regardless of the season the volume of spray material should be sufficient to wash down through the grass and hit the carrot plant.

In hay or pasture fields with clover present, spraying is not recommended and clipping to prevent the plant going to seed is a must for every farmer.

SEA RETURNS CREW OF LUCKLESS "LEHI"

Blackout Curtains Will Not Be Required

WASHINGTON (AP)—The blackout curtains that became a costly and cumbersome fixture in many North American homes during the Second World War will be abandoned by the United States in any future emergency.

Military and civil defence officials announced Saturday night that window shades and venetian blinds will do an adequate job of controlling "sky glow" in the event of enemy attack.

A plan for reducing by 75 per cent the light reflected skyward by the normal lighting pattern of a modern city was announced. Called "dimout" for controlled illumination, the plan directs a dimout rather than a blackout.

In designated target areas, outdoor advertising lights and floodlights would be curbed, street lights would be shielded and autos would use only parking lights or illuminated highways. Shades, drapes and blinds would prevent light in homes, apartments and hotels from reflecting upward.

Truck Driver Took Own Life, Police Decide

BELLE EWART, Ont. (CP)—Police said Sunday night that truck driver Kenneth Rutledge of Toronto, whose body was found in a clump of bushes near here Sunday, apparently committed suicide by hanging himself from a tree.

Rutledge, 30, missing from his home since last Tuesday, was found just off a sideroad near this community 54 miles north of Toronto. Police said a rope was knotted around his neck and was looped over the limb of a tree.

Officers suspected foul play. However, after an autopsy and further checking they ruled out this theory.

Spain Will Sell Arms to Egypt

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says today Spanish arms manufacturers reported they made a deal to sell the Egyptian government an estimated $3,500,000 worth of guns and ammunition.

A Times dispatch from Bilbao, Spain, says a big plant at Marquina is working double shifts to fill an order for several hundred mortars and more than 200,000 shells. It says a state arsenal at Oviedo was reported turning out 900 machine guns for the Egyptians.

The dispatch said British has expressed concern to the Spanish foreign office over the sale of arms which are fears will be used by Egyptian nationals to kill British soldiers in the disputed Suez Canal zone.

The dispatch said the United States was also understood to have made a general representation to Spain that sale of arms to other than NATO countries would interfere with the spirit of the American-Spanish aid agreement signed last September.

Edmonton Woman Rode Crest Of Oil Boom to Establish Successful Business Career

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Gene Ezby of Edmonton, one of Canada's few women customs brokers, rode the crest of Alberta's oil boom to a successful business career.

"Women are just as capable as men in the business world," says Gene, who believes there is room for more of the fairer sex.

Backing up this philosophy with an astute business sense and her modest savings, Gene founded her own customs brokerage firm just six months after discovery of oil at Leduc in 1947.

Today she runs one of the leading businesses in Canada's oil capital, clearing through customs everything from drilling rigs and pipeline supplies to race horses.

STARTED FROM SCRATCH

The tall, attractive brunette is one of about 15 women customs brokers in Canada, but is believed the only one who started from scratch on her own.

Born and educated here, Miss Ezby, now 37, went from high school to a secretarial course in keeping with an early ambition to be a stenographer. Later in her career she gained more than eight years' experience in customs brokerage through a major Edmonton firm here for which she was office and credit manager.

Seven years ago she decided she wanted to be her "own boss."

Edmonton was ripe for a third customs brokerage house when friends advised Gene to carry her experience in this line into a business of her own. She wasn't deterred by the fact that two other prospective rivals were long established and that one was so busy he had not taken a holiday for 20 years.

"So I hung out my shingle on the eighth floor of an Edmonton office building," Gene says. "The first little while was "rough," and she laughs as she recalls: "I used to look out of my window and wonder whether to jump or wait."

She waited.

OIL PAYS OFF

She soon won a lion's share of the customs work for the mushrooming oil industry. Within six months she was solidly on her feet and as imported supplies for the industry began moving through customs to newly built warehouses. Today, although her business has more diversified than originally, the oil industry still accounts for 50 per cent of it.

The story of Miss Gene Ezby and her customs brokerage, is also a family success story.

Gene now employs two men and two women in a spacious downtown office—this one on the ground floor. The two men are Mr. E. C. Ezby, her father, and Doug Ezby, her 23-year-old brother.

Gene prevailed upon her father to join her in 1949 when she found her work becoming heavy. Mr. Ezby left a wholesale drygoods firm with which he had been associated for 22 years as a top executive. "And for higher pay, at that," he says with a twinkle in his eye. Doug joined his sister in 1951 after coming out of school.

WORK IN HARMONY

The family blend adds smoothworking harmony to the business. Gene says anyone around, say all the Ezbys. As Gene puts it: "Mr. Ezby is "mighty proud" of his daughter and daughter has made in business.

Gene is an enthusiast in bridge, golf and cooking, being proud of the fact that she can "whomp up a good steak supper."

Away from the office she maintains contact with the oil trade through membership in the Edmonton Desk and Derrick Club, an educational organization for women in the petroleum and allied industries. She is a past president of her club.

Originating in the United States in 1945, the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America now has 86 clubs with 8,700 members. In Canada there are clubs in Edmonton, Calgary and Regina, and others are being formed at Montreal and Lloydminster, Sask. The Calgary club, with 250 members, is the association's fourth largest.

Recognition of the growing importance of the Canadian oil industry was demonstrated this year when the association's annual convention was held in Banff, Alta.

British Conservatives' Expert May Decide to Settle in Canada

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A young woman learned in the ways of British politics and agriculture will be paying her second visit to Canada shortly—and she wouldn't mind staying there.

Canada's gain would be the loss of the central office of the Conservative party, for when Invercyed Elizabeth Briggs, 30, has been research assistant since the 1950 general election.

Miss Briggs, an Oxford graduate in agriculture, will be concerned mainly with revisiting her sister in Toronto. But an interest in Canada stirred by a 2½-month trip last year may lead to her making her home across the Atlantic.

Daughter of a one-time Leeds coalmine owner, Miss Briggs toured Canadian farms from Toronto to the Rockies and found them an eye-opener. This applied to Canadian agricultural techniques in general, and luxury shorthorn beef breeding in particular.

She also kept an interested eye on the Canadian general election. Now back in London, she turned out a comprehensive article on Canadian agriculture for the Times Agricultural Review.

She intends to visit Ottawa to investigate possible future career connected with agriculture. If she finds something to her liking she will settle in Canada—and sit on the political fence until she's sored out Canadian politics.

Miss Briggs rates her Tory office post as "the perfect job." She was secretary of the Conservative party agricultural, fisheries and food committee. It was her job to collect all available data required for party debates in the House of Commons, or any other party matter.

Land ownership and usage were just two of the problems on which she kept up to date.

Miss Briggs' short-term purpose in returning to Canada by air July 21 is to see her sister, Mrs. Helen Morley, get to Britain. The English agriculturalist will take over daughters Jane, 6, and Rosamund,

FELLS 300-POUND BEAR WITH ONE SHOT

Wilf Foot on her kill in big game style, Mrs. William Hughes proudly poses with 300-pound bear she shot in her backyard at Oxtongue Lake, a lumbering village near Huntsville, Ont. The slender housewife, who has never used a gun before, grabbed her husband's .303 rifle off the wall—which was loaded for just such a purpose—after she was lured to her backyard by continuous barking of neighborhood dogs. On spotting the animal she fired once and was startled when the big beast rolled and fell dead before her. Her bullet had passed through its head. Later, she said, she realized the risk she had taken, for she didn't know how to reload the gun. "I don't know what I would have done if it came toward me," she said.—Central Press Canadian.

Burks Falls Woman, 86, Canada's Grandma Moses

BURKS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Many folks in this northern Ontario town think Grandma Parker has the talent as an artist. Some say she's better than Grandma Moses, who started by herself in the primitive field in the United States.

At 86, Grandma Parker—Mrs. Naomi Parker—has displayed a sense of color and proportion which has surprised professional artists as well as her neighbors.

She has been making quilts a name for herself in Burks Falls, about 50 miles south of North Bay. Then she took up painting at 84. That's when she put down her quilts and mats and accepted a gift set of oil paints her daughter bought for $6.98.

USES FINGERS

She worked at first on cheap paper instead of canvas; on the tops of cardboard shoe boxes; on bits of veneer and anything fitting fill. She used her fingers on all paintings. Unusual colors jumped at the viewer.

Grandma Parker received a bit of encouragement during a recent show of paintings by the Burks Falls Art Club. Dr. C. D. Gaskell, director of art of the Ontario Department of Education, said her painting was the best in the display.

Unlike Grandma Moses, Grandma Parker does not ignore perspective in her painting. She is also fond of daughters.

TOBACCO LID

She uses the lid of an old tobacco tin as her palette; mixing her colors from a half-dozen blobs of paint. She has done more than 100 paintings. Her subject matter ranges from girlhood memories to imaginative landscapes and seascapes.

Grandma Parker doesn't paint for money.

"I prefer to give the paintings away," she said. "If I started to sell them, I would feel compelled to produce more and I don't want to feel that way."

COMMEMORATE LAUNCHING

LONDON (CP)—County council officials recently unveiled a plaque commemorating the launching of the 22,800-ton steamship Great Eastern at Millwall, on the north shore of the Thames, in 1858.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

HE WANTS TO MARRY HER, BUT FEARS HER EX-HUSBAND

Once a person has messed up his life, it isn't always easy to know where his responsibilities—or even, sometimes, his own real desires—really lie.

I am thinking specifically of an unmarried man of 38 who, having got himself deeply involved with a married woman, now finds himself with her on his hands, where he never really wanted her to be.

He met this 33-year-old woman at a time when her husband was in service and overseas, and she had gone back to live with her parents. For a while they went out on dates which he says were just "friendly ones with no thought of anything more intimate in mind. However, one evening the young woman announced that she was in love with him, and that she must either break off with him and never see him again, or else leave her parents' home and join him.

"I tried to persuade her that she couldn't be in love with me," he says, "and I told her that I would have nothing to do with her if she did leave home. I didn't even think I was in love with her then, and I told her so.

"Well, the next thing I knew she had left her home and taken a room by the week for two weeks. I never went near her. Then I began to worry, believing that, although quite foolishly, I was responsible for her having left home. It was my duty to stand by her."

The result of this was just what you'd expect—in no time at all, he found himself "falling for her." An affair was in progress and she was writing her husband that she was in love with someone else and wanted a divorce.

"In our defense," the letter continues, "I must say that her husband had never been interested in her. He even spent their wedding night away from her and after they were married continually neglected her."

Not long after the young woman wrote her husband the fateful letter, he returned from overseas. He tried to get her to come back to him, but she refused. Finally, he consented to the divorce, promising that he would never interfere with either his wife or the other man in any way. A couple of weeks after the divorce, a chance meeting on the street precipitated a fist fight with the man who was to become his former wife's husband.

"Now," the letter continues, "although I respected her then as she got her divorce I would marry her I am uncertain whether I should do so or not. I feel that if I did, I would live a life of constant fear on account of her former husband. Every time I am out in public with her, I feel he may suddenly turn up and start on me.

"Do you think it would be better for me to end the affair, bring off, or am I obligated to marry this woman? I might add that I really do love her."

Now, the point at which this man made his gravest error, of course—if we skip lightly over the fact that he was in grave error right in the beginning when he took another man's wife out on "friendly dates"—was when he reversed himself in the matter of continuing his friendship with the woman after she had left her parents' home. He told her definitely in advance that if she did so, she would have nothing more to do with her. Yet instead of holding to that position, he was soon plunged into an affair with her.

What I would say was his best course, since his insists he really loves her, would be for them to marry and move as far away as possible from where they live. The idea, of course, would be to put themselves out of reach of the vengeful husband and give them an opportunity to start an entirely new life. Naturally, they would tell only those who would need to know, just where their new home was to be.

That I would feel to be the most decent way out of a very unsavory situation. From then on, it would be wholly in their own hands to make or break their lives.

Sugarless Raspberry Jam

By Mary Moore

By coincidence one of our readers was in my neighborhood when I was ready to express her opinion of two of my samples of sugarless raspberry jam. While I was there she called her husband in from the garden to give his opinion too, and they both liked Sugarless Raspberry Jam No. 1. The flavor of it is different than No. 2, but No. 2 has better color and texture.

I think the diabetic patients (and the reducers) in this audience who have asked me for my method of making Sugarless Raspberry Jam would be well advised to make up enough to extend raspberries in jam, using one quart according to directions in No. 1 recipe and the other quart in the No. 2 recipe. This is a way they can make their own choice and file the recipe for the jam they prefer.

SUGARLESS RED RASPBERRY JAM NO. 1

Six cups (a heaped up quart) washed and well-drained choice red raspberries are mashed with potato masher in flat-bottomed pan. Let these cook over high heat while you stir, until they boil hard, and then for about 15 minutes until some of the juice evaporates—at lower temperature. Add 2 teaspoons cerio crystals and 16 saccharin tablets. Stir until both these additions are dissolved. Cook slowly 10 more minutes—cooking the jam 25 minutes in all. Pour into sterile small jars and seal. Store in refrigerator.

SUGARLESS RED RASPBERRY JAM NO. 2

One quart choice red raspberries—measure should be heaping —as these should measure 6 cups. Wash berries in sieve and dry them on tea towel to remove as much moisture as possible. Stir over high heat for 3 minutes until juice forms and berries are boiling hard, then reduce heat and boil 15 minutes. Add 13 sucaryl tablets and stir over low heat for 10 minutes. Pour into sterile small jars and seal. Store in refrigerator.

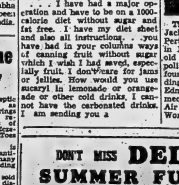
One egg, 1 cup mineral oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice. Beat the egg add 1 tablespoon vinegar and beat and add half the mineral oil, then beat. Add second tablespoon vinegar and oil and best. Add salt and paprika. Add a little more vinegar to taste. Add a little lemon flavor to salads of all varieties.



ANSWER:

Thank you Mrs. M. C. I recognized your handwriting from some time ago. There is nothing simpler than using sucaryl tablets instead of sugar, and one tube or two, At first be sparing with the sucaryl. It is very easy to add an extra tablet if your drink is not sweet enough, for they dissolve readily. Also it is possible to take them out once they are in, of course.

SUMMER FUR CLEARANCE SALE

"QUALITY-STYLISH FURS AT ECONOMY PRICES"

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WHEN YOU MEET NEW PEOPLE . . . LISTEN WELL

When you meet new people, as you doubtless will on your vacation, listen. It is an co-llpse attention and interest. Be on the alert to find out the interests and enthusiasms of your new vacation acquaintances. For these interests and enthusiasms are the important conversation-steps on the pathway from acquaintanceship to friendship.

WITH ICED TEA OR COFFEE, SHOULD WAITER BE SERVED TOO?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please answer a question about summer table-service which always bothers me? In the summer, both at luncheon or dinner, I usually serve a cold beverage, iced tea or iced coffee, for example, or a special fruit drink which is a specialty of mine...With these, I never ever ask whether or not I should place water glasses also. What is the proper rule about this, or is there any definite rule?

Hostess

According to best table-service, water glasses should be placed on the table even when a cold beverage of the kind you mention is served. It is often assumed that the beverage is the best form of water, but the truth is that certain people like to drink water. Some guests, as I'm sure you've noticed, welcome cold water also. Some guests prefer cold water to iced tea or any other iced beverage. So it makes sense that when guests are present, water glasses should be placed. However, at family meals—one-to-one-breakfast - over -the -service undoubtedly knows which guests like what, and so provides the beverage-glasses and the water glasses accordingly.

WHICH INITIALS, MAIDEN NAME OR MARRIED NAME?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) I'm to be married in late September, and I'd like to order some really appropriate gowns for which to write my thank-you notes for wedding presents which would you prefer. . .the semi-note paper or the informals with the initials in the center of the first page? (2) What initials should I order, the initials of my maiden name, or those my future name? Some notes would be written before my marriage, and some after. (3) What were're on the subject of thank-you notes, should I write a thank-you note for every shower gift? Some of my friends have given this, and some haven't. . . Bride-to-be

(1) If I were you, I'd order the semi-informal notes because they are so many excellent kinds of this good-looking and so-useful paper. And if you choose a rather pretty one you size it adapts itself to more uses than the formal or informal. As most of your thank-you notes will be short and written before your marriage, the proper shape should be marked with the initials of your maiden name until you are married. (3) Do follow the fine ideal of your friends who have written a thank-you note for every shower present. . .this shows charming manners, proper appreciation.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

TINTING THE EYELIDS

Despite its popularity, eyeshadow is actually "suitable" for certain types only. To wear it successfully, one must have a flair for dress, a slender figure and a lovely face. On the right girl lid tinting is enchanting. It creates an element of mystery, makes her romantic-looking. It draws attention to the eyes that, without question, are the most interesting facial feature.

Lids of delicate coloring and smooth surfaces lend eloquence to the eyes, have more to do with their expression than most of us realize. But lid tinting is a creative type of make-up requires practice, restraint, the proper choice of color and a strong mirror. To do a first class job a magnifying mirror, placed in a well lighted spot, should be used.

"The danger is in over-doing," the film must be light, smoothly and evenly distributed.

"Start the application along the line of the lashes, working outward from the inner corner of the lid. The shadow should be fainter as it is swept upward and should be gently blended under the ridge of the eye socket. Neither should it extend beyond the outer terminal of the eyebrow.

"Only by experimenting will you be able to arrive at a happy choice of colors. There are blues, browns, bronze, mauves, greens and purples of different shades. If you are planning to play with this special item for make-up, best a little journey to a cosmetic bar. The attendant will try out the various tints for you.

"Blue is also ravishing on brunettes. For the girl with copper-colored hair and hazel eyes the bronze shades are the most effective. Green belongs by beauty right to the redhead. It brings out the glory of the flaming tresses and is flattering to the delicate complexion that is the natural inheritance of the titian-haired.

Thousands of Young Britons Buying New Edwardian Suits

BY DONALD McNICOL

LONDON (AP)—Just before he sailed for Japan last year, Alan Marsh, teen-age London seaman, saw something in a London tailor's shop window that changed his whole outlook on life.

It was an Edwardian suit, complete with velvet-collared jacket and calf-clinging drainpipe pants—the kind London dandies wore 50 years ago in the reign of King Edward VII.

Marsh had to make a trip to Japan and back as a seaman before he could raise the £30 it cost to buy the costume and become a "Teddy Boy."

Thousands of young Britons like Marsh are having much the same days in the fantastic craze that's sweeping England. They've made a new look from the "old look" of Edward's time. Some claim it's the uniform of a new delinquency and call the Teddy Boy "crowds" terms hinting of violence and crime. Others disagree.

D. A. HAIRCUTS

When Marsh bought his Teddy Boy suit he also bought new cream-and-white shirts and a narrow, "Slim Jim" tie.

"All you need now is a D. A.", the tailor said him.

"D. A." is Edwardian slang for a haircut with sidecurls, a pompadour top and a tuck-in neck-piece at the back to the rear end of a duck. The haircut costs young Teddy Boys at least as much fancy ones that rival the coiffeurs of their girl friends.

SPECIAL BATTLES

Critics say Teddy Boys must be tempted to steal in order to keep themselves in the sort of finery which they can't really afford. They also recall pitched battles in which Teddy Boys have wielded knives, razors and lead blackjacks.

The boys indignantly deny such tactics. As young Marsh says, speaking in the strange language that has evolved with the strange costumes:

"It's no giggle getting your rig ruffled by some geezer in a hoodle." (Meaning there's nothing funny about getting a costly Edwardian costume damaged in a fight.)

DEFEND CUSTOMS

He added: "I fight if I have to, but my fists are good enough for me. Anyway, I don't go looking for trouble.

"We dress this way because we think it smart and because we are mentally defective. Most of us earn good wages and can afford to buy our clothing. I don't need to steal.

"What's the use of learning to dance properly when the dance halls are so crowded there's no room to do anything else but creep around?

"Our slang isn't worse than other slang and we think a lot of it is elegant."

Many police officers and social workers side with the Teddy Boys. They insist that, by and large, they are decent-living youngsters, perhaps a bit too much addicted to jazz and girls, but no worse than others of their age.

Public concern over the Edwardians was first aroused after a gang fight at Clapham Common, a London park where they parade every evening with their girls. The fight ended in a fatal stabbing.

SAVILE ROW REVIVAL

The Edwardian style was resurrected four years ago by leading tailors in Savile Row. It caught on to some extent among the wealthy, but they abandoned the fad when they found it taken over and adapted by youngsters in East London's east end and elsewhere.

Why did the style appeal to so many young slum dwellers? One psychiatrist gives this opinion:

"Without some distinguishing feature, the average youth in a slum feels himself completely lost in the mass of people around him. But in an Edwardian suit . . . he knows he looks distinctive and that people will look at him instead of ignoring him as they would if he went about normally dressed."

GIRLS CAUSE TROUBLE

Some of the girls go in for nothing more fancy than a high-collared blouse clasped at the throat by an old-style cameo brooch. Others, however, favor distinctive tweed box coats with below-the-waist belts and big upturned cuffs, sometimes trimmed with velvet.

Plain or fancy, even the Teddy Boys' best friends say the girls cause more than half the trouble.

Miss Daphne Charity, social worker in the tough Vauxhall area of London, says bluntly: "The girls often make conflicting dates with boys in rival gangs—then egg on the gangs to fight it out."

In the dance halls of Britain's big cities, the Edwardians tend to group together, even though they may belong to rival "crowds."

OPERATIONS DIRECTOR

Group Capt. Henry G. Colpitts, 43, of Sussex, N.B., has been appointed director of operations and plans with the 4th Allied Tactical Air Force in Europe. He was commandant of the Canadian Joint Air Training Centre at Rivers, Man. (CP from National Defence.)

Any resemblance between dancing and what most Teddy Boys do on the floor is limited to these two points: (1) They face their girls, (2) They move their feet.

Instead of orthodox dance steps, the Teddy Boys do "the creep." This consists of clutching the girl, who sometimes holds on to the boy with hands clasped around his neck, and shuffling flat - footed around the hall.

OFTEN WELL-MANNERED

Despite whispers to the contrary, there is no evidence that Edwardians indulge in drugs to any greater extent than others of their generation.

Speak to the Teddy Boy and you often find he is well-mannered and courteous, willing to explain his point of view, but touchy to any offence at what he regards as unjust criticism.

The leftists are going in for extreme exaggerations of the Edwardian style, notably with knee-length jackets and gaudy vests.

And a handful of rightists are ventauring tentatively back to great-grandfather's day—a liberal adaptation of the Victorian style.

INDIAN DISCOVERY

The value of witch hazel as a medicine was first discovered by the Indians.

Dawson, Famous Gold Rush Centre, Now Ghost Town

DAWSON, Y.T. (CP)—This once famous gold rush centre and former capital of the Yukon is now almost a ghost town, but its 600 residents are striving to keep the place alive by luring tourists.

The years 1898 to 1899 saw gold-hungry prospectors, dance - hall girls and bartenders. It now is a collection of sagging, decaying buildings.

The old Flora Dora dance hall, Nugget saloon and Royal Alexandra Hotel lean precariously as if ready to fall. Dozens of other famous old honky-tonks, hotels and amusement places have disappeared, leaving debris - strewn empty lots.

Deterioration started after the gold rush. Raw gold worth $500,000,000 was carried through Dawson streets, but when the creeks were panned out the prospectors and the penniless trekked out together.

Second crushing blow came when the Alaska highway by-passed the town, killing riverboat freight trade and establishing rival White-horse, 479 river miles south, as the Yukon shipping centre.

MOVED CAPITAL

And, finally, the federal government stripped the dying city of its status as capital of the territory and moved the administration to Whitehorse.

Now the big white government building lies almost deserted, and Commissioner Gus Mong, the man which saw gay parties and official functions, has been turned into an old men's home for scoudoughs who hung on, hoping for new discoveries.

The big Yukon Consolidated Mining Company is still employing crews to comb through the panned-dredges and some old-time prospectors still eke a living by conducting guided tours of ts ruins.

All steamboats coming down the river from Whitehorse this year will be greeted by quaintly-costumed hostesses at their ladies. The Nugget saloon, threadbare and tawdry, will open again for the sound of big money gambling (with play money sold at the rate of $10,000 to a dollar) and hard drinking (of soft drinks at 25 cents a bottle). But the peaceful days there's no vice wrojs about in verse; will never be seen again in Dawson.

Goebel estimated his loss at $2,500.

Bobcats Bow To Bluebirds By 8-2 Score

Rapping out eleven assorted clouts behind the three-hit pitching of Junior Day, Paul Mercier's Bluebird juniors emerged on the long end of a 8-2 score over Bob Temple's Bobcats at the Alemite Field Saturday night.

Day was full value all the way. He blanked the Bobbers for four innings, then Dueserry got the first Bobcat clout, a double to centre field. Donovan's triple in the seventh and Dueserry's single in the same innings were the best the Bobcats could do with the hickory.

Day struck out six but issued an even dozen passes.

Thompson went the route for the losers giving up eleven hits, two of them triples and one a double while walking five and walking seven.

The teams battled on a scoreless basis for four complete innings with only one hit being served up during this time. Coach Bill Spafford was tossed out of the game in the fourth by Umpire Al. Kelleher for arguing too lengthily.

The Bluebirds crashed the score column in the fifth off three hits a sacrifice and a wild pitch. Russell beat out an infield hit, was sacrificed by Gerry Goyer and scored on Peter Green's single. Day walked and Dave Jones' long triple scored both runners.

The juniors came up with three more in the next innings off Barclay's three-bagger, Wayne Bovay's double and Peter Green's second clout of the game. Two Bobcat errors did no any harm to the Bluebird cause. Gerry Goyer's double and White's single paved the way for two more Bluebird runs in the seventh.

The Bobcats scored their first run in the fifth when Nolan who walked and stole second romped home on Dueserry's two-base hit. The second run came in the seventh when Thompson who strolled, reached second on a passed ball and scored on Dueserry's single. Donovan who tripled in this innings went out trying to stretch it to a homer.

Dueserry had a double and single for the losers with Donovan getting the other hit, a triple.

Peter Green paced the Bluebirds with three singles. Bovay had a double and single and Russell two singles.

The score:

	R	H	E
Bluebirds ...	000 023 30x	8	11
Bobcats ...	000 010 100	2	3

OLIVER DEMANDS

"There is a need for division of the tax fields between the province and municipalities," Mr. Oliver continued, "so that the municipalities will be masters in their own house to some degree at least.

"The Liberals will write a new charter between the municipalities and the province in the field of taxation," he said.

Mr. Oliver also criticized the government's attitude towards civil defence.

"The only contribution to civil defence is that there are the same number of Brands on all fire hoses in the province," said Mr. Oliver. "If any part of Canada is to suffer in a future war, it would be Ontario with its concentration of industry and population. If any province should be interested in civil defence it should be Ontario. But the Frost government does nothing about civil defence."

Mr. Oliver also attacked the province's inertia with respect to housing.

"The National Housing Act can be supplemented by the provinces," said Mr. Oliver. "Ontario has more legislation on the books for housing than any other province. But they never use it."

Mr. Oliver promised delegates that he would "Spearhead a new Liberal drive to power."

"I am prepared to stay as leader until the Liberals form the next government of Ontario," he said. "There will be no resignations and no stepping down. I am in the fight to the finish."

NO EXTRAVAGANT PROMISES

Mr. Oliver stressed that in a forthcoming election campaign the Liberals would not make extravagant promises.

"All we will promise," he said, "is to introduce into the government of this province, some of the simple honesty we all honor in daily life. The only thing the government of Ontario needs is a degree of honesty that does not presently exist."

Mr. Oliver also hit at the socialists and declared that there was no reason anyone should have to join a socialist party to bring about reform.

"The best way to operate industry is by private enterprise," he said. "The Liberal party is in the forefront of social welfare and legislation. But we part company completely and permanently with socialists when the finances of a social welfare program come from the management of private business."

Mr. Oliver was introduced by Frank S. Follwell, M.P. for Hastings South, and the thanks of the convention were expressed by Miss Judy LaMarsh, Niagara Falls, vice president of the National Young Liberal Federation.

Those at the head table were John O'Flynn, president-elect of the Central Ontario Young Liberals Association; Miss LaMarsh, Frank S. Follwell, Mayor John Both and Mrs. Both, Alderman Robert Temple, C. R. Dryden, president of the Ontario Young Liberals Association, Farquhar Oliver, Robert Shepherd, Amitsburg, treasurer, and Dr. S. Boyd Upper, secretary-elect.

NON-CONFIDENCE

He said a prominent federal Conservative had suggested to a Vancouver riding's association president that since the party had no hope of success in a provincial election it might as well leave affairs in St. L. to Social Credit, which forms the provincial government.

He predicted following the vote that Mr. Drew will be replaced within two years by John Diefenbaker, Saskatchewan member of Parliament.

BLAME FINLAYSON

The three federal members, in a wire to the national association made public here, said the split "stems entirely from the personal vexation of the provincial leader, Deane Finlayson, and a small clique of his followers over the fact that the national leader has of necessity refused to allow the responsibilities imposed on him for national organization to be usurped by the provincial leader."

They added that had this condition been permitted "it would have had the result that there would be no national application of Conservative principles in Canada and no effective national party."

They said they would concentrate on furthering the efforts of the national association to build organizations in each federal riding in the province and invited the support of all Canadians "who believe that if strong national Conservative party is essential to good government in Canada."

David L. Church, 32, was drowned when he suffered an epileptic seizure and tumbled into the Gull River near his home in Coboconk. Harold V. Frampton, 34, of Toronto was drowned when he fell off a surfboard in Sturgeon bay.

A nine-year-old Hamilton boy, Frank Stuart Dosahe, was drowned in a tributary of the Speed River just east of Guelph. Robert Vanlaegan, 17, of Sault Ste. Marie, died in a public swimming pool after a dive.

FIVE ROAD DEATHS

Ontario traffic mishaps took five lives. Leonard Mayzlel, 25, of Toronto was killed when his car went out of control and overturned on Highway 11, 23 miles east of Longlac.

Two men died in a head-on collision in Ottawa. Killed were Dr. Kenneth M. Mickleborough, 39, and Donald Smith, 24, both of Ottawa, drivers of the two cars.

Highways department foreman Jack McCauley, 70, was crushed to death when his tractor overturned, pinning him to the ground on his farm in Kyrock township.

Police said an unidentified man was run over by a train near Windsor. There was no name in his wallet and the mangled condition of his body prevented early identification.

In Quebec, 35-year-old Alcide Neury was killed when a steel pulley he was using to pull hay into his barn collapsed, hurling him violently to the ground.

Five persons lost their lives in Quebec drownings and four in highway accidents.

In New Brunswick, a four-year-old boy was drowned, and in Nova Scotia a five-year-old boy died beneath a car.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

IN STRIDE!

Due to attending the grand picnic staged by the CNE Athletic Association at Cobourg Saturday, we missed the details of the Batas split decision with Oakville. Accordingly to the box scores as forwarded by friend Bill Cotton of the Trafalgar Star, Oakville, the Carson-Geyer crew really hit their batting stride, walloping out 22 assorted clouts in in the twin seven-innings tilt. Cotton says Vern Geyer's mighty four-bagger was one of the longest hit balls seen in Oakville park for some time, while Keith MacDonald's bases-loaded triple was not exactly loafing as it sped to the wild blue yonder.

The Batas broke out in a neat seven-run rash again to cop the second verdict as the boys pounded the Oakville hurlers with a steady stream of hits. Defensively the squad was good with only one error being marked in the official score book, it says here.

The Batas take on their ancient foes from Peterborough tomorrow night at Exhibition Park and Manager Joe Lowrey needs this victory badly. The Batas have an edge over the Petes in games won and they are not going to pass this one up if they can help it.

Sammy "The Man" might get the pitching assignment for the Batas in tomorrow's tilt, but that is not definite. Art Wright chalked up his fifth win in Oakville and now has a five-and-two record. Johnny Mowat was tabbed for the loss in the opener.

GOOD CAUSE.

Speaking of baseball the Bryson Reid Regents have been invited to play a benefit game in Wellington on Wednesday night against Johnny Mowat's village squad. It seems a young Picton player named Wilkins collided with his catcher while racing for a foul fly. The two players struck heavily. Wilkins, we are informed, suffered a brain concussion and is in hospital. So the boys are getting together Wednesday in the lakeside village with all the "take" going to the injured youngster to help defray hospital bills. The Regents players, like the fine sportsmen they are, did not hesitate when asked to play the game. It will be called at 6.30 p.m. and it is hoped a good crowd will be on hand.

Incidentally the Regents lost a 6-3 toughie against Chris Lockeyers strong Picton Lightfoots at the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday night. It was one of the best tilts of the season, and if these squads clash in the playoffs there should be some good baseball in the offing.

No details of Viaduct Ontario Baseball League games over the week-end but it was noted that the Dependable Drug trophy cellar-dwellers of the loop edged Westerns, one of the strong Toronto senior league entries.

With young Master Gary Alexander laid up temporarily after a minor foot operation, this department will try and do its best in the diamond coverage. Tonight the Bobcats tote to Point Anne for a six-thirty tilt while Sherwood Warner travels to Frankford. Tomorrow night the Ox Pointers visit Madoc while Wednesday the Bobcats entertain Frankford with Point Anne the guests of the Blenheim Park. Thursday night the Frankford-Bobcats game is slated for the CNRAA Recreation Park.

STOX JOX.

Plans to the moment for the new Kinsmen Club stock car racing meet slated for Exhibition Park for Wednesday night, indicate it as being one of the best ever staged here.

Kin Ron MacNeil and his Kin brothers are leaving no stone unturned to make their initial show a success if efforts, time and advertising mean anything. The cream of the district's drivers has signified intentions of entering the meet, so lovers of the new sport should be in for an evening of decided thrills, chills and probably spills.

WILLY-NILLY.

Deep in the shadow of Cooper's Bluff, there is but one—well pretty nearly one—subject that is the general topic. It is the amazing Willie Mays. Well established in the imaginations of baseball folk not only there but all over the circuit and in the American League too. They tell the story of how a Giants writer detoured into Washington to pick up the Yankee test week and the Bombers besieged him with questions about Willie. So did the Yankee writers.

Came one brilliant play when with a runner on third Mickey Mantle hoisted the ball clean to the farthest point at centre field. Jim Busby raced away back to pick the ball out of the air as it was bursting the fence.

"I suppose Willie Mays would have caught that ball," the Yankee scribes sneered.

"Not only would he have caught it" solemnly declared the Giant writer, "but he also would have thrown out at home plate the runner trying to score after the catch."

Schroeder Takes Schenley Trophy

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP) — Robert W. Schroeder of Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sunday won the Canadian Schenley Trophy, driving his "My Ambition IV" to victory in the 225-hydro class inboard event at the annual Valleyfield motorboat regatta.

An estimated 50,000 persons saw Schroeder take the open event, racing over the three-mile course on St. Francis bay in the average time of four minutes, 34.4 seconds at an average speed of 65.55 miles per hour for two laps.

J. P. Clermont of Montreal, last year's trophy winner, was second and Roland Leblond of Thetford Mines, Que., third.

Rochester Wins Yacht Race

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Rochester Yacht Club won the second annual Lake Ontario six-metre team sailing championship Sunday with a total of 183½ points for the two-day, three-race series.

The Youngstown Yacht Club, last year's champion, was second with 172½ points, and the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto third with 171½.

Buzzy II, skippered by Bill Gooderham of Toronto, won Sunday's race, Mike Doyle's Viking of Rochester was second, and Hiss Ingerson's Starwagon of Rochester third.

Managers, Players Battle After Game Awarded to Phils; Giants, Tribe Still in Front

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Stanky, scrappy manager of the St. Louis Cards, boils on the hot seat today after a fist fight with Terry Moore, the man he fired as coach, and a forfeiture to the Phillies for delaying tactics.

Stanky and Moore, new manager of Philadelphia, tangled in the midst of one of St. Louis' worst ball-field riots in years Sunday to climax a flaming, two-year-old feud.

After Moore was fired in 1952, he departed from his normal mild ways to blast Stanky.

"When he loses a ball game he acts more like a nine-year-old boy than a manager," Moore said. "The job is too big for him. Stanky is temperamentally unsuited for the job of manager."

FIRST RIOT THIS YEAR

Fireworks were expected when Moore, named manager Thursday, met Stanky, the ex-boss, for the first time. The time was Sunday at Busch Stadium and they're still picking up the pieces. It was the first forfeiture in the majors since 1949.

Coming from behind three times, the Phils pulled out the first game 11-10 in 10 innings on Willie Jones' Smoky Burgess and a single by Bobby Morgan. The game had been delayed one hour and 18 minutes by rain in the seventh.

The second game didn't start until after 6 p.m. (local time), so Phils could finish the seven-inning under National League rules. With darkness approaching in the fifth and the Phils leading 8-1 with one man on base, and two out, Stanky brought in Ellis Kinder, reliefer.

When he waved for a third, umpire Babe Pinelli walked to the field telephone and notified the press box that the game was forfeited to the Phillies. Then the individual records go into the book because the legal five innings weren't completed.

VOICES PROTEST

Stanky protested the game, claiming Pinelli had exceeded his authority.

"Any delay prior to the forfeit including the rain delay, was dictated by members of the Philadelphia club," he said in a telegram to National League President Warren Giles.

Catcher Sal Yvars of the Cards and first baseman Earl Torgeson of the Phils touched off the big battle when they argued and squared off. The two players were old enemies, dating back to a free-for-all in Boston over a broken bat in '52 when Yvars was with New York and Torgeson with the Braves.

Moore, ex-Cardinal great, tumbled out of the dugout and grabbed Yvars, furiously backed Moore. Moore came up with a dirty face and scratches on his neck. Stanky has a mouse under his right eye and a scratch on his neck. Players from both teams were on the field, punching and wrestling, before police broke it up and escorted the fans off the field.

TOOK TOP SPOT

The day's fistic action, which might make it easier for Sunday's rematch than Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles, vied for attention with the pennant race.

Cleveland still leads the American by a half game as both the Indians and New York Yankees split doubleheaders. The Yanks went out in front briefly for the first time since April 22, by whipping the first from Detroit 4-0 on Harry Byrd's five-hitter, while Washington was thumping Cleveland 8-3. Cleveland rebounded into the lead by winning their second game 7-4 as the Yanks' 13-game winning streak was snapped by Detroit 5-4.

Chicago's White Sox took a pair from feeble Philadelphia 10-2 and 4-3 although Paul Richards drew complaints for stalling in the second game. The White Sox scored four in the eighth and the A's had made two to make it 8-5 when Richards changed pitchers twice and called for a third.

CURFEW STOPS IT

Plate umpire Charley Berry was trying to make the relief pitcher come in immediately when the 6:59 p.m. (EDT) curfew stopped action. The score reverted to the end of the last full inning, the seventh.

The Boston Red Sox shut out Baltimore 4-0 on a one-hitter by Russ Kemmerer in his first major league start, but the Orioles won the second game 4-1 on Duane Pillette's five-hit pitching.

There were no startling developments in the National, outside of St. Louis. New York split two at Cincinnati, losing 14-4 in the first game and winning 3-1 on Willie Mays' 32d homer and Monte Irvin's 17th. Since Brooklyn thumped Chicago 12-6 on homers by Roy Campanella, Duke Snider and Carl Furillo, the Giants' lead was clipped a half game to six full games.

Milwaukee had to settle for an even break with the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates, Warren Spahn needed relief help from Ernie Johnson to hold the first game 6-5 as the Pirates scored six runs in the second inning on the way to a 7-4 victory in the second game.

Leafs Lead Red Wings By Half-Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs and Rochester Red Wings apparently are trying to make their battle for first place in the International League a season-long affair.

Rochester moved to within half a game of the top Sunday, nipping Montreal Royals 4-3 while Toronto divided a doubleheader with Ottawa. The Athletics took the first game 2-0 and the Leafs the nightcap 4-0.

In other games, Havana trounced Syracuse 13-2 and Buffalo split a twin-bill with Richmond. The Bisons took the opener 2-0 and the Virginians the second 2-1.

WINS 12TH

Righthander Jack Fazzioli of Rochester won his 12th game of the season and his seventh in succession, scattering 10 hits, two of them solo homers by Montreal's Roger Nelson and Gino Cimoli.

Fazzioli, who picked three runners off the base paths, drove in the tying and winning runs with a seventh-inning double after two were out.

Art Ditmar held the Leafs to six scattered hits in winning his third game of the season. Catcher Hal Smith, fielder Bill Stewart and shortstop Hector Lopez each batted baseempty home runs.

In the nightcap, little Vic Lombardi limited the Athletics to four hits while pitching his fourth win.

TWENTY HITS

Havana banged out 20 hits, Clint Hartung leading the attack with four hits, including a homer and a double.

Dick Melton pitched seven-hit ball for the Kings and he was in little trouble, gaining credit for his 10th victory of the season.

Buffalo scored three runs, after two out in the ninth to win the first game, Richmond in the second as a four-hit pitching job in the second.

Ten of the 15 tallies were registered on home runs, Circuit clouts by Jim Dyck, Russ Kerns and Ken Wood accounted for all of Richmond's runs. Al Lakeman and Dick Gernert homered for the Bisons.

Fletcher Used Borrowed Club To Win Open

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pat Fletcher, the 1954 Canadian Open golf champion, had a borrowed number eight iron in his bag when he won the title Sunday.

The Saskatoon pro has an unusual set of irons.

"They are all set up half a degree less than numbered," he told The Canadian Press after the finish.

"I have a number nine in the bag but I can't use it. So I thought a standard number eight would be perfect for me as a number nine. I borrowed a number eight from Stan Leonard at Vancouver and it's really a number nine for my set.

"I like to hit 'em low and keep out of the skirs and know that I have an adequate club in my hands."

Fletcher is 38, a solid 192 pounds and is professional at the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club. He was low-scoring amateur in the last year at Toronto Scarboro. tied for fourth place. The winner at Scarboro was Dave Douglas of Newark, Del. Fletcher was also the 1952 winner of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship at Winnipeg.

BIRDIED 12th

Fletcher said he thought he was on the way to victory at the Point Grey Saturday when he birdied the 12th hole.

"I knew Gordie Brydson had taken a six on the ninth and a seven on the 10th, Bob Rosburg of San Francisco wasn't playing too well.

"Then when I birdied the 12th I knew all I had to do was to play as hard as I could. I was putting exceptionally well then and kept it up. When I sank that 30-footer for a birdie at the 17th I was sure I was in. The birdie at the 18th was just gravy. I was a little worried for a while about the boys playing in front of me, but not for long when I got going."

Gordie Brydson, the 47-year-old pro from Toronto Mississauga who lost out in the final round, first said "this is the swan song for me."

Then he hurriedly corrected himself.

"I don't mean I'm quitting. As long as I can play golf I'll be in there.

"I had a good drive at the ninth, where I took a six. My seven at the 10th hole looks bad, but I really think I had tough luck there when I hit the pin and the ball, instead of dropping near the cup, went over the green. Now that's water, Pat deserves his great win."

Diminutive Lorne Main Hero In Canada's Davis Cup Victory

By WILF GRIBOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A trip to Mexico City likes ahead today for Canada's Davis Cup team but single Lorne Main, the quarter's little bundle of tennis dynamite, refused to hold under pressure.

The 167-pound Main, playing for the sixth straight year on the team, came through in spectacular fashion, Saturday to score the clinching victory for Canada in the Davis Cup round with Chile. He defeated Veteran Andres Hammersley 6-4, 11-13, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3 in a three-hour, drama-packed match.

Canada won the round 3-2 when Chilean national champion Luis Ayala, loser to Main in the opening singles Thursday, whipped Bob Bedard, Canada's second-ranking net star, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3 in the wind up match.

MEET MEXICO

The Canadian team now will meet Mexico early in August in the second round of the North American zone Davis Cup play. Canada has defeated Mexico in the last two years only to fall to the United States when this year's winner will meet again. The Mexicans advanced into the second round by beating Cuba.

Canada's victory over Chile in the first meeting between the two countries in Davis Cup international tennis competition came on victories in three of the four singles matches. The best the South American country could win was an upset by Ayala in the doubles and an easy win in the anti-climactic fifth singles.

Main's clutch win over the 34-year-old Hammersley, who ruled United for the United Ricardo Balbert, was one of the greatest in his long tennis career which started in Vancouver when he was only nine. Hammersley, whose 34-year-old body has been beaten in four sets in the Wimbledon championships in England this year, is a 2-1 lead in sets at one stage and appeared on the way to a tremendous win.

EASY VICTIM

After the long second set that went to Hammersley after 24 games Main breezed to victory in the third set. The 15-minute rest period and a sudden drop in the 85-degree heat revived him. The experience he gained this year in a few two-month tours of U.S. and European tournaments also helped him to turn the tide.

Main took the crucial fourth set and the deciding fifth by playing to the Hammersley forehand and backhand.

"Lorne deserves a lot of credit for pulling out that match," said Laird Watt, Canada's non-playing captain. "His tournament experience helped tremendously. He was able to raise his game when needed to match the occasion. . ."

Minor Baseball

Behind the four-hit hurling of Jackie Elliott, Schwab's bantam baseball squad racked up a 6-1 victory over Verna Stollker at Pine Street grounds Friday night.

Elliott was chalked up his seventh win as against one defeat was in rare form. He not only let the opposition down with four hits but slammed out a two-run-homer and two singles to help his own cause.

Vaughan went the route for the team leading his mates with three eleven clouts over the seven-innings stretch. Slammed out two of the four hits garnered by his team. Porres and Kerruish got the others, both singles.

Schwab had a triple and single for the only extra base hitting getting two singles. Hurst and Coe hit a double and a single each.

Verna scored a single run in the second, added three in the third, one in the fourth and one either in the seventh. Vaughan's scored their loner in the third innings.

The score:

	R	H	E
Schwab's	013 010 1—6	11	4
Verna	001 000 0—1	4	4

Elliott and Coe; Vaughan and Kerruish.

Picton Scores Four in 7th To Win 6-3

"Fuzz" Miller's assortment of curves proved too much for Bryson Teeple's Regents in a Belleville District Baseball League game at the Exhibition Park Saturday night, and the Picton Lightfoots trotted off the diamond with a neat 6-3 victory.

Miller held the Regents sluggers to two lone hits, a single and double off the bats of Elliott and Dodd Dolan. He struck out nine and walked five.

Stollker started on the mound for the Regents and lasted until the seventh when the Lightfoots scored four runs to match victory and defeat. Dolan was rushed in to relieve Stollker and put the fire out, but the damage was done. Five got his double in this fashion in an effort to start a rally but Miller settled away to retire the side with no scoring done.

Stollker sent down seven Lightfoots in the first seven innings by walking three.

Dall issued two passes and whiffed one. It was a good pitching duel up to the seventh with Picton getting but seven clouts off Stollker's delivery. Dall held them hitless but walked a pair.

Picton grabbed a two-run lead in the third inning. Two walks by Regent error and a single by Zimmerman scored Bob Hurley and Bob Chalmers. Stollker held them to one hit until the disastrous ninth.

Consecutive singles by Dall and Chukka and Zimmerman followed with another walk, and then the Regents started throwing the ball around and two consecutive errors by Dolan and Porter. Two walks aided in sending four Lightfoots across the plate.

The Regents tied the count in the fifth innings off Jack Elliott's single, followed by a double by Dolan and a long fly by Lockhart of Collingwood, with Junior G. Lee, owned and driven by Howard Hodgson of Keser, Ont. for a payoff of $39.75.

'Argyel Grattan' Breaks Another Track Record

The six-year-old stallion of Dunc Campbell's stable at the Woodbine raceway Saturday lost the first heat of the $2,200 Woodbine pace to Ruth Chips, Ruth Chips, owned by E. Barnes and Sons of Atlas Craig, Ont., and given a superlative drive by Neil McEwan, set a track record of 2.01.1 for the mile in beating the heavy betting favorite by half a length.

But in the second heat Argyel Grattan closed to be the front after half a mile and won his ninth race in 14 starts by a nose going away. His time of 2.07 flat was faster than the time of Ruth Chips, thereby earning Argyel Grattan the winner's share of the purse.

DID IT BEFORE

Ten days ago, after losing a photo finish to Gallon, the young import from Laurel, Md., Argyel Grattan closed to be the track record of 2.09 and re-establish his Woodbine supremacy.

Vi Hy, a six-year-old mare owned by Hy Investigation of St. Thomas and driven by Jack Mahlenbecher, had to be scratched just as the first heat was about to start. The horse broke a sulky shaft, reared and fell. Driver Parker Stollery was fielded neared the starting line.

The broken shaft threw driver Mahlenbecher to the track as the Hy reared away. The horse was caught quickly but Mahlenbecher was also uninjured. The $2,820 wagered on Vi Hy was refunded after the race which was won by the favorite Now, owned by Dave Parker of Stratford and driven by Woodbine's leading driver, Vic Lutman. Vi Hy had the third highest betting.

Kelly Retains Sculls Title

WORCESTER, Mass. AP)—John B. Kelly, successfully defending his United States singles sculls title despite a cold and fever, today helped the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia win team honors in the 80th regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen Saturday on Lake Quinsigamond.

Kelly, six-time titlist who also holds championships in Canada and Mexico, was given a tough battle by Bill Hoover of the Detroit Boat Club before finishing in 8:44.8 over the two-mile course. He was trailed by Bob Julian of the New York Athletic Club who finished in 8:48.8. A strong headwind and rough water accounted for slow times throughout the course cluding nine-race program.

The Vesper Club kept the Julius H. Barnes Team Trophy by piling up 155 points—largest total in the tournament's history—with the Side Boat Club of Buffalo, N.Y., trailing with 143 points in second. Detroit was third with 102½ and the New York Athletic Club was fourth with 45.

Queen's Colt Wins Rich Turf Prize

The four-year-old Aureole covered the mile and a half in 2:44.9, finishing three quarters of a length in front of French-owned Arbance, Irish Lizzie was two lengths further back.

It was a wonderful performance and how tremendously exciting," she exclaimed.

The win was worth £23,502 to the royal stable.

Aureole now has won over £40,000—more than any other horses wearing the royal colors.

'Correspondent' Upsets Favorite In Rich Stakes

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Correspondent turned in the greatest upset in the history of the $137,100 Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap Saturday when he beat out the heavy favorite, Rejected, in the run for the $100,000.

The four-year-old pride of Mrs. Gordon Gulberson of California held off a belated rush by the King Ranch entry to win by about a length.

Rejected, another surprise package, hung on to take third in the field of seven horses.

Guelph Makes Strong Bid In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A team which loses eight of its last 10 games and then wins a 4-1 when he pitched a three-hit doubleheader from a club which has taken seven of its last eight games usually is called unpredictable. But because Guelph-Waterloo Royals are unpredictable they can't be counted out of the running for a berth in the Intercounty Baseball League playoffs—even if they are in the cellar, seven games behind first place.

Before Saturday's twin bill the Royals were gutting in a row since June 22. Because of that it appeared they weren't going anywhere this season. At best, many fans said, they could take on the role of spoilers, taking the odd game from a contending team as needed Gulf City Royals.

But Saturday the Royals won a doubleheader from Kitchener Panthers and last night a Intercounty champions who have been rolling recently for seven straight in their last eight starts. In an afternoon game at Waterloo they blanked Kitchener 5-0 and then at Guelph that evening they held out for a victory.

SIX BEHIND

The victory left them six games behind a playoff position and seven behind first place, which last night Gulf City Royals held with more than half of the season gone.

In another game at St. Thomas the home-town Elgins snapped a seven-game losing streak and regained first place in the standings by defeating Galt Red Sox 5-1 in London Majors defeated Brantford Red Sox 5-1 in London during the other week-end.

The four games left the first four teams in the Intercounty League, Brantford and Galt—still fighting for better positions. Only 23 points separate the four clubs and perhaps one defeat is enough to bolster or drop them two places in the standings.

The victory for the Royals settled any doubts that they have defeated the Majors at London Friday night.

PERFECT CONTROL

Guelph righthander Gord Aries showed perfect control while blanking the Panthers in Saturday's first game. He walked no batsmen, gave up 5 hits and allowed only six hits to gain his second victory. He has six losses.

Pitcher Guelph's new pitcher, threw hitless ball for four innings to beat the Panthers in the second game. Hercheravian slammed a two-run double in the seventh inning to give the Royals their winning margin.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no reason why the Australians would not be permitted to take a few bows for the recent showing of their young athletes in international competition. The fact, it seems, is that citizens of the land down under might be pardoned if they threw out the window in moderation.

Rulers of world tennis for the last three years, they now are making threatening gestures to dethrone Jack Crawford as golf. They have John Landy, holder of the mile record of 3:58, and they are among the world's mightiest swimmers. They have been also world's cricket champions for so long that England is thoroughly sick of them.

Two coveted golfing crowns fell in recent months to a pair of sharp-shooting Aussies whose names scarcely were known in the United States. Douglas Bachli from Rosebud, Victoria, won the British Amateur title by defeating Bill Hyndman 3 and 2 in the finals, and then Peter Thomson, a 23-year-old from Melbourne, walked up the British Open championship a greater double.

Bachli added up to an amazing record for a nation which at most has been rated as a country covered only about 7,300,000, 'not counting Aborigines. As one who has traveled rather widely in this country, we are asked with increasing frequency to name the most ready explanation for the out-of-all-proportion successes of the Aussies.

The answer is, well, yes. They are a friendly people, and they are crazier about more different forms of sport than the inhabitants of any other land on the globe. You put the combination together and you're bound to come up with an awful lot of good athletes.

Pride has something to do with it. The Australians feel that they are a little nation, and remote, and they consider it a particular pleasure to knock over the big boys.

Sometimes the Aussie can be almost fierce in his belief that his athletic prowess is due to the vitality, are the best in the world. He still believes that Phar Lap was the greatest race horse in history, and he remains far from convinced that Don Bradman was more than a mere 23 years ago to keep him from proving it.

Now that it is a matter of stepping aboard a plane and turning up in Mexico City, perhaps in a few days later they are likely to become an international menace. Don't say you weren't warned.

'Errard King' Wins Arlington $161,000 Race

The 11-to-1 shot flitted the mile in 1:33, only 3-5 second off the Arlington Park track record, before a classic field of 13.

Jockey Hells Jr.'s Hellion scope, at 17 to 1, was second in the stretch rush to the wire, a nose ahead of Ole Rex's High Gun, the Belmont winner.

Trailermen Bow To St. Kitts 7-2

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics whipped the league-leading Peterborough Trailermen 7-1 Saturday night in an Ontario Baseball Association junior game here.

The Athletics were in control all the way, leading 3-1 at the end of the first period and 5-3 at the end of the sixth.

Pat Fletcher Wins Open Golf Title, First Canadian Victor in 40 Years

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WOODMERE (CP) — Big Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, steel-nerved professional who had the shots when they counted most, won the Canadian open golf championship Saturday as the other leaders got the jitters in a wild finish.

Fletcher's score for the 72 holes was 290, four under par. He is the first Canadian to win the Open since Karl Keffer of Ottawa did it in 1934.

His prize money totalled $3,200 of which $200 was for being the leading Canadian in the Open. Besides winning the Seagram Gold Cup for the first time, the 33-year-old Fletcher retained the Power-mead Trophy for the leading Canadian. He won the last year by finishing in a fourth-place tie.

BRYDSON LED

Fletcher went into the final round trailing Gordie Brydson, cigar chain-smoking veteran from the Mississauga Club, Toronto, by two strokes.

When Brydson clicked off birdies on the first three holes to draw most of the 6,000 gallery at Point Grey swung behind him, convinced he had the coveted title in the bag.

Brydson was riding high until the dog-leg ninth hole, a trouble spot for most of the players, where he drove right, pulled his next two shots to come out finishing with a double-bogey six.

That appeared to unnerve the usually - relaxed veteran and he found himself out of contention by the next hole with a disastrous seven, three over par, after looking deep into the trees.

AMATEUR WILTS

That put youthful Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore., top-rank amateur, into the lead. He was the last to be coming the first amateur ever to win the Open.

But Cudd, only 21, wilted on the home stretch and finished with a 75 and a 293 total, five strokes back of Fletcher.

Brydson ended up in a second-place tie with affable Bill Welch of Kenmewick, Wash., at 294, even par for 72 holes. Each picked up cheques for $1,350.

Rudy Nemeth of Windsor, Ont., was third with 285, worth $1,000. Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, first-round leader with a sensational 63, finished one stroke behind Horvath.

Fletcher, paired with Cudd for the final round, ran into trouble on the first nine Saturday and was two over par after 36 holes. Then he took just 32 strokes for the final nine holes, three under par, for a 71 total.

FELT RIGHT

Fletcher said that when he took his putter in his hands on the 12th, "I just feel was just right, and I never made a bad putt after that."

The climax came on the short 17th where he rolled in a 30-foot for a birdie deuce and a firm grip on the lead. He finished with another birdie on the long 18th.

The 38-year-old Saskatoon pro had rounds of 65-70-74-71 for his 280 score, the only sub-par figure for the 72 holes. It was the highest total to win the open since Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, Wash. did it with the same figure at Shaughnessy here in 1948.

Before the winner's presentation was made by John Landy, Australia's mile record-holder training here for the British Empire Games Cudd and Doug Bajus, Point Grey amateur played an extra hole to decide the low amateur in the Open. Both had finished with 293s. Bajus won the hole on a par. Cudd shot into trees and went over.

Labor M.P. Dies

HYTH, England (AP) — Robert Jones Tory, 73, Labor member of Parliament for 19 years, died today at be home. He was deputy whip in the House of Commons for the Labor government in 1945-51. He had been ill with pleurisy.

MAKE SECOND AUTOPSY

CHICAGO (AP) — A team of eight pathologists Wednesday performed a second autopsy in an effort to learn what caused the mysterious death of Montgomery Ward Thorne, 20-year-old help in a mail order fortune. A previous autopsy report indicated Thorne died violently from a combination of narcotics, alcohol and sleeping drugs.

Severed Feet Have Been Healed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It's been nearly five years since Errett Mills' legs were severed just above the ankles — except for heel cords and main arteries — but he is still carrying on farm work on his natural feet.

After repeated blood transfusions and more than four-hours' work by two teams of surgeons — one team for each leg — the operation to save the feet appeared successful. A close check showed that blood circulation had been re-established in the feet.

After the casts were removed from Mills' legs, a series of skin grafts completed the job of healing the wounds. Later, his legs were encased in braces to support his weight of 165 pounds.

Two years ago the braces were discarded and Mills went back to work on his 10-acre farm.

AT THE CAPITOL—The problems faced by the rapidly maturing and impressionable teen-ager in our society is documented in Twentieth Century-Fox's new release, "Man Crazy" starting tonight at the Capitol Theatre. The frank and stirring drama is based on an actual occurrence and details the price paid when impulsive youth goes on a spree. Many new young actors receive starr billing in the drama. On the same program "Man in the Attic" starring Jack Palance. Both adult attractions are first Belleville showings.

The story deals with the romantic yearnings of three American secretaries working in Rome.

Author Secondari got the title "Three Coins in the Fountain" from the Roman legend that he who tosses a coin into the beautiful Trevi fountain and wishes to will return to Rome. The picture ends with the three girls and their prospective husbands at the fountain, which is one of the show spots of Rome.

Marie Dionne Returns Home From Convent

WATERLOO, Que. (CP)—A "confused and homesick" Marie Dionne has returned to the home of Catholic order in Quebec City and gone home to her parents in Callander, Ont., for "some-in-law revealed Sunday night.

Marie, quietest and most religious of the world-famed quintuplet sisters, slipped out of the convent of the nuns in east-end Quebec as quietly as she had spent her days and meditation and prayer since first joining the Cloister of Our Servantes at Trois Saint-Sacrament last Nov. 3.

Convent officials said she left "sometime Wednesday" and described her departure as temporary "for reasons of health." But the archbishop's palace reported, "it is not known at this time if she will return."

It was not known where Marie went after leaving the convent until Maurice Giroaard, husband of one of her cousins, disclosed on Sunday night that she arrived at his eastern township home Saturday and left that night by car for Callander.

He said also that she had left the convent because of her health but added that she was "confused and homesick." He also did not know whether she would return.

Mr. Giroaard said police arranged through the archbishop's palace to take the girl to Waterloo. She arrived in a palace staff car.

He said Marie and her quintuplet sister, Emilie, returned home with her brothers, Ernest and Victor of Callander and Oliva, 31, an airman at St. Hubert, Que., arriving in Callander Sunday morning.

Convent officials would not elaborate on Marie's departure. They said any further information would have to come from Marie's father, Oliva Dionne.

In a telephone interview with the Montreal Gazette, Mr. Dionne said Marie came home last week telling her parents how 'homesick' she was.

UNHAPPY LETTER

"I suspected from her unhappy letter that she was trying to decide whether to remain in the cloisters or come home," Mr. Dionne is quoted as saying.

"I know she has been terribly lonely but she can always go back," he said. 'It was tough on her being separated from her four sisters with whom she had lived since they were all babies.

"It will be like Christmas to have Marie home again."

French Mop Up Vietminh Base In Hanoi Area

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Some 5,000 French Union troops, spearheaded by tanks, pushed mop-up operations today against a Vietminh guerrilla force only 15 miles northwest of Hanoi. The French reported 28 rebels killed and 13 captured in the push, which met only slight opposition.

A spokesman said 215 rebels were killed early Sunday when a rebel battalion charged into French tanks, machine gun and rifle fire north of Yung Yen.

Night flying bombers ranged the eastern and southwestern borders of the Red River delta Sunday night, pounding Vietminh bases and ammunition dumps.

A French spokesman said more than 70 tons of explosives were unloaded on bases stretching from 75 miles northwest to 45 miles south of Hanoi, and on a string of small munition dumps 30 miles northwest of the war capital.

Other planes hit rebel guerrilla bases inside French territory, three about 25 miles south, west and north of Hanoi. A total of 160 missions dropped some 300 tons of bombs on the rebels before dawn today, the French reported.

Here in Hanoi, between 2,000 and 3,000 Viet Namese gathered in front of the opera house today for a brief demonstration against any partition of their country by the Geneva conference.

Between 35,000 and 12,000 slogan-shouting Viet Namese paraded through Saigon Sunday denouncing partition. The demonstration was also called to coincide with the climax of the Geneva talks aimed at ending the Indo-China cease-fire.

Merchant Marine Training Vessel Calls at Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The St. Baroche, only training ship for the Canadian merchant marine, sailed into Toronto Sunday. It was one of many stops the former Fairmile will make at Great Lakes ports this summer.

The craft, training vessel of the Quebec Marine Training School at Rimouski, carries two captains and a crew of 15 students.

The St. Barnabe is part of Quebec's plan to train young Canadians to be merchant mariners. All courses are subject to the approval of the federal department of transport.

The St. Barnabe was built in 1943 at Penetanguishene, Ont. She was bought in 1947 and converted from an anti-submarine ship by the Province of Quebec.

Tuesday the St. Barnabe sails for Hamilton on the next lap of her voyage which will take her up the lakes as far as Goderich. She will touch in at 18 ports on the way.

All U.S. Bombers Will Be Equipped To Carry A-Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Otto P. Weyland said today the time is fast approaching when the United States tactical air command which he heads can use atomic weapons "in large numbers" if their employment is authorized.

"Every offensive type of aircraft that we have in the tactical air business is or will be equipped to deliver such weapons . . . every fighter-bomber and every light bomber," he said in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

"We are fast approaching the time when atomic weapons, if called upon, can be used in large numbers."

Weyland said the air force is supplementing its tactical strength with an F-100 jet fighter, which he described as having "greater firepower, more range and vastly more speed than the F-86 . . . which we used and did such a swell job with in Korea."

Weyland voiced a hope that, in the event of action by China which would lead the U.S. to intervene in the fighting in Indo-China, U.S. air power would not be used in the strife-torn country itself, but on the main communications and supply centres, beyond Indo-China, used by the aggressor."

The other officials received polite rounds of applause. Mr. Saunders got catcalls and boos.

Kitchener Man Drowns at Wasaga

STAYNER, Ont. (CP) — Gordon Hasse, 33, of Kitchener was drowned in the Nottawasaga river Sunday when a small boat tipped and sank as he tried to start the outboard motor.

Hasse, a truck driver, came here during the week-end on a fishing trip with several other drivers from Kitchener and Waterloo. He was only 10 feet from shore when the accident happened near this town about 85 miles north of Toronto.

Two other men in the boat, Glen Hirons, 47, of Waterloo and Alden Quast, 37, of Kitchener, swam to shore. Hasse could not swim. Hirons dived into the water several times but could not find the victim.

Hirons and Quast said the boat took water when Hasse walked from the bow to the stern in an attempt to start the motor.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop has to make a big speetch to the insurants men next week, and last nite ma said, I better get your dress suit out, William, it's been 3 or 4 years since you've worn it.

That's a fact, it may need pressing, pop said, and ma said, I was thinking you better try it on.

I tried it on when I bought it, why should I try it on? pop said, and ma said, Well, strange things happen, I'll get it.

Which she did, and pop put it on, saying, For Peet sake it's too tite, what happened?

What do you suppose? ma said, and pop said, You lent it to somebody and they had it altered.

It's never been out of the house, ma said, and pop said, Then you must of had it hanging in a damp place.

It's been in the dry storage closit the whole time, ma said, and pop said, Then the moths have been at it.

Now William, it hasn't got a single moth hole, and even if it had, how would that affect the rest, ma said, and pop said, They've been eating the seams.

That's not only impossible, it's preposterus, ma said, and pop said, Then how do you explain the change?

You've got fatter, ma said, and pop said, I absolutley deny it.

Oh all rite, I lent it to the moths and they hung it out in the rain, ma said, and pop said, That's more like it, I knew it was something like that. I'll have it at the tailer's tomorrow morning and tell him what happened. Maybe he can let out a few threads, he said.

And he took it off again looking as if he thought he had won the argewment.

MAY WITHDRAW POLICE UNLESS TALKS ARE HELD

London Union's Offer Wins Reeve's Approval

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Ontario provincial police patrolling picket lines at the Bradley Cartage warehouse here may be withdrawn if Kelvinator of Canada Limited refuses to negotiate with the union.

Reeve Howard Elson of the township said Monday night he will seek withdrawal of OPP aid if the company does not meet with the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL).

"The union has offered to relieve London township of the picketing if the company agrees to a meeting," the reeve said. "If the company makes a solid effort to meet with the union then our responsibility to the company has ended and we may withdraw aid."

MUST MEET

"I feel that if the company has to do is meet with the union—not necessarily agree to what the union has to say—then it has done all for me."

Reeve Elson said he was holding no brief for either party to the strike.

"If the union refuses to meet with the company we will have to take action then."

Last Friday the township was told the cost of billeting the extra police may be borne by the municipality council. One official estimated this will climb to about $1,000 a day.

Mr. Elson said 35 OPP constables have been temporarily added to the force. These were brought in from outside points.

"We are going to have to get tough in this situation or we are going to have a police bill that will jolt us," he said.

Company-Kelvinator officials said they will not negotiate with union workers at their strikebound plant until all their picketing non-company property.

ARMS BALL PICKETS

The company said in a statement it will not consider meeting with the union until operations at the Bradley warehouse—or any other non-company building — is resumed by normal means.

"Our stand remains the same in view of the fact that we are dealing with an illegal strike and illegal picketing on the part of the UAW-CIO," the statement said.

Striking Kelvinator employees have been picketing the warehouse since last Thursday when the company attempted to move $75,000 worth of stock.

ASK SUPPORT

A joint meeting of CIO and AFL representatives Monday night decided to ask all London labor bodies to support financially a 22-day-old strike.

About 400 employees at the Kelvinator plant went on strike June 28 against a company proposal they sign a three-year contract. The union had proposed a one-year contract.

Adenauer Ready to Talk With France on EDC Changes

BERLIN (Reuters) — Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, said Monday night he is ready to negotiate with France any revisions in the European Defence Community treaty that would not require renewed parliamentary ratification.

Adenauer said at a dinner of the Foreign Press Association here that he will not permit a change in treaty to the Bonn Parliament. But he expressed willingness to discuss modifications of the pact as it now stands, as long as they do not basically change the set-up of the proposed European army.

The chancellor also said that after France has ratified the army treaty West Germany would be willing to make a generous interpretation of the agreed treaty to Frenchmen's desires."

French deputies critical of the EDC treaty have expressed fears that Germany might gain domination on the continent, and seek safeguards to gain French equality. The United States and Britain have promised to keep strong military contingents on the continent as a counter-balance, in an effort to appease French fears.

Asked how Germany could possibly raise a national army as long as such a move required the approval of the French occupation power, Adenauer replied that he was not thinking of a development that would take place in six months.

"But it is the inevitable outcome if we miss this unique opportunity of creating a united European defence force," he said.

The chancellor was confident that France would ratify the EDC treaty, which he believed could be expanded later.

Asked if an extended defence community might also include Yugoslavia, Adenauer replied:

"I am prepared to say even more and express the wish that the whole Balkan pact join in—yes, also the Balkan pact nations (Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia)."

COHN RESIGNS AS McCARTHY'S CHIEF COUNSEL

Was Principal Target Of Shake-Up Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) today announced the resignation of Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of his Senate investigations sub-committee and No. 1 target of members demanding a staff shake-up.

McCarthy made the announcement in a statement two hours before a scheduled closed-door meeting at which committee members seeking the ouster of Cohn and others were set to seek a showdown vote.

The resignation of Roy Cohn must bring great satisfaction to the Communists and fellow travelers," McCarthy said.

McCarthy made public a letter in which Cohn said he was resigning because "there appears to be a lack of unanimity among the members of the investigations subcommittee upon the question of continuing my services as chief counsel."

Actually, the committee was reported to be lined up 4 to 3 in favor of firing Cohn.

But a key Republican announcement, there had been widely published reports that Cohn was resigning.

While McCarthy did not state specifically that he was accepting the resignation, he spoke of the young lawyer's withdrawal as an accomplished fact.

Mendes-France Appears To Have Won His Gamble

Climax Reached in Geneva Negotiations for Armistice

PARIS (Reuters) — An Indo-China peace agreement will be signed at 9 p.m. 4 p.m. EDT tonight, it was officially announced here.

By LYNN HEINZERLING

GENEVA (AP)—The western allies and the Communists today reached the climax of their negotiations for an Indo-China peace. There were indications that a cease-fire for the last great battleground might be signed before midnight (7 p.m. EDT).

France's determined Premier Pierre Mendes-France has promised to resign if he does not get an armistice by that hour. Although all issues were not settled as he went into his final day, he appeared to have won his gamble.

It was expected that the full nine-party conference would be called into session this afternoon, and would continue into the evening until a cease-fire was signed.

FLAG DIPLOMACY

Reports from various conference sources indicated an armistice agreement was shaping up along these lines:

1. Viet Nam would be partitioned "temporarily" at approximately the 17th parallel, with Ho Chi Minh and the Vietminh taking over the north and the French-sponsored Viet Nam government of ex-emperor Bao Dai retaining the south.

2. The Vietminh and the French would withdraw their troops from the lower two Indo-Chinese states of Laos and Cambodia, leaving the French-sponsored royal governments in control.

3. French military personnel would remain in Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam to help the three states improve defence forces. North Viet Nam would be permitted Communist Chinese military advisers.

4. Viet Nam would be reunited by supervised elections in both north and south, to be held at an agreed future date.

5. All of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia would be barred from participating in the proposed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization it is said the United States, Britain and France have agreed to propose to them, further Communist penetration.

6. The armistice would be supervised by an international commission composed of Canada, India and Poland. A unanimous vote would be required on decisions on issues which might lead to a resumption of hostilities; otherwise only a majority vote would be required in the commission.

7. On Ottawa Monday night, government informants said Canada is willing, in principle at least, to serve on an Indo-China armistice commission. However, no formal request from Geneva had been received at that time. No decision could be taken "before we know what we're agreeing to," one authority said.

Quinte Loyalist To Be Christened Friday Afternoon

PICTON (Special) — At special ceremonies Friday afternoon, the new ferry 'Quinte Loyalist' will be christened on the Adolphustown Shore, not far from the spot where the United Empire Loyalists landed, and from whom the ferry derives its name. It will be a companion ferry to 'The Quinte' on the mile-long Bay of Quinte crossing which joins the counties of Prince Edward and Hastings on scenic Highway 33.

Immediately following the christening, the new ferry will go into operation and with two ferries in action the long delays at this crossing will be eliminated. The scenic highway runs from Trenton via Picton to Kingston.

Hon. George Doucett, Ontario Minister of Highways, will speak at the christening, with many prominent citizens also taking part. Norris Whitney, M.P.P. for Prince Edward-Lennox, will introduce the minister, and George Tuttle, M.P., for the same riding will be chairman. Those to christen the new ferry is one of Prince Edward County's leading citizens, Miss Fiona Barker of Bloomfield village. Three of her great-great grandfathers were among the United Empire Loyalists who landed on the Adolphustown shores in 1787.

The ferry, 125-car ferry, built at Erieau, on Lake Erie, is 92 feet long and has a 32-foot beam. It is powered with two 154 horse power motors. Operated by the Ontario Dept. of Highways, it is one of the few free ferries in the Province.

Mr. Whitney pointed out that no special invitations have been sent out for the christening but that all interested are invited to the 2.30 o'clock ceremony on Friday, 23rd.

Highway Contractors' Case Opens at Whitby Tuesday

WHITBY (CP) — The second court action against Ontario road contractors, arising out of the provincial investigation of alleged irregularities in highway contracting, opened today with the hearing of charges against the Bergmann Construction Co., Ltd., and seven company officials.

The firm, president Walter Bergmann, superintendent John A. West, and the deputy chief commissioner of the Ontario highways department, Cecil H. Nelson, face two charges of conspiring to defraud the government in connection with highways contracts awarded the firm from construction work in the Fort William area and the other in the Chatsworth area.

Set add court action', . . . area.

Harry Philpot, retired highway construction engineer and Arthur M. Mills, suspended Chatsworth engineer are also defendants in the Fort William charge.

CHICAGO (CP)—More blistering heat scorched the central United States today. It boosted hog, poultry and crop losses and ran U. S. heat deaths in two weeks to 259.

However, local thunderstorms early today brought scattered relief in parts of the north belt, and somewhat cooler Canadian air began pushing into the midwest states.

The combined effect of heat and drought has farmers worried in Illinois, a major corn and livestock state. In central Illinois, some farmers said so many hogs have died they have been notified to burn the carcasses because rendering plants are swamped with work.

TRACTOR INJURIES GIRL

BRANTFORD (CP)—Edith Vanderheyden, 19, suffered a severe injury to her right leg Monday when it was caught in the power lift of a tractor driven by her father, Simon Vanderheyden. The three of his seven children were riding on the big rear wheel when the accident occurred.

Through Freight Runs Into Local Near Windsor

RUTHVEN, Ont. —A twin diesel unit, pulling a through freight, slammed into the rear of a standing local freight Monday night on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway near a crossing at this town 20 miles southeast of Windsor.

No one was injured but railway officials estimated damage at more than $500,000. Some of the cars was loaded with grain which officials feared would be lost. About $250,000 of the damage was suffered by one of the locomotives.

Jim Brooks, Erieau, conductor on the local, leaped to safety from the caboose of the train seconds before the car was destroyed by the oncoming through freight.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)— Synoptic: Light rain and a few heavier thunderstorms which occurred this morning in southern and central regions of Ontario will move east of the province by noon, leaving the weather much as it has been in recent days. The prospect for Wednesday is for bright sunshine and afternoon temperatures ranging from the high eighties in the south to mid-seventies in the north.

'Unfortunate, Not Serious' P.C. View of Split in B.C.

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Party sources here described as "unfortunate but not serious" the eruption of sentiment in the British Columbia Progressive Conservative organization against the leadership of George Drew.

Adoption of a non-confidence motion Saturday night against the Opposition leader by a vote of 40 to 34 in the provincial organization caught Ottawa in the summer doldrums.

Mr. Elson said 35 OPP constables Mr. Drew, national leader since 1948, is in Europe with his family and is believed to be on holiday at present. He plans to return to Canada early next month. George Hees, minister of trade and commerce, is on a speaking tour in the Maritimes.

A formal high official of the party said the squabble, like any family quarrel, is unfortunate and harmful. However, he said the federal organization was not greatly distressed by what happened at the Vernon, B.C., meeting.

There have been reports of discontent with the leadership at various times, especially last year after a second general election since Mr. Drew has headed the party failed to improve greatly his share of the party's 25 House of Commons.

But the national executive in session here last spring gave Mr. Drew a vote of confidence. Party workers said that among those voting confidence was Deane Finlayson, B.C. provincial leader who led the present revolt.

From what could be learned here the federal organization looks upon the B.C. trouble as a jurisdictional dispute in which the provincial organization is at odds with the federal group.

Mr. Drew is in Madrid on final stages of a fact-finding tour of European countries. He moved the non-confidence motion and of a charge by Mr. Finlayson that the national leader had not been consulted before provincial affairs in British Columbia by the Social Credit party, Mr. Drew said: "I have no comment to make on that. There are the customary jealousies of federal members from British Columbia and they are quite able to deal with the situation there."

The Opposition leader said he believes that France, Switzerland, Portugal and Spain, and plans also to go to Germany. He said his tour is "to see what has taken place in the different European countries, particularly regarding trade, reconstruction and defence matters."

Mr. Hees, interviewed in Newfoundland today, said he does not believe the B.C. vote represented the feelings of the majority of the party members in that province and "most certainly does not represent the opinion held by members of the Conservative party in the other nine provinces."

The immediate effect of the B.C. incident may be to stimulate expressions of national conviction of which Mr. Drew would be confirmed in his leadership or a new leader chosen.

But the movement probably will be headed by wider support and greater significance than that in British Columbia to bring an end to party squabbling.

Convention are expensive and Parliament dull unless there is an urgent need.

At the close of the last session of Parliament Mr. Drew appeared to be firmly established and personally he had increased his popularity in the party.

He is 60 years old but gives the appearance of having the vigor, stamina and enthusiasm of a much younger man.

Young Deckhand Falls Off Ship, Believed Drowned

KIDLAND, Ont. (CP) — Bruce Nash, 19-year-old deckhand on the Alstibi Navigation Company's lake freighter, Walcondah, is believed drowned after he fell off the ship about five miles off Western Island in Georgian Bay Monday night.

Report of the mishap was received here by local police in a radio message from the ship.

The message said Neath fell off the freighter about 9 p.m. Monday. The ship circled the area for an hour but failed to find any trace of the young seaman.

Jail U.S. Driver After Belleville Women Injured

SUSSEX, N.B. (CP)—Stephen W. Neith of Waldoboro, Maine, was sentenced Monday to two weeks in jail on conviction of a drunken driving charge.

He was ordered to pay $28.00 costs and his driving licence was cancelled for three months. The cancellation applies to all of Canada, but magistrate W. D. Bonnell said he was not sure how it would apply in the case of Neith.

Walsh pleaded not guilty, a car he was driving and one driven by Mrs. Nellie Aikins of Belleville, Ont., collided Sunday near Sussex. Mrs. Aikin and Mrs. Gertrude Martha Lewis, 77, suffered shock and injuries described as not serious. Their condition in hospital here was reported improving.

Farmers Are Going Back to School To Learn How to Grow Tree Crop

By JACK CRONIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HARRINGTON, Que. (CP)—Some Quebec and Ontario farmers are going back to school in a movement aimed at providing Canada's forestry industry with permanent supplies of hardwood.

The movement—to be followed by similar projects throughout Canada—has been launched on a 2,000-acre model farm near this Argenteuil county town, halfway between Montreal and Ottawa. Here farmers and small landowners are learning to grow trees in the same manner as any other permanent crop of corn, oats or barley.

The Harrington forest farm—first started by Canadian International Paper Company four years ago—is basically designed to provide a permanent source of raw wood for chopping of Canada's lumber supply mills.

The project went on show to the public during the week-end when 13 woodlot owners "graduated" as certified tree farmers.

Vernon E. Johnston, president of CIP, says the idea of the farm, an experimental station in self-perpetuating growth of trees, was born in 1950 when the company was faced with the prospect of closing down its large Hawkesbury, Ont., mill because of a shortage of handy supplies of softwood.

"The mill had eaten up all supplies in the area and we couldn't compete with operations because of the high cost of hauling lumber from other forests."

Then the experts came through with a plan to use hardwood as a substitute and to buy in standard supplies on local farms and private woodlots.

The president, Mr. Johnson, was to prevent the farmers cutting all their timber for a quick profit. To meet this the forest farm was set up and manned by 25 experts.

Officials said Harrington, serving as a demonstration farm, has woodlot holdings varying from three acres to several thousand acres, teaches farmers to grow trees for lumber cutting and weeding. A guaranteed market has been found for wood sold to farmers who previously let their wooded land stand idle.

Mr. Johnson said the project may be taken up in New Brunswick and western Canada and "already a group of farmers are organizing something similar in Ontario."

Others may build up a following of suppliers who will grow trees for them, just as destroy them for a quick, one-time profit."

U.S. Prestige In Viet Nam Is at Low Ebb

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON (AP)—American prestige in Viet Nam, largest of the states of Indo-China, appears to have hit its lowest ebb since the Second World War.

Until a few days ago, the United States could still count on the friendship of some element of the population—anti-Communist in the main—in the independent government of Catholic leader Ngo Dinh Diem.

But reports from Washington that President Eisenhower's administration now accepts the principle of partition of the country seems to have wiped away much of this goodwill.

LEFT IN DARK

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — The crane boom of a large construction truck snagged the power line serving nearby Port Arthur the other night plunging much of the city into darkness. Two poles were pulled up and a third snapped off. Full service was restored by Sunday evening.

Close Golf Club After Liquor Charges Laid

TORONTO (CP)—As a sequel to a police raid that led to charges of illegal beer-selling, St. Andrew's Golf and Country Club in suburban Don Mills township will be closed and possibly sold for subdivision into a housing development, a club spokesman says.

Township Reeve Cole Monday accused the township police of "persecuting" the club for two years. The police force shrugged off the accusation as "ridiculous."

Police raided the club last Thursday. They laid a charge of selling beer to non-members. Officers reported they seized 1,635 pints of beer.

While the police were at the club more bad news arrived from the Ontario liquor licence board that the club must close its liquor outlet for a week.

"We are going to return our licence to the licence board and tell them we can't use it under the circumstances," said Mr. Thompson. Spokesmen for North York police have forced us to close. . .

Indian Police Raid Sadhu Monastery And Free Dark-Skinned Love Slaves

CUTTACK, India (Reuters)—A story of dark-skinned girl love slaves terrorizing themselves before near-naked Sadhu monks for barbaric love rites came out of a fortified monastery raided Sunday by police.

The police force shrugged off the accusation as "ridiculous."

"god" and personally led his disciples in the love orgy that followed.

The nine girls were found cowering in the dark in deep labyrinths of the monastery Sunday after police had battered through a sword-swinging Sadhu in a search for four wanted criminals behind the monastery walls.

One policeman and two Sadhus died in the monks pitched their primitive weapons against the police to prevent entrance of their "holy" sanctuary.

Police interviewed the nine girls Monday and heard a story of forced participation in the regular orgies from one frightened 14-year-old. They refused to release full details of Pagladaba's rites.

Pagladaba means "madman" in English. Police said the high priest is just that.

The waters of the Moira River, from Plainfield south, are polluted and unfit for swimming, M. O. Belleville's Municipal Band held its first concert of the season at Firemen's Park last night. Led by Walt Aselstine some 25 musicians played through many brass band selections for an enthusiastic crowd.

The concert heralded a new series of musical programs to be performed throughout the city by the band, in the summer months. The next concert is scheduled for about two weeks ahead.

Display Fine Artistry In Talent Show

Due to a misunderstanding the names of some of the talented young artists who took part in the Variety Show in Cobourg during the C.N.R.A.A. Picnic on Saturday, were inadvertently omitted from the Monday report.

These included Garry Tremaine whose "roller skat tap" was one of the sensations of the show. Garry also showed fine talent in a trumpet solo. Patricia Chisholm delighted the audience with a piano solo while Shirley and Keith Boomhour stood out with their "Blue Skirt Waltz" offering. Gerry Jerome, another talented young lady showed exceptional skill with her accordion.

The Talent show was held under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Dawson and Mrs. Bud Lickfold. All the participants in the show were presented with engraved identification discs following their fine performance. Incidentally Garry Tremaine is a member of the Barbara Dinnent School of Dancing. All those taking part were C.N.R. children.

Regents Lose To RCAF 8-7

Bryson Reid's Regents lost another "heartbreaker" at the Trenton air station last night, losing to the RCAF baseballers by an 8-7 score.

Coach Chuck Barriage who went the route on the mound for the Regents had a 7-6 lead going into the ninth but he ran into trouble, the opportunists in air force blue poked over two runs in to win the game.

No other details were available at the time of going to press.

Gloxina Is Two-Toned

Baffled botanist is Ken Sharp of Rosslin.

For the past three years he had been tending a gloxinia in his kitchen window and each year has been giving off purple colored blooms from its giant glens. This year however the bulb of the plant grew a second stem, side by side with the original one. Not only that, when the plant started to flower, the two stems showed a different color scheme.

Now Mr. Sharp has a gloxinia bulb, growing two stems, the with purple blooms and the second with red blooms.

The plant present they will remain that way, but the performance of the bulb has aroused the curiosity of Mr. Sharp. At the end of the season he intends to split both the leaves of both stems to see what happens when you encourage an oddity.

The host club took top honors for the day with 39 points followed by Trenton 19½; Napanee, 14½ and Belleville 13.

FIRE IN TREE

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Firemen thought they were racing to a burning house at nearby Mapleton, but found a fire burning in the hollow trunk of a basswood tree. Firemen reached the tree, which had been struck by lightning, by crossing back fields.

Alderman H. J. Clarke and Mrs. Clarke, Foster Ave., were "at home" to approximately 150 friends Monday evening on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary. Former public servant in the southern part of the county residents Mr. Clarke as school inspector for South Hastings. Mr. Clarke has been member of city council for 15 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Clarke Observe Diamond Anniversary

Congratulatory messages from high state officials and from a host of friends and relatives were received Monday by Alderman Harry J. Clarke and Mrs. Clarke, 235 Foster Avenue, as they observed the 60th anniversary of their wedding.

The Clarke family residence which has been their home for 50 years, was crowded last evening as about 150 friends and relatives came to offer personal congratulations. Dozens of bouquets and baskets of lovely flowers, together with innumerable anniversary cards attested to the popularity of the couple.

Anniversary congratulations were received from Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, from Premier Leslie Frost and from Hon. W. J. Dunlop, minister of Education for Ontario.

FITTING TRIBUTE

The message from Mr. Dunlop as representative of the department of education, was particularly fitting as it was this department which Mr. Clarke served during his long career as a public and high school teacher and later as public school inspector for Belleville and South Hastings.

Memories of Centenary public school in Sidney township will live forever for Mrs. Clarke. It was here that he began his career as a teacher and it was also here that he met his bride-to-be.

For two years one of Mr. Clarke's senior pupils was Esther Thrasher, a girl whom his tutored through junior and senior fourth classes, and who later was to become his bride.

For Mrs. Clarke Centenary school also has the same tender memory. "It was there I met my husband," she said.

BORN IN SIDNEY

Mrs. Clarke is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Thrasher, pioneer farmers in Sidney township. The wedding ceremony on the lawn of the parental Thrasher homestead was attended by three bridesmaids and a flower girls. It was one of the social events of the year. The officiating clergyman was the late Dr. E. N. Baker, then minister of Bridge Street United Church.

In keeping with the trend of the times, teachers' salaries have come a long way since back in 1898 when Mr. Clarke started teaching. He recalls that he received but $250 for his first year's work. By way of contrast his grandson is this year commencing his career as a teacher at almost ten times the salary.

From Centenary School Mr. Clarke went to Tyendinaga and in 1892 became a science teacher at Belleville High School, a position which he held until 1907 when he was appointed public school inspector for South Hastings.

It was during his 22 years as public school inspector that Mr. Clarke built up a large acquaintance throughout South Hastings.

SPENT LIFE IN CITY

A native of the city, Mr. Clarke went to school in the city, and with the exception of his days as a public school teacher, has lived all his life here. As a high science teacher at Belleville High School he built the substantial brick home on Foster Ave. where he took his young bride 60 years ago.

Foster Ave. then was almost a commons and the Clarke home was the only house on the block. Today it is in the middle of the east hill residential section of the city.

Teaching seems to have been in the blood of the Clarke family. Their son Vernon took up a teaching career after graduation from Queen's with M.A. and B. Paed degrees. He is now science and mathematics teacher at Kemptville Collegiate in Hamilton a position which he has held since his graduation.

A daughter, Helen, is also a Queen's graduate and is now Mrs. Roy Rickard, wife of Rev. Roy Rickard of Columbus which is near Oshawa.

A grandson, Don Clarke, is also following in teacher's career. Last year he graduated from Queen's with B.A. in mathematics and with M.A. degrees and will take up teaching at Scarboro Collegiate this fall. Harry Clarke's second grandson, also a Queen's graduate, is associated with the Crown Life Insurance.

There are two other grandchildren, Patricia and Allister Rickard.

RETIRED 15 YEARS AGO

Fifteen years ago at the age of 63, Mr. Clarke retired from public school inspector, but for him it was far from retirement.

No sooner had he become "officially" retired than he turned his interests to local public affairs and the same fall he tossed his hat into the ring in a municipal race. His popularity with the public was convincingly demonstrated by his election at the head of the polls.

He is now in his 19th year as city alderman, well over half of which he has served as chairman of the executive committee. He has repeatedly turned down requests to run for mayor, but on many occasions has been acting mayor during the absence of the council head.

His pet passion for mathematics has been with him in the years which he served as head of the finance and legislation committee.

Mr. Clarke strongly opposed the city of Belleville joining with district rural municipalities to form the Bay of Quinte High School district. He claims that this was a move which residents of the city will some day live to regret.

UNITED CHURCH MEMBERS

The 60 years wed couple are members of Bridge Street United Church and have taken a great interest in the work of this body. Mrs. Clarke is a member of the W.A. the W.M.S. and is a member of the L.O.D.E. Red Cross unit.

Mr. Clarke has had long membership in the Masonic Order and his unmistakable ability in administrational affairs are rewarded by the above order by his appointment as deputy grand master.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Cheese History Is Outlined To Rotarians

According to a famous American cheese manufacturer, which has it according to the Arabian Nights, the discovery of cheese went something like this:

Once upon a time an itinerant Eastern peddler found himself thirsty along the wayside and stopped for a swig of milk from his goatskin milk bag. However, the heat of the sun had penetrated the bag and curdled the milk, turning the liquid into something resembling latter-day cream cheese. And when he had tasted lactum—he had cheese for the first ever.

This enlightenment came out of the rainbow of a color film to the Rotary club yesterday, when the story of "Cheese through the Ages" was shown to the club's weekly luncheon at the Hotel Quinte. The film was presented by Kraft Foods Limited, which besides being a major TV sponsor, today manufactures most of the cheddar cheese consumed in Canada.

INTRODUCED TO EUROPE.

Cheese first was introduced to Europe by wandering tribes of the East (presumably by that time itinerant Eastern peddlers were selling curdled) and nearer home, came to Britain with the Romans, where, through the Dark Ages, it was manufactured in the monastries.

Since its introduction on the western world, cheese had always been made on the farms with each farmer having his own ideas for good cheese. As a result, practically every cheese had a different taste. With the growth of cities and economic standardization in many products, the same was bound to happen to cheese.

A start in this direction was begun in New York in the early 19th century by an American, Jess Williams. The idea soon became prevalent in other centres for a pooling of products to manufacture a standard maker. But the process still was confined to certain districts and had not reached a national scale.

In 1903, a young grocery-store clerk named Fred Kraft settled in Chicago, and single-handed, started out to realize this. It was the auspicious beginning of today's huge organization.

Yesterday's film also sidelighted many customs and interesting facts about the product, the names of cheeses almost all are taken from the names of towns and districts where first they were evolved. For instance, most of the cheese eaten in North America is cheddar, named after an English village, where once the residents banded with every hundreds years to make a huge cheese as a token rent to the sovereign.

Welsh Rabbit, one of the more popular cheese dishes is believed to have been thought up by an castle in Wales. It seems, slogs or no, the lord of the keep was having guests to dinner and wanted to put on a show. He demanded rabbit but the chef did a game cover up by fantastic cooking cheese and delighting his liege, withal.

A Kraft representative, Harvey T. Mitchell, was to introduce yesterday's film to the club. However, yesterday morning, he reported he was undergoing an emergency operation in Whitby and would be unable to attend. His place was taken by Rotarian Don McKinnon. The meeting was chaired by Fred Adsett, president, while the after luncheon singsong was led by Jimmie Bone and Egerton Boyce.

P.E.I. Official Shows Interest In Belleville

The International Trade Fair held in Toronto recently did more than cement industrial relations of various parts of the world, it aided greatly in bringing Canadians closer together.

So says Alderman Arthur Keegan, chairman of planning and development, who with Alderman Claude D. Thompson attended the fair.

While there they visited the Prince Edward Island booth and met Mr. W. E. Agnew, director of trade of the Prince Edward Island Department of Industry and Natural Resources. Mr. Agnew welcomed them cordially and the result was a mutual exchange of stories anent various topic pertaining to their respective cities and provinces.

The other day Alderman Keegan received a letter of appreciation from Mr. Agnew expressing his personal pleasure in the meeting and offering his services at any time.

Mr. Agnew took a keen interest in Belleville and district, industrially and otherwise, so much so that a letter has gone forward from Don Kingdon, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, offering any information he may desire.

Alderman Keegan also wrote Mr. Agnew expressing his appreciation and that of Alderman

Marmora Man Critically Burned When Showered With Flaming Gas

Gordon Eadie, 40, of Marmora, is in Peterborough Civic Hospital in critical condition as a result of burns suffered Monday afternoon when he was showered with flaming gasoline while working at the Bethlehem Steel Corporation open pit mine near Marmora.

Eadie, a truck driver at the mine, was pouring gasoline from a pail into the tank of his truck when the gasoline exploded and showered over him. His clothes were burned off and he suffered severe burns to his, legs and hands.

Emergency treatment was given Eadie by Dr. H. G. Purdie of Marmora in his office before he was rushed to Peterborough Civic Hospital by a Belleville ambulance.

The accident occurred about 4.30 Monday afternoon.

Smoke Damage In Store Heavy As Shed Burns

Heavy smoke damage at The Children's Shop on Front Street resulted Monday evening when fire destroyed a small frame shed at the rear of the property.

The small frame building was completely destroyed, the flames already bursting through windows when firemen were notified. Two trucks raced to the scene of the blaze but smoke seeped through into the main store before the fire was extinguished.

No estimate of the loss was set by firemen, other than that there was heavy smoke damage in the main store and the storage shed was destroyed.

The flames shed lit up the rear of Front street stores and for a few minutes led residents to believe another major fire was in progress. However, prompt work by firemen quickly brought the fire under control.

Police Blotter

Both city and provincial police departments today reported a quiet night with little more than routine matters coming to attention of officers.

Provincial police reported a motor accident near the Purdy sideroad east of the city but no details of the mishap were available.

In city's magistrate's court today four persons were convicted of drunk driving and were sentenced to seven days in jail. Three other LCA charges involving ordinary drunks and traffic cases were dealt with by Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

WHAT DID ATTLEE SAY?

The speedy dissemination of news is of vital importance to the efficient functioning of a democratic system of government.

There appears good reason to believe that it was very high, indeed, in the case of reports on the speech made in the British House of Commons on Wednesday of last week by Clement Attlee, leader of the British Labor Party.

There is no doubt that Mr. Attlee was extremely critical of several phases of United States foreign policy. On that we can all agree.

We can all agree, too, that Mr. Attlee made many statements of a highly controversial nature, statements with which disagreement will be widespread, not merely in the United States, but here in Canada and in Britain, too.

For instance, Mr. Attlee did say that: "I think it is time that the leaders (of the Nationalist Chinese Government) were pensioned off and I believe that the mass of the rank and file would be glad to return (from Formosa) to China."

The Montreal Gazette, in a lengthy and closely reasoned editorial, assails this observation in these words: "Such a statement by Mr. Attlee suggests that the majority of people in a whole area might be prepared to accept Communism by a free choice. And yet experience teaches quite the opposite conclusion. Communism is established by the opposite conclusion. When the choice is between Communism or death, all but the small company of martyrs will yield to Communism."

But the main argument in the Montreal Gazette's editorial is an assault against the suggestion that Formosa should be turned over to the Chinese Communists. On Wednesday of last week Mr. Attlee made his speech, the British news agency, Reuters, commenced its report as follows: "London—Labor Party leader Clement Attlee today proposed that Communist Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek be 'pensioned off' and his island capital of Formosa be handed over to Communist China."

The Ontario Intelligencer ran that report under the headline "Attlee Says Formosa Given to Chinese Reds," a headline certainly justified by the text of the report. The Montreal Gazette, in its editorial, with what seems to us unanswerable logic, declares that "to surrender Formosa now or still another area is not only an act of betrayal; it must weaken that faith of other peoples in the determination of their western friends to give them the chance to be free."

What did Mr. Attlee say? The New York Times of Thursday carried excerpts from the Attlee speech. The nearest approach to the statement that Formosa should be handed over to the Red Chinese is contained in the following statement: "I know the difficulties with regard to getting a seat for China. I know how strongly the American people feel. There is no doubt an obligation to Chiang Kai-Shek. Well, he is getting to be an old man now and he commands ageing forces. I think it is time that the leaders were pensioned off and I believe that the mass of the rank and file would be glad to return to China. I understand the Americans fear the occupation of Formosa. We have thrown out the suggestion that for a period of years Formosa should be held in trusteeship by the United Nations."

Now it is possible to take issue with Mr. Attlee on several points, but he raises two very lucid sentences. But it is impossible to construe them to mean that the island of Formosa should be handed over to the Chinese Communists. What Mr. Attlee did say was certainly enough to give rise to doubt and dismay among United States citizens, without this report of something which, judging from the text in the New York Times, he most emphatically did not say.

If any person suggests that Mr. Attlee may have made the statement attributed to him by Reuters but the New York Times may have chosen not to include it in the excerpts of his speech, or Mr. Attlee's speech, we can only inquire whether it is reasonable to suppose that, in devoting two columns of space to the speech, the Times would have omitted a statement of such startling statement-making all. And why did the news story by its own correspondent also omit any mention of the statement?

ALL IN THE WAY YOU SAY IT

Every now and then we are confronted by a gruesome statistic about how deep everything would be buried if all the flies hatched in one season lived for how much higher the water level would be if the polar ice caps melted.

The latest horror has to do with oysters.

B. Tucker Abbott, a Smithsonian Institution biologist, states that if nature had not seen to it that the survival rate of oyster eggs was small, then one oyster's offspring, in five generations, would constitute a mass equal to eight worlds. He bases this gloomy prediction on the fact that one species of oyster on the Pacific coast lays as many as 16 billion eggs annually.

This sort of thing has to stop.

Only last week the menace was the common housefly. Some dimwit scientist calculated that the offspring of a single pair, in one season, if all were preserved, would cover the earth to a depth of 47 feet. Only the realization that statistics are lending a helping hand stopped a fly-swatting expedition short of exhaustion.

Some months ago our day was blighted by similar calculations on the reproductive rate of mosquitos. However, one consoling factor was revealed was the threat of drowning when the polar ice caps melted and raised the ocean levels 37 feet. Choosing a home on a site with an extra 37 feet of elevation was relatively simple.

We would prefer however, that statisticians keep their slide-rule sleuthing a secret. Or, if they cannot, we should prefer something less scary. For instance, Mr. B. Tucker Abbott could have made his oyster calculations more pleasant by starting out in the following fashion: "If all the offspring of a single oyster survived for five generations this world would find themselves up to their armpits in pearls."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Three things I had to buy yesterday: a shirt for myself, a small change purse to replace one lost from my wife's handbag, and a set of four gaiters, those things you nail onto the feet of chairs to make them slide on the floor. I went to department store.

When I presented myself at the shirt counter I was seated at once and regaled with a customer. Three other clerks, all male, were busy with some problem having to do with the stock under the counters. I moved about in front, where their heads showed as they bent down, and soon got the attention I wanted—for they had in mind. It could not be inventory, because this is the slack season. I heard them animatedly discussing bones, khaki, "they," and many shifting shirt boxes about, putting some in one place, and bringing others to this place.

"Hey!" I said.

They ignored me and went on with their debate. They sounded like three worthy young men chiefly interested in the problems of merchandising.

"Hey! You!" I uttered, louder.

One glanced up then turned his back on me with an irritated air. "Couldn't I see he was busy?

Confusion in U.S.

(By I. Norman Smith in the Ottawa Journal)

I went to Washington and New York hoping to find cheer, to find the American side of the story, to assure readers that the United States is, like the Mississippi, rolling along all right.

It isn't true.

There is confusion in aim, dissension in method, mistrust in friend as well as foe, arrogance in manner, impetuous action and a seeming inability to think before judgment.

Against this on the credit side, is a genuine desire to do right, to act compromise with the devil.

They put immense faith in their motto: "In God We Trust."

But they don't pause to consider the possibility that their policies may be wrong, unless to thrust out their stomach and spit out "American motto: "My country, right or wrong."

United Nations observers are aghast at what the United States did last week for the fundamental UN principle that UN must at least have to consider any appeal against aggression.

Nobody here liked the Communist invasion of Manchuria but in whipping its friends on the Lytton Commission into line to bear the pipe we have now a nice international mess. The Japanese will not fail to remember and use.

New Zealand stood up boldly and voted "No" against the United States motion. Australia abstained.

So pretty a pass have things come to that the New York Times took editorial exception to the fact that only Russia had the nerve to stand with the U.S.

The wrong-headed, clear character-breaking nature of American policy, is prevalent.

The Washington Post and Canadian Communists would have fallen anyway and UN's prestige had been maintained by Canada's vote.

I mention the New York Times because it is a great newspaper of broad horizons and has greatly influenced U.S. international peace.

Sometimes you have to rub your eyes.

Just this morning for instance the Times printed on page one a story regretting that Sir Winston Churchill had left the peace conference as he sailed on the Queen Elizabeth. The implication was that "there had been more disappointment over results than might reasonably be expected at mid."

This, despite the fact that Sir Winston had held massive press conferences in Washington and Ottawa and had left behind him other statements at odd times in roughly six days.

But we are not obliged to judge American foreign policy by what a newspaper says.

It was the U.S. government that threw UN's principles out of the window over Guatemala. Just a week ago the government that alone forced on the total decision to keep India from the Geneva meeting.

And you know what happened at Geneva, and you also know who visited India recently—Mr. Chou-En-Lai.

And it was the U.S. Congress the other day which passed legislation ready with shouts of approval that no foreign aid would be sent to any nation which refused to make a non-aggression pact with Communist Russia.

Does that is likely to mean virtually every Asian country, the Middle East, Italy or Finland.

And you know what the U.S. Congress which voted the other day to cut off all American aid to France because of her debt default will do to sign the European Defence Treaty.

Everywhere it is the struggles with American foreign policy are fools and knaves and probably Communists.

And American aid is taking on with complete frankness the aspect of a weapon to buy votes and friends.

If India and Burma and their neighbors are to be friends, and if Italy and France, will not sing for their supper—they must support.

Once upon a time American aid was sent out of humanitarian motives. The belief that if the wealth was shared all would prosper and Communism would decrease.

But it occurs to me a great many store keepers and their hired help do a lot of things in the customer's time.

Nationalized Deductions

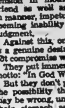
(Edmonton Journal)

A tragedy at Canterbury, England, this week, in which a miner killed his wife and himself, incidentally, provides a grim sidelight on Britain's nationalized coal industry.

The immediate cause of the unhappy man's breakdown was his wife's refusal to let him have contained exactly one-pence. He was getting £3 a week, and all his earnings, except the penny, were deducted at the pithead for rent, a pail of boots and the regular contribution to the miners' welfare fund. Actually, even when he worked full time his total week's wages, without deductions, amounted to only £3/10—meagre pay for an experienced miner with a wife and three children to support. No wonder he was deeply in debt and desperate.

The coal industry in Britain has been afflicted for many years and poor living and working conditions for miners are frequently described by the Socialists, and generally believed by everybody, as a crying disgrace—even before the result of the greed of mineowners and the "profit-the-capitalist" system, and that great improvements would be made by Labor government in 1945, and they have since been in power for the full term. Labor Board, a government agency.

Incidents like this at Canterbury show how far national ownership is from fulfilling the hopes placed in it. The Labor Board still pays low wages, though it has cut the standard that man's wage is much less than the average for underground workers—now between £3 and £4 per week; and it enforces a rent for the miner's cottage that is as rigorous as anything ever tried in the old days.



Actually the basic troubles of the coal industry have little to do with change of ownership and organization. They stem from such things as the exhaustion of the richer seams, high costs of production and uneconomic distribution. The experience of the last eight years certainly does not suggest that Socialism is the new answer to the problem of a sick industry.

PERENNIAL PREVENTABLE AILMENT

In the past ten years I have received reports of a good many persons who have discovered they could not get along without a daily dose of digitalis, particularly if they get an optimal daily ration of vitamin B complex, as explained in the sedentary troubles. Plain wheat is the best food source of vitamin B complex. Ask for the pamphlet Wheat to Eat and inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, if you want the CVD booklet too, inclose 10c in addition.

I feel sorry for the poor souls who believe, thanks to medical chicanery, that digitalis is absolutely essential to keep a dropped or weak or "fallible" heart going from day to day. But what can an obscure doctor do, who believes the poor soul of that dreadful phobia implanted in their minds by the continued "authorities?

Another more common perennial preventable ailment is the subject of a query by C. K. C. who writes:

"... in fact, constipation is my one worry. I am a heavy meat eater and I meet many people who exchange ideas ... but this bugbear is a stumper. Mucous colitis, some call it, I suppose. (CVD)

There's no limit on the ideas victims of the constipation habit can exchange, especially when they trick it up with "mucous colitis." When a Yankee Visitors (that's a pleasure which knows many things about pathology which are not so) with the constipation habit developed the "mucous colitis" obsession, he or she becomes a difficult patient for the honest doctor to treat but a profitable customer for the drug-besotted, the colon filling station, the food faddist and the vendor of mineral oil and assorted birdseed.

Still, from a safe distance I offer what some readers consider good advice for these unhappy ones who have no faith in nature.

Victims of the constipation habit with or without the "mucous colitis" obsession, may well ponder these facts:

1. Nature, the unconscious nervous mechanism, regulates the function of the bowel just as it does the function of the heart, if not interfered with.

2. The physical habit, beginning with the first dose of castor oil inflicted on the nervously infant, induces constipation, perverts nature from resuming control.

3. Irritation by continued habit (particularly enemas or so-called bowel washings) and formation of excessive mucous — secreted by the bowel lining in an attempt to protect itself.

4. Malnutrition (progressive nutritional disorder) arising from interference with assimilation of vitamins and minerals from food and from lack of vitamins and minerals in the feces diet followed by the "takes it damages" accounts for the more serious symptoms in cases of long standing.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON FORGIVING

Holding a grudge against another, or bitterness in one's heart, does more damage to the one who holds that grudge or bitterness than to the person toward whom it is aimed. Why not wipe it all out? Why not forgive and forget?

This mind that we carry about with us is a most sensitive thing. It damages easily. Yet it responds very quickly to kind treatment. It cannot afford to lose a single friend. Friends are too difficult to find. Sometimes we get into the habit to overlook hurts that come to us by way of a friend. We can live our best days when we have those whom we should forgive, or have been forgiveness from us by some reason.

Now, life can be healthy and happy so long as we harbor bitterness of any sort in our hearts. The moment you forgive and forget you step to higher ground. And you are bound to feel so much better in every way. So long as we remain human beings we are sure to have differences, but there is always a way to adjust them, and without bitterness.

When we say unkind things about others, or censure them for any reason, we do not realize the effect it may have on their lives or on our own lives. It affects both ways. The quicker we start forgiving the better! Misunderstanding is at the bottom of nearly all differences and quarrels.

Resolve in the opportunity to be happily influential in this life. In Stevenson's "Island Voyage" he says of a character in these words: "His was, indeed, a good influence to all that came with him; he had a fresh laugh; it did you good to hear it!" Misunderstanding he may have been at heart, he always bore a bold and generous front to his enemy, and fortune's worst as it were the showers of sympathy."

How much better to harbor a spirit like this that Stevenson has described than to carry resentments and ill will in the mind and heart. Forgiveness often serves a great mission.

BRAINS

High-grade brains worthwhile?

Well depends. Some of the most able men that have lived have been unworthy characters—a famous, philosophic statesman and author, upon whose system of reasoning the whole technique of modern scientific research depends, was a betrayer and a thief of public funds to a degree that this fine amounted to about $150,000, which, nowadays, would mean jail multitudes to the very gates of heaven, was the adulterer, the perverter, a drunkard and an almost pathological egotist. Karl Marx, founder of modern Communism had such a high-grade brain that he believed he was worthy to picture the great philosopher Hegel, and the bitterness engendered over his failure to get that coveted appointment may have been one of the things that led him to the extremes to which he later went.

Brain power, of course, in life is supported by abiding moral character. We do not invest in the scientific traitors who gave our atomic secrets away what brains and character can add up to a whole people. The wrong inflicted upon their country by some of these treasonable acts were as appalling as the loss of a million soldiers.

Don't worry if you have a C-student brain. Just go ahead and keep the world going and make its life significant.

Diver Will Be Employed to Repair Broken Water Main in Trent River

TRENTON (Special) — A diver will be employed to inspect the broken water main on the bottom of the Trent River, Public Utilities Manager C. B. Campbell reported today after working until midnight with crews trying to find the broken pipe that without warning last night released thousands of gallons of spring water into the river and lowered the pressure to a dribble in all the high points in town. The break will have to be located and the extent of the damage ascertained before steps can be taken to repair it. Meanwhile the second water main under the river is carrying the full supply of fresh water to residents on the east side of town.

Mr. Campbell explained that a weakness in the pipe was probably responsible for the break. It took nearly four hours to locate the trouble because it was not possible to detect where the great quantities of water were going. "We became suspicious of the river holding the secret when no reports of flooding reached our office," Mr. Campbell commented. The mains crossing the river are twelve inches in diameter and carry between 30 and 80 pounds of pressure.

COMPLAINTS COME IN

Water shortage was noticeable among residents of the west hill. Some residents complained because there was not enough pressure to sprinkle their lawns. The Country Club was without tap water until the Utilities switched over to the auxiliary pipe. Up on the York Road people reported taps were dribbling and that was all.

While the pressure was at its lowest a Spring Street resident called the firehall and reported that flames were coming out the roof of his neighbor's house. Firemen found the cause of the blaze was merely grease in a frying pan that caught fire and flared up. A. Degrou in whose kitchen the fire took place had at that time carried the flaming frying pan to the sink and the danger had been eliminated. The cupboard above the cooker was scorched, otherwise there was no damage.

The loss of water pressure affected the Trenton Memorial Hospital nearly four hours. Fortunately, however, there were no emergencies and the inconveniences passed without incident.

Today water pressure in Trenton is back to normal as the task of repairing the broken pipe gets underway.

Runaway Horse Upsets Wagon Against Auto

TRENTON, (Special.)—Frightened by a passing train a milk wagon, horse, slipped its bridle here and made up a wild dash through the centre of the town before numerous eye witnesses who were shopping in the downtown section this morning. The horse finally slithered to a stop still harnessed to the wagon, which turned up on its side on the back of a car after glancing off the front of another car driven by Lloyd A. Gregory of R.R. 3, Trenton. Nobody was injured.

The horse was secured to a telephone pole behind the Trent Theatre when it broke away. It rounded the firehall at a fast clip, pulling the wagon behind it. Bottles filled with milk, and empties, spewed out of the wagon as the horse made its mad flight across the market square. One of the eye witnesses with the best vantage point was Chief Constable F. J. Taylor, who was looking out of the window of the court house at the time. The wagon came to rest tipped up on its side on the back fender of Jack Goldberg's car parked at the curb on Elgin Street. There was damage to both cars and the milk wagon. The horse walked away with a skinned leg.

The driver of the milk wagon was making his last delivery of the morning before returning to the dairy. He missed serious injury from flying glass which littered the interior of the wagon and spilled out over the street.

Marie Dionne Says Poor Health Forced Her to Leave Convent

CORBELL, Ont. (CP) — Marie Dionne said yesterday her poor health, loss of appetite and extreme homesickness forced her to leave the convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament at Quebec City.

Surrounded by three of her happy quintuplet sisters, she told the North Bay Nugget in an exclusive interview that her departure Thursday from the convent seemed "the only intelligent thing I could do."

The quintuplet girl arrived at her home in Corbell late Sunday night after ending eight months with the strictly-cloistered religious community.

HEALTH FAILING

Marie, smiling and happy but obviously thin in her red checked summer dress, sat in the living room of the Dionne home 10 miles from North Bay and told how she had felt her health declining steadily under the rigors of the Order of the Blessed Sacrament.

She said she has not decided whether she will return to the convent later.

"My health has been poorly recently and my appetite has also suffered. I was so lonely, too. I decided that the only intelligent thing I could do was to come home."

Sunday night Marie had a tearstained reunion with her parents and family, especially Annette, Cecile and Yvonne, three of her quintuplet sisters. Quints stayed up until the small hours of the morning chattering. Marie looked tired today under her cheerful outside composure.

HOME FOR SUMMER

"I intend to stay home for the rest of the summer, anyway," she said. "After I have regained my health I will decide whether or not to return to the sisters."

Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, received a letter this morning from the mother superior of the convent where Marie entered last September and took her vows as a novice in May. The letter said Marie "needs a little rest" and too delicate to endure the vigorous requirements of the order."

But, the letter added, they were very sad to see Marie leave. "We pray that our hearts' sorrow within us when she left, we had become so used to her. It touched the other sisters to see how hard Marie tried to do her duties."

Mr. Dionne both denied some news accounts of activities in Montreal by Marie and her quint sister Emilie.

"There was no mystery about Marie leaving the convent," he said. "Arrangements for Marie to depart were made in advance after Marie had talked over with the priest who was her spiritual adviser. She phoned home Thursday to tell us she would leave the convent that day and might stop over in Montreal for two days to break the trip."

HAD DIFFICULTY

Mr. Dionne explained that Emilie and Marie planned to meet in Montreal. Emilie has been spending a month of her summer school holidays at the Montreal home of a new religious order at St. Agathe, Que. She is considering entering the order. The girls had difficulty locating each other in Montreal. Emilie was sick and Marie was not true.

Marie stressed today that her departure from the convent was not a final break.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Skinner and family were recent tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Evans.

Many friends of Mrs. Clem Ketchabaw are glad to know she is able to be in her home having been a patient in the Belleville General Hospital for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Pound, Thurlow.

Mr. Gordon Carr and Miss Isabel Mantor, of Stirling, were tea hour guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Wannamaker.

PLAN TRANS-CANADA TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Taylor of England and their three children are shown in Montreal with the trailer they will use as home during a three-month trans-Canada trip. The newly arrived immigrants plan to visit Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and Winnipeg before settling down in Vancouver. The trailer arrived from Britain aboard the Canadian Pacific cargo liner Beavergien. The children are: (left to right) Patrick, 7; Linda, 4; and Michael, 11. (CP Photo).

The boys with their leader the Rev. L. S. Dovey returned home on Saturday after a few days of camping at Beaver Lake and report a wonderful time as it was the first time for the boys to camp.

At the time of writing rain is greatly needed as the late peas and hay and grain crop are drying up, also the raspberries are in need of rain as they are drying up on the bushes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langabeer and Mrs. B. Latchford to Beaver Lake on Sunday.

Miss Marjorie Wannamaker is spending a few weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker of Stirling, and her sister, Shirley is holidaying with her aunt, Mrs. Keitha Aide.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

TEENAGE EXPERIENCES ARE IMPORTANT, TOO

Maybe some of you who read this column are inclined to laugh at teen-age romances, or at least at their effect as unimportant. Having long left behind such adolescent experiences, and reached that time of life when the joys and sorrows of parties previous to adulthood seem trivial, many adults have little patience with the young folk.

"Don't be foolish!" they're apt to say to the girl or boy who, they feel, is wasting time and emotion on something that is bound to pass before long.

The trouble is, though, that every adult should keep in mind the fact that the experiences which confront youth are just as important and just as charged with emotional content, as those with which adults themselves have to deal.

One teen-ager who evidently fears this truth is going to be understood, however, begins her letter this way:—

"I know you may not think this is important because I'm only 15, but it is to me, and I'm sure you'll hope you will answer my letter."

Then she goes on:

"I like Jimmy, who is 13, but he's too shy to ask me to be his girl friend. He walks home with me one day he told me that girls are very expensive. I'll disagree, of course, but I don't think he has changed his mind.

"I think he likes me, 'and even his sister. who is my best girl friend, says so. How could I find out if he does, and also cure his shyness?"

This boy will soon be forgotten and another will hold the center of the stage by this 14-year-old's mind, you say?

Assuredly. But, right now, he's important, and he deserves the best answer we can give her.

Here goes:

The best way to deal with a shy boy is not to scare him away by making it too obvious that you're interested in him. Just be nice and friendly and let things happen to be with him—and I would think the fact that Jimmy is your girl friend's brother would give you ample opportunities frequently—and don't devote yourself to making a play for his attention. Just tell him hello, talk a minute or two about things you know interest him, and then let him alone. If he wants to follow up, he will.

As for his remark that "girls are very expensive"—don't forget that a chap of 13 isn't likely to have too much pocket money to spend and this is what he may have in mind. Don't try to argue the question with him, but once in a while, when you do see him and the subject comes up naturally, tell him about some nice date you had with a boy when you just went for a walk together, or to the movies, or did some other simple thing that didn't cost much.

Some girls have a nice little party at your home, inviting the boys and girls you know best, and ask your girl friend to bring Jimmy along. If he likes you, he'll come; if he isn't interested, he probably won't. Finding out if he really likes you is as simple as that.

And always remember that the girl who attracts boys is the girl who is always friendly and gay, a good sport and interested in lots of things so that she always has something to do that's fun, and something of interest to talk about. It's in addition, you're always thoughtful and considerate of others, you're not likely to have any trouble attracting Jimmy or any other boy.

Let me know how you make out, won't you?

GOOD MANNERS

WHAT DOES YOUR VACATION VOICE REVEAL ABOUT YOU?

"The first thing I noticed about her was her charming voice. Then I knew I'd like to know her"—

"What a lovely voice she has. . . . It's a joy to hear her speak." Could such an enthusiastic comment be made about your voice by your co-vacationists? If not so, for a lovely soft voice is not only a precious possession to you, but a joyous and refreshing experience to everyone you meet.

Vacation-relaxation has a way of revealing itself in voices. . .for better or for worse. "For better" when we have the comfort of listening to people who naturally have windy modes if their business acquires a pleasing voice. But "for worse," alas, when we have to listen to the uncontrolled voices of those who apparently simply cannot have a good time unless they shout, scream, guffaw. Listen to them (if you must) in the next bus or in swimming, or in a resort movie.

You've noticed, I'm sure, that these people who feel that they must shout to be heard are the ones who don't hear you. Their voices are usually the ones that have a dull flatness of repeating two or three worn-out slang words or phrases. Obviously they feel that these words and phrases, if repeated enough, show a developed flair for the modern style of conversation. And I'm positive they would be quite dumb if "O.K." were taken from them!

Remember, you who want to make a big impression on these so-valuable days of your vacation: that nothing you say, no matter how, or voice that will joyously and inevitably reveal charming things about you!

DING INVITATION SHOULD DIN G INVITATION SHOULD NOT BE BLANK

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I've been very much surprised lately to receive my formal dining invitations with the inner envelopes entirely unaddressed. That is, no names written on them. Is this a new idea? To me this makes the formal envelope look bleak. I'm wondering if it were just a mistake in both these cases, not to write the name on the inner envelope. Perhaps it was. — Lelia M.

Mrs. Marshall is sorry to say, one does see nowadays the inner envelope of a formal wedding invitation addressed: Mr. and Mrs. Marshall

GROOM'S RESPONSIBILITY. MINISTER'S FEE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Please set us right who pays the clergyman at a wedding ceremony, the bride's parents or the groom's parents? And what is the customary fee?

The fee or gift to the clergyman is the groom's responsibility. The bride's family of the contribution is never fixed. . .most grooms would like mighty well if it were! However, the usual contribution to the clergyman ranges between ten and twenty-five dollars. Ed.

FIGHT DANDRUFF; IT IS YOUR ENEMY

HOMEMADE "CLAY" for oily skin and hair can be made of three (3) parts) and salt (1 part) with just enough water for the desired consistency. Use food coloring to create the rainbow hues which add to the fun.

Few women go bald; few are afflicted with dandruff. These problems seem to be almost the exclusive property of the male. Medical specialists, who are in a position to hazard a guess, believe it is because women take better care of their hair than men do. Certainly the shampoo is more of a ritual with women. A man soaps his head, rinses it under the shower. It is a question whether or not the shampoo medium is thoroughly removed, and soap deposits left on the hair and scalp are detrimental to their health.

Until recent years the cause of dandruff was unknown. Then some enterprising young doctors discovered that it is a fungus, yeast-like growth of parasitic origin. In ordinary cases it can be overcome by hot oil applications followed by a thorough shampoo and brisk massage to increase the circulation in the scalp. Shaving the head usually does not help, one should seek the help of a physician or a medical man who specializes in diseases of the skin and scalp.

We make a mistake to irritate the scalp by using a fine toothed comb. That practice can cause inflammations which invite infection. Digging the flesh with the finger nails is likely to have the same result. Brushing is recommended.

Remember you may not have an actual effect upon the growth of the hair but it is a danger, nevertheless, because it is a perfect environment for bacteria that may produce a diseased condition.

If hot oil is used it should be applied at night. The strands should be parted at various places, oil trickled along the partings. The succeeding shampoo should start with a thorough rinsing to remove as much of the oil as possible. Two or three soapings followed by as many rinsings. Massage well during the drying period.

MADOC W.I

An evening meeting for the July W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Jarrett Aylesworth on Friday evening with an attendance of 27 members and seven visitors. The meeting opened with the singing of greeting from the president, Mrs. A. Herrington.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoidal case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations have continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to enjoy life to the fullest degree. Even those who had suffered for years, and who were in the most serious conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing, made no complaint.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is the choice of many injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H.—at all drug stores. And remember, you must be entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly.

NEW B.C. INDUSTRY

A new British Columbia industry will be born in these six long buildings in a few weeks when the power is turned on and the first aluminum is smelted from the ore. These buildings, part of a $550,000,000 Aluminum Company of Canada development in northern B.C., house rows of smelting furnaces or pollines. Straddling the pollines is a conveyor which will carry alumina—powdered and refined aluminum ore—from a deepsea dock on Mineby bay to the furnaces. The ore is brought in freighters from the British West Indies. In the background the snow-capped peaks of B.C.'s Coast range tower over the huge plant built on the wild north coast 400 miles north of Vancouver. — (CP Photo).

GIANT WATERCOURSE

Workmen burrowed for three years under 7,000-foot Mount DeBoise in northern Columbia to complete this huge tunnel. In a few weeks water will rush through the 10-mile-long tunnel to turn hydro generators deep underground. The power will supply the giant new Aluminum Company of Canada smelter at Kitimat, 50 miles away. The tunnel, 25 feet high and 11 feet wide, dwarfs the workman. The water will come from a great artificial lake made by damming the Nechako River. (CP Photo).

Building of B.C. Aluminum Industry Tale of Two Towns, One Growing, The Other Dying

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—The building of a $550,000,000 aluminum industry in the wild valleys of British Columbia's north coast is a tale of two towns—one growing, the other dying.

Kitimat, where a giant Aluminum Company of Canada smelter is almost ready to produce the white metal, is growing. Now in the throes of a switchover from construction to production, its population by the year-end is estimated between 6,000 and 7,000.

Kemano, 50 miles to the south, is dying. Home of 6,000 men who worked on the hydro development last fall, it will be down to a permanent staff of 60 by this autumn.

DEVELOPING PROJECT

The aluminum industry these men have built will progress in stages. The first stage will see two lines of electric furnaces in operation but company officials hope eventually to quadruple the plant's initial capacity.

The first stage, including power development and the two furnace lines, has already cost $275,000,000, exceeding the original estimate by $115,000,000.

Now aluminum company officials can't even guess how far the project's final cost will soar above the original $350,000,000 estimate. They say the smelter will grow as the market for aluminum grows.

Kitimat is where the aluminum will be made—but Kemano is where Kitimat is made, for without power from Kemano the smelter here is just a collection of six long buildings.

The amount of electricity necessary to smelt a single ton of aluminum from the ore would light and power the average Canadian home for a generation.

A. C. Turney, works manager here, expects power from Kemano soon and the first ingot about the end of July.

"The smelter will employ around 1,000 men in the primary stage during which we plan on a production of 82,000 tons a year.

ON FREE MARKET

"All our aluminum is going on the free market and about 18 per cent a pound," he said. "Our eastern Canada smelters produce just under 300,000 tons annually and Canada absorbs about 75,000 tons."

Building of the smelter and a deep-sea dock started in 1951 when a dredge began to suck 2,500,000 cubic yards of fill from Minette bay. It was dumped on the tide flats opposite an Indian village. Another 2,000,000 cubic yards from the surrounding hills was added to make a bed for the smelter.

So far, there have been two—one of 11,000 tons and the other of 10,000. Each brought a cargo of alumina, refined bauxite, from the Jamaica mines opened last year to supply Kitimat with raw material.

The smelter, which in its first stage covers 300 acres, had to be built on an incline because of the river-fill base. Engineers expect that gradual settling will bring the buildings level.

MANY PROBLEMS

The whole project posed special problems. All equipment and men had to be flown or floated 400 miles from Vancouver. No one construction company on the continent was big enough to undertake the whole project. No firm had the equipment to handle the job and the aluminum company had to buy construction machinery for $23,000,000. It hopes to get 40-50 per cent of this back on the surplus market.

Eight Vancouver companies combined to form Kitimat Constructors to build the smelter. Morrison-Knudsen did the power construction.

He figures the toughest part of the job was building the dock. "We had 75 days to get it done to catch the highest tide of the year," he said, "and we got it done in 58 days to spare."

His work at Kitimat finished now, he may take a look at the St. Lawrence seaway "where I have a few connections."

W. H. (Bill) Sparks, townsite engineer and newly elected reeve of the municipality, envisions manufacturing industries starting up at Kitimat.

"I can't see the Aluminum Company putting in that vast power development at Kemano, then only using half of its potential," said reeve Sparks. "It won't stop there. This development will grow."

PLAN BIG PULP MILL

Already Hi e s t e Development Co., a firm set up by Alcan and the big Powell River Co., has applied for a forest-management licence and plans a $50,000,000 pulp mill.

A liquid-air company has bought land and submitted plans, a sawmill is being built and property is ready for a dairy. There is a Hudson's Bay Co. branch, two banks and a weekly newspaper with 3,000 circulation.

Aluminum Company of Canada has started a house-construction plan which enables a worker to buy a $12,000 home with a $700 down payment. The homes will be in a development planned around a park with underpasses so that children will not have to cross main streets.

The company went into the housing business, said reeve Sparks, to attract married men with families. During the peak of building the company had a complete turnover of the 2,400 men on the payroll every three months. Lonely, single workmen quit the bush and headed back to town.

Now Kitimat has a yacht club, a rifle range and a gun club. There are salmon in the rivers and game in the forests and mountains.

Reeve Sparks figures that Kitimat, with a population now of 3,000, will eventually grow to a city of 40,000 or 50,000.

Class B Refugees Find West Berlin Life Unhappy

By GARY LEVY

BERLIN (Reuters)—There are in West Berlin today 17,000 refugees whose prospects of a normal, happy life are so remote that many of them would prefer to return to Communist-ruled East Germany, from which they fled.

These "class B refugees" are people whose reasons for fleeing from communism are not considered sufficiently compelling to give them the class A grading of recognized political refugees."

The Communist East Berlin press claimed proudly this month that more "deserters from the republic" were returning repentantly, asking for mercy and a free chance to help in "building up socialism" in East Germany.

FARES TOUGH

All refugees from East Germany arriving in West Berlin are "investigated" to test whether it was really imperative for them to flee —that is, whether life, liberty or existence were really at stake. The reason for this test is that neither the West Berlin nor the West German economy feels able to give adequate support to all the would-be refugees.

Those who pass the test are graded class A. Most are flown to West Germany, where they are given priority in housing and employment and have a good chance of finding a new life.

Those who fail to convince the investigators are put into family camps in West Berlin, where they are housed and fed free of charge and get pocket money. They are not entitled to seek or carry out work in competition with West Berliners.

Their only chance of a change, short of returning to East Germany, is the guarantee of a job and accommodation in West Germany, difficult for highly skilled specialists and impossible for unskilled or semi-skilled workers. Thus, most are condemned indefinitely to humiliating idleness and dependency on charity. Some have endured it for three years.

Old Age Problems Being Studied

They will discuss every aspect of old age in modern life—with special emphasis on the right age for retirement.

Prof. Ronald Tunbridge, chairman of the organizing committee of the five-day conference, believes that, unless something is done, old people will become an "impossible burden" to society.

The conference, the third congress of the International Association of Gerontology, will hear 200 papers and reports.

There was immediate speculation that the ships might assist in an Indo-China evacuation.

Manila has about 1,000 air miles from Haiphong, port city of besieged Red Hanoi where Communist Vietminh are closing in on the shrinking French Red river delta defence. Americans already have been alerted for possible movement out of Hanoi.

Woman Angler Thought She Had Shark on Line

BURKS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Game officials at this community about 90 miles south of North Bay, said yesterday the 11-pound yellow pickerel caught by Mrs. Phyllis Davey of St. Thomas at nearby Doe Bay is the largest on record for those waters.

Said Mrs. Davey, who was vacationing with her husband in the area when she landed the big fish:

"For I though I had hooked on to a log and then I wondered if I had a shark on my trolling line."

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's birth rate last year was the highest in the city's history—21.8 per 1,00 population.

Next Ten Days May Decide American League Flag Chances of White Sox

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

PETES HERE TONIGHT

Joe Lowery and his Peterborough Petes will be the guests of the Ramblers at the Exhibition Park tonight and the Petes will open battering with the Oakville Oaks for the fourth place in the Windsor Ontario League standing will be out for Belleville baseball "blood." The Ramblers took a need defeat on the Petes on the occasion of their last visit here a week ago, and are out to repeat.

Coach Goyer, and his crew are hitting the ball at a merry pace these days and if they are as consistent tonight as they have been in their last three outings they should give the Peterborough hurling staff plenty to worry about. They clipped the ball for seven twenty-nine solid clouts in their week-end twin bill in Oakville, some of them for extra bases. Game gets under way at 8.30.

THAT BENEFIT GAME

The Bates senior team is co-operating wholeheartedly with Bryson Reid's Regents in the benefit baseball game being played in Wellington tomorrow night between the Bellevilla club and the Wellington nine.

Manager Jack Carson and Coach Vern Goyer have given their consent to have Johnny Mowat, who is one of the brains behind the Wellington team, and Art Wright, Bates leading hurler, to pe in the mound archer each other. Wright will twirl for the Regents and Mowat for the village squad.

The game is being held to raise funds for a Picton player named Wilkinson, not Wilkins as was first announced, who was seriously injured in a recent game between Wellington and Picton. The Regents and the Bata players are giving their services gratis as is "Red" Carson who will be one of the umpires.

Alderman Reid, his Regents, Mgr. Carson and the Bata senior club officials are showing outstanding sportsmanship in a time of need for an injured player. Wilkinson is said to be suffering with a brain concussion, incurred when he collided with his catcher while attempting to field a foul ball behind the plate.

BACK AGAIN.

Well, look who is back again to settle their last Friday wrestling score. None other than Whipper Billy Watson and his pal Paul Ballargeon, of Quebec, who suffered defeat last week when dubious refereeing methods cost them the main bout. But it will be different this fish-day evening, Mayor Tunney after hearing the righteous complaints of the Whip-Paul duo is sending two referees to officiate, one, the redoubtable "Bunny" Dunlop. He will have an assistant in sh effort to stop the behind-the-back antics of the Mighty Whipper, his new buddy Weeping Willy George Bollas, nee The Zebra. Timmy Geohagen will take on Ski Hi Lee, and Lee Henning will battle with Ray Villmer. You could not ask for a better card than that.

POME.

(Ed. Note:—These Dodger fans die hard—and never give up hope. Here's some verse from another Flatbush supporter ,who refuses to roll over and play "Dead Dog". Yoh never can tell—he may be right.).

THE WOEM WILL TOIN!

Don't hang no crepe on Ebbett's Field,
Don't say, "Them Bums is dead",
We're running now in second place
Just six games in the red.

The season's only half way through,
There's plenty left to play,
Pennants that you have in June
Quite often slip away, (We should know).

Let Giant fans all sing and dance,
And give a mighty cheer,
But you will hear a Dodger tune
At the closing of the year.

The long stretch will soon begin,
Our boys will forge ahead,
From Flatbush you will hear the cry,
"You see, them Bums ain't dead!"

ONCE IN A LIFETIME.

JOHN BLANKS CAMPBELL, the New York Jockey Club handicapper who died the other day, confined his wagering in twenty years as a Jockey Club official to $2 bets. He bet only on vacations and always at tracks outside his jurisdiction. He liked to recall, though, the luckiest betting day he had in his seventy-seven years. He left home one morning with 15 cents and spent two-thirds of it on sweets. He thrust the remaining nickel into a slot machine, hit the jackpot and won $3. He ran that up to $5 in a pool parlor. With his lucky star so blindingly bright, he went to the Fair Grounds track and left at sundown in high delirium with $1,500 in his jeans. "Equivalent of having put 5 cents on a 30,000-to-1 shot," he figured. The winnings drained away and luck never rode John Campbell so hard again the rest of his days, but he used the story as a pay-off conversation-piece right to the end.

Clash With Yanks Seven Times Starting Tonight in New York; Giants, Tribe Maintain Pace

By BEN PELEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The next 10 days can go a long way toward deciding the American League pennant chances of the Chicago White Sox.

During that spell the Sox face the New York Yankees seven times, starting tonight in Yankee Stadium. The Yanks trail first-place Cleveland by half a game. The White Sox are another four lengths back.

It's going to be a long, hard road for Paul Richards' go-go boys from the Windy City but their four-game sweep over the Indians just before the all-star break convinced a lot of fans the Sox still are a big threat.

The Yankees are the big stumbling block. In 12 meetings so far the White Sox have come out on the short end eight times. Against every other team, including Cleveland, Chicago holds a winning edge.

ALSO MEET THREE

Sandwiched in between the home and home series with the Chicago Yankees meet Cleveland in a three-game set in New York over the week-end.

It could turn out that the recently revived Giants will be called the immediate key to the first place scramble. While the White Sox are playing the Yankees, the Indians will be meeting Boston, and when Cleveland switches to New York, Chicago goes to Boston.

The Indians and Yanks both won Monday, Chicago had the day off. Cleveland defeated Washington 4-3, New York whipped Detroit 8-0. Boston won a pair from Baltimore 9-7 and 3-2.

In the National League Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati pitched a 13-hitting, three-hit shutout over the league-leading New York Giants, winning 1-0. Hobie Landrith's home run. Second-place Brooklyn also lost to the Giants, the St. Louis beat Philadelphia 5-1 and Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 6-1. Chicago was idle.

The big thriller was in Cincinnati. Perkowski, a lefthander who had just been voted out of the decisions this year, pitched brilliantly against the Giants. He walked five, struck out six, two of them in the 12th inning, and was in control of nearly every one only in the seventh when Monte Irvin led off with a double and scored on Don Mueller. Irvin, however, was picked off second.

Landrith's homer was his ninth hit of the season but his fifth home run.

Brooklyn put on one of its worst fielding performances of the season, committing five errors in losing to the Cubs for the first time in 10 games. Pitcher Warren Hacker turned slugger in winning his fifth game. He led the Chicago hitters with a triple and two singles.

10 HITS

Peace and quiet reigned at Busch Stadium in St. Louis, scene of Sunday's riot, as the Cardinals whipped the Phils. Rookie Brooks Lawrence scattered 10 hits in winning his fifth game since joining the Red Birds less than a month ago.

In Milwaukee Jim Wilson continued to defy the jinx that's supposed to dog no-hit pitchers as he won his seventh straight 2game. He limited the Pirates to three hits as the Braves pinned the 12th loss on former teammate Max Surkont.

Allie Reynolds, back in action after a hip injury, stopped Detroit on three hits for his 10th in a row after losing his first decision. The Yankee attack included Willie Miranda's second major league home run and Mickey Mantle's 19th homer of the season.

TIRED PITCHERS

Cleveland had to struggle against the Senators in Washington as manager Al Lopez employed three pitchers to check a Washington threat in the ninth. Dale Mitchell's single in the seventh drove in the winning run.

Home runs accounted for both Boston triumphs over Baltimore. In the first game veteran Mickey Owen climaxed a six-run rally in the ninth with a grand-slam drive. In the nightcap the Sox came from behind with five homers. Jackie Jensen hit a pair. Boston moved into fifth place, only half a game out of the first division.

The middle of the National League standings also underwent some jogging. Cincinnati moved up to third and Milwaukee to fourth as the Phillies tumbled from third to fifth.

Bernard Bartzen Is Chief Threat To Lorne Main

By GARY SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Will the United States clay courts championship safely in the corral, Bernard Bartzen, a southpaw Texan, hopes to put his brand on the Canadian men's singles title at the Canadian tennis championships this week.

Bartzen, ranked No. 7 in the United States figures to be the chief threat to Lorne Main's hopes of becoming the first Canadian to win the singles crown since Brendan Macken of Montreal took the honors in 1940.

The 26-year-old sporting goods salesman from San Angelo left Tony Trabert, top amateur in the U.S., counting his change as he blasted Bartzen in four sets to win the U.S. clay courts title Sunday.

Bartzen, whose Chicago triumph established him as tournament favorite, meets Hugh Peacock of Toronto in third-round singles play today.

TOP ENTRY

Not only did Bartzen's clay court triumph make the seeding committee put the Canadian tournament look good in picking him as the top favorite, but Monday's play also followed closely the committee's pre-tournament rankings.

Play in the first two rounds of men's singles saw what was expected with pre-tournament favorites Main of Toronto, Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., Louis Ayala of Chile and Kosei Kamo of Japan coming through with easy wins.

Opening-round matches of men's doubles ran pretty much according to form although the Toronto team of Chet Coleman and John Mitchell needed the extended pair of Henri Rochon of Montreal and Bedard to set the first set before bowing in straight sets 8-6, 6-2.

It was the opening round ladies' singles match, saving their seeded foreign entrant Mary Hudcovich of Binghamton, N. Y., against unseeded Pat Longton of Toronto that produced the upset of the day. Miss Longton stopped her younger, hard-hitting opponent 8-6, 6-4.

Main had little time defeating Bob Duford of Toronto 6-0, 6-2. Main, whose great comeback against Jaroslav Nemeravsky last Saturday clinched the Davis Cup tie for Canada, said he felt his game was sharp.

Other results included:

Women's singles, second round

Men's doubles, first round:

Eddie Stanky, 'Brawl' Players Draw Suspension

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Manager Eddie Stanky of St. Louis Cardinals has been suspended pending a hearing here today on a free-for-all between the Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies Sunday night in a game which was forfeited to the Phils.

Manager Terry Moore of the Phils, who also figured prominently in the brawl, drew no suspension in action taken Monday by Warren Giles, president of the National League.

Also suspended, pending the hearing ordered by Giles, were catcher Sal Yvars and pitcher Ellis Deal of the Cardinals and first baseman Earl Torgeson of the Phils.

Presumably the circumstances leading to the forfeiture of the second game of the doubleheader Sunday, as well as the fight, will be considered at the hearing.

"We asked for the hearing and we're happy to have it," a Cardinal spokesman said.

The Phils won the first game 11-10 in 10 innings. In the second game Stanky was calling in a third pitcher in the fifth inning after police had restored peace, when umpire Babe Pinelli cleared the forfeiture.

He thought Stanky was delaying the game so that darkness would force it to be called before it went five full innings and counted as a complete game. The Cards were trailing 6-1 at the time.

Casualties from the fray were minor. Moore and Stanky each had scratches on the neck. Stanky had a mouse under one eye. Moore's face was smeared with dirt.

Greco Defeats Lauderdale

MONTREAL (CP) — Veteran Johnny Greco of Montreal Monday night won a split decision over Billy Lauderdale of Hialeah, Fla., in a televised, 10-round welterweight bout at Mont St. Louis gym.

The match had been postponed from last Monday when rain rendered the outdoor stade exchange.

Greco weighed 151½ and Lauderdale 149½.

Johnson Wins Two for Leafs; Wings Lose

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Monday normally is an off day, but you can't tell that to Ernie Clifford (Connie) Johnson of the International League's first-place Toronto Maple Leafs, who is continued "the busiest pitcher" day of the week.

Yesterday, a doubleheader from Buffalo Bisons Monday night, the first a completion of a seven-inning suspended game from June 13, 6-4, and the second a 6-3 victory in the regularly-scheduled nine-inning game.

Johnson received credit for both victories. He won the first game against five losses. He pitched only one inning in the first game, striking out two of the three men who faced him. The game was suspended last June in the bottom of the ninth with the score tied 4-4. Rookie Bob Kuzava

Buffalo reliefer Hal Hudson walked the first Leaf to face him in the seventh, but Ed Sauer blasted the first pitch out of the park for a home run.

In the second game Johnson allowed seven hits, struck out 10 and walked only three. Another two-run homer in the after-Mike Garbark connected with two on in the second inning.

The Leafs' double victory moved them to a 31-game lead over the second-place Rochester Red Wings who dropped a 3-1 decision to Syracuse Chiefs.

KOUT OTTAWA

In the other games, Havana Cubans Sugar Kings defeated Ottawa Athletics 10-6 while Montreal Royals and Richmond Virginians split a six game. Montreal took the first game 3-1 and the Virginians pounded out a 9-4 victory in the nightcap.

Jack Mayo's bases-loaded single with two outs in the last half of the ninth inning gave the Chiefs a hard-fought 5-4 victory over right-hander Jim Owens hurled five hit ball.

Richmond pounded Montreal's Joe Black and three relievers for 14 hits in the second game as rookie Wimpy Nardella scattered 12 hits for Richmond.

The pennant scheduled for seven innings, went into the eighth before Bobby Hofman lined his 19th homer of the season.

Tigers Edge Petes 16-14

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers edged the league-leading Peterborough Trailermen 16-14 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game here Monday night.

Top scorer for the Tigers was Tony Palmisano with four goals. Skip Teal added three and Bob Dobbie two. Singles went to Ian McGuire, J. Dobbie, Ron Hamilton Scott, Jack Dorney, Glen Passmore and Tony Capula.

Peterborough scorers were led by Bob Surtis with four goals. Bob Allen, Lew Nichols and Harry Wipper scored two each. Denny Peterson, Jim Adams, Hank Slater and Curly Mason notched one each.

Willie Barboie Lapadula Draw

TORONTO (CP)—Willie Barboie and Johnny Lapadula, both of Toronto, fought to a five-round draw in the 145-pound main event of the weekly open air boxing show here Monday night. Nine bouts were on the card and two ended up in technical knockouts.

Al Boyd of London won a five-round decision over Ted Rose of Toronto in the 150-pund semi-final.

Other results (all three-round bouts) included:

118 pounds—Malcolm McLeod, Toronto, TKO'd Elmer Pelletier, Cobourg at 1:39 in the second round.

Canadian Drivers Made Big Mark On United States Harness Raceways

BY JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Does the American harness racing fan realize the great contribution Canada has made and are continuing to make in the sulky sport?

Some of trotting's greatest trainers and drivers have come down from Canada to carve their names in U.S. record books the late Nat Ray, Ben White, and the Flemings from Calgary, to name a few.

The influence was emphasized last Thursday night when six Canadian reinsmen drove in two of the richest stakes of harness racing.

At Roosevelt raceway on Long Island, Clint Hodgins of Chatsworth, Ont., Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N.S., and Cecil Champion of Winchester, Ont., drove in the $35,000 Roosevelt Trot. Hodgins won it a year ago with Katie Key, and in 1949 with the great Proximity. Two weeks ago Hodgins piloted Dudley Dudley, owned by his brother Grant, to victory in the $25,000 National Pacing Derby at Roosevelt.

OTHER NAMES

Also Thursday night, Pierces Chapman of Oxford, N.S., won the Choice Hanover in the $26,000 American Pacing Derby at Vernon Downs, while Bill Haughton of Toronto landed Malcolm Hanover, and Alex Wyper of Glencoe, Ont., drove Poplar Dell.

Nat Ray, who died last year, was one of the most famous figures. He drove trotters and pacers for more than half a century after coming out of Whitby, Ont., where he raced on the Canadian circuit for years the first Hambletonian Stakes in 1926 with Guy McKinney.

White, now 81, has given up driving, but the native of White-vale, Ont., still trains, and operates Ben White raceway at Orangeville, Ont. Hambletonian Frankie White was called "Mr. Hambletonian" after winning five heats in that race. It almost three-year old trot with Volo Song in 1945. Previously White won the Goshen Classic with the Ambassador, Rosalind and Lee Reynolds.

WON HAMBLETONIAN

And, while on the subject, two Canadian brothers, J. Elgin and C. B. Armstrong of Aylmer, Ont., owned Hellcopter, the 1953 Hambletonian winner—first foreign owned horse to capture the race.

Of the present day drivers, Hodgins and O'Brien have ranked among the first 10 money winners at Yonkers and Roosevelt raceways. Last season O'Brien, who now calls Shatner, Calif., his home, drove $290,000 with $200,379. Hodgins was fifth with $229,725, and in 1952 he had 421 drivers with $184,106.

Others who have made quite a dent in Canada's betting jackets Vic Fleming and sons Bill, Charlie and Jimmy; Bill Harvey of Hamilton, Ont.; Lorne Tolhurst, Tillsonburg, Ont.; W. J. Fraser, Forest, Ont., and Glenn Ridge-way, Ont. Most now have homes in the U.S.

Junior Puck Interlocking Schedule Dumped Into Quebec League Lap

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association junior A council has dumped the question of an interlocking schedule into the lap of the Quebec Junior Hockey League. A financial problem went with it.

The OHA decided Monday that unless the Quebec loop puts a strong schedule and guarantee each Ontario team $750 a game in Quebec, there will be no interlocking schedule. The OHA will give two weeks to decide whether to accept the terms.

At first the Ontario representatives were unanimous in opposing the interlocking games. The vote was 6 to 0 with two Ontario teams—Kitchener-Greenshirts and Peterborough St. Michael's Majors—abstaining.

EXTEND DEADLINE

After a plea from the Quebec delegates, the OHA decided to extend the deadline until OHA-QJHL clubs can play mixed schedules. Most of the Quebec representatives said that discontinuance of the OHA interlocking would be bad for junior hockey in the province.

The OHA also decided on a 64 game schedule for its league, a reduction of 12 games from last year. The season will start Oct. 22 and the Ontario champ will be picked to enter the eastern Canada Memorial Cup final by April 3.

The council also heard a problem concerning its own league. Coach Hap Emms of Barrie Flyers said his team was being forced out of hockey by the Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens organization who won't permit the Flyers to have a professional team for a sponsor.

VETOED SPONSOR

Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League vetoed a Barrie sponsor after the Flyers refused to play Sunday hockey.

As NHL rulings says that no professional team can sponsor a minor league team within a 50-mile radius of Toronto without consent of the Leafs. Emms reiterated his stand on Sunday sport, saying that as long as he was connected with Barrie Jim Wadsworth of Port Colborne 7-5, 0-6 and 6-3.

Pat Greco and Warburton defended their boys' doubles title by defeating Lyndon Wilson and Kristofy 7-5, 6-1 in the final.

RELEASE TWO PITCHERS

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Stratford Red Sox of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League have released pitchers Bob Goldrick and Tex Pacher (Big) Parker, it was announced Monday. Red Sox now have five pitchers on their roster.

Homers Feature Pt. Anne Win Over Bobcats

The Point Anne bludgeons fat-tened their owners' batting averages but plenty at the Oro Point, last night, when the Bobcat's crew pounded out 17 assorted clouts to defeat the Bobcats 16-11. In a six-open pitching Belleville District Baseball League game.

Home runs triples, doubles and a varied collection of singles drew the big crowd to the park as the Point Anne Park as the Cobcats' batters ran wild in the second and third innings, racking up a total of 13 hits for 15 runs in the two frames.

Eight Or Pointers galloped across the plate in the explosive second inning. Lee Goyer and Pat Gilmour hit for the circuit blow Bill Jim Boyd Strachan got aboard all the way around on errors and hits. Sammy Mulholland added to the total with a two-run homer and Jim Lee Dougherd out something of a record when he smashed out a triple in the second time at bat in the inning. Bob Strachan ended the rout with a single.

The Pointers picked up where they left off in the third, Jackie Wardhaugh smashed out a three-run homer, and Pat Gilmour hit his second circuit clout of the evening. Johnny Green, Leo Goyer, Bill Strachan and Pat Marsels singled for six hits and seven runs and thereby hangs the tale.

The Pointers flung four more markers across the platter in the sixth inning off Goyer's double and Greens' one-baser. Walks and errors also contributed.

The Bobcats got away to a flying four-run start in the first two innings off Gord Donovan doubts and singles by Dunsberry and Fitzgerald with a little help from errors helping.

They added a single in the third and Fitz's triple and two walks paved the way for a trio next Jim Wadsworth's ground single was scored in the seventh and the Cats started a two run rally in the ninth that was nipped by the bud.

Pat Marsels went the route, for the Pointers allowing nine hits, walking nine, and whiffing eight. Buck Burnham started for the Bobcats giving up 10 hits in 11 innings. Jim Jennings Thompson relieved him and finished the game.

Leo Goyer led around the horn with a homer, triple, double and two singles for five. Gilmour had two homers and a double; Johnny Green hit two singles as did Billy Strachan and Pat Marsels. Fitzpatrick had a triple and single for the Bobcats with G. Donovan getting a double and single.

The score:

Bobcats	401 300 102—11	9	5
Pt. Anne	087 004 00x—19	17	2

Brundage Expects Russia to Enter Olympic Games

MOSCOW (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said Russia has 'given every indication" it will go to Australia to compete in the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne.

"I'll put the question to them directly before I leave," he said.

Since Russia broke off diplomatic relations with Australia in April there has been some question whether it would participate in the next Olympics.

"Russian success in international sports competition in the last two years has been phenomenal," he said. "The world is curious about it and I am here to try to find out how they are doing it."

Brundage left for Moscow on an extended trip of the Soviet Union. Along with other members of the committee and various international sports federations. They will attend ceremonies marking the "Day of Soviet Athletes" when celebrations were held at Moscow and Leningrad Stadium and in other cities.

New Zealand Manager Action Is Approved

WELLINGTON (Reuters)—H. L. Austad, chairman of the New Zealand Olympic and British Empire Games Association, said Monday his association fully approved the action of A. Kidd, manager of the New Zealand team.

He was commenting on a Vancouver message criticizing Kidd for his general attitude toward allowing members of the team to exercise team freedom to talk to the press and in particular for his action in standing alongside miler Murray Halberg while Canadian newspaper men interviewed the latter.

Austad declared: "It is 11 days until a public holiday, two years ago and carried out with most New Zealand sporting teams in record time. This is purely ridiculous because of unsatisfactory experiences.

"All members of the New Zealand team, by unanimous decision, are undertaking to refrain from any communicate with either radio or press without the manager and approval of the team manager.

"The fact that other countries apparently adopt the same attitude is evidence that they too have found it desirous and necessary."

Dykes Protests Orioles' Game With Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Baltimore Manager Jimmy Dykes announced he was playing the first game of Monday's doubleheader with Boston under protest after a 16-minute clubarb as to whether Red Sox pitcher Sid Hudson had committed a balk.

With the bases loaded in the second inning and Eddie Waitkus at bat, the Orioles' Hudson stepped off the mound balk in his windup and plate umpire Bill Summers called the balk. Manager Lou Boudreau, catcher Sammy White and Hudson rushed to the plate and umpire Hank Soar, stationed back of second, came in, apparently to tell Summers he had called time.

After an exrpect discussion, Summers ruled the balk, the run came in and Boudreau charged him, Soar and Umpire Joe Paparella. Dykes was in on the argument, too. Later the ruling was reversed and Dykes announced he would protest.

Waitkus' single and Ted Williams outfield error subsequently accounted for three Baltimore runs when play was resumed.

Argos Slash Three Imports

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Frank Clair cut three imports Monday as he continued to work Toronto Argonauts into shape for the Big Four football season.

Before the operation, Clair dropped fullbacks Fulmar Armstrong and Jim Pressler and halfback Ted Elsworth, leaving eight with 37 imports.

Armstrong, formerly of Stetson College in Florida, was in the army and out of football last year. Pressler, formerly of Arizona State Teachers College in New Mexico, failed to pass Argos' medical check. Richmond was with Wayne University last season.

Elsworth was released from the squad and sent them to the Beaches. They are Jim Trimarski of Niagara Falls, Ont., Bob Fletcher, a half who played with Hamilton Tigers last year, and swingback Ken Shuman of Toronto.

SPORT IN BRIEF

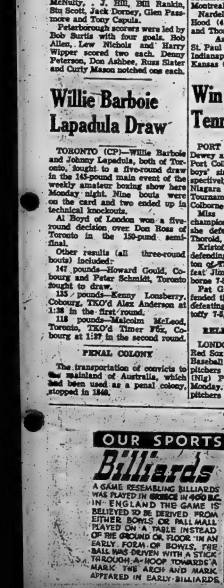
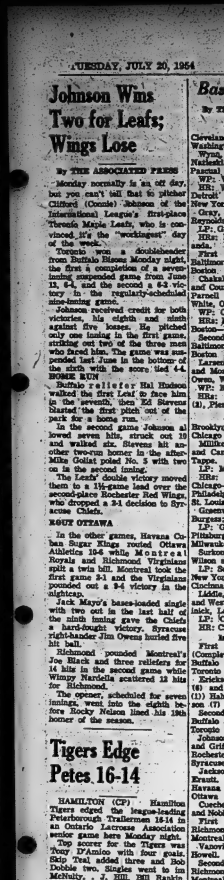
MAJOR LOOP TO OPERATE

HALIFAX (CP) — Secretary-treasurer Chris McAlden of the Maritime Major Hockey League said Monday the league will operate as a major loop again this season.

"The picture for major hockey is brighter than it was this time last year," he said. "Moncton and Charlottetown have already announced they are ready, and a new group is making plans to take over the Halifax franchise. The only team I have not heard from is Glace Bay."



McAlden reports that the league might fold after Halifax Atlantics sold six players and the club backed said the franchise was for sale. Glace Bay Miners also were balking at entering a league containing Charlottetown because of the long travel distances.



McAlden, however, said an unbalanced schedule might be the answer although all teams would play the same number of games.

Little Benny's Note Book

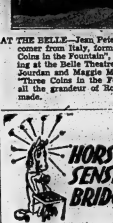
There was a middle size dog on our front steps this afternoon, just sitting there as if he wished he really lived with us, and I patted his head to see what would happen to his tale, and it wagged, and I quick went in and ran up to ma's room, saying, Hey, ma, there's a dog sitting on our front steps.

Just let it alone and it will probably go and sit on its own steps, ma said, and I said, But jimminy roonalem, ma, suppose he hasn't got any of his own? Cl, ma, I mean gosh, he's a swell looking dog. He's so mixed up white and black you cant tell if he's a white dog with black spots or a black dog with white spots, I said.

How much of the black is dert? ma said, and I said, G, none, ma, it's all nature. He looks like he wanted to live here, ma, I said.

Now for land sakes dont get any wild notions into your fantastic head, ma said, and I said, But heck, ma, dogs naturly obey their instincts, and if a dog gets disappointed in his instincts, he wont trust them the next time, and that would be a heck of a thing to happen to a dog.

I know whose dog it must be, it must belong to the hot water heater man down in the basement, ma said, and I said, Aw heck, that's what the truck is doing outside the house.



Yes, and that's what the dog is probably doing on the steps, ma said. The only instinct he is obeying, is the instinct to wait till the hot water man comes out, she said.

Being exactly what he was doing.

The lively flavour refreshes you and the pleasant chewing gives you a happy little lift. Refreshing delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum is good to chew—and good for you. Enjoy it every day!

The Kibitzer

A system of some kind do you use if you play bridge. Even if you deny it. Even if you claim to play by instinct, or as nature intended, or according to the tenets of your creeds.

You bid to show something or to ask something. To determine what to show or ask you must have used some method; system. So, a player who says he uses no system is an unmitigated ignoramus.

There was the rubber bridge deal you see here:

NORTH
♥8 6 4
♦Q 4 3
♣A K 9 8 3

WEST
♠K G 6 5 2
♥K 10 5 3
♣7 6 2

EAST
♠A J 10 7
♥7 9 7
♦J 9 5
♣Q 10 8 4

SOUTH
♥A 2
♦A K 10 9 8 7 2
♣J

The players bid the hands like this:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	2 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♦
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	Pass	Pass

Unless a player bids just to hear himself talk he is using some kind of a system for showing his values. The north two voluntary raises in number told that he had two tricks more than his expected two.

Knowing north has diamond support, south can figure that his own hand should take seven tricks. His way of showing them is some kind of a system; whether or not he admits it is a system he'll using.

Whether he is conscious of it or not, an opening one bidder says his hand can take five tricks. Each raise by him shows another trick. Thus, the two raises for his opener shows his seven tricks.

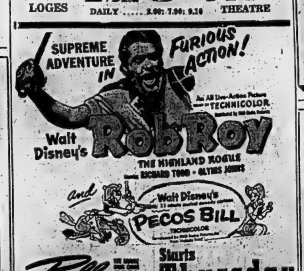
The seven tricks in south with the four in north are a total of 11 tricks in the pair. So, it is not surprising that they should reach a bid of five; a contract that calls for the taking of 11 tricks.

Each indicates his number of tricks by some system. And system it is whether or not each player realizes it as such. Anyway, south knows he's sacrificing five diamonds and made it with a spade lead from west. You should be able to see how.

Refused to Take Oath, Is Sent to Hospital

QUEBEC (CP)—Rene Marcotte, who refused to take an oath in court and was sentenced to a year in jail for it has been committed to St. Michel Archange Hospital for Mental Patients, it was learned Monday.

Marcotte was sentenced March 1 for contempt of court when he refused to take a routine oath to tell the truth in a civil case or give reason for his refusal.



He was to remain in jail until his sentence had expired or he changed his mind. Once expired his sentence could have been renewed if he still refused to obey the court order to take an oath. The process could conceivably have gone on for the rest of his life. There is no appeal from the sentence.

The family of Marcotte asked in May that he be mentally examined and two psychiatrist examined him and ordered him committed to the hospital.

Lone Conservative MLA In B.C. Leads Party

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party May lost its lone representative in the British Columbia legislature when Dr. Larry Giovando quit the party and said he would sit as an independent.

"I am dissociating myself from the Conservative party and will sit as an independent," he said in an interview here.

"I doubt if I will ever run again. I have never liked party politics and believed I could do something for the constituency when elected."

His announcement followed Saturday's meeting at Vernon, B.C., where the provincial executive by a vote of 40 to 24 passed a motion of no confidence in National Party Leader George Drew.

NO FAIR

Dr. Giovando, who represents Nanaimo-The Islands, did not attend the Vernon meeting.

"I am taking no part in the dispute at Vernon," he said. "It seems a silly business for a party that expects to get public support.

"If the Conservatives expect to get support, they must spend more thought on public questions and a little less on internal quarrels."

AT THE ODEON McCARTHY THEATRE

Feminine brinkmanship still looks pretty good to Yvonne De Carlo, currently co-starring with Joel McCrea and Pedro Armendariz in Universal - International's Technicolor "Border River" now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

The sultry heroine of dozens of romantic film epics insists she'll never marry and settle down. But in the next breath she qualifies this matrimonial edict:

"Sure I want to get married, just like any other girl. But the last thing I'll do will be to "settle down," she says. "The man who marries me will have to love a roving life just as much as I do."

Long considered Hollywood's greatest distaff tourist, Miss De Carlo invariably takes off for remote corners of the earth between pictures. Once abroad, she travels the back roads in plat-dzed European cars.

Her "batting around" has led to a couple dozen offers of matrimony each year.

"Most of them are handsome," she admits, "a lot of them have money and I think several were actually in love with me. But they all want me to retire to a little vine-covered villa in Biarritz or a castle in Barcelona. I'm afraid I'm just not the retiring kind. If I ever marry, I'll probably pick a transport airplane pilot. He'd have to have a job like that to keep up with me."

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 21, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You'll need to hold a tight rein on emotions today, and maintain a pleasant, understanding disposition. This will put you in a position to judge things better and to gain more quickly.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A day for sensible caution and alertness. Usual daily duties at home or business can proceed pleasantly, advantageously if you are not too exacting and don't seek the unreasonable.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — With initiative and enthusiasm, plus common sense, you can proceed satisfactorily. Don't be brusque or unreasonable. Kindness pays.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — No day for moods or pet peeves. Each of us must allow our most gracious manner and apply ourselves assiduously to necessary demands. This does not mean to worry or fret; just think!

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your planetary aspects are less inviting than those of others now but nevertheless be on guard and don't lose out through carelessness or over-confidence. Familiar matter, routine tasks more favored than new ventures.

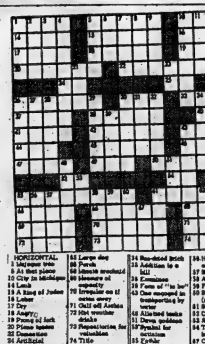
August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Some friendly rays still linger from yesterday's fine Mercury aspect but you are cautioned however, against overdoing, taxing health unnecessarily. All mental work favored.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Much the same as Taurus now. Sidestep sources of contention and adhere to properly arranged plans and schedules. Should be an agreeable day.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You folks usually enjoy challenges and, if at your best, physically and mentally, you will meet today's problems head-on. Keep everything honest, honorable.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Encouraging for personal achievement, sound money interests, business promotion, etc. Some influences stress extra care and patience, however.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Study, plan before taking up serious propositions, undertaking new, partnerships, or expanding. Drift your innate astuteness and capability you can benefit.



January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Be most careful if signing important papers, agreements, and in money transaction. But some good can be accomplished every day; why not today?

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Favored today: confidential matters, dealing in liquids, chemicals and serving the public generally. However, reasonable caution is stressed in order to avoid needless errors, costly mistakes.

YOU BORN TODAY: are meditative, dependable, talented, capable. Those who know you, love you. This is a great tribute and I am sure you appreciate that devotion. Be mindful of your obligations and responsibilities. God and nature have been good to you. Continue to educate yourself and improve your talents. Read, observe, study and you cannot help but gain recognition and admiration for your fine efforts. Birthdate: Saint Philip Neri, founder of the Oratorians.

Polio Cases Relatively Few This Summer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Poliomyelitis has struck relatively lightly across Canada so far this summer.

Except in Quebec and Prince Edward Island, the number of cases is down compared with the total by this date last year. Almost everywhere, too, the death toll has been far less. A Canadian Press survey shows.

New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland have reported no deaths so far this year. British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Prince Edward Island have each reported one death. Quebec has no definite count, but the provincial department of health said there were few, "perhaps a couple." However, 23 have been reported in Alberta since Jan. 1.

British Columbia 25-(83), Alberta 179, including cases overlapping from last year and 1953 cases still being reported, Saskatchewan 6-(40), Manitoba 48 (185), Ontario 97 (150), Quebec 1,000, New Brunswick 3, Nova Scotia 5 (9), Prince Edward Island 9 (no cases by this date last year), Newfoundland 5.

Most serious outbreak in Canada was in Ontario in 1937 when 2,475 cases were reported with 90 deaths. Worst in recent years was last year's total in Alberta, 1,470 cases and 111 deaths. In all Manitoba, 2,338 cases with 86 deaths.

EXPECT FEWER CASES

Authorities are hopeful that 1954 will prove to be a year with little polio.

Ontario figures suggest that a high year for polio is usually followed by a low year. It is thought that persons develop an immunity during a high year.

Saskatchewan officials are "cautiously optimistic" their province will escape an epidemic this year, partly because of a late cold spring. British Columbia health officers report that facilities are greatly improved for handling cases, even if polio should be as bad as last year when, 787 cases and 26 deaths were reported, a record for the west coast province.

Alberta has the earliest epidemic period, usually starting in May. Almost all other provinces report that the month with the greatest number of cases is July.

Ontario Health Minister Phillips announced last Saturday that his department is negotiating for more than 500,000 doses of Salk vaccine, at present undergoing its first big-scale test this year in the United States, for use next year.

It is only useful when it can be used in March in preparation for the August polio season.

ITS COLD OUTSIDE

World champions Marjorie Jackson and Jon Henricks from Australia huddle beneath a blanket at Vancouver after they arrived on a chilly evening for the British Empire Games. WINS CANADIAN OPEN

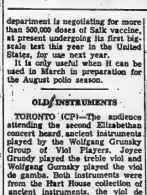
OLD INSTRUMENTS



TORONTO (CP)—The audience attending the second Elizabethan concert heard ancient instruments played by the Wolfgang Grunsky Group of Viol Players. Joyce Grundy played the treble viol and Wolfgang Grunsky played the viol de gamba. Both instruments were from the Hart House collection of ancient instruments, the viol de gamba having been made in 1624.

DIRECT STATUES

HAMILTON (CP) — Statues of Queen Victoria and Sir John A. Macdonald in downtown Gore Park will soon be joined by 10-foot bronze busts of William Lyon Mackenzie King and Sir Robert Borden.

The Parks board received the offer of Thomas Ross, Liberal member of parliament for the riding of Hamilton East, to pay for the double life-size busts.

Victim's Mother Takes Stand At Coffin's Trial

PERCE, Que. (CP)—Testimony of crown witnesses and identification of articles said to have belonged to three slain Pennsylvania bear hunters resume today at the murder trial of prospector Wilbert Coffin.

Monday, the first day of testimony, relatives of the Americans took the witness stand and identified possessions of Richard Lindsay, 17, his father Eugene, 47, and Albert Clear, 30, all of Holidays-burg, Pa.

The bear-torn skeletons of the three hunters were found in dense Gaspe wilderness in July, 1953, a month after they entered the bush. The remains were scattered over a wide area.

The 43-year-old Coffin is charged specifically with the murder of the younger Lindsay.

READY TO ENTER

First to testify Monday was Mrs. Eugene Lindsay, mother of Richard, who said the last word she received from her son and husband, Eugene, was a postcard saying they and Clear were ready to enter the woods.

She recognized hand-writing on the postcard as that of her son. The card was dated July 11, 1953, the day before the hunters plunged into the bush.

Mrs. Lindsay, wearing glasses, a trim grey suit and red hat, faltered only once during an hour's questioning.

She identified a stove and kerosene container as belonging to the party, and a knife, watch, ring, belt, cap and three shirts, as property of Richard. She also recognized pictures of the bears taken from their camera, but could not identify the camera nor a pair of binoculars.

FATHER TESTIFIES

Another witness was Clarence Clear, 47, father of Albert, who testified twice—the second time during a special evening session called by Judge Gerard Lacroix to hasten presentation of preliminary evidence. He identified various articles.

Translation of all questions and testimony for the jury of six English - speaking and six French-speaking members had slowed down the pace of the trial, which started Thursday.

Coffin appeared haggard and frowned as articles were brought into the courtroom. He sat in the prisoner's dock dressed in the same grey tweed jacket, brown trousers, blue shirt and brown tie he wore the day his trial opened.

Back Muscles Cause of Slump Says Doctor

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Why is that a suddenly goes into a slump and starts hitting pop-ups?

It probably means that his lower back muscles, the latissimus dorsi and the lumbar, have tensed up, the National Chiropractic Association was told Monday.

"This causes the bat to be drawn downward unconsciously during the swing," said Dr. A. L. Schultz of Mitchell, S.D., who specializes in the treatment of athletic injuries.

"When the batter is hitting the ball into the dirt," he said, "the upper back muscles are tense and this causes a topping of the ball."

Here is Dr. Schultz' answer to athletes who wonder why they are hot one week and cold the next:

"It all reverts back to tension. Timing, reflexes and the eye cannot be accurate if one muscle group is under greater stress than the others.

"If an athlete continues to be cold for a period of time, the correction lies in the adjustment which will produce relaxation of the affected muscles. This will allow equality of muscular pull and restore the athlete to accuracy."

Employment Down from 1953

OTTAWA (CP)—Industrial employment at May 1 was slightly higher than a month previously, but still lower than a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics said today.

The bureau's index, with 1949 as 100, stood at 108.1 May 1, a half-point higher than on April 1. The index was 113.9 on May 1, 1953.

The increase in employment was largely among men, whose numbers rose by 1 per cent compared with a rise of 1 per cent among women. However, the numbers of men and women in industrial employment May 1 were lower by 4.8 per cent and 3.3 per cent respectively, compared with a year ago.

At the same time, bureau figures showed the average hourly earnings in manufacturing increased to a record 141.9 cents at May 1, from 141 cents at April 1.

WEEKLY PAY FALLS

But due to a decline of 3 hours in the average working week, the weekly wage fell six cents to an average of $57.61 for manufacturing's 815 300 workers.

The work index showed employment was at a lower level than on April 1 in forestry, manufacturing and mining. Employment gains were marked in construction transportation, storage and communications.

Average weekly wage in mining, with 14,000 workers, rose to $86.53 May 1, from $85.64 a month earlier. In food and beverages employment, wages increased by 86 cents to $59.86, for the 73,000 workers in that class.

The wage for construction's 97,000 workers dropped to $64.46 from $65.44, while textiles workers—except clothing—gained 26 cents a week to $48.46.

24-Pound Fish Bagged With Oar

PICTON — Rowing along the shore of Hay Bay on the Bay of Quinte yesterday, Paul Sonderform of Midland Park, N.J., could hardly believe his eyes when he spotted a huge fish running itself in shallow waters. He managed to get close enough to use an oar as a weapon, and with a mighty smash, struck at the fish. His aim was true and the fish lay stunned until he was able to get it into a dip net. When brought to town it tipped the scales at 28 pounds and measured 44 inches in length.

CAMPBELLFORD

Fire Threatens Summer Cottages

CAMPBELLFORD — A grass fire that got out of hand on Friday threatened to do considerable damage before being finally extinguished by Campbellford firemen. It was on property used by the PUC as a pole yard in Seymour township, about two miles north of the town.

The blaze threatened to spread to several nearby cottages, but was extinguished before further damage resulted. The pole yard is located a short distance north of the town power house.

Annual Visitor, Jack Cromling, Lands Big 'Lunge

CAMPBELLFORD — An annual visitor with Percy Boss near Campbellford, Jack H. Cromling of Monongahela, Pa., established a record this season when he caught a 49½ inch, 35½ pound muskie after a battle of more than an hour.

Mr. Cromling has taken many 'lunge from the waters of the Trent and usually only keeps them when they are more than 40 inches long.

Last year he caught a 39 pound 52 inch muskie at the same place, using the same bait — a pikie minnow.

He has had several good sized bass and pickerel in a Campbellford cold storage locker, "but what I really like to catch are the 'lunge," he said.

Pulp Wood Fire Is Extinguished

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford firemen, aided by the employees of the Gair Company of Canada pulp mill here, succeeded in extinguishing a blaze in a huge pile of pulp logs at the plant this week-end.

Employees, using the plant's own fire hose, held the fire in check until the arrival of firemen from town, who played a line of high pressure hose on the blazing pile of pulp for about a half hour.

Several cords of pulp wood logs were damaged, but many of the logs can be salvaged. The fire is believed to have got its start from a spark from a furnace where shavings are burned. Firemen climbed a wooden chute and cat-walk above the pile of burning logs and played water from hoses directly into the heart of the pile.

Alberta P.C.'s Voice Confidence In George Drew

EDMONTON (CP)—Progressive Conservative leaders in Alberta feel the party's national executive has never attempted interference with their provincial association.

A statement of confidence in George Drew, national party leader, was issued here Monday following a week-end meeting in Vernon, B.C. when Deane Finlayson, British Columbia party leader, said Mr. Drew had been "interfering" in provincial organization. The B.C party executive adopted a non-confidence motion in Mr. Drew's leadership.

W. J. C. Kirby of Red Deer, Alberta provincial president, said in a statement that "neither George Drew nor the national Progressive Conservative executive has ever attempted to control or to interfere with the Alberta provincial association."

"At the last annual meeting of the Alberta Association, a resolution was unanimously passed expressing the loyalty of Alberta Progressive Conservatives to Mr. Drew, and that stand remains unaltered."

At Vernon, B.C., Mr. Finlayson charged Mr. Drew had dealt "secretly", with affairs in B.C.

FIGHT DISEASE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia health department has ordered the bird departments of six stores closed in its fight against psittacosis, or parrot fever. Psittacosis is a virus disease resembling pneumonia and is usually transmitted to humans by parakeets or other pet birds. It is considered a serious illness although antibiotics such as aureomycin are effective against it.

COMMUNIST BOAST

HONG KONG (AP)—Two Royal Navy officers who were Communist prisoners for 40 days told newspaper men Sunday they had been shown Communist books which said the Reds would take Hong Kong in 48 hours. However, said Lieut. Lawrence Sloane, 32, "it was not a threat, it was more of a boast."

PACT DIVIDES VIET NAM SOUTH OF HANOI

Viet Nam Officials Are Hoping Mad; U.S. Sees Defeat

Anti-Red Haiphong Folk Glad Evacuation 10 Months Away

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The negotiated end of the war in Indo-China is generally regarded in U.S. circles as a victory for the Communists and a defeat for the Free World.

It halts a direct billion-dollar-a-year attack on money and arms from the United States.

But it also creates an urgent need to shore up non-Communist areas of Southeast Asia which will almost certainly impose new burdens of the U.S. and its allies and absorb some or all of the Indo-China savings.

U.S. government officials have been talking with French leaders for several weeks about getting out of Red areas all usable equipment with which French and native anti-Communist forces have been equipped, and in accordance with that French have given assurances this will be done.

COLLECTIVE DEFENCE PACT

It was learned that in the talks the American side, while expressing appreciation of Intent to form eventually a collective defence for Southeast Asia and warning the Communists not to undertake any new aggression in that area, took action that has been discussed with a number of friendly governments, and reports of which to the fullest has been substantially agreed upon.

The U.S. and Britain, however, are still awaiting the text of the final actual formation. Authorities estimate it will be many months before the projected defence system can be set up. Washington would have preferred collective action by Britain is anxious to hold the cooperation of India to the fullest extent possible, and consequently has been moving cautiously.

U.S. officials studying the Indo-China settlement signed early today said privately that its impact will reach far beyond Southeast Asia and probably will be felt throughout the whole range of relations between the Communist and non-Communist blocs.

POSSIBILITIES SEEN

Here are some of the potential results which they think may develop:

Red China: Authorities here expect that the Communist regime, having succeeded in ending the Indo-China war, will soon recognize the Communist China regime as Britain has done. This is expected to increase pressure for the eventual admission of Red China in the United Nations over U.S. opposition.

European Defence Community: Premier Mendes-France has promised to place the EDC treaty before the French assembly for a vote prior to Communist parties' month. But French opposition to German rearmament under the proposed pact remains strong. Also, it may be considerably boosted by a feeling that the ending of the Indo-China fighting will lessen the danger of Communist assault on Europe.

Russian diplomacy: The Reds are expected to play even more loudly the role of crusaders for peace, and to continue urging a negotiate a settlement at Geneva as evidence of sincerity. This likely will have a big impression in Europe and even more in Asia.

In Washington's view, the Indo-China settlement constitutes a Communist victory for several reasons, one side is that it adds large productive territory, and millions of people to the Communist bloc. Northern Viet Nam produces rice and coal, both of which China bought extensively in former years.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Sunny, relatively cool weather will continue today and Thursday throughout Ontario. No rain is expected either day.

Temperatures in the afternoon will be in the low 70's and a little cooler in the northeast. Light, occasionally gusty winds in southern and central regions today will die down tonight.

By FORREST EDWARDS

HANOI (AP) — Viet Nam officials were reported hopping mad today at the news that the northern half of their country is being handed "over to" the Communists. But many anti-Communist civilians in Hanoi feel they have been relieved because they have 10 months more to work, instead of the maximum two they expected.

There were no demonstrations and no expression of rejoicing or sadness in either Hanoi or Saigon today as the Geneva Indo-China cease-fire agreement partitioning Viet Nam was announced. Officials of the north Viet Nam government refused to talk to reporters. Informed sources said they were preparing hot protests to the French, French Army officials also were silent, pending receipt of official confirmation of the news.

It is believed, however, that in the interim — until the effective cease-fire hour, French Union troops will push no military operations against the Communist Vietminh and will only defend themselves against attack by the Vietminh.

Tuesday 10,000 French and Viet Namese troops carried out mop-up operations in sections 10 miles north-east of Hanoi. Only attacks by small side were reported at other points as the Geneva negotiations drew to a close.

The big surprise here was the agreement that the French have 300 days to get out of the northern capital and Haiphong. No one had anticipated such a long evacuation period.

To business men with businesses they have been unable to sell and stocks only partially whittled down, the news brought smiles if not cheers.

THE AVERAGE DISASTROUS

The average French soldier, having duty in northern Indo-China, groaned or cursed.

SAYS EVENS DISASTROUS

A spokesman for premier Ngo Dinh Diem's government in Saigon termed the agreement to divide Indo-China at the 17th parallel "disastrous for the Vietnamese people."

But Frenchmen appeared relieved that the end of the long struggle is in sight.

"We've had enough," said one Paris businessman. "Either the United States decided to enter the war with her atomic weapons or else there had to be an end."

"You (the American) didn't want to do anything and so there was nothing else to do. After all, you fought only three years in Korea and you are almost ready to blame us for wanting peace after eight."

Will Seek New Jobs for Blind

TORONTO (CP) — Ways of finding additional jobs for blind persons will be sought when the first assembly of the World Council for the Welfare of the Blind ends early next month in Paris, Col. A. Baker of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind said today.

"New horizons for the blind is the theme of the assembly," Col. Baker, president of the council until since its organization in 1950, said in an interview prior to leaving for Europe. "Delegates will be chairman of the meeting Aug. 5 to 13.

Blind Broom Makers at Pittsburgh Strike in Protest As Pay Is Cut

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Twenty men slept fitfully in a brilliantly lighted room Tuesday night—men who "want to work and don't want charity."

The 20 are blind. They are broom makers who have lost their jobs and now are on a sit - down strike.

The men took over the cafeteria of the Pittsburgh branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind Tuesday afternoon. A few hours later, when they showed no sign of leaving, police were called.

Officers made no attempt to evict the men. A detail watched as they tried to sleep. Some of the men were white, having talked of their next step. A few played cards—with a deck marked in Braille.

The broom makers went on strike last March 2, protesting a pay cut. They have no union.

Alligator Is Discovered At Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A 30-inch alligator turned up in Arthur Turnbull's driveway Tuesday night. He disappeared the animal to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

A neighbor recalled that a smaller alligator was lost in the same general area a year ago, but no one could explain how,at could withstand a Buffalo winter.

Will Vietminh Be Content With Big Question

By LARRY ALLEN

SINGAPORE (AP) — Peace is coming to Indo-China by the simple device of splitting Viet Nam in two.

That leaves millions of persons under Red rule, unless they choose to flee, and raises the question of just how long Ho Chi Minh will be content with just northern Indo-China.

Under the cease-fire line drawn near the 17th parallel, about half of Indo-China's 28,000,000 people and the big rice bowl of the Red river delta with its tremendous resources of salt, coal, iron, phosphates and cement will fall under Red control.

The Vietminh also get the "Magnet Line" of Indo-China, the long network of roads, railroads and heavily gunned bunkers atop the mountains around Dien Bien Phu miles southwest of Mongay. The line was finished two years ago to block any Chinese or massive Vietminh attack toward the seaport of Haiphong.

REDS SCORE VICTORY

This is not all. The Vietminh also get what might call the victory. Ever since the war started every French commander has said the Western diplomats and even the Vietminh have agreed—that whoever holds the Red river delta holds all of Indo-China. And the delta goes so goes Southeast Asia.

Under the cease-fire the Vietminh will get the delta. How long Ho Chi Minh might contain himself within the truce lines is anybody's guess without further Communist moves are stopped by a strong Southeast Asia security alliance or similar arrangement.

But Viet Nam leaders do not think Ho Chi Minh will long stay put. Nguyen Huu Tri, until recently acting premier, said flatly once told correspondents in Hanoi: "Even if one provinces in Hanoi: "Even if one provinces in Hanoi: "Even if one provinces

Famous Tug Boat Docks at Belleville

Winner in three of five international tug boat races held on the Detroit River, the "Atomic" speedboat, tugboat on the Great Lakes, is shown tied up at the dock in Belleville harbor. Owned by J. Earl McQueen, former Belleville resident who has made a name for himself as a salvage expert on the Great Lakes, the Atomic this week towed the new ferry "Quinte Loyalist" to its slip at Glenora. The 147 foot vessel, powered by a lot of new pep to clip off 15 miles per hour when travelling without a tow.

Capt. McQueen Revisits Belleville Aboard His Champion Tug 'Atomic'

The only vessel in the British Commonwealth to win an aquatic trophy from the United States in international competition in two decades, docked in Belleville Monday afternoon.

The vessel is the tug "Atomic" of Amherstburg, Ont., and was in charge of owner Earl McQueen, a former resident of Belleville. The "Atomic", flagship of Mc-Queen Marine Ltd.'s fleet of three tugs, won the Englund Trophy last May for the third time in the five-year history of international tug boat racing on the Detroit River.

Last year the "Atomic" sped to victory at 15 miles an hour defeating 13 American tugs and a sister ship, "The Patricia McQueen". More than half a million people watched from the banks of the four mile course.

Capt. McQueen would have won the race the previous year if the selection committee of five, of which he is the only Canadian member, had ruled that a converted naval cutter (US) was not really eligible because it was not strictly a tug.

RIG ATTRACTION

"The Gold Cup races held on the Detroit River a few years ago drew fewer spectators than the tug boats," commented Capt. McQueen.

"The race is really quite a show," he stated. "The Canadian government sends four Canadian destroyers and two Coast Guard cutters last year and the Americans had several Coast Guard vessels in attendance."

"Next year Preston Foster is slated to come up from Hollywood for the race and there will be Canadian government officials from Ottawa."

One of the rewards for winning the race was a two-week trip to Hollywood for Captain and Mrs. McQueen.

"Atomic" is however, a working ship first and foremost.

Her visit to the Bay of Quinte was in line of duty. She picked up the "Quinte Loyalist" new 12-car ferry for the Glenora-Adolphustown run on Highway 33, at the Goodison Bros. shipyards in Sirean, Ontario, on Friday last and towed it to Glenora.

"We arrived at Glenora on Sunday," said Capt. McQueen, "after making 10 miles per hour towing down Lake Ontario. We would have arrived sooner only we were held up in the Welland canal for eight hours."

While at Glenora Capt. McQueen paid a visit to Col. P. E. Willis, an old friend. Col. Willis, accompanied by Brig. J. M. Gemmell of Bedneretville, made the two-hour trip from Northport to Belleville on the "Atomic" on Monday.

Only evidence of glamor on an international towing champion was apparent on her 86 by 31-foot is regulated in feet and fathoms frame when "Atomic" docked in Belleville was a small white pennant flying from the radio mast.

POWERFUL VESSEL

The rest of her was strictly business. The orange and black ship, like most tugs, has a high and low head stern. The high bow is used like a ram to manoeuvre large ships in tight spaces. Towing is done over the low stern. An electrically-operated winch on the stern powers a drum holding 3,000 feet of inch and a half steel cable.

The 250 ton, steel-hulled "Atomic" draws 11 feet of water.

Reason for such deep draft is that in rough weather waves will not hold the propeller clear of "solid" water and cause the tug to lose pulling power. "Atomic's" 800 horsepower diesel engine gives it a pulling power equivalent to 1,000 stationary horsepower according to Capt. McQueen.

"Pulling power and manoeuvrability are the two things that determine a tug's effectiveness," said the captain.

From how many way his tug sailed up the harbor, turned around and sidled over to the Schuster coal dock, the "Atomic" completely justifies McQueen's ideas on manoeuvrability.

"The engine, made by the Enterprise people in San Francisco, is rated at 800 horsepower," said Capt. McQueen, "when it is turning over at 1,200 rpm's. But in the race each year, Enterprise sends a crew of mechanics from Washington to "soup up" the engine. Last year it was putting out 1,165 horsepower and we hit 15 miles per hour.

"About 800 horsepower gives us a maximum speed of 18 miles per hour," said McQueen. After that the squat shape of the hull throws water away from the propeller so that it can't get a deep bite on solid water and increase the boat's speed," he explained.

OWN DESIGNER

"Atomic" is obviously McQueen's own design. He designed it himself. The hull which has steel plates an inch thick on the bow was built at the yards of Russel Brothers in Owen Sound.

Outfitting was done in McQueen's own yard at Amherstburg.

"I bought a corvette after the war," he said, "and used many of the fittings for the skipper's cabin, the owner's cabin and the crew's quarters."

It was also from the corvette that he secured the radar equipment that makes "Atomic" the only radar-equipped tug on the Great Lakes.

"Atomic" also has a sounding machine for determining depth that from 20 to 150. Ship-to-shore radio telephone is part of the equipment.

J. Earl McQueen, owner of the Atomic, and former resident of Belleville, poses on the foredeck of his famed tugboat. The Mc-Queen stopped off in Belleville to renew old acquaintances on the return trip from Glenora to Amherstburg.

Contrary to what might be supposed, "Atomic" is anything but a sooty greasy workhorse. It is neat if not gaudy, and the interior of the steel deck is clean, paint is fresh, and there is absolutely no litter in either the working areas or the quarters of the crew of nine. The galley is spotlessly clean and the big refrigerator is crammed with such delicacies as crushed pineapple, assorted fruit juices and plenty of meat.

AIR CONDITIONED

The engine room, traditionally a hot, stuffy dungeon on most vessels is air conditioned on the "Atomic."

"When we are under way the busiest man on board is the wheelsman," said Capt. McQueen. "He has to keep an eye on the compass. The engineer's post is at the dials and read magazines."

The captain's pride in his flagship is only slightly greater than the admiration of the crew. Pictures of the "Atomic" at work decorate the engine room.

The "Atomic" at work is a year-round operation. During the winter it breaks a channel for coal carriers in the Detroit river ice from Toledo to the Ford plant at River Rouge. The steel hull rides over the ice and the weight of the ship breaks ice sometimes three feet thick.

McQueen Marine Ltd., the company that operates the fleet, includes two dredges, a drill boat, three derricks, several coal barges and three tugs.

J. Earl McQueen, Marine contractor, the other half of Mc-Queen's enterprises, is currently building a fourth tug for McQueen Marine Ltd. The tug, when completed will be somewhat smaller than the "Atomic" and will have a 500 horsepower engine."

Marine contractor McQueen, who repairs his own floating equipment and many of the sailing craft which his fleet ratiost, is also building a 65-foot cabin cruiser, "The Stellie" for Capt. McQueen.

"I was married during World War I in the Shetland Islands", said he, "and 'Shellie' is an affectionate short form for Shetland."

Capt. McQueen was born in Essex County 62 years ago.

"I am about a third Canadian Canadian", he exclaimed. "I guess I am about as Canadian as most Canadians."

During World War I the future captain joined the army.

He rose from private to provisional captain in one year and then transferred to the navy as a sub-lieutenant.

His first year in the navy was spent on patrol in the North Sea and then he was put in charge of a salvage team for the Royal Navy. By the end of World War I he had supervised from the bottom up, the lifting of 23 Allied ships from the English Channel.

After the war he returned to Canada and from 1921 to 1929 lived and worked in Belleville.

"Belleville is the best spot I've ever lived in," said Capt. McQueen after shrugging off various parts of England, Ottawa, Halifax and various west coast Canadian cities.

"The people in Belleville are what I like about it. You can't beat the people here," he said.

Capt. McQueen started his marine business in Amherstburg after leaving Belleville.

During World War II he was a commander in the Royal Canadian Navy and was Director of Harbor Defense for Canada, including both coasts and Newfoundland.

He returned to fresh water sailing after the war and a career in which he was already famous.

SOME RECENT TASKS

Some of his more recent jobs have included the laying of a gas pipe-line across Hamilton Bay last year and the raising of a sunken German freighter from 55 feet of water in the St. Clair River near Sarnia.

Next week his company will begin the task of blasting a 700 foot trench in the rock bottom of the Welland canal for a gas pipeline. The work includes not only drilling and blasting but removal of the rock to guarantee ships a good clearance in the canal.

"The trench are so big now," said Capt. McQueen, "that a good sized steam in the bottom of the canal will take the paint off their bottoms."

International salvage rights in the Great Lakes came in for comment with Capt. McQueen recalling a time, years ago, when he lost a contract to raise a ship in Lake Michigan because an American tug boat captains convinced the U.S. Coast Guard that Lake Michigan was "their" lake and not to be considered an international waterway.

"We have had our tiffs," he said in speaking of rival tug boat captains from the United States. "I see a lot of the Yanks but they are a fine lot of fine, too. Some of them are not too happy about the amount of work I have been taking away from them. And some of them are really peeved at me for winning the races," he chuckled, "but we get along."

Capt. McQueen's future plans include a lot of cruising on the "Shellie" which he designed for a lot of cruising. Included in the "Shellie's" equipment is a deep freeze unit for 1,000 pounds of food and fuel tanks capable of supplying "Shellie's" twin diesels enough fuel to cruise 8,000 miles.

Five double staterooms, in addition to a 24 by 12 foot salon, will make the steel-hulled "Shellie" a yacht fit for a king or a McQueen.

IN MEMORIAM

REMARK — In loving memory of our darling wife, Elizabeth Ann Remark, who passed away three years ago, July 21, 1951.
Many the words of sorrow blow softly
On that quiet and hallowed spot,
Where the one we loved lies sleeping
And will never be forgot.
With sadness we left her resting
With wishful we'll never part,
Though God has her in His keeping
She is always in our hearts.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—A trend downward in western oils developed on the stock market in extremely light forenoon trading today.

Industrials were slightly firmer after Tuesday's slight decline. Senior base metals were mixed with juniors off pennies. Uraniums were weaker and golds steady. First hour volume was 86,000 shares, the lightest since July 2.

Constructions and steel led the industrial advance with Gypsum advancing a fraction to touch a 1954 high. Chemical Research, active in recent trading, drifted off.

Western oils were down across the board with Amurex off 85 cents for the biggest loser and a 1954 low for the issue. Bata Pete also sank to a new low. Other major losers were Can. Central Leduc and Canadian South Pete.

Few uraniums were trading but the stocks were generally weaker. Meta was a bigger loser but changes were mostly fractional. There was little interest in Bathurst and Manitouwadge issues.

CHANGE IN TV CHANNEL TO BE MADE SUNDAY

The reported change from television channel number six to number five emanating from Rochester probably will be made on Sunday if conditions permit, according to Booth Radio and Television officials.

The change was supposed to have been made last Sunday and again Tuesday, but high prevailing winds prevented the erection of antennae. The TV station will also increase its power, it is stated.

POWER INTERRUPTED TO REPLACE SWITCH

Hydro electric power in the area south of Bridge St. from McDonald Ave. to the Moira River was shut off for almost two hours this morning while men of the Public Utilities Commission replaced a switch on the 44,000-kilovolt line east of the Bakelite Plant.

Power went off at 4.30 a.m. as advertised. Service was resumed at 6.20 a.m. The planned shutdown left the Ontario Intelligencer without Canadian Press teletype service and interrupted overnight sports coverage.

HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS IN COLLISION

Damage amounting to an estimated $550 resulted in Tuesday afternoon to two vehicles which collided at the intersection of MacDonald and Victoria Aves.

George H. Cooper, Foxboro, was eastbound on Victoria with Earl R. Bush, driving a Tip Top Cleaner truck, proceeding south on MacDonald when the two vehicles collided. Bush stated he had stopped at the stop sign but failed to see the approaching car due to bushes at the side of the street.

Damage to the Cooper vehicle amounted to about $250 and to the cleaner truck an estimated $600.

BOY CYCLIST HURT AFTER HITTING TREE

Frank Sharpe, 11, of Valleyview Crescent, suffered a cut leg above the knee Tuesday afternoon when he swerved his bicycle toward the curb and struck a guy wire. The lad was taken to hospital by Bush's Ambulance where he was attended by Dr. R. S. Gibson.

The Sharpe lad was riding down the hill on North Front St. when near the Pentecostal Church a truck approached from behind. The driver of the delivery vehicle sounded his horn and the lad swerved to the curb coming into contact with the guy wire. After receiving attention at the hospital he was taken home.

City Council Ignores Public School Bd. Delegation 'Not Democracy'—Chairman

At a special meeting called specifically to deal with roads, sewers, two matters pertaining to schools in the city failed to get before city council Tuesday evening.

A delegation from the public school board headed by Chairman Wellington VanTassel attended the meeting with a view to discussing the construction of a storm sewer at the new Sir Winston Churchill school on MacDonald Avenue, while Alderman Arthur Keegan referred to the urgency of council action with respect to securing the necessary right-of-way for the proposed widening of Wallbridge Rd.

Mayor John Both ruled that the special meeting of council had been called to deal only with certain by-laws and other matters pertaining to the estimates.

George DeVuyst, local restaurant operator, sought to address council on certain public health regulations, while still another resident also wished to speak to council. Council was adjourned, however, with no delegations heard.

"Council could have at least had the courtesy to listen to what we had to say," heatedly declared the public school board chairman following the meeting. "This is certainly not democracy."

Mr. VanTassel said it was extremely urgent that a storm sewer be constructed to serve the new school property and declared that the welfare of city children was at stake.

Public works committee chairman, Alderman Don Forsythe noted following the meeting that construction of the storm sewer in question was scheduled for this year.

He intimated, however, that whether or not the sewer would be finished was another matter.

Alderman Keegan was interested in another matter pertaining to schools. He pointed to the urgency of the widening of Collings street to assure greater safety for school students who will be attending the new Quinte Secondary School.

He said that certain property owners were holding up progress by refusing to sell and asked that council take action regarding appropriation proceedings. He noted the matter had been left to be dealt with at a possible special meeting of council during the summer recess.

Mayor Both ruled the matter could not be properly dealt with at this meeting and a motion for adjournment was carried, although Alderman Bradford suggested that a caucus might be held to confer with members of the public school board.

By-laws dealt with at the meeting included one authorizing the mayor and clerk to sign the contract with the T. J. McFarland Construction Company for street resurfacing and other by-laws dealing with deeds of property.

Struggle With Huge Lunge Almost Too Much for Angler

A forty-minute battle between a 35-pound muskie and an elderly angler resulted in victory for the finny fighter on Monday afternoon.

"I was as tired at one time that I felt like throwing the rod and reel into the water," said George Taylor, 9 Footbridge Arcade, who boated the big beauty after a torrid struggle.

The struggle took place near Fairhaven Bridge at the end of an island where deep water entices the big fish.

The fight leaned dangerously at one time, related Taylor. "I thought it was going to drag me out of the boat. I was so tired I could hardly get in into the boat."

A wide-eyed spectator who was watching his line from between man and muskie, was Jack Gallagher, Grand Rapids, Michigan. It was Mr. Gallagher's first trip on a muskie-seeking expedition and he got nearly as much thrills watching the fight as Taylor did in landing the fish.

Anyway, today, Gallagher's friends in Grand Rapids are looking at his handsome Canadian muskellunge, and probably listening to the dramatic story of how it was landed.

Fire Fighting Equipment Given Demonstration

It was fire fighting equipment testing day for the local fire department today with two pieces of equipment being put through their paces at the government dock.

One of the fire fighting units tested was a combined pumper-aerial ladder and the other a straight pumper.

The two units were being demonstrated by suppliers of fire fighting equipment with tenders in for the sale of a new unit to the city.

Some weeks ago the city council fire committee recommended the purchase of a combined pumper-aerial ladder, the unit to be stationed at the Dundas Street fire hall. Fire committee chairman Alderman Angus Duffy and his committee members along with Fire Chief Gerald Vance and several members of his department were on hand for the demonstrations.

Shrine Club's Gift of Special Chair Makes Life Easier for Child

A pretty blonde blue-eyed child lay on her bed in her home on the Marshall Road.

She twitched in what appeared to be additional spasms of fear, as four men entered the room.

She is Cathy Anderson, four years, eleven-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderson, Marshall Road.

Cathy is one of the victims of the dread cerebro-palsy. She has had the disease since birth.

Three of the men were members of the Belleville Shrine Club. They were president Charles Cawker, secretary Lionel Crawford and Noble Jack Bush. The fourth was this reporter.

The Shrine members were there on another of their many visits to crippled children, and to extend material aid as is the policy of their well-known organization.

Nearby stood a silver-haired lady, the grandmother of Cathy. She is Mrs. H. Lavender, who lives nearby.

Misty-eyed with gratitude, Mrs. Lavender said, "The Shrine Club will never know how much its kind act is appreciated. You will never realize what you have done for this little girl."

Mrs. Lavender's remarks were made after she had seen the beautiful chair, made especially for Cathy, the gift of the Shrine Club in conjunction with its manufacturer Mr. J. E. Finch, owner of the Wincna Woodworking Company. Carrying Place Road. Mr. Pinch generously co-operated with the Shrine Club whereby the cost of the chair was the bare expense at material, and little else.

The chair was constructed to the blue-print design of the Canadian Crippled Children's Association, with special attachments added by Mr. Finch.

It is made of wood and moves on four small casters. It has movable parts so constructed as to suit the physical needs of the patient. It is adjustable to height, and the growth of the boy or girl.

The chair has special safety belt and back rests, a spacious tray-table in fact everything that adds to the comfort of the occupant.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were deeply appreciative of the fine gesture of the Shrine Club and Mr. Finch. "We do not know how to thank you gentlemen," Mr. Anderson said, with a catch in his voice.

Mr. Anderson stated that there are some 35 cases of cerebro-palsy in the city and district. Parents of the little victims have formed an association which meets once a month to discuss matters pertaining to the disease and progress, if any, of their children from treatment.

"We usually have a doctor or a special speaker at the club at the meetings," he said. "Sometimes we are shown films of various causes of and treatments for the disease."

The president of the association is Mr. M. S. Martin, 65 Bay View, Belleville, Mr. Anderson said. One of the aims of the association is the establishment of a clinic, which it is hoped, will materialize next year with a well-known district industry as a sponsor.

Before leaving the Anderson home, Shrine president Mr. Cawker said that the Shrine Club would be pleased to assist the cerebro-palsy organization in its work, and the facilities of the Belleville Shrine Club for meeting purposes.

SHORT CHANGE ARTISTS VICTIMIZE DEALERS

Two Negro short change artists working their racket at service stations were reported in the city early today. One gasoline station attendant stating he had lost $9 in the shuffle.

Police said there the usual procedure of a small purchase made and a large bill tendered in payment. Then the would-be operators would find the correct change and ask for the large bill back.

Reports were that the two men had worked their game in Kingston yesterday or last night and apparently are travelling west.

FIGHTING FIRE WITH FIRE

At the time this editorial was written, the speech of Senator Hiram Fianders of Vermont was raging the U.S. Senate to censure Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin was still in the future. We do not, therefore, know whether the reactions of Senators to his speech indicate that he is likely to win or lose when his censure motion comes to a vote later. But we do know that, whether Senator McCarthy is censured or not, his methods will, in effect, be copied by those who oppose him. For, by a merry twist of fate, Senator Flanders adopted the very type of tactics which he was criticizing.

Senator Flanders likened Senator McCarthy to Hitler. "Hitler exploited the issue of Communism and on it he rose to power," Flanders said in a release of a speech he planned to make to the Senate Tuesday. "When it became convenient, he (Hitler) allied himself with it . . . he set his nation against the Jews . . . he destroyed free labor unions. He set up his private police force and spy system. He worked toward, and ultimately achieved, control of the sole authority behind every business and in society in general. Curiously enough his financial support came from wealthy business men . . ."

"Each of these points finds its parallel, though it must be admitted to a weaker degree, in the career of the junior senator from Wisconsin."

The similarities between Hitler's methods and Mc-Carthy's methods are the cause real and deep concern to Senator Flanders and other foes of McCarthy. But when Senator Flanders admits that "these features" are found in McCarthy's record "in weaker degree" he has failed to prepared to admit further that there is no proof McCarthy is a right-wing totalitarian — only suspicion. And condemning a man on suspicion alone is the very crime of which McCarthy is charged by his foes.

Senator Flanders, in likening McCarthy to Hitler, has adopted McCarthy's tactics. All he needs to do now to complete the picture is answer criticisms of his own methods by asserting that it is necessary to fight fire with fire.

We must regretfully conclude that Senator Flanders is no true foe of McCarthyism—only of McCarthy.

SERVES HER RIGHT

When 1953 pages first started flipping off the calendar, Miss Diggles was a pretty little stenographer, unhonored, unsung and unrewarded. Now she is famous. Almost everybody knows that above and below her 24-inch waistline she bulges a full twelve inches and that her 115 pounds are distributed throughout 65½ inches of height. She left the office one day, after pounding typewriter keys, is forced to parade in mink coats in a midsummer heat wave and is a cinch to end up clad in a bathing suit greeting Santa at Charlottown. She is a model.

All this happened because she caught the eye of a group of Toronto newspapermen, staging their annual Sydney Ball. Some of them made Miss Sydney of 1953 and pushed her into the Miss Toronto contest. Naturally she won. Even an old-hack so blind that he would O.K. a 72-point line reading "Cathy Giggles Tronto Beuty Qeen" never misses missing the article value of that headline. Cathy which distribute 115 pounds over 65½ inches of nineteen-year-old.

Of course congratulations are in order for Miss Diggles and what is better qualified to congratulate than a member of the fraternity which started her on her road to fame and—we sincerely hope—fortune.

TOPSY-TURVY DOWN UNDER

If Thomas F. Simpson has his way, things will soon be topsy-turvy Down Under, in New Zealand. Mr. Simpson would wonderful like to be Prime Minister right, but all ye can see in store, if Mr. Simpson is victorious, is a field day for lawyers.

Mr. Simpson has entered suit before the Supreme Court in New Zealand, seeking to prove that that country has been illegally governed for the last eight years. He maintains that the writs for the 1946 election were issued too late to be legal with the law in force then.

If the Supreme Court should uphold his contention, a number of interesting questions will arise. Presumably, if the government was illegally elected, all its legislation will also be null and void. That will wipe a flock of laws off the statute books. Perhaps no tears will be shed on that score, for most folk will agree that the modern nation has too many laws as it is. But the decisions and contracts made as the result of legislation later tossed into the wastepaper basket? Are all these actions resulting from laws which are now declared themselves null and void? And if so, who is going to pay the pipers, the lawyers who will have to clean up the mess? It would be interesting to watch developments. We are tempted to voice a wish that Mr. Simpson's suit will be thrown out straight to be fair enough away to permit us to escape from any serious consequences of such a victory.

AFRAID OF WAR

U Nu expressed the belief that America and China are "heading towards catastrophic war."

Whether or not he is correct is a debatable point. But in one sense he is immaterial. U Nu believes that the chances of war are on the increase. It is almost certain that his belief is shared by many, if not by a majority, of his countries, which was overrun by the Japanese in the Second Great War, could hardly hope to escape unscathed if a new war engulfed East Asia. Fear of war, and the consequences to themselves, must vitally affect the thinking of Burmese, and of the inhabitants of neighboring countries. Just how this fear will be translated into action — or lack of it — we are hardly qualified to judge. But this is a factor which needs to be carefully weighed in considering the possibilities of any South East Asia Treaty Organization, similar to the Atlantic Pact.

WILL-POWER

Give up smoking? Nothing to it. Good cigar? Not even maybe!
Any one who will can do it, For the neighbor's new-born baby.

Now? Just one way, and I write it;
Fill your pipe bowl, then don't light it.

Will-power must be tough, not brittle.

Cigarettes your habit? Break it.
When you're offered one don't take it.

Few there are can smoke a little.

Give it up? Here's how to do it:
Vow you will and then stick to it.

The Hon. Dr. J. Albert Faulkner, minister of health for Hastings West, in the Ontario Legislature, and Minister of Health for the new Hepburn cabinet, was tendered a banquet at the Bay of Quinte Country Club last evening by the members of the Belleville Medical Association. Forty-five guests were present—including physicians from Peterborough, Kingston, Hastings and Prince Edward Counties. Dr. George H. Stoddart, president of the local medical society, presided. The toast to the Provincial Department of Health was proposed by Dr. W. Morgan and response was made by Dr. W. J. Bell, the Deputy Minister of Health. The toast to the honored guest of the evening, the Hon. Dr. Faulkner, was proposed by Dr. M. S. Brandon and in acknowledgment Dr. Faulkner gave a most interesting address. The toast to the guests was proposed by Dr. J. C. Connell and response was made by Dr. F. Etherington, of the Queen's Medical College, Kingston. An interesting and impromptu address was given by Dr. W. M. Mather, the oldest practitioner in this district.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At the moment, we are suffering from a rash of those mawkish semi-religious popular songs in which the young ladies and gentlemen are given to warbling of the trade invite us to raise our eyes heavenward. It is a bit of a shock to hear a young lady with a voice that is definitely identified in our minds with squelchy if not downright unsavoury surroundings on the indecent, suddenly advising us, in the same tones, to talk to the Almighty, or to walk with a friend who will hear our prayers.

A person with whom I discussed this does not share my revulsion in this matter.

"Picture," he says, "one of the places where you normally find juke boxes: a noisy restaurant full of seen agers, say. On comes one of these sentimental songs with a religious note. If only one or two of those kids is reached, or touched, by a fleeting instant of reflection or thoughtfulness by the song, I am satisfied. I like people who write and compose and sing those songs and what is their normal way of life, and how often does religion enter into it? At the present time, there are a very pretty large areas of the population which organized religion can not reach at all. I welcome any sort of approach, mawkish, sentimental, false-even, as some of these popular religious songs are, that will plant a spark in the mind or heart of any one."

The parson in conclusion pinned my back by enquiring why when I listened to these songs, in the first place. Well, heck, like most people, if I wait to hear a news broadcast. I turn the radio on ahead of time, to remind me, if a piece of TV gossip is not to be missed, you've got to warm the thing up. No matter how crazy you may be, there is no way of escaping a little music in the house. It is like flies. Flies are bound to get in the house.

Colombo Plan Defended

(Financial Post)

"There is not much chance of more taxpayer's millions being handed over to Mr. Colombo which to play Santa on the other side of the world."

Thus the Vancouver News-Herald dismisses the plea for more money from Canada for the Colombo Plan.

Let's keep this straight. Santa Claus has nothing to do with the Colombo plan, through which Canada and other wealthy Commonwealth members contribute to basic development in India, Ceylon and Pakistan. This is not charity. It is as much for Canada as for the contribution of a corporation to a hospital or of a province to a school. We are investing in international well being. We spend billions a year on defence, the kind of defence that enables us to kill people who threaten us. The Colombo plan money is merely another kind of defence spending, this to keep people alive and to live better. We're all in favor of that kind of self-interested spending.

The Miracle of Memory

(By John F. Sandgrove in the Milestone Journal)

In a lifetime of 70 years, at least 15,000,000,000 items of information are received into the brain.

How a substantial amount of this information is collated by the brain and then reproduced in almost instant play-back, scientists concede, is one of the riddles of the universe.

Dr. Ralph Gerard, professor of neurophysiology at the University of Illinois, who has been making calculations on the ability of the human memory, says that the miracle is that more is not forgotten rather than that memories fail. None of the great electronic "memory machines" yet can approach the brain for variety of performance.

Dr. Roland Mackay, professor of neurology at the University of Illinois, who has been experimenting to re-examine memory in the light of new scientific knowledge, says that a sharp distinction must be drawn between "motor memory" and other types.

This is the kind of recollection which enables a person to ride a bicycle after 10 years and ride right off on it. The mind seems to "produce" a "picture" of the act, literally millions of messages etched on it for the nervous system and muscles.

Because of the staggering flood of impressions constantly cascading in on the brain, our minds must select carefully, Dr. Gerard says. His basic clearly show that we remember best the things that interest us most.

While the baseball fan becomes an encyclopedia of baseball scores, the bookkeeper rattles off Wall Street listings and the politician remembers names and addresses of races and names.

Arturo Toscanini and other conductors direct one symphony after another without looking at the score.

Repeated experiences are the next best memory source, says Dr. Gerard, who adds that this is what generally makes living easier. It prepares his lessons daily better than the one who crams the night before the examinations.

According to recent investigations reported by the British Medical Association, "cramming" is not what makes some highly intelligent persons forgetful, like the proverbial absent minded professor. He picks out what he wants to remember and discards the rest.

Dr. Gerard believes that the average person fails to recognize that his memory is not perfect and uses, involving intensity of the original impression, "selective listening" and then recollection. If the details were not noticed at first it is like trying to bring out an underexposed photographic negative later on.

The old parlor game of letting everyone look at a picture for a few seconds and then try later to recall what he saw is, according to the scientists, a good demonstration of the mechanics of memory and why witnesses in court often find it impossible to recall clearly what they observed.

Association of ideas 'still is the best strategy for deliberately trying to remember things. He is now considering a move to Arizona in order to get away from these Michigan winters.

Attacks of wheezing and labored or difficult breathing occur only in spells of hours or days, with intervals of easy breathing, and no wheezing that constitutes true asthma, bronchial asthma, spasmodic asthma.

I suggest to the Michigan rooster, he has a hard hour of coughing every morning, and is others with this complaint, to slide out of bed head first, so to speak, so as to remain for several minutes resting prone, with forearms on floor, lower half of body across bed. This position favors drainage of bronchial passages particularly if there is a ballooned bronchus where fluid collects over night. It makes coughing more effective.

It can do persons with winter cough, bronchitis and true asthma no harm—for that matter it can do nobody any harm—to take a suitable daily bath in.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

It is a great pity that doctors and folks generally ponder over an almost only enough to give it a name, and thereafter devote themselves exclusively to "treating" this and that remedy or treatment which purports to be a cure. Aside from prophylaxis, or the prevention of disease and the correction of wrong ways of living while regsenertion is still possible—this quest for a cure is as vain as was Ponce de Leon's dream of the Fountain of Youth. Poor fellow, he turned up his toes at 61, and if any of you children ever find a cure for asthma or anything else as well, I'll be alive it when I see it.

Michigan rooster says he is troubled with asthma, coughs for an hour every morning, feels tired all the time, has a small section. The hour of coughing wears him out for the day. He is now considering a move to Arizona in order to get away from these Michigan winters.

Wrong Ways To Propose

(By Sharon McIlhas, in the Christian Century)

In this heyday of anthologies someone, sooner or later, will get up an anthology of proposals of marriage, representing all the varied temperatures of man's heart and mind. They will range all the way from the cold and ecstatic to the subzero emotion of the man who led his intended to the fatal altar in the presence of a naked bear now she would like to lie there eventually.

We offer for the low temperature prize the letter in which Mr. Jones proposed to Miss Emily Dickinson, proposed marriage to his sister-in-law's sister.

Let us prepare for a life of rational happiness. I do not either wish or expect to find in marriage May we be happy and useful and each for the moment in lasting. And gain the respect and confidence of all with whom we may be connected.

What a delicious program! We can measure each week our month's progress, we particularly woman's progress, by the fact that hardly any girl in the world can be induced to say "Yes" to such a sensible offer.

Many years ago a young man in Pittsburgh was courting (that was the expression then) a girl who was on Thursday at the end of the carline to the east. For two years he went every night to the Wednesday night. Finally he asked her to marry him.

The young woman was dumbfounded. She explained her refusal thus: "For two years you have been out there every Wednesday night. Never once did you miss the first car back to the city. I can't risk a man who never forgets himself."

Plumber Was Licked

(Maclean's Magazine)

The Medicine Hat woman who saw this happen at her own front door had been trying in vain for days to get a plumber for a minor repair job. Instead, a big man in overalls arrived one morning at 9 a.m. Her cheery beam of welcome faded as she saw that he was a dignified matron slight from the truck and not the plumber he was to work. The stranger's eyes only narrowed when she explained casually that she was not causing and her jaw stuck out pugnaciously. Instead she said she burst out, "I've been trying to get this man to put up a stove for me for days, so this morning I went around to his shop and threatened to sit on it. I intended to stay right with him until he comes to my place and does the job."

And by the look on the plumber's face he knew he was licked.

Amazon Folk Prove Worth

(Windsor Star)

A Canadian missionary book from the isolated, upriver Amazon country has a kind word for the Indians who have always inhabited it. He calls them "good people, honest, always smiling."

This is more than can be said about a large part of the supposedly civilized outer world, and the centuries it sends to international conferences. Perhaps the Indians of Russia's Andrei Vishinsky or Canada's Paul Sauve could profitably leaves the balance all in favor of the Amazonian savages.

The Indians, it is said, are civilized, the missionary said. This does not mean they are "civilized" as he thinks. They've had half an ear to what's going on outside and they don't like it, or so it seems.

Bannisters Of Printed Page

(Manchester Guardian)

There are Bannisters of the printed page. One is a young student at Denver (Colorado), can read 8,000 words per minute. When he started on a "reading improvement course" two months ago his speed was a "normal" 300 per minute: now he tears through a 300-page novel in 25 minutes. Not only that, he claims to enjoy it more. "the faster he reads the more he retains."

Several American colleges and schools, it seems, run this business of eye-coaching. At the Illinois Institute of Technology they have a device called a tachistoscope, which flashes words on a screen and increases your "eyespan." Others use a "reading rate controller" (undescribed) which "eliminates" of regressive movements of the eye. Others make you grasp larger thought units at a time. Whatever the system be enabled Mr. Murch (or even, we imagine, that other record-breaker, Macaulay) to read 4,000 words per minute and some 4,000.

How lovely to think does Mr. Murch really feel? If he likes reading novels his speed must set a power to the attractions of literature. The novelists too may be a trifle flustered. Will certain words of necessary wind and staying power in this new kind of race? If we are to be judged by the words books and periodicals shall we not need devise words increase the tensile strength of typists' fingers? And what about a writing rate controller to eliminate those regressive pauses when the author is not writing at all but merely thinking what to say next? Hammurabi did not know what he was missing when he had his laws chiselled in stone.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE BIG LITTLE ODD MOMENTS

We throw so much of wasted ing a good book time into our lives. And the tragedy of it is that we do it unconsciously and without thought. So the little odd moments are left unused and undisturbed. Casually I set a person if he has read this book or article. The reply is flashed back: "Oh, I don't have the time!" There isn't a person in the world who doesn't have the opportunity to use odd moments to good purpose.

I have a friend who usually carries a small book in his inside pocket. Of course he is a poet, but a better day-by-day associate with a finer spirit. We never get so lonely if we carry a small book about with us to read as the occasion offers.

People who work in the city but live miles out of it have the opportunity to do a great deal of reading to and from work on trains, buses or subway. And what a fine chance there is for meditation. With nature all about us we digest our reading with greater relish in the open than at any other time. There is no companion so satisfying as Backgrounding for the name of Zilhu Zarif who taught himself some forty languages as he worked at the forge and in the time left over to lecture and serve mankind with ideas. Always hated war and that certain kind of activities. It did not see no useful purpose in it.

Reading at the end of the day, with the petty worries and troubles of the day dismissed, is one of the happiest and most profitable of all the odd moments of the day. Then the mind is tired quiet, when a hungry mind needs as much stimulation as a hungry stomach. And there are no distractions. The last half hour of any day can be the best as the one best because of newly acquired knowledge.

These small, paper-back books that are now swelling by the millions of copies they never stop spelling — serve a wonderful purpose, especially the copes of familiar classics, and books that have proved their worth over the years. The open face is soon to the There is no companion so satisfying as

TIME TO CHECK OUT

Ever hear the word before? It is a new type of philosophy which has come in to claim the interest of the entire variety of thinkers. Some existentialists are Christians, but most of them are pagan and nihilist. Philosophy sometimes creates strange bedfellows, but even more strange are the Christians and atheists giving allegiance to the same system.

Humanism is a philosophy which puts man at the center of the universe instead of God. Existentialism is a form of humanism. It is a grotesque type of philosophy which has arisen as a result of 200 years of unprecedented discovery and invention, the rise of such thinkers as Kierkegaard and Nietzsche, and the impact of two world wars. Existentialism affirms the utter insufficiency of rationality. It is anti-intellectual, usually atheistic, sometimes pessimistic. It is the present organization of society, and confident that man can transcend it and become more than he presently is. Some of the existentialists use Christian terminology. The most extreme, violent and atheistic of the existentialists is the French-man, Sartre.

Don't waste too much time on the study of existentialism. Philosophies come and go, and for some the checking out date is overdue.

Council Orders By-Law Prepared After Discussing Petition on Coal Dust Nuisance

TRENTON (Special) — Mayor Ross Burtt and five councillors (councillor Robert Smithrim was not present at the meeting) by a unanimous vote last night directed the town solicitor, H. R. Park, to draw up a by-law concerning the coal dust problem in east Trenton. They made this decision after discussing a petition brought to the meeting by east-side merchant, J. Gould, and signed by 210 persons, firms and corporations in that part of town.

The coal piles on the banks of the river are owned by B. W. Pyewell and Son Ltd., one of the oldest established businesses in town. The petition read: "To His Worship the Mayor and Members of Council of the Town of Trenton. We the following persons, firms and corporations hereby petition the council of the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Trenton to take necessary proceedings, legal or otherwise, as the circumstances to abate a most aggravated nuisance namely, to wit: "Damage to property and personal discomforture to citizens from coal dust drifting from coal piles situated on the docks on the east side of the Trent River in the Town of Trenton."

CITES INCIDENT

Mr. Gould accompanied by A. A. Farrar brought to council's attention an incident he considered pictured the dust problem as it existed. "I could mention names," he stated, "but I won't. A mother put her baby outside in a brand new carriage. Three hours later when she looked at her child she wondered if it was a white baby or a colored baby. The carriage, clothing and baby were covered with coal dust," Mr. Gould called for council's help.

Councillor N. J. McNair commented: "I think the letter is well justified. The Mayor broke in: "It's not it's a long drawn out affair that has been tabled, always omitted or forgotten. There is no reason why there shouldn't be a shed or a chute provided to bring the coal. I heartily agree with the people who signed the petition."

Asked for his opinion councillor Claude Graham remarked—"The number of names on the petition indicates that they want action."

Councillor James MacDonald said "I don't blame the people for complaining." At the same time he endeavored to point out to his colleagues that he had been given to understand that all of the coal on the east docks had been especially ground for the Hinde and Dauche burners. He thought this finer coal produced more dust.

When councillor Weaver was asked for his opinion he commented: "I believe that with the information which has been supplied it is council's duty to act." He noted that 210 people were being annoyed by the dust. "I think we have no alternative but to give these people some help. I believe the nuisance should be eliminated", he insisted.

HAVE A CASE

Councillor McNair added further comment: "They (meaning the petitioners) certainly have a case. I've been in Brockville, when boats unloaded coal and they poured it into sheds with a hole in the roof. The people there have no complaints." He suggested taking action to stop the dust.

Councillor Reg. Armstrong told the mayor and the other councillors that he was in accord with them taking action. "What's the use of painting the town bridge while the dust swirls off that pile," he observed. "Certainly the people on this side (the town office where the council meets is on the east side) are getting the dirty end of it. I think they've got a case."

Seemingly anxious o get on with Seemingly anxious to get on with Burtt suggested that the town solicitor draught a by-law with teeth in it. "If it comes to a vote when it (the by-law) is tabled and the vote happens to be put to you there I stand," Mr. Burtt stated.

Councillor Weaver asked: "Couldn't we incorporate in the by-law some clauses that would give east side residents recourse to law in case the dust conditions occurring like it has for the last 20 years."

Asked for comment Mr. Gould said, "I have no remarks. I am just representing the people who signed the petition."

A. A. Farrar declined from commenting on council's decision, but he could get another 100 names on the petition if it was necessary.

LETTER READ

Senator W. A. Fraser directed a letter to council relating to a visit to Trenton by G. E. Smith, district engineer for the Department of Public Works at Ottawa. The communication read:

"Mr. O. W. Larry, Clerk-Treasurer,

Town of Trenton, Trenton.

Dear Sir:

"I noticed by the press last week that the matter of parking on the government dock was discussed by the Retail Merchants' Association and that a petition and reference was made to a letter you received from the Department of Public Works.

"When Mr. G. E. Smith, district engineer, Department of Public Works was in Trenton I believe on Tuesday, June 22nd, he requested me to call you in reference to the letter you received from Mr. J. M. Vogin, district engineer, Department of Public Works, suggesting that the Mayor Mr. Vogin's letter, asking him under what conditions the Department would permit parking on their government dock. Mr. Smith was sitting across from me at the desk when I spoke to you on the 'phone and asked me to explain to you, as I did, that it was not the intention of the Department to cause anyone inconvenience, but only to have some arrangements made with the Town of Trenton whereby parking on the government dock be regulated in order to protect the facilities for which the dock was built to properly accommodate boats using the harbor.

"Mr. Smith, as mentioned to you, instructed that the Department would be quite willing to give the town any authority required so your local police could regulate the parking on a basis that would be satisfactory to the town as well as the department.

"I gather from the press that Mr. Vogin's letter of June 16th addressed to you as Clerk-Treasurer has not been answered or acknowledged. This to me seems a rather strong procedure and I am only concerned inasmuch as plans for further improvements in our harbor have been recommended by Mr. Smith and approved by Mr. Vogin before going to the Deputy Minister to be included in the estimates. No doubt you informed the Mayor and Council of the conversation I had with you at the request of Mr. Smith, but thought it was just as well under the circumstances to bring it to your attention in the way of this communication."

Yours faithfully,

W. A. Fraser.

TOOK NO ACTION

Mayor Burtt explained that the letter from Mr. Vogin was read to him by the town clerk. Then he polled council and according to the mayor the councillors figured it would be better to let the matter die. He maintained that there was nothing in the letter pertaining to supervised parking. "It just said there would be no parking on the dock until September 15," the mayor said. "As far as I'm concerned if I owned a piece of property and didn't want anybody on it that would be it."

The mayor then recalled a conversation he had with Ex-mayor R. J. Couch at a Hospital Board meeting. Mr. Burtt said Mr. Couch talked about the letter from Mr. Vogin. "I will tell you there will be no prosecution," the mayor reported Mr. Couch as saying.

Mr. Burtt indicated that Mr. Couch was trying to explain that while parking was to be prohibited violators would not be prosecuted and the dock area would remain as a free parking accommodation.

Councillor MacDonald expressed his views on parking at the dock. He was critical of parking in a haphazard fashion. "You can't blame the police force when we haven't asked the police to move them. It seems that nobody wants to take the responsibility," he declared.

Mayor Burtt asked councillor MacDonald if he had ever had any complaints about parking on the dock. The councillor stated a few complaints had been brought to his attention.

"Of all the complaints I've had, and I've had plenty of them this year, I've never had anyone complain about parking on the dock," Mr. Burtt pointed out.

Then the mayor wanted to know something else "with all this agitation going on, and I think it's only agitation, I would like to know where the by-law is that authorized the closing of the driveway to the dock; if they anyone to show me a resolution signed by members of last year's council."

SHOULD SEE OFFICIALS

Councillor Weaver was of the opinion that when government officials came to town they should drop in to see some of the town officials as proper procedure. He asked the town clerk, the town engineer and the mayor if government engineer Smith had called on them while he was in town. All of them replied in the negative. Then other views on the matter. Mr. Weaver recommended, "if it just take Mr. Fraser at his own word. In the newspaper last week he said he was no wheeler-dealer. So let it go at that."

Mr. Weaver claimed that the Retail Merchants had been used to get across the fact that council had not answered Mr. Vogin's letter." The meeting according to the paper didn't have enough executive present to make a quorum," he observed.

The tender submitted by Paul Forten, building contractor, in the amount of $18,573 exclusive of the purchase price of the window frames, for the erection of a municipal building was accepted.

Pt. Anne Downs Madoc 20-9

The Madoc entry in the Belleville and District softball league wound up their league play on rather a sour note last night by dropping a one-sided 20-9 decision to the league-leading Point Anne crew in Madoc.

The win gave Point Anne a 13-2 record with three games left to play while the village nine completed their schedule with eight wins against ten losses.

Point Anne have run their winning streak to ten straight games now, having not suffered a defeat since June 15th when they dropped a 9-3 battle to Northern Electric.

Minor Softball

One bantam game was played in the Belleville Minor Softball Association last night with the Maund's Cleaners climb edging their arch rivals, Tip Top Cleaners, by a 9-7 score.

Reid and Sevilmy formed the winning battery with Reid allowing eight hits while fanning three and walking eight. Pointer and G. Till were the losing battery as Pointer was touched for ten hits. He whiffed three and issued four free passes.

E. Keller led the victors with a homer and two singles while T. Keller had a double and single. G. Till had a double and two singles for Tip Top while Locke doubled and tripled and McMann claimed a brace of singles.

B.C. Dancer Went to London Easy Way

By MURRIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Baba Warden, singer and dancer from Vancouver came to London the easy way.

"The nicest way to travel is to get paid for it," the brown-eyed blonde said of her arrival in the country she's wanted to visit for a long time.

Miss Warden cashed in on being a Canadian. She'd been working in "Pal Joey" on Broadway and was hired for the London production of the American musical because Canadians don't need labor permits here.

She arrived in mid-February in ballet mistress, conducted her first rehearsal the next day and has been singing and dancing too.

PLEASANT REUNION

"A pleasant surprise was a reunion with her smoking dancing partner from Vancouver, Bill Petch in the show with Vaudeville star Calvin von Reinhold. Fourth Canadian in the cast is comedian Lou Jacobi of Toronto.

Miss Warden and Petch dance together in the opening scene of "Pal Joey"—and it "seems like old times."

They have danced many times in cabaret and concert spots in Canada and United States where Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and such as-s 1948 interval with Jimmy Durante at Dallas, Tex. Miss Warden spent five summers with Vancouver's "Theatre Under the Stars" and also has been in coffee work and organizing a dance group for cabaret work. Petch was otherwise busy.

The slim Canadian girl, who spent two years in Sadler's Wells Ballet Company and toured in two Dominion ballet festivals, intends to return to Canada when "Pal Joey" closes in London.

She says:

"The wages are better," she says. But she may have to wait a while because production is still drawing well.

Miss Warden has a run-of-the-play contract that makes her responsible for the dance routines when actors rehearsals a week two with the stage group and one with the understudies when the stage work too.

"It's hard work doing two jobs," she said with a grin, "but it's wonderful experience." Miss Warden hopes to become a musical comedy star herself one day and is taking singing lessons here.

Twice winner of the Canadian ladies' singles crown, petite Melita Ramirez, right, 23, of Mexico is rivalled in both beauty and tennis skill by blonde Karol Fageroe, left, 20, of Miami. Melita, who will her checking dancing partner from Vancouver, Bill Petch in the show with Vaudeville star Calvin von Reinhold. Fourth Canadian in the cast is comedian Lou Jacobi of Toronto.

Too Many Women Neglect Public Life Opportunities

She feels too many of her sex confine all their thoughts and energies to the small worlds in which they find themselves—their homes, their offices or the narrow social circles in which they move.

Rose, as Mrs. Wilkinson is known, has been a member of the Calgary city council since 1935 and a Social member of the Alberta legislature for Calgary since 1944. She was re-elected in 1948 and 1952 heading the poll in Calgary by wide margins both times.

"There are so many opportunities for women today," Mrs. Wilkinson commented. Gadgets and electrical appliances have emancipated women from drudgery in housekeeping. But what are women doing with the time these devices save them?"

CONVENT EDUCATION

Mrs. Wilkinson was born in County Cavan, Ireland, and received a convent education. When she graduated from high school she entered St. George's Hospital, London, England, for nursing training. She graduated at the age of 20 and spent several years doing post-graduate work.

Leaving England she went to West Virginia where she had a brother, Rev. Eugene Owen. There she married Fred Wilkinson, a Saskatchewan man and the couple went to a farm near Regina.

They moved to Oyen, Alta., in 1924 and organized a 10-bed hospital. Mrs. Wilkinson took on the job of matron.

In 1927 they moved to Calgary and Mrs. Wilkinson opened a physiotherapy clinic and lectured at Holy Cross Hospital's school of nursing.

She was busily engaged at the clinic when her first nomination for city council was announced.

"I was at first hesitant to go into public life but when I looked around me and saw the poverty in the midst of plenty, I felt this might be one way I could help."

RAWDON

Mt. Pleasant Aux. Entertains Two Bands

RAWDON—The annual family party of Mount Pleasant Women's Missionary Auxiliary was held at the church hall on Wednesday afternoon with 71 members and children in attendance.

Mrs. Frank Jeffs welcomed the guest speaker, Mrs. A. E. Toombs, and the Mission Band with its leader, Miss Ruth Linn; the Baby Band with its leader, Mrs. James Heard, and the mothers. She read a story, "What God Gave Us," to the children.

Mrs. Will Jeffs presided at the piano and all sang "This Is My Father's World." Mrs. Percy Machulluss gave her report and 16 members answered the roll.

Ina Scott took charge at the piano and Marilyn McConnell announced the Mission Band Hymn and prayer.

Janet Ann Fletcher sang "Father We Thank Thee"; Gail Jeffs contributed a piano solo; Dianne McAdam and Carol Sharpe did a duet.

Allan Wrightman and Kenneth Smith gathered the offering and Mrs. M. Wrightman dedicated it.

GUEST SPEAKER

Miss Ruth Linn introduced Mrs. A. E. Toombs, guest speaker, who has spent 22 years as a missionary in India and now resides on the townline between Rawdon and Seymour township.

She based her devotion to the boys and girls on the Bible, quoting "If you do the right thing God will accept you." She gave a glimpse of Central India where she conducted summer classes near a lake, and gave word pictures of various true incidents during her days as a missionary. Mrs. Toombs told a tale of children in India that folks don't know and the apples especially so girls;" and outlined briefly the work at Indore and explained to the children various ways that they could help with their pennies. She urged them to save a little of their allowance to help along the work of Missions."

Mrs. Burton Sharpe, assistant Band Leader, voiced thanks to the speaker and Mrs. Judy Conroy made the presentation of a corsage of red roses. Rev. W. G. Fletcher pronounced the benediction.

About 20 parcels were sold for 25 cents each and the loose collection divided with each band

HAS KISS FOR J. FOSTER DULLES

Informed that U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had interceded in her behalf and she would be allowed to enter the United States, Rika Diane Greene (above), in Athens, said: If he "were here now I would kiss him". Rika, chosen to represent Greece in the "Miss Universe" pageant at Long Beach, Calif., had been denied a visa because she once illustrated a book for Communist author. The runner-up, Effie Androuliakaki came in her stead. It was expected that both would be allowed to compete. — Central Press Canadian.

The tea tables, which were most appropriately appointed, were presided over by the men of the parish, who also served the refreshments.

Following the tea, an inspection of the rectory was enjoyed.

Quinte W.I. Enjoys Picnic

The Bay of Quinte Women's Institute held its July meeting in the form of a picnic at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hudson on the bay shore, featuring a pot-luck dinner at noon.

In the afternoon they held a short meeting, planning for putting on meals on the last day of Belleville Fair. There were lots of prizes for all, brought by the ladies in answer to the roll-call. The games were hilarious, with races for the children, all added up to a most enjoyable day.

The hostess was congratulated on the success of her efforts, and thanked for the use of her cottage.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHCRAFT

GOOD "LOCATION" WHEN THE HOST CARVES

Dear Mrs. Beechcraft:

My husband likes to carve, is a good carver, but with the small space of the dining room in the house to which we've recently moved, it's a problem when he places the roast or turkey on the table, it certainly crowds his end of the table. My father-in-law and went to dine with friends who have moved into a home with a dining-room very similar to ours, and I was extremely interested to see that the host put the roast on the sideboard (placed just as our sideboard is placed), and standing at the end of the sideboard (where there really is more room) carved the roast, and paced the slices on a platter. He put the serving piece, fork and spoon on the platter, and then started it on its way around the table, each guest serving himself. Then the vegetable —serving dishes were passed around the table. This all seemed to my husband and me a very good idea for us to "copy". When we have guests would it be considered a correct procedure?

— Janet S.

Yes; correct, and very practical too when there is no help—as there often is, more space for carving at the end of the sideboard than there is by the host's place.

WHEN THE BRIDE COMES FROM A "BROKEN HOME"

Dear Mrs. Beechcraft:

I am a widow, and my son is marrying a girl whom I love very much. She comes from a broken home, and she and I are trying to make the best wedding plans under the difficult circumstances. Her mother and father are divorced. Her mother has since married a young man whom Dolores (let's call my son's fiancee) does not like at all, but even so she goes to see her mother every day. Her father lives with his mother, her grandmother, and Dolores lives with them.

1. What should be the seating-arrangements at the reception, keeping in mind that the bride's divorced parents are not too friendly, and that their daughter does not like the mother's new young husband? (Also he, the new husband, will have his parents at the reception too!)

2. I, a widow, have no close relatives except my son, the groom-to-be. Do I sit alone in the pew at the church during the ceremony, or may I have my dearest friends, a married couple, sit with me?

3. I am buying the bride her wedding outfit, as I want her to look her very best. Is it necessary or proper for me also to buy her a wedding present? I'm quite sure there is to be a bridal shower, and if so, I'd like to give her a nice shower present. W.T.

1. I should think that, under these very difficult circumstances, when the girl's parents might find it impossible to cooperate, it would be best to plan to have a bride's table at the only seated-service table. Instead of planning a parents' table, have the rest of the service buffet service. Then there need be no "seating-arrangement" difficulty. As a matter of fact, at today's wedding receptions this is very often the reception plan, even when there are no difficulties to meet.

2. If you prefer not to sit alone, it is entirely proper for you to invite your dearest friends, the married couple, to sit with you in the front pew at the right of the aisle. (You sit in the first pew at the right of the aisle because you, the groom's mother, are the woman guest of honor at the wedding. The bride's mother and her husband sit in the first pew at the left of the aisle. The bride's father and grandmother would sit together in the second or third pew at the left of the aisle.)

3. The bride-to-be would, I am sure, be thrilled to consider your present as a present to your wedding present to her. It isn't necessary, of course, for you to give her another wedding present, but it is "proper" if you wish to.

THE OFTEN tearful transition from Mommy's arms to playpen floor might be easier if you put your baby down with his back to you and with a favorite toy "planted" in front of him. Then you should be able to leave him happily occupied.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

GIRLS ARE GETTING TALLER

Surveys show that the average girl of eighteen is taller than her mother was at that age. She is a vitamin baby, having started early in life to make use of the food elements necessary for growth and well being.

Plenty of reasons are put forth to account for the fact that modern girls are huskies, strong of limb, bright of eye, raring to go. When our great-grandmothers recall their young days they tell you that they had little outdoor life. Croquet was their most vigorous exercise. Few of them could swim, or wanted to. It was the period of the sheltered woman—and sounds pretty dull!

The banishment of the steel-ribbed corset has made women stronger and healthier. Compressing the waist down to eighteen inches restricted free breathing, slowed up circulation and made a man sized meal just about impossible. In some ways this is a better world for a woman that it was then.

Now that girls have emerged from the terrible period of blue jeans with papa's shirt tails hanging outside, now that they have decided to look truly feminine in pretty full-skirted vogue generally smart attire, there is little to criticize. They take care of their complexions often use more restraint with the lipstick than do their mothers.

They shampoo their pretty tresses, find neat and becoming arrangements. The banishment of the long bob has been in their favor. The popular hairdo is fairly short, has a few wave lines, with ends curled under. And it's easy to keep in order.

One common defect still prevails, however. And that is poor posture. In a survey made at a mid-western university some years ago it was discovered, to the dismay of teachers of physical education, that not more than one girl among 100 had perfect posture.

Jellied Veal In July

By Mary Moore

A recipe for Jellied Veal appeared in this column last week. But on the heels of that I made up another batch because the price of veal changed.

As of the middle of July at current veal prices I am giving the amount I paid, the method of making and the yield of finished jellied veal I now have on hand.

You might say quite justifiably that I am belaboring this subject of veal, but I consider it an economical meat operation, with the added attractions of fine flavor and something on hand to slice cold for summer meals.

JELLIED VEAL

Buy two shanks of veal weighing an average of 3 lbs each. Mine cost $2.53, and weighed a shade over 6 lbs. After washing them I put them on to boil with cold water to nearly cover and with 1-3 teaspoon peppep, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 small onion sliced, 1 bay leaf and simmered covered for four hours, turning them over once. I let them cool covered overnight on the cold basement floor. In the morning I transferred meat and bones to a big tray and strained the liquid and measured it. I had 6 cups. To 1 cup of this liquid I added 4 tablespoon plain gelatin and let it soak for five minutes. (See note below on purchasing gelatin in large quantity.) I stirred this soaked gelatin over hot water to dissolve it and then returned this liquid to the remaining five cups.

All of the big chunky lean pieces of veal I put aside. Any rough ends and fat, or cartilage I put through the medium knife of the grinder. I added the ground meat to the liquid with another 1 1-2 teaspoons salt (you may want more salt as taste lies) and remember that salt flavor subsides when a mixture such as this is chilled). Also add 1-3 teaspoon MSG (Accent) and 1 teaspoon paprika, if you have it on hand and add 1 tablespoon green pickle relish. Moisten 3 small loaf tins with water and apportion the pieces of veal into each of them. Then with a cup dip the liquid and ground meat over until pans are brimming full. The largest one I will take with me when six of us drive to Stratford to see "The Taming of the Shrew"—which I will tell you about next week if you like. The other two I hope will serve much more than two meals.

NOTE RE GELATIN

You may know that one-half pound boxes of plain gelatin may now be purchased for 85c. This is considerably less costly than the small boxes of gelatin commonly for sale, and brings gelatin dishes out of the luxury class.

I'm going to serve this meal tonight with homemade mustard pickles, potato salad with every imaginable addition, homemade hot rolls and fresh 2-crust raspberry pie. I had better get working on it too if everything is to be ready for my hungry crowd when they burst in the door.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHY DOES SHE LIKE DATES WITH A TEEN-AGER?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am just 22, and go out quite a bit with a fellow of 17. He seems to be interested in me and is always asking me for dates, but I don't go as often as he asks me because I feel self-conscious about the difference in our ages. This is really my friends' fault, because they keep telling me that he is too young for me, although they admit he looks older than I do.

What do you think about this?

— A.K.

Dear A.K.:

It's no wonder that your friends think it rather strange for you to go out so many dates with a boy five years younger than yourself. I, too, am surprised that, at 22, you seem to prefer the company of a teen-ager to that of young men your own age or older.

I don't think the way this boy looks is half as important as the way he thinks, and the way he acts. Even though he may look older than you, and his interests older than his actual age, or do you find yourself more interested in the activities of his age than those of your own?

I rather suspect that the trouble here is that you don't have men friends in your own age group and don't know how to make them. Is that it? Why not write and tell me just exactly what the problem really is? I could help you much better if you would do this.

SHE'S MAKING NOT ONE, BUT TWO SERIOUS MISTAKES

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My folks disapprove of me going with a boy who drinks.

They don't know it, but I have been going steady with him anyhow because nothing can keep us from each other. I've always had to slip out to be with him.

If we get married, I know my folks would have it annulled and disown me.

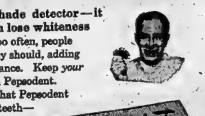
What do you think I should do? I am 18 years old. — F.S.

Dear F.S.:

I, too, disapprove of you going with a boy who drinks. Moreover, I'm sure your parents think so, too, keep on going with him, you are certain to be a very unhappy girl one of these days. As a matter of fact, of course, you are making two serious mistakes right now. One is going with this boy at all, and the other is going with him behind your parents' backs. Altogether you have put yourself right in line for trouble, haven't you?

You asked me what you should do, but I doubt if you will do it when I tell you, because what I think you should do is to tell this boy that unless he completely stops his drinking, you are not going to have anything more to do with him; that you intend to respect your parent's wishes from here on out.

If he is any good at all, and ever will be a proper companion for you, he will cut out his drinking, then go in a manly way to your parents and tell them he has done so and that he intends to be the sort of boy with whom they can trust their daughter. If you are as sensible as you no doubt think you are, you will use the wisdom of this yourself and act on it.



SMILE? She never should!

GUARDING THE SCENE OF DISASTER

U.S. marines, carrying rifles, patrol the debris-strewn site of the Kent Manufacturing Company's plant in Chestertown, Md., which was demolished by a series of explosions. A company official said an explosion in a powder drying oven apparently set off the blasts which killed 11 persons and injured 50. Army demolition teams removed all of the unexploded powder and destroyed it. — Central Press Canadian.

The state agency said factory employment was 200.40 in mid-June, compared to 221,300 a year previously. It said non-factory employment was 232,000 compared to 230,100 in 1953.

Return to Old Jap Ways Aim Of Right Wing Youth Groups

By IAN STEWART

TOKYO (Reuters) — Right-wing youth corps, formed here by combinations of extremists, are causing both press and public to wonder whether true democratic development is possible in this country.

Extreme right-wing sympathizers are coming out into the open. Following the June 3 riot in the legislature the right-wing district thousands of pamphlets demanding a return to the pre-war type of government. They also began fund-raising campaigns and openly established headquarters in central Tokyo.

One of the biggest right-wing groups, according to the news paper Tokuri, is the Gokoyu Dan (fatherland defence league), which organized an "action corps" April 29, Emperor Hirohito's birthday, in a ceremony at the Meiji shrine in Tokyo.

UNIFORMS AND ARMBANDS

The "action corps" has taken over a two-storey building in downtown Tokyo. Its members dress in khaki uniforms and wear blue armbands.

In initiation ceremonies reminiscent of old Japan, the members swear to die "in the cause." Their aim is a return to the old militarist regime and recognition of the emperor as the "Son of Heaven."

Another extremist organization, the Junkoku Seinen Tai (martyr youth corps), is supported by a number of leading industrialists. The entrance to the martyrs' threestorey headquarters, over which flies the flag of the rising sun, is guarded by blue-uniformed youths.

As yet the right-wing groups number their followers in thousands only. But their membership is growing and there is a move afoot among the leading groups for unification.

Flu Sweeps Packed Prison In Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — An influenza epidemic is sweeping Guatemala's central police prison, threatening 2,000 Communist suspects packed there like sardines.

Authorities said scores of the prisoners already have the flu. About 100 others are said to be suffering from dysentery and 30 from malaria. The situation is described as serious.

Sun Oil Cuts Gasoline Price

TORONTO (CP) — Sun Oil Co. Ltd. today announced a cut in the wholesale price of its gasoline to Ontario and Quebec service station operators.

"The price cut was made to meet reductions previously announced by competitors," said Sun Oil, which has only one grade of gasoline, will be, a half cent cheaper to Ontario operators while Quebec garagemen will have a one-cent decrease. The question of whether the saving will be passed on to the motorist is up to service station operators, said the oil company spokesmen.

THREATENED, BUT NOT HURT, CAPTURED GI'S SAY

Seven American soldiers seized by Communist guards on the Czechoslovakian border are shown in Nuremberg, Germany, after their release. They were freed by the Reds 13 days after their capture. Seated, left to right, are: Cpl. John F. Glasson, Oakdale, Calif.; Capt. Jack M. Davis, Raytown, Mo.; Pfc. Ross F. McGinnis, Greensburg, Pa. Standing, left to right, are: Pfc. Richard Jumper, Boonville, Md.; Pfc. Leonard D. Tennis, Alliance, Ohio; Pfc. George Switzer, Millburn, Neb.; Pfc. Jerry W. Griffith, Springfield, Ohio. The soldiers said they had been pressed to confess they were spies and though they were threatened, they were not abused physically. — Central Press Canadian.

DISTRESS MAKES THEM COMRADES

Origins of Indo-China War Go Back to Jap Occupation

By REUTERS

The eight-year Indo-China war, which cost tens of thousands of lives and made millions homeless, began as a small, unimpressive skirmish between the French and Vietminh at the strategic port of Haiphong in December, 1946.

But its origins go back to the Japanese occupation in the Second World War.

In 1940, France, defeated in Europe, was forced to conclude an humiliating agreement with Japan which allowed the Japanese to use northern Indo-China (Tonkin) as a base in their war against the Chinese.

Gradually the Japanese controlled all Indo-China and March 9, 1945, they overthrew the French administration and named Emperor Bao Dai head of the puppet state.

During the Second World War an anti-Japanese resistance movement came into being. It was largely composed of the Vietminh—League for the Independence of Viet Nam — with some fighting French leaders and a handful of British and American liaison officers.

This motley force was supplied with U.S. equipment by Gen. Claire Chennault's China-based U.S. Air Force planes.

SET UP GOVERNMENT

On Aug. 9, 1945, shortly before Japan's surrender, the Vietminh called for an insurrection and soon captured Hanoi.

They set-up complete control in Tonkin and set up their own government with Moscow-trained Ho Chi-minh, a professional revolutionary, as president of Viet Nam.

Emperor Bao Dai was ousted and Ho took over a republic which included the Tonkin and Annamese areas in the north and Cochin-China in the south.

Ho had plenty of training for his new job. Most of it under Russian or Chinese Communist supervision. Born Nguyen Ai-quoc in North Annam in 1892, he left the country at 18 as a kitchen hand on a French liner.

Within a few years he was in charge of the colonial section of the French Communist youth organization and in 1923 was selected for "training" in Moscow by the Communist Youth International.

After two years he was sent to Canton to recruit the first Communist cadres among the Viet Namese exiles there.

SENTENCED TO DEATH

By 1930 he had founded an Indo-China Communist party and was sentenced to death in his absence for organizing a march of starving peasants on the town of Vinh in North Annam.

Later he was arrested in Hong Kong and jailed for 18 months for violating British laws there.

Shortly after his return to Viet Nam he changed his name to Ho Chi-minh—"he who enlightens".

Under the Potsdam agreement, British troops landed in southern Indo-China in September, 1945, while Chinese forces of General Chiang Kai-shek marched into the southern part of the country to disarm the Japanese and release interned French officials and troops.

Britain reoccupied Cochin-China and immediately clashed with Ho's forces. The arrival of French troops in Saigon added to the tension, but in Tonkin the Vietminh came to an understanding with the Chinese Nationalists.

The French government, with only 3,000 troops in the territory, was forced to compromise.

In a convention signed with Ho in March, 1946, France recognized the "Viet Namese republic" as an autonomous state within the French Union and the Indo-China federation.

HO'S DEMANDS FAIL

In return, Ho agreed that French troops remain in Indo-China and replace Chiang's units in the north, and allowed the French into Hanoi.

Three months later Ho arrived in France to negotiate details of the convention. But Ho's demands for total independence were rejected and he returned to Indo-China in August after signing an uneasy compromise based on the maintenance of the "status quo."

Meanwhile, the character of Vietminh rule in the Tonkin delta had revealed itself unmistakably. Single-list elections were held on the Communist pattern and Ho claimed 98 per cent of the votes.

A Vietminh army was recruited and trained under Gen. Nguyen Giap, a bitterly anti-French former history teacher and an anti-Japanese guerrilla leader.

Then, in December, 1946, two factors made war inevitable.

Admiral Thierry d'Argelieu became France's resident-general in Indo-China and established a separate non-Communist government in Cochin-China, a move promptly attacked by Ho as a violation of the March agreement.

French troops decided to blockade the port of Haiphong, the Vietminh's main supply port. French and Vietminh troops clashed in the port, and the French navy shelled it.

FRENCH MASSACRED

A few days later, Dec. 17, the Vietminh retaliated with a surprise raid on Hanoi and massacred French troops and civilians.

The French replied with a massive counter-attack and Ho took to the hills with his army. The war was on, and Ho declared that it "will be long and difficult."

By February, 1947, the French had pushed Ho's forces from the Hanoi area. The Vietminh, equipped only with captured Japanese equipment, were driven 200 miles back to the Chinese frontier by October. But the French failed to bring Ho's main force to battle.

For three years the fighting was mainly guerrilla warfare.

In March, 1948, the French asked Bao Dai to become chief of state and offered his government "independence within the framework of the French Union" in a bid to win popular support.

But still they could not bring Ho to battle.

In December, 1949, the completion of the war changed. Mao Tse-tung, triumphant Chinese Communist leader, overthrew the Chinese Nationalists and reached the Indo-China border. Three thousand tons of supplies a month were ferried over the border to Ho's men, who grew bolder in their sallies against French posts.

In October, 1950, the rebels wiped out a line of French forts along the Chinese border and the remnants of the French forces were in retreat towards Hanoi.

France rallied by sending Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny to Indo-China.

STATIC WAR

De Tassigny halted the Vietminh offensive 25 miles from Hanoi in January, 1951. He defeated the Vietminh in pitched battles at Vinhyen, Dongtrieu and Laichau in the Tonkin area and ringed the vital Tonkin "ricebowl" with a chain of concrete pill-boxes.

He also laid the foundations of a Viet Namese national army to help French troops. He died from cancer in January, 1952.

From then on the war remained static until last year, shortly after the French government sent Gen. Henri Navarre, whose "Navarre plan" aimed to break the military strength of the Vietminh once and for all by forcing Gen. Giap into a major battle instead of his customary "hit and run" tactics.

But soon after the beginning of the campaigning season last October Giap forestalled him by infiltrating into Laos and Cambodia, the two smaller Indo-China states until then largely free of Vietminh activity.

In February, the Vietminh "Iron Division" of 12,000 men suddenly appeared outside Luangprabang, the royal capital of Laos.

DIEN BIEN PHU ATTACKED

They probed the defences, fought sporadic actions, then suddenly swung north and March 13 hurled their first "human sea" assault on the northern Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Navarre has a bold move to force the Vietminh to attack in open country, had built up this isolated fortress and filled it with 12,000 of his best troops.

For eight weeks the French commander, Gen. Christian de Castries, and his men threw back wave after wave of Vietminh.

Reinforced and supplied from the air the fortress's 12,000 men and one woman nurse Geneviève de Galard-Terraube—held out until May 7 when suicidal waves of rebels under Giap overran their positions.

French losses were estimated at 4,000 dead or wounded and 8,000 prisoners. The Vietminh were believed to have suffered 18,000 casualties, including 8,000 dead.

The day after the fall of Dien Bien Phu, the Indo-China peace conference opened in Geneva.

Natty Blazers For Councillors Draw Criticism

NORTH BAY (CP)—Clothes may make the man but they don't improve a council, in the opinion of William Stones, a former mayor of North Bay.

Purchase of natty blazers for city council members stirred his criticism.

"I can't see how purchase of blazers will improve legislating at city hall," said Mr. Stones.

Mayor Warnberg and council outfitted themselves in blazers bearing the city coat of arms.

Mayor Merle Dickerson came to the defence of the blazers. He said they formed each member of council into an ambassador of good will at conventions.

The blazers were purchased on aldermanic expense accounts, the mayor said. Each alderman is allowed $100 per year for out-of-pocket expenses on city business. The mayor added that whether Mr. Stones was on council, he also received the $100.

MENNONITES RETURN TO CANADA AFTER 32 YEARS IN MEXICO

Some of the 44 members of the Mennonite families who trekked to Canada from Mexico view their new homeland from the back of a truck which transported them through to U.S. to Port Rowan, Ont. They are part of a colony of Mennonites who migrated from Manitoba and Saskatchewan, to Mexico in 1922 to escape the provincial laws which would force them to send their children to English-speaking schools. — Central Press Canadian.

Children of the Mennonite families who returned to Canada from Mexico are hard at work in fields around Port Rowan to help establish the families in homes of their own. Those who made the trek say that drought and poor soil in Mexico made their attempts at farming there hopeless, and though some of the Mennonites had become prosperous, most would like to return to Canada.—Central Press Canadian.

FRENCH HAVE

Communist leader Ho Chi Minh will take over the destinies of the residents north of the line. The 19,000,000 Viet Namese south of the partition will live under the pro-Western regime of chief of state Bao Dai.

All-Viet Nam elections, not earlier than one year from today and not later than two years, are supposed to reunite the divided country. But Western officials have generally conceded that the "temporary" partition line probably will become a political and ideological frontier like those which split Germany and Korea.

Officials said the texts of the agreements will not be published for several days, but their contents already are generally known.

HAVE YEAR TO DECIDE

Civilians on either side of the partition line will have one year to move to the other side if they desire.

The French have the next 300 days to move out of the big northern cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. Until that day next May they will hold a conclave in the Red river delta around those two major centres.

Cambodia and Laos will remain under their French-supported royal governments. Vietminh troops which have invaded their territory, an estimated 10,000 in Laos, fewer in Cambodia, will withdraw in 6 days.

For military security reasons, the date for the end of hostilities was not announced. One Viet Nam official said, however, that cease-fire orders should become effective in a week for the regular forces on both sides. Guerrilla fighters in the jungles and mountains would be given a longer period.

The partition line across Viet Nam runs along the Song Ben Hai river. It leaves highway No. 9, a principal road leading from the coast across the country to Laos, in the hands of southern Viet Nam. The south also retains the major port of Tourane and ex-emperor Bao Dai's royal capital, Hue, both in central Viet Nam.

CAMBODIANS REBEL

Cambodia did not join in the early-morning armistice ceremony because of a last-minute burst of independence on the part of her delegation. Tep Phan, Cambodian foreign minister, demanded until nearly 2 a.m. that his courts be permitted to try Communist sympathizers for working with the Vietminh invaders.

He agreed to drop the demand after the issue was ironed out in a long session with Mendes-and Foreign Secretary Eden.

The armistices for Viet Nam and Laos cover the area where most of the Indo-China battling took place. There was little fighting in Cambodia.

During the 300 more days the French hold Hanoi and Haiphong, the Viet Minh will hold five pockets south of the partition line. Then they must pull out for the north.

Neither side may bring in troops or military bases can be set up on either side of the line.

SEATO BASES AFFECTED

This prohibition applies particularly to any bases for the South-east Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), which the United States and Britain are proposing to check any future Communist aggression in this area. However, the organization, once formed, is expected to bring southern Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos under its protective wing.

The U.S. government had decided not to join in the general declaration which the other conference delegations were to issue later today taking note of the agreement terms. Instead, the U.S. planned a separate declaration, noting the terms with which it agreed but ignoring officially those of which it disapproved.

The Viet Namese government shared the U.S. attitude. One Viet Namese official called newspaper correspondents as the signing was about to begin and emphasized that no official of the Viet Nam government was taking part in or even observing the ceremony.

U.K. Farm Minister Quits Taking Blame for Failure To Return Land to Owners

LONDON, (Reuters) — Agriculture Minister Sir Thomas Dugdale announced his resignation to a surprised House of Commons yesterday after manfully admitting responsibility for the failure of his ministry to return requisitioned land to its private owners.

The embarrassed resignation on his 57th birthday spelled the end of his political career and climaxed a long battle between government bureaucrats and private citizens.

Dugdale said Sir Winston Churchill underscored that his intention of hogging farm land suitable for private ownership.

Churchill may make advantage of the resignation to shake up his cabinet which he has served with only minor changes since Sir Winston took office in October, 1951. Among those who might return to private life are Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton, Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton and Defense Minister Earl Alexander.

Parliamentarians expect Dugdale's friend and colleague Minister Gwilym Lloyd George, whose post has lost its importance with the end of food rationing this month.

KEPT RICH TRACT

Dugdale got into trouble with the public undercurrent and cabinet members themselves over the Crichel Down affair. Crichel Down, 725 acres of rich farm land in Dorset, to its original owners and leased to the Air Ministry, requisitioned the land in 1937 for use as a bombing range.

After the Second World War, the air force turned the land over to the agriculture ministry. A group of ministry officials decided it should be leased to private farm, involving an expense of £30,000 in public funds to equip it.

The original owner, and his daughter tried to regain the land and tenants who once farmed it wanted to rent it again, but the civil servants involved resisted their applications.

A petition from many landowners in the Crichel Down district forced a government investigation this year. The inquiry said agriculture ministry officials had misinformed Dugdale and showed a "passionate love of secrecy" and red tape.

IS RESPONSIBLE

Dugdale told the Commons that he was fully responsible for his officials' "regrettable" action.

Any departure from the long-established rule that a minister is responsible for his civil servants would bring the service "right into the political arena."

Dugdale disclosed that a committee set up by Churchill to examine the situation in his ministry had declared in a report:

"It is the more necessary that the civil servant should by constantly in mind that the citizen has the right to expect . . . that his rights will be faithfully and be sympathetically and fairly considered.

"We think that the admitted shortcomings in this respect are the main cause of such low-or public confidence as has resulted from the present case."

Amid cheers, Dugdale said it is "no part of this governm-ent's philosophy that the state should continue to own any agricultural land suitable for sale."

Former Senator Dies Suddenly

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Blair Moody, former United States senator and prominent Michigan newspaper man, died unexpectedly Tuesday of a virus pneumonia. He was 52.

Moody, appointed to the Senate in 1951 following the death of Republican Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, was in the midst of a campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination next month.

His death leaves Patrick V. McNamara, former Detroit councilman, unopposed for the nomination in the September primary. Moody and McNamara were campaigning for the right to oppose Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.) in November.

Moody had been Washington correspondent for the Detroit News for 16 years before his appointment to the senate. He was defeated in his bid for election in 1952 by congressman Charles E. Potter, a Republican.

Following his election defeat, Moody emerged as president and board chairman of a group which purchased the Michigan Rotary Press in Detroit and began to publish several weekly newspapers.

Danish Vessel Quells Blaze

GREAT YARMOUTH, England (AP)—The 1,866-ton Danish ship Kronprinsesse Ingrid carrying 301 passengers and a crew of 90 caught fire Tuesday night off this port. Less than two hours later the ship radioed the fire was out.

When the ship first radioed, several travelers altered course and rushed to her aid. Later the Kronprinsesse Ingrid sent still messages:

"Fire out, assistance no longer required."

Expect Pick-Up In Steel Orders

NEW YORK (AP)—A pick-up in steel orders in the United States is expected within the next 30 days, largely for September production, Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, says today.

Steel makers expect September to spearhead a strong fall upturn. However, remains sluggish, and scant improvement is expected for August.

Factors that make the steel market seem ripe for an upturn include:

1. U.S. business in general has recovered from the adjustment period and now seems headed for gradual improvement.

2. Inventory correction has just about run its course.

3. Steel-buying factors make it natural to expect a fall upturn.

Operations this week are scheduled at 66 per cent of rated capacity, a gain of 1½ points over last week's revised rate.

Hailstorm Hits Newmarket Area

NEWMARKET (CP) — A windriven hailstorm Tuesday hit a two - square - mile area bordering nearby, flattening crops, uprooting small trees and demolishing two wooden silos. The hail, walnut size, lasted about 15 minutes. Power minutes. Hydro service was reported from Newmarket, Aurora and Lake Simcoe communities, but no hail.

Briton's Shiver, Yanks Sweat It Is Craziest Summer Yet

By JACK SMITH

LONDON (AP) — Britons are sleeping under blankets this summer. Here it shut up-ed by.

While North America roasts, pretty young things in England are wearing autumn coats. Many a manly chest is encased in a woollen sweater. Landladies of stately guest houses are going broke for want of business.

Seen in a suburban street outside London on a day the thermometers hit 111 in Kansas: An eight-year-old girl out for a stroll, bundled up in a woollen scarf and mittens.

The English are pale-faced this July. You can pick out the American travellers in Piccadilly Circus by the color of their skins.

It's been like this most of the season. Cold, cloudy and rainy. The number of clear, warm days could be counted on the fingers of one hand. Daytime temperatures have been mostly in the low 60s. Once the thermometer slumped to 46. Here it shot up-ed to 75. But that was just a teaser. At night the readings have been in the low 40s.

'BRIGHT INTERVALS'

There have been some "bright intervals," as English weathermen call them. A bright interval is when the pale sun breaks through, even for a minute or two.

The hay harvest in west Wales is only half-completed. In dozens of Welsh churches, pastors and congregations have prayed for sunshine and warm weather.

Rylstone W.I. Sponsors Weekly Summer Concerts

CAMPBELLFORD — The first of a series of weekly summer concerts by the Rylstone Women's Institute was held today and will continue during July and August.

They are to be held at Crow River Bridge, a favorite playground, picnic and swimming spot, about seven miles northeast of Campbellford.

Sacred music, band music, community singing, solos and duets will be featured. Campbellford Citizens' Band played at the gathering today, as well as the Sentinel Pipe band, with solos on the bagpipes by Carol Linn. Gerald offered many enjoyable accordion solos.

Mrs. Donald Kerr, Mrs. Ernest Irwin and Mrs. Ellis Jones arranged most of the programs for the concerts, which will likely be very much enjoyed through the remainder of the summer.

Girl Named Smith Hostess to Peers

LONDON (AP)—A girl named Smith played hostess to 400 peers and notables of state and Screen Monday night at a £10,000 coming out party. Pink champagne flowed like tap water.

The girl was Barbara Smith, a pretty 19-year-old from Sydney, Australia. The lady was picked up by her father, Stanley Smith, who is a big wheel in the iron ore industry in Malaya.

The site of the party was the hall theirs on Lindrey. It had been transformed for one night into a Edwardian ballroom with two dance bands on duty.

Crowds attracted by the big names of the guest list—Marlene Dietrich, the Marquess of Milford Haven, Douglas Fairbanks, Lord Dunmarnock and Ike Hatch of Santo Domingo, to name a few—caused a traffic jam stretching blocks.

Eight chefs cooked an intimate dinner for Miss Smith and 75 of her friends before the main festivities got under way. It was served by 30 waiters.

The pink champagne was served, 1 it bottles, not in magnums, Jeroboams, bottles about the size of a gallon jug.

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. The new method applies, for the first time, a well-known medical principle of pain relief to a product now readily available to Canadians for home use. The discovery literally calls upon the blood stream to bathe away pains of rheumatism, arthritis, sore muscles and joints of most kinds.

Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB," this new cream is odorless and greaseless. InfraRUB has the unusual ability to penetrate the "skin barrier"—go to work to relieve pain deep down in sore muscles and joints. The bloodstream carries the soothing medication right to the seat of trouble where it actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure. Users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatics and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Another feature of this new product that appeals to many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage.

InfraRUB leaves no oily film or unsightly objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

InfraRUB is now sold at all drug counters. No prescription is necessary.

Canadian Wildlife Service Discovers Nesting Grounds Of Rare Whooping Cranes

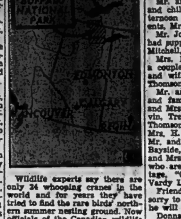
By W WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Biologists have uncovered one of the most frustrating secrets of the bird world: the summer nesting grounds of the rare and almost extinct whooping crane.

But the Canadian wildlife service, which discovered the secret, is keeping it.

For years, wildlife experts have been following the bird for thousands of miles across western Canada. Each time it has ended in a wild crane chase.

IN NATIONAL PARK



But recently, six of the birds, including young, were spotted from a helicopter in the 17,300 square-mile Wood Buffalo National Park, straddling the boundary of northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories.

The cranes—only 34 are known to exist in the world—were seen by wildlife experts who were surveying the park's buffalo population. W. W. Mair, chief of the service's game section, said the location of the nesting ground is known but it must be revealed for fear the birds might be disturbed.

Biologists say the discovery will enable wildlife experts to help the propagation of the whooper.

The latest discovery of the birds' nesting ground is the first in Canada since 1928 when one was found at Kerrobert, about 10 miles southwest of Saskatoon.

SECRET UNCOVERED

Wildlife experts say there are only 34 whooping cranes in the world and for years they have tried to find the rare birds' northern summer nesting ground. Now officials of the Canadian wildlife service have discovered the birds in Wood Buffalo National Park, straddle the boundary of northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories. But the officials won't say where in the park's 17,300-square mile area the birds are nesting for fear they will be disturbed. It is known that the northernmost refuge in Texas. (CP Photo).

DOOM DARKENED SKIES

The whooping crane, so-named for its loud trumpeting call that can be heard for three miles on a good day, once darkened the skies of the lower Mississippi valley and northern Texas in its migrations. Through the years its population has diminished to a point where now the bird's preservation is of concern to wildlife departments of both Canada and the United States.

The crane, the tallest of North America's migratory birds at nearly four feet high and has a wing-spread of seven feet. In flight, its long neck and beanstalk legs are completely outstretched. Its body is white, its forehead has red markings and its crown and cheeks are bald.

When the first whooping crane inventory was started in 1938, only 15 birds were counted at the Arkansas waterfowl refuge in Texas. The number increased from 21 to 24 during the past year.

Each spring the flock flies north across Oklahoma, over the tall plains of Kansas, into the stubble fields and on to the sand bars of Nebraska's Platte river, across the Dakotas and on into the farming districts of Saskatchewan.

TRAIL ENDS

There the migratory trail ends. Biologists have been unable to keep an accurate tab on the bird's movements.

In 1948 a team of U.S. wildlife officials attempted to follow the whoopers by airplane but over Saskatchewan the birds gave the experts the slip.

For weeks after the cranes were reported seen in widely scattered areas. Eleven were reported near Woburn, Sask., 60 miles south of Regina. Two were believed nesting at Pin Pine, on the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border. Two more were spotted 30 miles north of Saskatoon and another two in the northwestern corner of Alberta.

The next year, three pairs were reported nesting along the eastern boundary of Prince Albert National Park in northern Saskatchewan.

In 1951, biologists were elated over the birth of a whooper in the Arkansas refuge, the first crane born in captivity. It disappeared four days later.

FOUND NESTS

Then in 1952, a new nesting ground was reported in the marshes north of Great Slave Lake.

Last November, F. W. Lahrman, field worker with the Saskatchewan Museum of Natural History, obtained a widely publicized photo of three whoopers taking off at Francis lake, 135 miles southwest of Regina.

This year, as usual, the birds have been reported over wide areas. Six cranes were seen flying north over Clearwater, Man., in April. Three were spotted at two Saskatchewan points 10 miles apart. A Drumheller, Alta., resident claimed he saw a flock of 30 or 35 in the area.

Official estimate that from 1939 to 1953 a total of 37 young were born. However, in the same period 33 cranes were lost, many of them the victim of hunters who couldn't resist the temptation of lining up such a huge bird in their sights.

READY FOR POWER

Workers lower a turbine runner onto its spindle in the huge generating plant Aluminum Company of Canada has built to provide power for its Kitimat, B.C. smelter. The generating plant at Kemano, 50 miles from Kitimat and 400 miles north of Vancouver, will soon turn out 420,000 horsepower when it starts operating next month. Water carried from a big artificial lake and through a 10-mile tunnel will turn this runner and others like it. The generating station is deep underground under Mount DuBose of B.C.'s coastal mountain range (CP Photo).

Built at Cost of 38 Lives, Power Plant in Mountain Soon Will Fire Furnaces

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KEMANO, B.C. (CP)—Furnaces of the giant Aluminum Company of Canada smelter 50 miles from here will soon be fired by 420,000 electrical horsepower which will flow from a great plant built in the bowels of Mount DuBose.

The story behind the power began three years ago when the company started to build a hydro set-up that would light and power a city the size of Vancouver. To do it, contractors hollowed out a mountain, made a river flow backwards and built a huge lake.

The project was built at a cost of 38 lives—16 died in one plane crash. But Ole Strandberg, project manager for the contractors, considers that figure low "when you think of the three-year job and the 6,000 men employed on it."

The cost in money was $160,000,000, double the original estimate.

MAMMOTH PROJECT

Now Karl Roestad, Norwegian-born resident engineer here for the Aluminum Company of Canada, is almost ready to throw the switches that will send power humming over a twisting 80-mile transmission line to Kitimat. There it will be used to blast aluminum metal out of ore carried from the British West Indies.

As many as 4,000 men worked on the power project 400 miles north of Vancouver. They built a $20,000,000 dam across the Nechako river 150 miles east of here. Part of the river became a 335-square-mile reservoir. The other half was allowed to dry up.

A 10-mile tunnel, 25 feet high and 21 feet wide, was punched through the 5,000-foot Mount DuBose. At the end of the tunnel near the western side of the mountain a huge cavern was scooped out for the power house 1,400 feet underground.

Then the transmission line had to be built across mountains admidst continuous snow. More than one bulldozer and its operator slid over the 3,000 foot cliffs. The line rises from a low of 600 feet above sea level to 5,000-foot-high Kildala pass.

FEW CAN MAKE IT

"You are driving a 30-per-cent grade," said Mr. Roestad. "Only tractors and trucks with four- and six-wheel drive can make it. At one place you go up 30 feet for each 100 you go ahead."

The tunnel from the reservoir to the powerhouse was driven with the help of 5,000,000 pounds of explosives. Most serious accident in the tunnel was the blinding of a miner when his drill cut into a charge that had not fired.

Water moving through the tunnel will drive three turbines already installed. A fourth generator will be put in when needed and four more can be installed. Plans are ready for another 36-mile tunnel and more generators to double the present output if the aluminum market booms.

USES PLANES

Running the powerhouse is Edmonton-born E. W. (Red) McKeraghan who at 29 was powerhouse superintendent at Isle Maligne, Que., where hydro is generated for the company's Arvida plant.

Now, at 38, he is responsible for facilities stretching across 250 miles of wilderness. He will keep about his territory in two light helicopters and a big machine for inspecting the transmission line.

Kemano, where 2,000 men now are cleaning up until the company takes over from Morrison-Knudson Co. of Canada, the contractors, in September, will have a total population of about 200, made up of 60 workers and their families living in present quonset huts and prefabricated homes. Four or five of the permanent workers will be electrical engineers and the rest skilled tradesmen.

RECREATION FACILITIES

Some of the contractor's recreation facilities will be retained such as the ski lodge on Mount DuBose, the rifle range and theatre.

One that probably won't stay, however, is the gambling tent. Here construction workers, earning an average of $400 a month, have relaxed over blackjack and poker under the eyes of the lone RCMP constable and company security officers.

Neither the company nor the contractors were happy about the gambling set-up. But it kept gambling from springing up in bunkhouses and washrooms.

Although the Kemano workers are comparatively isolated — the only road in is a perilous gravel grade following the blaze of an old trapline—there will be plenty of recreation for the sportsmen. There are salmon and steelhead in the rivers and bear and mountain goat in the surrounding country.

Batas Unleash 21-Hit Offensive To Defeat Peterborough Petes 25-6

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

THE LONG LONG TRAIL

Within the next four or five weeks nine teams representative of the Belleville District Softball League will enter the tough playdown trail in quest of elusive championships.

It is the first time in the history of the city that this number of teams will carry the banner of softball down the championship track.

The affiliations range from senior "B" to peewee. This also is the first time two minor softball squads will seek provincial honors. Those include bantam and peewee.

The year also marks the first time a Belleville team will crash senior "B" circles. Either Point Anne or Northern Electric will do the honors. The winner of the league "A" series will have the option. In this classification there are nine other teams in the province including the northland, Kingston and Eastern Ontario winners will battle for the eastern provincial laurels.

In the "A" class Belleville, Peterborough, Kingston and Eastern Ontario will go to the mat in this district. Seventeen other clubs represent various parts of the province.

The "AA" series will be a short one. Outside of Belleville, Kingston and Peterborough, only five other teams are listed.

Frankford, Picton and Trenton will represent this area in intermediate "B" with Frankford carrying the colors of this city's league. Thirty-two other clubs also are in the fight.

Madoc, of the BDEL, Tweed, and 32 other teams from the province will battle it out for intermediate "C" honors.

Belleville and Oshawa shd nine other teams form the line-up in the junior "A" division with North Bay playing the winners.

Frankford, Brooklyn and Oshawa go to the mat, along with 15 other squads in the search for the midget title.

Belleville and Oshawa will tangle for the eastern Ontario title in the bantam division with 15 other teams and the Northland battling in their own arena. Belleville, Oshawa and Peterboro will meet the Simcoe area, along with eleven other teams from various parts of southern Ontario.

Dates of the opening games of the various playdown series will be announced by OASA secretary Frank Feaver at a later date. It is understood the majority of the divisions must declare a winner by August 15.

SO-WHATTA?

"Looks at dis gids re-and-ee. He's back again to blacka your eye". It was Mike Phillips talking over the reportorial shoulder, and the veteran Italian man-about-cottages and spaghetti and meat balls, beamed with pride.

Bringing up the rear was Carson Cooper, former Detroit Red Wings scout, now with the New York Rangers. The lid of Carson's right optic dropped gently, coyly, twice.

I'ma galad to give you da hell" sang out the swarthy son of sunny Italia. "I bring you da hockey player, da big shots, and you no-a putta my name in da paper". Then Mike smiled. He was only kidding.

He is the major dome and general factotum for the L. P. Gizzet family at Kenmore, where will appointed cottage is "open house" for the Detroit Red Wings from the stick boy to Jolly Jawn. "Red" Kelly was a guest there a few days ago and Billy Wilson and more of the boys from the Windsor area will be liable to drop in any moment. The mad is always out, and the "welcome" never fades.

And Mike hovers over 'em like a mother hen over her chicks. The way he cooks spaghetti would make Mussolini turn over in his grave, but no one, in fact the way he cooks anything would make a gourmet ask for his phone number.

Mike has been around the cottages owned by Mr. Kggezt, of Detroit for more years than he cares to mention. He is as much a part of the scene as is the shoreline and well-kept grounds.

But Mr. Cooper also was present. Again we quizzed him regarding the Wings 1954-55 coach. "Don't be surprised if it is Jimmy Skinner", he confided. "He has been with the Wings chain for twelve years, is a fighter, popular with the boys and knows a lot of hockey. What more do you want" We said "Nothing". That was it.

STOCK JOX TONIGHT

Tonight at the Exhibition Park, the Kinsmen Club launches its first venture into the realm of stock car racing. Kin Ron MacNeil and his Kinsmen buddies have been working hard to make their inaugural meet a success and they have received the full co-operation of drivers of the district. Some twenty, plus, hot stox will flit away at the drop of the starter's flag, and all indications point to the meet providing some exciting entertainment. The first heat gets away at 8.30.

Two Referees Or None, Says Whipper

There will be two referees appointed to be in charge of the pattern bout between the team of The Mighty Atlas and George Bollen and the team of Paul Baillargeon and Whipper Billy Watson when these two mat combinations collide in the tag team wrestling main event at the Memorial Arena on Friday night.

The 200-lb. Uruss and 275-lb. Bollen, plus their "anything goes" tactics have been too much for one official to supervise. The Whipper and Paul expressed their willingness to meet the Three-Bollen side with no referee, in an all-in match, with the side that walks out of the ring listed to be the winners, but the Commission vetoed that proposal. Instead, two arbiters will be on the job this time.

Timothy Geohagen, the Irish strongman, will oppose Sky-Hi Lee, the 262-lb. Ozark giant, in the semi-final. Ray Villmer will room against Lee Henning in the other match.

Ten-Run Eruption in Seventh Marks Wide-Open Hit Romp; Tighten Hold on Third Spot

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Peterborough Petes proved an unreasonable facsimile of the team that defeated the Toronto Hoakings twice on Saturday here last night, when the Batas unleashed a savage batting offensive that swamped the Littlock laddies under a 25-6 score.

The Batas sluggers had a field day at the expense of three Petes' pitchers, slashing out 21 hits of assorted sizes, to tuck away the game in the early stages. Then they exploded for ten runs in the seventh. They added six more for unnecessary insurance in the eighth chukker.

The win gave the Batas undisputed possession of third place in the Viaduct-Ontario League with 10 wins and 9 defeats. The Petes hold down fourth spot with nine victories and 11 setbacks.

ONLY TEN MEN

In fairness to the Petes they brought with them only ten players and with them, but it is doubtful if the best they have could have stopped the Batas hitting rampage. It was more or less of a baseball game until the bottom of the seventh when the Petes fell apart like a house of cards. They committed no less than five errors in this innings as the Batas ran wild on the base's behind a collection of five solid clouts and a walk. Thirteen batters paraded to the plate.

The Batas picked up where they left off in the eighth scoring six runs off a triple and four singles aided and abetted by a brace of Petes errors. Three of the Petes runs were of the "gift" variety. In the second innings with two out and the bases loaded, Doug. Batu centrefielder, stood and watched a high fly drop beside him, and three runners galloped home. He had the ball in his glutch.

The Petes made their only other successful bid for runs in the seventh innings when they pushed a trio of tallies across the plate. Doug Young lashed out a single and Garvey drew a walk. Edger went out on an infield tap and Roy Kotowski singled scoring the two runners. Dalton forced Kotowski at second and went to second on Joe Lowrey's single. Kearns came up with the ball in the inning scoring Dalton, but Gunner Whitehill settled the issue the side. That was all for the Petes from a scoring standpoint.

The Petes sent young Jerry Prizzelle to the mound to start the festivities, but the former junior star lasted just one-third of an'innings before he gave way to Joe Lowrey. Prizzelle walked the lead-off man Jerry McCormick and Al Kelleher purposely sacrificed him to second. Playing Coach Vern Goyer bolstered a mammoth home run over the left field fence good for a pair. Fitzpatrick walked and Keith MacDonald blasted a three-touching double good for the third run, and that was the end of Master Prizzelle. Lowrey retired the next two batters.

TIED IN SECOND

The Petes tied it up in the second after pushing three tallies across. Mulholland to the showers. Two consecutive singles and a walk loaded the sacks in the second before Bobby Buntou was rushed into the breach. Buntou threw his fast ball past two Petes hitters for strikeouts then Prizzelle bolsted the ball to deep centrefield. Nearly 500 fans gasped as Doug Hull, the centre fielder, raced back until and watched the ball drop safely nearby as the sacks rapidly emptied themselves of base runners. Prizzelle was credited with a double.

Buntou came through with some fine pitching hurling and held the Petes off the score sheet until the seventh. In the meantime the Batas nibbled at Lowrey's offerings scoring three in the third, one in the fourth and two in the fifth off nine clouts.

ROOF FELL IN

The roof fell in, and the Petes collapsed with it in the disastrous seventh. Four hits, as many errors and a walk were good for five runs, and that was the end of Lowrey. Gunner Whitehill took over but he proved just another pitcher. The Batas pounded him for another run-getting hit and a walk while more bobbles accounted for the rest of the runs.

The Batas greeted the Gunner with a triple and four singles in the eighth while another Petes error and a walk helped. Ten seen paraded before the Gunner retired the side. That was it. The box score tells the story.

Vern Goyer paced the Bata attack with a pair of homers, two doubles and a single for five. Keith MacDonald banged out two doubles and a brace of singles and Tony Petilitt was good for four one-baserr. Fitzpatrick hit a triple and single and Kelleher got a pair, Bobby Buntou added his cause with a double and delphis, marking a year's campaigning without a defeat. Ray Kotowski was good for three for the Petes with Kearns and Lowrey getting two each.

Former Chief Beats Old Mates; Leafs Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitcher Duke Markell, a New York City policeman during the off season, was traded to Rochester from Syracuse of the International League three weeks ago. It appeared today that the change won't hurt him.

He was below the .500 mark with Syracuse and headed for a no-no season. Tuesday night he emerged the big man of the Rochester pitching staff when he tossed a two-hitter to beat his old mates 8-0 in the first game of a double-header, then came back to save the nightcap, 6-5.

He also had a home run and a triple in the first game. In the nightcap he toiled the ninth and struck out the last two Chiefs with the bases loaded. Tony Jacobs, who hurt his leg running the bases in the ninth, got credit for the victory.

In other games, the first-place Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Buffalo Bisons 8-4 and Richmond Virginians toppled Montreal Royals 5-3. Syracuse had Havana were rained out.

Eddie Howard had a big night in leading he Leafs to their triumph. He hit two singles and a double, batted in three runs, and scored three times himself. Willie Purcell was the winner.

Ken Heintselman scattered eight hits in his winning effort. The Virginians, who had been down behind. Ed Kasko scored once and batted in the other run.

Redlegs Conceded Outside Chance Of Pulling Big Major League Upset

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—At the rate Birdie Tebbetts is going, there should be little difficulty in electing the manager of the year for 1954. The freshman pilot of Cincinnati Reds has thus far turned in a job little short of sensational.

A year ago at this time the Reds, with almost exactly the same talent, were floundering in the second division under Rogers Hornsby.

They were assisted then by .500 mark under the Rajah, and they were destined to wind up a lackluster fifth, 37 games off the top.

Today the slugging westerners are battling for third place in the National League behind the Giants and Brooklyn and, on their current form, must be conceded at least an outside chance of pulling one of the biggest upsets of recent baseball history.

Third place would represent a genuine triumph for the popular Birdie, the shaggy ex-catcher, who took over after a single year of minor league managerial experience at Indianapolis.

PICKED FOR "INTELLIGENCE"

When asked why he had reached into the minors for Tebbetts and given him a two-year contract as a starter, general manager Gabe Paul replied that he had chosen his man "because of his intelligence."

Birdie came up to catch for Detroit back in 1936. Though he never was much of a hitter, he was an artist behind the plate and long had the reputation of being one of the most astute handlers of pitchers in the game.

For once, it has worked out just the way the script said: The Reds have continued to hit, without distinction, and Tebbetts has gotten a remarkable lot of good pitching out of his staff of over-seasoned veterans and kids fresh out of the lesser minor leagues. A case in point was Harry Perkowski's three-hit, 12-inning victory over the Giants two nights ago.

It is obvious that Birdie, too, has succeeded in imbuing his athletes with some of his own fiery spirit. Rival managers say they are a different ball club entirely and that it is no picnic to play them any more.

Yanks Breathe on Tribe Necks In Red-Hot Top-Slot Race; Giants Stretch National Lead

By BEN FELLDGAR

TOKONTO (CP)—What does a fellow have to do to get into first place, Casey Stengel didn't ask it in so many words but it certainly would be an appropriate question to come from the manager of the New York Yankees.

Stengel is running the hottest ball club in the American League only 3½ games off the paces July 1, the Yankees have won 17 out of 19 games since then. And they still aren't on top, just right close behind Wilson for a walk with two out and Bobby Avila drilled his second home run of the contest to tie the score. The relief ace also stayed through seven more innings and it wound up a 5-5 affair after 18 innings with the league curfew calling a halt. It will have to be replayed from the start later.

BY FOUR POINTS

By four percentage points the Indians stayed in first place. But the league can be settled temporarily this weekend when Cleveland invades New York for three games starting Friday night. While the American League race was tightening the National League became more lopsided with New York Giants stretching their advantage over Brooklyn to seven games, their longest lead of the year. The Giants won a 2-1, 13-inning struggle in Cincinnati and Brooklyn lost in 10 innings to Chicago Cubs 3-2. St. Louis defeated Philadelphia Phils 4-2 in the only other National League action. Other results in the American League included a 9-1 triumph by Washington over Baltimore and two games lopped by Philadelphia Athletics—their ninth and 10th in a row—this time to Detroit, 12-0, and 4-3. The Giants and Dodgers games both were decided on errors. The New Yorkers pushed across the winning run in the 13th on a single by Bobby Hoffman followed by two misplays and a sacrifice fly by Whitey Rockman. Gene Baker scored the winning run for Chicago against Brooklyn's 9-1 triumph by Washington over Baltimore and two games looser

'Little Mo's' Injuries Include Broken Leg

"Little Mo's" injuries—a broken and severely cut right leg—will prevent her from defending her U.S. singles title at Forest Hills, N.Y., Aug. 28. She has won the title the last three years.

Dr. Bruce Kimball who operated on her leg shortly after the accident Tuesday, said the fibula or small bone below the knee was fractured and that some muscles were torn but not severed. She was in surgery more than three hours.

LEG IN CAST

Her leg was put in a cast and Dr. Kimball said she will be hospitalized at least a week but that the injury will not permanently cripple her. He ordered her not to touch a tennis racquet for a month, and perhaps longer.

Miss Connolly was under drugs Tuesday night and will not learn the extent of her injuries until today. She suspected the worst.

The 19-year-old tennis queen was riding her thoroughbred Colonel Merry Boy when the accident occurred.

She had returned home here Monday after successfully defending her European and English titles and winning her second national clay courts crown. The horse was given to her through public subscription after she came home from triumphant tennis tours two years ago.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The simplest methods of play in bridge are baffling (trumping), establishing suit for slutts, and finessing. An expert knows four other principles of play. But these three are the easiest.

South was declarer at five diamonds in this deal:

♥ 8 5 4
♦ Q 4 3
♣ A K 9 6 5

WEST
♠ K Q 6 5 2
♥ K 10 5 3
♦ J 9 7
♣ 7 6 3

EAST
♠ A J 10 7
♥ J 9 7
♦ 8 6 5
♣ Q 10 8 4

SOUTH
♥ A 2
♦ A K 10 9 8 7 2
♣ J

The opening lead from west was a spade. A second spade was taken by east who returned a heart. A heart finesse of the queen fails it means that the contract is sunk right then and there.

Is there a safer plan? Yes. There are at least six safer plans to look for. Some of these six may not apply here. The main idea is to look for the one or more plans that will apply here.

The most likely trick saver plan here is by establishing a suit for slutting purposes. The suit that looms for such prospects is clubs. See what establishment of this will do in this case.

On the second top dummy's club can be slutted a south heart. On the fifth dummy club can be slutted another south heart. Slutts of two south hearts will prevent loss of any trick in that event.

For these operations the dummy must have enough entries. So, up jumps the heart ace and a top spade. Now, cashed. So is a top club in dummy. Then a small dummy club is ruffed high with a south trump.

Careful not to use up the south trump on diamonds. Lead and won with dummy queen. Another small club is ruffed high by south. Now, south leads diamond deuce and wins with diamond trump four.

This entry permits dummy to lead the second club top and the fifth club. On these are shed the south deuce and queen of hearts. And now south has nothing left except trumps.

Declarer is only a 50-50 chance. If the unseen cards of a suit are favorably split, establishing-for-slutt for slutts is 100 per-cent sure. The odds in your favor predict a trick-saver.

Shirley Thomas Places Second At Horse Show

LONDON (CP)—Game as they come, Shirley Thomas of Ottawa on Tuesday night rode Canada into the money for the first time in the British international horse show when she placed second in an international event contested by eight other countries.

The spunky little blonde, suffering from two cracked ribs since Monday, guided her big grey gelding White Sable through a stiff time event, scoring only 3¾ faults on a time of 89 1-3 seconds.

The winner was German rider M. von Buckwaldt who had no faults in a time of 78 seconds.

It was Miss Thomas' second ride of the day.

SHOW CANADIAN ART

LONDON (CP) — Twenty-one paintings by nine Canadian artists were on display at the Imperial Institute. Included were "Trafalgar Square—Coronation Eve" by Tom Thomson of Winnipeg, landscapes by Peter Lowe of Cobourg, Ont., and Gordon Coyel of Chatham Ont.

Panthers Take 2 From Guelph; Nudge Elgins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Back in February Kitchener Panthers and Galt Terriers made an off-season player gwitch. The grandstand management of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League are still trying to figure out who got the best of the deal.

The Panthers gave the Terriers pitchers Mel Duncan and Roly Larouche for slugging outfielder Tex Kaiser. It was a straight player deal with no cash involved.

Now it turns out that all three players are having a good season. Duncan already has seven games for the Terriers, Larouche has won five while losing only one. And no one can say that Kaiser's bat hasn't helped the Panthers.

LEADING HITTER

Tex was the leading batter for the Panthers while they were taking two games from Guelph Waterloo Royals in Kitchener Tuesday night. He notched two hits, including a two-run homer in three trips to the plate in the seven-inning first game and banged out another three hits in five tries in the 12-inning second contest. His total in the second game included a 12th-inning triple which drove in the winning run for a 1-0 Kitchener victory.

Larouche pitched one-hit relief ball for two innings to chalk up his fifth win of the season, a 6-5 decision over London Majors in the seven-inning opener of a double-header at Galt. The Majors won the nine-inning second game 4-3.

Tuesday night's action made little difference to the standings. Kitchener gained a full game on the first-place St. Thomas Elgins and now is two games off the pace and one game behind a playoff berth.

AT THE CAPITOL—Clifton Webb, playing an uproarious role in the glorious "Mister Scoutmaster", is instructing his Scouts on the fundamentals of overnight camping. The Twentieth Century-Fox production co-stars Edmund Gwenn and George "Foghorn" Winslow and will open Thursday evening at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program "The Tall Texan" starring Lloyd Bridges, Lee J. Cobb and Marie Windsor. Both attractions are first Belleville showings.

McCARTHY

Travel, war experiences and former jobs are top assets for an actor to draw upon, says Van Heflin, one of Hollywood's hardest-working performers. Co-starred with Ruth Roman and Howard Duff in Universal-International's Technicolor production of "Tanganyika," which opens Thursday at the Odeon-McCarthy Theatre, Heflin contends a lot more should be able to play anything thrown at him and thus should find any out of previous experience of great value.

His own personal background is varied and adventurous. As a merchant seaman he travelled all over the world — to Shanghai, Manilla, Lisbon, London and to most of the large cities in North, South and Central America.

"It made a business out of studying the people, their habits and customs," he says. "And from this I acquired a mental theatrical storehouse of notes, to be drawn upon when I need a little extra something to help a role along.

"I know for sure that one merchant seaman with whom I shared a bunk ended up on a trip 'd Rio,' he observes, "has in that way helped me on at least eight of my screen characterizations during the past two years."

However, Heflin says these pre-acting experiences have no influence on film producers.

"I spent six years before the mast on all types of merchant ships, and naturally I feel well qualified for seafaring roles," he mused the star. "But they keep telling me I'm not the type."

"Tanganyika," produced by Albert J. Cohen and directed by Andre de Toth, is set in the East African jungles of the early 1900's, and features Jeff Morrow and Joe Comadere in its supporting cast.

First Near Then Far Was Tiger Star

HAMILTON (CP)—One minute coach Carl Voyles had a football player. The next he didn't.

Voyles told of his troubles Tuesday night shortly after Ted Kukowski, a 210-pound centre for Syracuse University, checked in at the training headquarters of Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four union.

Kukowski, who missed the first week of practice to finish a radio flight training course, talked with Voyles and team manager Les Back. Back found him an apartment and issued him football gear.

That was the last seen of Kukowski. "The six-foot-one import wasn't at his hotel. Nobody knew didn't show up for practice. He where he went.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Give rein to your imagination and satisfy a yearning to try something different—writing, building, selling, art work, etc. Diversion alleviates monotony, too.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Do your thinking early and you will avoid mistakes. You can expect co-operation and good returns for like treatment.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Correspondence to answer, left-over chores to do, odd duties to pester them? Take care of them early and you will have a freer mind. Stars chart today as extra special for you who do extra special thinking.

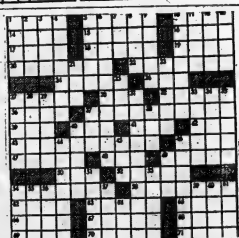
June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — A good day for good deeds. There should be fine results in all worthwhile endeavors. Shipping, travel, money interests can show profit.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Planetary vibrations warn against feeling ventures into unknown, risky or non-essential matters. Chances are good in sound affairs, business at hand, family interests if properly handled.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Set your pace early. Make the best of things, pray and you should wind up the day well out in front.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Some irksome hours perhaps. Make your emotions, particularly the temper, behave—and you'll be surprised at the progress you make. Self-restraint is important now.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A big day for matters of the heart as well as business. Pay attention to the "little things" and the rest of your problems will fall into line. Don't forget the budget.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Apply yourself diligently to important items that could be troublesome if allowed to drift unattended. Stay with tricky tasks until they are completed; it will expedite progress.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Vibrations become increasingly favorable as the day moves on. Keep pace and make your gains count. Aim to avoid turbulent incidents that could hinder your progress.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Cheery news for you who will work a little more systematically than usual. A thorough job and some originality will help to bring matters to a successful conclusion.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—A fine outlook in many ways. Push your affairs, seek new favors, new leads. There will be opportunity to increase advantages. Financial matters, manufacturing, construction favored if managed well.

YOU BORN TODAY possess outstanding ability, good business sense and a persuasive personality to help you to great heights in the vocation you choose. You have many fine talents, are a capable somebody if you develop your God-given talents. Self-control, a calm attitude and regular rest periods are needed to recapture the energy your burn up daily. Don't be too critical; try not to over-enthuse; be patient with details. Birthdate: Anthony A. Cooper, Earl of Shaftesbury, Eng. statesman.

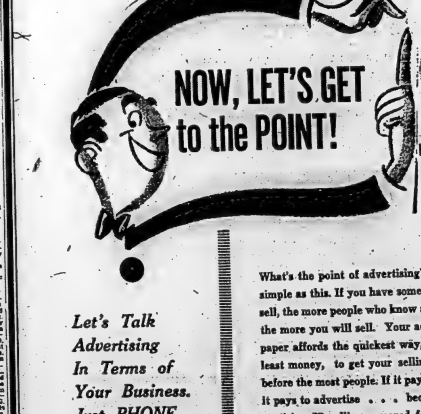
FEAR MORE VIOLENCE IN LONDON STRIKE



Fear of more violence in the strike of Kelvinator employees in London, Ont., was voiced by Rev. B. Zakardi, who said he had heard that transport drivers would be armed with shotguns as they tried to break through the strikers' picket lines. One of the main issues of the strike, as shown by this sign held by picketers, is the five-year contract insisted on by the company.—Central Press Canadian.

Training Rugged For Maritimes' Reserve Troops

By JIM SHERBANIUK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CAMP UTOPIA, N.B. (CP)—Reserve army troops from the Atlantic provinces get a taste of the real thing when they forego the comforts of civilian life for annual summer manoeuvres at this camp on the Bay of Fundy.

Business men, labourers, fishermen and students alike take up rifle and bayonet for a week to practice under battle conditions the lessons learned from books at winter classes.

But don't let the name of the camp fool you. Life at the 40,000-acre bushland camp halfway between Saint John, N.B. and the United States border is anything but a paradise.

RUGGED TRAINING

For three weeks every summer reserve units go through the roughest of military training. It isn't uncommon to see a lawyer from Charlottetown sweating side by side with a miner from Glace Bay shovelling a lorry out of the mud or driving a stepping Vickers machine gun.

The camp is the eastern command centre for militia training and gives more than 2,500 reservists practical experience. About 75 per cent of the total maritime reserve force signed up for the concentrated summer course. Trainees attend the camp in seven-day shifts, about 300 at a time, while an equal number of permanent force are on hand to act as instructors.

Regiments attending the camp early in July include the 3rd Armoured Regiment from Charlottetown, Signal Corps units from Moncton, Halifax and Fredericton, the Pictou Highlanders, Cape Breton Highlanders and the Princess Louise Fusiliers from Halifax.

ACTUAL SAMPLE

The curriculum has been designed to give the summer soldiers a sample of actual army life. It's a big change for a fisherman from Shediac to haul around three-inch rocket shells instead of lobster traps but after even a week the men are behaving like veterans.

Until this year, the camp was used for a summer training centre. However early in the spring about 700 members of the 4th Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, will bed down here while the new camp at nearby Gagetown is being built into shape.

Utopia army camp ranks as one of the smaller ones in Canada. Originally established during the Second World War as a full-scale training ground, Utopia got its name from a lake in the district. Instead of mass manoeuvres with heavy equipment such as those that will take place at Camp Gagetown, the program at Utopia is planned to give reserve force members a little knowledge about a lot of things.

VETS ASSIST

Top officers at the camp are Brig. T. Eric Snow, commander of the New Brunswick area, active force, and Brig. W. W. Reid DSO, of Charlottetown, reserve force. Their assistants and instructors include motley veterans of civilian technical specialists. The Signal Corps, for instance, is taught the rudiments of telephone communication by a reserve force officer who works for the Provincial Telephone Company in civilian life.

The camp ground was once a well-known berry-picking plain and even now contractors bid for the right to harvest the juicy crop every summer.

Wild game thrived in the area before the armed forces moved in. More than 600 deer were on hand this spring to greet incoming soldiers.

HUMAN 'BIRD' FLEW—BUT EARTHWARD

Leo Valentin, of Lognes, France, is shown back on the ground wearing the wings that let him down when he tried to prove man can fly like a bird. Leo went up 10,000 feet in a plane and jumped out. Gravity took over and the wings wouldn't brake his descent sufficiently so Leo opened the parachute he had thoughtfully taken along.—Central Press Canadian.

14 Heirs Claim Montreal Seized Land Illegally

MONTREAL — An action involving $1,600,000 has been taken against the City of Montreal as a result of a land seizure 15 years ago, it was learned yesterday.

In 1939 the city seized 1,000,000 square feet of valuable land in the Cote des Neiges district now claim that the seizure was illegal.

The plaintiffs propose that the city return the land or that the heirs be established $1,800,000—one of the largest amounts ever demanded of the city.

The action was taken in Superior Court by Lawyer Jean Fillion on behalf of Paul-Emile Roy, a notary. The other plaintiffs are: Georgiana, Alice, Anna, Paul-Emile, J. Maurice, Aline Callistine, Gilberte, Madeleine, Francine and Marie-Andree Roy.

T. L. S. Gagnon and Marie-Louise Beauregard.

Mr. Fillion said in his declaration that Marie-Louise St. Aubin, former owner of the land, died in 1929 and left the property to her children. Ten years later the land was seized and auctioned.

The declaration says the procedure was null, void and illegal because the city considered the heirs of C. M. Roy as the proprietors, while the rightful owners were the heirs of Mrs. St. Aubin.

Five Fishermen Drown In Lakes In Orillia Region

Man, Son, Grandson Lost When Their Boat Sinks

Blind Mother Robbed by Sea For Last Time

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Once there were five in the fishing Smith family.

In the early 1930s Mrs. Mary Smith's husband was drowned 60 miles west of Anchorage.

The widow, with three sons to rear, continued to go annually to the fishing grounds until the boys were able to take over.

Three years ago one of the three sons, Roland, was drowned at the same spot his father had perished. Last year another son, Byrne, was drowned on a hunting trip.

Gerard, 36, the last of the sons, carried on. Monday his dory, a bow stove in, was found at the spot where his father and brother had died.

Now Mrs. Smith, almost totally blind, alone remains.

Mendes-France Prepares to Push Rest of Program

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France arrived home from Geneva today to place before the National Assembly the Indo-China cease-fire pact he promised to deliver, and to start the push for the rest of his three-point "save France" program.

The most crucial point in the program, in Western eyes, is the role France intends to play in the disputed European Defence Community. Before he left Geneva, Mendes-France told the United States and Russia present last-minute arguments against the concept the international army plan to rearm West Germany.

First Soviet foreign minister Molotov caught the French premier's ear Wednesday to repeat him of Russia's objections to the defence communities plan. The Soviet foreign minister apparently hoped the Reds' agreement to an Indo-China peace at Geneva would persuade the French that German troops are not needed in Europe.

But at dinner Wednesday night the American state undersecretary, Walter Bedell Smith, urged Mendes-France aside to remind him that the U.S. still feels that EDC is the key to West Europe's defence against Communist aggression.

The French premier also had a brief talk with Britain's foreign minister Anthony Eden. Britain has the U.S. in urging that France give quick approval to the one-uniform army plan.

When Mendes-France made his last big speech to parliament a month ago he outlined a three-point program:

1. Settlement of the Indo-China conflict—by July 20.

2. Submission of a coherent, detailed program for internal economic recovery, provided the assembly grants the powers necessary to implement it.

3. Presentation to Parliament of suggestions to help it decide on a policy for a united Europe — in other words, EDC.

Mendes-France said then that he considered a new approach to EDC in order. He called the plan which would put German soldiers in uniform along with the troops of five other West European countries "one of the gravest problems of conscience that has ever troubled a country."

Bus Hits Wall

OAKVILLE (CP)—A fully loaded Gray Coach bus, bound for Toronto from Hamilton to Toronto, swerved to avoid a car turning ahead of it Wednesday night, crashed into a two-foot-thick concrete wall and came to rest a cedar hedge 15 feet from a residence here. No one was hurt.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Sunny Friday, weather is expected to continue through Friday in the Southern Ontario area. Temperatures remain about the same reaching near eighty in the south and about 75 in the northeast.

ORILLIA (CP) — Three members of a Toronto family were drowned Wednesday while fishing Bass lake, five miles from here. They were John Tucker, 71; his son, Graham, 53; and grandson Roy, 22.

The body of John Tucker was recovered today. Police and district residents continued dragging for the other two.

The trio came to Orillia Wednesday to fish. No concern was felt for their safety until late in the day when Ronald Broger of Toronto, holidaying here, investigated what he thought was a boat sticking out of the water and found it to be a chair nailed into the front of a boat.

He found the boat itself sunk in nine feet of water, with its outboard motor wedging down the stern.

CANOE CAPSIZES

CARNARVON, Ont. (CP) — Ray Harrison, 51, and his son, William, 24, of this community 20 miles northeast of Orillia, drowned Wednesday when their canoe capsized in nearby Black lake.

Another son, John, 25, managed to swim to shore where he stood helplessly, as his brother sank beneath the surface a short distance from land.

The elder Harrison, on a fishing trip with his sons, sank immediately after the boat overturned.

Think German Intelligence Chief Kidnapped

BONN (Reuters) — Otto John, chief of West German intelligence, has been missing in Berlin since Tuesday night, the West German government announced today.

The government's press office suggested he had been kidnapped.

John attended West Berlin memorial services this week for the victims of the July 20, 1944, anti-Hitler revolt, in which his brother was killed.

John himself took part in the plot against Hitler's life. He eluded the Nazis and fled to England. A brother was caught and hanged.

John has been instrumental in uncovering several Communist intelligence networks in West Germany.

There have been many kidnappings in West Berlin. The most notable was that of Dr. Walter Linse, a leading anti-Communist, who vanished on his way from West into East Germany July 8, 1952, and has not been seen since.

According to the West Berlin police there is a gang in Communist East Germany armed and equipped to seize anyone for political purposes for a fee of up to $5,000, depending on the importance of the victim.

These Seven Shy Canadian Houses Get Lots on the House in New York

By JOHN ELSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Take seven shy Canadian bachelor girls, seven chic New York models, place in a glamorous apartment and you get seven interesting evening.

The seven "House brothers" of Fort Erie, Ont., here for the premiere of the motion picture "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," topped their sight - seeing tour of New York Wednesday with a visit to a penthouse. They came to New York as guests of the film's producers (MGM).

The brothers got their first glimpse of Manhattan night life as they were whisked off to meet their dates, eat a lavish steak dinner and see a music-publication show.

Offhand it would be hard to say which they appreciated most. The girls were stunning, but the brothers, a husky bunch averaging 6ft. 4in., 38, Lee 34, and Raymond 33—didn't think they would change it for interesting evening.

The meal was fine, but brother Lee, a bachelor, didn't think the seven sisters, left behind to tend the 300-acre family farm, are real fine cooks.

The show, chorus girls, singers, dancers, was "just great" but wasn't anything really new to the boys, who have had television in their farm for five years and have the benefits of nine channels — two more than New York has.

The models probably were the toughest obstacle. The brothers were courtly and reserved, and even consented to dance with the girls. But it was not even the charm of a New York lovely could really come between the heart of a confirmed Canadian bachelor.

Washington Concerned Over Geneva Aftermath

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—High U.S. officials believe the Kremlin will follow up the Indo-China peace agreement with a reinforced drive to break the Western powers' anti-Communist alliance.

They expect an early and vigorous renewal of Soviet proposals made at Berlin early this year for an all-European defence treaty in which Russia would join. That plan was offered as an alternative to the European Defence Community treaty which the United States strongly urges as a means of permitting West German rearmament with French approval.

And there is considerable concern here that the Indo-China agreement may throw European peoples off guard and thus make Soviet policies and propaganda aimed at the break-up of the Western defence system more attractive.

WANT TIGHTER UNITY

Washington would like to see Western unity tightened and negotiations on the European Geneva settlement. In fact, President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles give every evidence of regarding this as essential for the success of the Indo-China settlement.

The state department is understood to be seeking to speed up consultations with Britain, France and the associated states looking to the formation of a Southeast Asian collective defence. It has reported still to be taking a "go slow" line.

There is no fear here of a Communist renewal of open military aggression in Indo-China. The fear is rather that the Reds will use political and economic pressures and subversive tactics to undermine south Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos and so win what is there over. Authorities say the best way to counter this is by building up these states in every possible way, and primarily by creating a defensive "alliance" of Western and Asian countries for their protection.

GAIN FOR REDS

There has been little comment in Congress, and no disposition to criticize the administration or anything but a gain for the Reds.

The Indo-China settlement is the high point thus far of a pattern of Kremlin diplomacy which has unfolded since after the death of Stalin 15 months ago.

Heart Attack in Bath Kills Samuel Manson

HAMILTON (CP) — Samuel Coleman Manson died suddenly this morning. Victim of a heart attack, he collapsed in the bathroom of his home. Efforts to revive him with an inhalator were unavailing when the 71-year-old man succumbed. Police were called and equipped to seize anyone for political purposes for a fee of up to $5,000, depending on the importance of the victim.

U.S. Criticism of Peace Plan Stirs Ire of British Papers

LONDON (AP) — United States criticism of the Indo-China ceasefire terms touched off bristling editorials and bitter cartoons in a wide cross-section of the British press today.

The angry reaction extended even to some Conservative newspapers which up to now had generally supported the U. S. One of these, the arch-Conservative Daily Mail, said Foreign Secretary Eden had single handedly kept the Geneva conference going amid "cries of 'appease'" and added:

"Only Washington American senators referred again to 'another Munich'—showing they have no idea what Munich was.

"What, anyway, is their policy? That they want another 100,000 American boys killed and maimed for another Korean war?

The big-circulation Daily Mirror published a virulent article across the front page. Secretary Dulles seated glumly under a calendar dated "July 21, 1954" as he bitterly dressed business men about indignantly: "Peace has broken out."

The Labor party's Daily Herald quoted a writer in the New York Times as saying, "The Communists have scored another major victory in the struggle for the minds of men" and commented:

"That is his judgment on the cease-fire in Indo-China, and his view is widely shared on the other side of the Atlantic.

"But Mr. Anthony Eden is no Mendes-France. Nor is Mr. Nehru.

"Yet all these and multitudes of other people of every race hail the sanity of the settlement as a triumph for the art of negotiation. The contrast between these two viewpoints is vivid and shattering.

"Was it really wrong to stop the fighting?"

The News Chronicle, Liberal, sounded a note of alarm at the possibility of a serious rupture in relations between Britain and France on the one side and the U. S. on the other.

"At Geneva, France and Britain have had to give to a large degree without America," the News Chronicle said. "There need be no breach in this, it may even be healthy provided the independence of each lead to arrangement. But to prevent this happening is the next big job for diplomacy on both sides of the Atlantic."

U.S. Senators Snatch Naps As Atomic Debate Drags On

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Senate continued lengthy debate down hours today a heated debate on administration atomic energy legislation after voting to uphold President Eisenhower's order for a new private power plant in the Tennessee valley.

Rumpled and weary from a marathon session which stretched at a.m. Wednesday, the senators stuck to the issue by the hour or snatched short naps on cots in side rooms. A few who had gone home were rushed back to the floor when objection was made that not enough were on hand to transact business.

The senate voted down, 55 to 36, a Democratic amendment which would have barred the Atomic Energy Commission to contract for electric power unless it was to be used directly by AEC plants. This would have had the effect of blocking Eisenhower's directive to the AEC to enter into a contract with a private power combine for power to be delivered in the Memphis, Tenn., area over lines of the government's TVA. The private power group would replace energy TVA is supplying to the AEC's plant at Paducah, Ky.

'Cannot Accept Enslavement Of Millions'--Viet Nam Chief

SAIGON (Reuters) — Ngo Dinh Diem, Viet Namese premier, said today his government "would not accept the enslavement of millions of countrymen faithful to the nationalist ideal."

The cease-fire agreement signed in Geneva Wednesday ending the Indo-China war provides that Viet Nam should be divided temporarily at the Communist north and the south roughly along the 17th parallel pending elections within two years.

It is the settlement means the French Union forces withdraw from the state, the Red river delta, the northern capital of Hanoi and its port, Haiphong. Almost a million anti-Indo-Chinese living in these parts will be evacuated under Communist administration.

MINISTER RESIGNS

Protest over the same point led Diem's foreign minister, Tran Van Do, to resign from the Geneva delegation Wednesday night at Geneva. He said his mission to the talks, to prevent the partitioning of his country, had failed.

Diem today urged the population to maintain calm and unity.

Premier Diem said Viet Nam military commanders had issued orders of the day describing the agreement as "honorable" but declaring the fight for freedom has not been lost.

Gen. Ely, French high commissioner-chief and French commissioner-general, said in his message to the people of Viet Nam that the Geneva cease-fire was an "unqualified peace." However, it was the "only solution" which safeguards best the major interests and the future of both the army and the Viet Namese nation."

France reaffirmed solemnly her policy "aimed at bringing Viet Nam to complete independence," and Laos to total independence."

"With the suppression of the state of war, France intends to fulfill very quickly this evolution at the same time as she aids these countries, notably Viet Nam, in the immense work of social, economic and national reconstruction."

NO PEACE IN HEARTS

Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, Viet Nam chief of staff, said today that the day said partitioning had not been wanted and "there will be no peace in our hearts until the country once again is united."

"The cease-fire is not peace. The enemy will profit by it to prepare his peace which will quickly undermine our people's yoke. Be even more vigilant, because we too are preparing our peace—one of honor and true liberty."

It's Official 'Peeping Tom' Peers 30 Miles

FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP)—The U.S. Army Signal Corps Wednesday announced development of a long distance 'Peeping Tom' camera which can peer across bodies of water up to 30 miles into enemy territory.

The mammoth new camera is built about a 100-inch telescope with which was developed in the Signal Corps engineering laboratories here. It permits battlefield spotters to be taken where the photo flights are not possible due to enemy fire or location.

The camera also is adapted to civilian use, such as providing constant vigilance over forest areas to detect and help fight forest fires.

Find Fugitive After Four Days Living on Berries

SUDBURY (CP) — A Burwash industrial farm inmate who survived for four days on berries was found "in pretty poor condition" by police here Wednesday, only a mile from the farm.

Edward Kittner, 34, of Toronto, escaped last Saturday while returning to the main camp from a baseball game. Ken Hawkins, another man, Raymond Powell, 36, of Windsor and John Daniels, alias Lawlor, 24, of Toronto, fled with him.

The guards found Kittner on the bank of the Wahnapitae river, two miles south of camp.

Daniels was with him, said reporting officer Sgt. Sanderson, but darted into the bush and escaped.

"We feel we have him trapped," said Sanderson today.

Earlier reports that the three men had been seen hopping a northbound freight on Monday proved to be a false lead. However, there has been no sight of Powell, third member of the escaped trio, Powell.

NO WAGE RAISE RECOMMENDED FOR FORD MEN

Board Backs Union On Seniority Question

WINDSOR (CP)—A conciliation board report has failed to recommend wage increases for Ford of Canada workers but backed demands for maintenance of their seniority status.

The contract dispute between the company and Local 200, United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) was the first to head with a conciliation hearing several weeks ago. Mr. Justice Walter F. Schroeder of the Ontario Supreme Court, chairman of the board, issued the report Wednesday.

J. J. Robinette, Toronto lawyer and company representative, concurred with Mr. Justice Schroeder. Drummond Wren, union representative, issued a minority report differing on certain issues.

The union asked a wage increase of 30 cents an hour to bring basic hourly rates into line with those paid by other Windsor plants. The basic wage in Windsor is an average $1.69.

INCREASE "IMPRACTICAL"

Mr. Justice Schroeder outlined wage increases and fringe benefits granted by other Windsor plants over the top in Canada. Considering the competitive wage market for automobiles he said these conditions make granting a wage increase impractical.

Mr. Wren disagreed with the majority report on wages and said the increase could be paid out of company profits without affecting the investment. The company claimed a wage increase would impair its competitive position.

Mr. Wren recommended a labor rate increase of six cents, eight cents in semi-skilled workers and 12 cents for skilled trades.

The report was unanimous on the question of seniority. The company requested present company-wide, not bargaining unit-wide, seniority be dropped and a system of plant-wide seniority substituted.

The company said layoffs of more than 14 days were costing large amounts in overtime because starting at the bottom of the seniority list, it was difficult transferring men to jobs with which they were not familiar, causing reject of finished materials.

NOT PROPER TIME

The union claimed plant-wide seniority would create insecurity for men with longer terms of employment and lose benefits. The board said this was not the proper time to seek a change in existing seniority provisions. It recommended the hope the parties might reach a compromise sometime during the contract year.

The union request for a national seniority agreement to establishments all across Canada, was considered premature in view of present differing conditions and laws made it impractical.

The board said a union shop clause which would require all workers to join the Ford Rand formula, which provides compulsory payment of union dues, is now in force at Ford. Mr. Justice Schroeder did not recommend the union shop clause which was an infringement of individual liberty.

He concurred in a union request for three weeks' vacation with pay after 15 years' service and said the company should not be saddled with an apprenticeship scheme unless competitors introduce it.

Canada To Accept Armistice Post Provisionally

Cease-Fire in Indo-China Starts in Effect July 27th

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will accept provisionally a request to serve on the Indo-China armistice commission, informants said today.

However, the government plans to seek additional information on the exact composition of the commission and its terms of reference.

The informants said the request, received formally today, was unclear as to whether Canada is to be one commission for all Indo-China or two separate commissions for Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. This was one example of a point on which the government needed clarification.

The cabinet met to discuss the proposal at 10:30 a.m. EDT.

The invitation, addressed to the Canadian government and signed by Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Eden, was received in Ottawa Wednesday night.

It is expected a formal Canadian announcement may be made immediately following the cabinet meeting, but there was no indication how long the cabinet session might last.

The invitation contained no new information beyond that already reached the Canadian capital informally, it was learned.

In invited Canada, in consultation with India and Poland, to designate representatives to the international supervisory commissions, and expressed hope these would be set up as soon as possible after the date the Indo-China cease-fire comes into force. This will be July 27.

Prime Minister St. Laurent was keeping in touch with developments by telephone from his summer home at St. Patrick, Que., and did not plan to attend the meeting.

INDIA INVITED TOO

NEW DELHI (AP)—The British high commissioner, George H. Middleton, today gave the Indian government a formal invitation to serve as a member of the international commission supervising the Indo-China armistice if authoritative sources said.

It is expected that the message gave no terms of reference for the commission but suggested the three consult Poland and Canada, the other two proposed commission members.

An Indian government spokesman had no comment concerning the invitation, but said he felt confident it would be held soon.

Middleton's message said it is formally invited and has had a chance to study the truce agreement.

The U. S. originally proposed that India, Pakistan and the Southeast Asia treaty organization. They were to be from Burma, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and the Indo-Chinese states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

Russia and China are said to be among additional Asian countries as possible, including India, Burma and Pakistan.

The make-up of the projected membership may be worked out.

If Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam are permitted by the Indo-China peace pact to ask the armistice body they will undoubtedly be included, but if they are not and it is decided they cannot attend, American officials said privately that the decision would be up to the nations to protect them as well as countries like Thailand which would be members.

New Airways Seeking North Route Licence

EDMONTON (CP) — The air transport board has reserved its decision on an application by Associated Airways Ltd. of Edmonton for a licence to operate a scheduled freight service from here to Canada's northlands.

The application was opposed by Canadian Pacific Air Lines Ltd., which has licensed Edmonton-Yellowknife, N.W.T., for 14 years.

One of the witnesses backing the operation was Norman A. Byrne, a consulting engineer for Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd.

The Canadian Press reported erroneously Tuesday night that Mr. Byrne was connected with the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd.

U.S. and Britain Plan August Parley on Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain, and other allies will meet in London in August on a national conference late next month to write a defensive alliance designed to protect the non-Communist lands of Southeast Asia against Communist aggression.

Highly placed diplomatic authoritative sources announced the first meeting is expected shortly.

Some officials told a reporter the meeting probably will be held some place in the Asian area and that it will include representatives foreign ministers or persons of lesser rank—is yet to be determined.

The U. S. originally proposed that India, Pakistan and the Southeast Asia treaty organization. They were to be from Burma, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and the Indo-Chinese states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

Russia and China are said to be among additional Asian countries as possible, including India, Burma and Pakistan.

Shout 'I'm Your Man--Come Get Me' As Miss Canada Is Clad as 'Mountie'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (CP) — Miss Canada may or may not win this big beauty contest Wednesday night, but she is regarded as champion when it comes to filling out the uniform of Sanderson, but darted into the bush and escaped.

"We feel we have him trapped," said Sanderson today.

Earlier reports that the three men had been seen hopping a northbound freight on Monday proved to be a false lead. However, there has been no sight of Powell, third member of the escaped trio, Powell.

Miss Canada may or may not win this big beauty contest Wednesday night, but she is regarded as champion when it comes to filling out the uniform of a pair of long black silk stockings.

Miss Canada's pin-up girl is a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer. Her second straight night Wednesday night in a costume brought out more red whistles than any other in the contest. Miss Canada's sailor brought out the whistles when she shouted: "Hey, Sailor, I'm your man—come and get me."

Joyce, a smiling beauty, is the among favorites to win the Miss Universe crown. The finals are scheduled for Friday night. She will compete against Miss South Carolina, who Wednesday night was named United States entrant in a host of beauties from all over the world.

GENEVA (Reuters) — Fighting will stop officially in Indo-China July 27 when the cease-fire negotiated here goes into effect in some areas of North Viet Nam, high sources said today.

Full details of all three cease-fire agreements signed here Wednesday in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, especially the timing of the progressive cessation of hostilities, are still officially secret.

But it was learned today, as the last of the foreign ministers prepared to return to their capitals, that the Geneva conference decided last night the fighting on a phased program for Viet Nam, the biggest state, starting next Tuesday.

The sources said that in areas of Viet Nam where communications are difficult the cease-fire will be delayed for a further 16 to 25 days or more.

Fighting in Laos and Cambodia would officially end Aug. 7.

It is thought said this rather long delay for Laos and Cambodia was requested by the Viet troops in these two states to cease fighting.

The truce was agreed unofficially between the two sides, meanwhile, that there should be no "mopping up" operations before the fighting officially ends in the different areas.

Utilities Worker Falls 20 Feet, Taken to Hospital

Edwin W. Webber, 55, of 30 Dundonald Street, Belleville, employed with the Belleville Public Utilities Commission, suffered still undetermined injuries Wednesday afternoon when he fell 20 feet from a ladder at the Starlite Motel on No. 2 highway west of the city.

The injured man was taken to hospital by Bush's ambulance where his condition this morning was stated to be improved. Mr. Webber was still using the electric service at the cable of a two-storey house when, for some reason, he left his hold on the ladder and fell 20 feet to the ground. Mr. C. H. Scott, manager of the public utilities, said it still had not been determined whether Mr. Webber had received a shock from the wires causing him to fall.

Two Madoc Men Sentenced After Wild Car Trip

SIDESWIPE PICTON CAR

All charges against the two men arose out of a drive which the pair took on July 18th between Picton and a place distance north of Belleville where they were apprehended. The men had been working in Wellington.

With Cole at the wheel the two men had driven down to No. 62 highway and at Crofton, 8 miles south of Belleville, had been in a sideswiping collision with a car driven by Howard Wood of Picton. The accident took place on the curving across the highway knocked over a telephone pole. Near Morley's Corner the car was stopped and Cook took the wheel. Cook at the Dublin Thicket turn the car knocked over a highway sign and again continued.

South of Foxboro Constable Wm. Wood of Consent forced off the highway by the car with-out lights and in the centre of the road.

Summary evidence in the case was given by Constable Thicket and by Corporal A. J. Parry, who investigated for the Picton O.P.P. office.

9th Anti-Tank Regt. Wins Top Honors in Artillery Competition at Petawawa

(Special to The Ontario Intelligencer)

PETAWAWA MILITARY CAMP.—Blazing twenty-five rounds per gun-minute in a dual role on the sandy grass stretches of this Eastern Canada military grounds on Wednesday.

The gun-howitzers created a storm of victory in Eastern Canada artillery competition, and at the same time, blasted the competitive swan song of a famous Belleville regiment.

Gunners of the 9th Anti Tank Regiment RCA (A.I.) Belleville, crouched behind the shields of their pieces, under the eyes of discerning British and Canadian officers. Working like a piece of well-oiled machinery, they delivered their shells with deadly aim, shot that won them top honors in the Eastern Canada Artillery Command artillery competition.

FOURTH VICTORY

The regiment, anti tank in name only, which was created two years ago, won the coveted honor for the fourth time out of the seven Belleville infantry unit, the Argyll Light Infantry Militia Band marched off the parade pipes askirl. They paraded the victorious gunners to the stirring sound in a blaze of piping marching glory.

Among those who offered congratulations was Major General Howard Graham, D.S.O., Commandant Central Command Cadville. General Graham is well-known in this district as he was associated with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment during World War II.

RETURN SATURDAY

The 9th Anti Tank Regiment left for its summer training here on Saturday, July 10th, composed of 190 all ranks are quartered in Belleville, Trenton, Picton and other unit centres on Saturday, July 24th, arriving late in the evening.

Among the Belleville officers present are, besides Major Falconman, Captains Harold Vaughan, Mac Smith, Alex. Cunningham and Hon. Captain W. J. Robinson, recently appointed regimental chaplain. Also here are Lieutenants Harold Kellar, Ross Hart, Dick Burns, A. Graham and Bob Phillips.

At the composite church parade held last Sunday, Capt. W. Robinson, who is rector of St. Thomas' Church, Belleville, preached the sermon.

The achievement of the composite gun detachment in winning the coveted trophy and other honors is indicative of the fine service-like training given the personnel of the regiment. Special mention was made of Warrant Officer 2 Howard Kokesh for his part in training the winning detachment.

The regiment is under the command of Lieut. Col. H. E. Warwick, of Gananoque.

Jersey's Jerseys Vary in Size

GUELPH (CP)—The narrow confines of the island of Jersey, the British Channel naturists say, has inbreeding for generations, have made the Jersey cow a handy animal with a great deal of breed uniformity of shape of head, eyes, ears and horns.

But the same conditions have made Jersey cattle sensitive to development, reproductivity and characteristics, Dr. F. H. Hodson, chief of the dept. of South Africa's division of animal husbandry, said in a talk to members of the World Jersey Cattle Bureau here Wednesday.

Dr. Hodsons said this conclusion is substantiated by the variations observed in the size of the Jersey on the island, particularly in more recent years, and also by the tendency for the Jersey to become bigger when transplanted to countries and environments with more favorable nutritional conditions.

Forty-Two Tourist Homes Operating in Belleville

Despite the fact that the holiday season now is approaching its peak period, tourist business this year seems to be in smaller volume in the Belleville district than in 1953.

Although there are no comparative figures a thumbnail survey of the city's main shopping district gave the general impression, that the tourist is less the happy spender. Such is the case in many years. Since the automobile is the popular transportation of the tourist, perhaps the most indicative yardstick to the number of vacationists passing through here can be had from garages and service stations. They report a decline in business from last year.

A representative of one garage said business was "way off" and claimed "there is not the number of cars on the road that there were last year or the year before that."

One store which supplies camping equipment reported that, while business had increased up to recently, it had dropped off again in the past two weeks.

Clothing outfitters agreed "trade was down as much as last year," while the same was repeated in most shops stocking souvenirs, gifts, novelties and sporting equipment.

It also seems more tourists are passing through the city without making an overnight stopover. Hotels and guest houses report a drop in business.

Too, a slight decrease in the number of private boats from U.S. points is at the city docks, has been noticeable.

There are however, some businessmen who have no complaints about the tourist business, while those who have do not seem to be particularly worried about it. However, no businessman likes to see the prospective buck and the probable trouble is, the tourist himself seems to have less to spend, than he did a year ago.

Since last summer there has been a dip in the Canadian and U.S. economy. Layoffs, temporary or otherwise, and strikes are current in U.S. industry.

Although it may be illogical to generalize on a local showing like this, it seems the tourist has less money to spend, than a year ago. Or if he has despite a broiling summer, he is reluctant to spend it, probably waiting until after the "broil" is over, to see whether this unusual heat wave will be one of the elements and not also of the economy.

Volume of Tourist Trade in City Reported Smaller Than Year Ago

Commit Six Men To Face Trial On Fraud Charges

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Two Bergmann Construction Company Ltd., officers and four former Ontario highway department employees were committed for trial Wednesday on charges of conspiring to defraud the Ontario government.

The six men elected trial by a higher court when they appeared before the next assize court in Ontario county.

Appearing on charges arising from the contract for construction of five and a quarter miles of road southward from the French river were Frank Bergmann, president and secretary - treasurer of the firm; John A. West, the former's general manager and Cecil H. Rose, a former chief engineer of the highway department. Donald S. Matterson, divisional--department engineer at Huntsville; and William Leonard Bowes, chief instrument man at Huntsville.

SECOND CHARGE

Bergmann, West and Nelson, along with Frank E. Phipps, assistant divisional engineer in the Fort William district, also were committed on a second similar charge laid in connection with the Sayant Lake contract in the Fort William division.

C. H. Bowes, chief crown witness, testified that there was no work progress data sheets on the Sayant Lake contract when he was transferred there in September, 1950.

Bowes testified he had to establish rolls to show work progress and was told to allow 10 cents per hour for skilled labor.

Bowes said his records showed 20,000 cubic yards of material that had actually not been moved.

West advised firm that one contract superintendent for the Bergmann firm, by letter that the work awarded $63,000 for the operations in the month of June, 1951. Another letter, another letter signed by provincial police, included the advice: "Tell Slim (Bowes), it doesn't matter whether the amount is made up on one contract or the other as long as $63,000 for the operations in the month of June, 1951."

Also presented in evidence that a $14,500 house and property in Pickering township east of here was purchased for cash in October by James Strachan. The property was owned by the Bergmann Construction Co., but registered in Strachan's name, A. H. Wells, an auditor, said he had seen the sign of Nelson paying for the house and property in the firm's records.

J. L. Zoller, financial controller of the department, told the court the Bergmann firm had had $370,-350 on a section of road north of Parry Sound, based on rough estimates. He testified the company had received payment reaching a total of $1,192,176, less a $5,000 hold-back for the work.

Canadian Aid Saved Germans From Starving

BONN, Germany (Reuters) — West German Agricultural Minister Heinrich Luebke said Wednesday that Canada's post-war aid had "helped save our people from starvation."

Luebke said visiting Canadian agriculture experts from Saskatchewan had "deep gratitude" for Canadian aid during the first post-war years.

He also urged close ties be-tween Canada. But, he said, his country could only import if she produced enough to pay for the imports—and her chief needs were raw materials and fats.

The Canadian farm experts arrived here Tuesday on a European tour which so far has included Britain, France and Switzerland.

They include Agriculture R. Johnson, secretary of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce and Mr. Leonard, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Graves of Dresden, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hamilton of Collingwood, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. George St. Michel, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snyder of Waterloo, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. John Steckle of Kitchener, Ont.

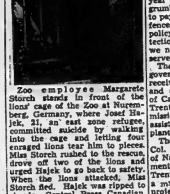
Suspended Sentence Given on Theft Charge

Two years' suspended sentence and court costs of $12.50 was the penalty handed out today by Magistrate R. C. Jackson for a College Street resident following a plea of guilty to a break and enter and theft charge.



The offence took place last January when the office of the Hillcrest Auto Wreckers on Centre Street was entered and a number of batteries and a box of tools valued at $125 were taken. The charge was laid last week after the accused sold the tools back to the owner for $5.

Provincial Police Constable C. McNutt told the court that the office window had been broken and 18 batteries and a box of tools had been taken. He said the accused had admitted in a statement to taking the articles.

A total of 31 cases was listed for hearing at the weekly county magistrate's court, the majority being for traffic offences.

Seven motorists charged with speeding paid fines and costs out of court ranging from $8.50 to $18.50. Three others charged with speeding will be personally served with summons for court appearance.

Revenue Minister McCann Officially Opens Trenton's Water Purification Plant

TRENTON (Special) — Revenue Minister Hon. Dr. J. J. McCann formally opened Trenton's $500,000 water purification plant here yesterday. The Trenton Public Utilities and the Dominion government shared the cost. Its main purpose is to provide the RCAF establishment east of here up to 1,000,000 gallons of filtered water a day. It is located on the east bank of the Trent River just north of No. 1 control dam.

Commenting on the new water project the Minister said: "I have never seen one lowelier". As he pressed the switch that sent the big pumps officially into action he remarked: "May this plant continue on its useful and necessary way".

In his address Dr. McCann viewed the world situation. "We do not believe war is close at hand," he said, "but we have to continue building defences for the next 25 years. If we don't a nuclear war would wipe out millions in a very short time."

PEACE THROUGH STRENGTH

Dr. McCann said the government realized the seriousness of the world situation. "We believe aggression should be met with aggression," he declared. He recalled that Sir Winston Churchill during his recent visit told the Canadian cabinet ministers, the surest way of avoiding war and promoting peace was to be prepared for war.

Dr. McCann warned that the atomic and hydrogen bombs placed Canada in a different position than at any other time. He assured his listeners that Canada has enough materials to make ample supplies of them. "But having these bombs and weapons is no good unless we have the people to deliver them. And those are the men of the RCAF", he said.

He said, too, that General Gruenther of the U.S., and head of NATO in Europe, considered the RCAF equal to any air force in the world.

The Minister paid tribute to the Hon. Brooke Claxton, former Minister of National Defence. Mr. Claxton had done a wonderful job in administration, he said. He made sure that the services had the best facilities the government could offer. He realized that the men in the forces were entitled to the same conveniences as they had in private life."

GOOD INSURANCE

Dr. McCann, pointing out that the government was spending 2 billion dollars on defence this year asked his listeners not to grumble too much when they had to pay their taxes. "I believe defence spending is an insurance policy that is giving us the protection we would not have had we not armed ourselves," he observed.

The Minister said he hoped the government would continue to receive the sympathetic assistance and co-operation of the citizens of Canada. He congratulated the Trenton Public Utilities Commission and those people who had assisted in making the filtration plant possible.

Hon. Revenue Minister and Col. Campbell, Deputy Minister of National Defence paid compliments to Senator W. A. Fraser of Trenton. The Senator, who took a marked interest in the water project, gives much of his time to the interests of his home town.

Speaking of the Senator Dr. McCann said: "I think you people feel under obligation to him and are thankful to him for the many things he has done for this community." This remark by the minister prompted a loud ovation from the many governmental people and district and local businessmen gathered in the pumphouse for the official ceremony.

A GREAT CITIZEN

Col. Basil Campbell, deputy minister to the defence minister, referred to Senator Fraser as a "little package of dynamite." "He might be small in stature," he said, "but he's large in vision and large in counsel." He stated that in all his travels across the country he had never found a man who worked harder for his own home town.

Chairman of the Trenton Public Utilities A. S. Atkinson introduced the speakers.

Representatives of governments present were: Dr. Fred Robertson, M.P., Frank Pollwell, M.P., Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P. Mayor Jack Both of Belleville, and Mayor Ron Burtt of Trenton were also in attendance.

Woman Finds Purse--Where She Left It

A Reynolds Crescent woman who reported her purse stolen from her baby carriage spent an uneasy half hour this morning until her purse was recovered right where she had left it—at a local department store.

The lady told police that she had left her purse in her baby carriage while she went into a downtown store. When she came back to the carriage the purse was gone.

So she notified police and then retracing her steps recovered her purse at the department store where it had been placed up by one of the employees.

Public Support For Big Defence Spending Needed

OTTAWA (CP) — An approaching problem for the government may be maintenance of public support for heavy defence expenditures.

Officials said Wednesday they foresee difficulties in this field in the next year or two if the world situation doesn't get any worse.

Canada's defence planners are thus caught in something of a paradox. They naturally want to see the world situation improve, but as—or if—it does, they feel they will have a harder time to obtain the large amounts of money they believe will still be necessary for defence.

Officials said that despite the armistice in Indo-China, the truce a year ago in Korea and an apparently reduced Communist threat in Europe, the need for heavy defence spending is likely to continue for a long time.

HEAVY OUTLAY

In the last three years, the government has spent $5,000,000,000 for defence and in the current fiscal year plans to spend more than $2,000,000,000. The total budget this year is $4,500,000,000.

Defence officials said there have been a few indications in the last few months that some Canadians would like to cut down on Canada's military commitments abroad.

In their view, Canada can't afford to relax and there is still a lot to be done to construct adequate defences against the Communist threat.

Canadian Film Being Misjudged Critic Declares

LONDON (CP) — Sir Beverley Baxter, Canadian-born film critic, today warns British movie moguls to change their minds about "The Stratford Adventure," the National Film Board of Canada's story of the Shakespearian drama festival at Stratford, Ont.

In a lengthy review in The Evening Standard, Sir Beverley says the film "moved me outrageously and made me chuckle again and again." He says it is "something new, something real; it is inspiring and amusing—it will thrill and excite any audience in any part of Britain."

But, Sir Beverley adds, he has been informed that British movie houses have turned down the film.

An NFB spokesman in London, commenting on the article, said Britain's two major film circuits had turned down "The Stratford Adventure" on grounds that it was somewhat highbrow. It will, however, be shown at the Edinburgh Festival in August.

NEW POLITICAL STAR?

Pierre Mendes-France?

That is a big name—today.

But a month ago—virtually unknown.

A month from now? Gone and almost forgotten, like a meteor flashing across the dark night of France's political chaos? Or a star of the first magnitude, burning ever brighter?

Who can prophesy with confidence? Yet who can refrain from the lure of speculation?

The dramatic announcement of the signing of an Indo-China peace agreement was made on that deadline and must have gripped the imagination of the French premier's countrymen.

Throughout the Western world acclaim will be freely interlarded with criticism. "Munich" and "appeasement" will be favored phrases. And time may prove them well chosen.

Still, we ought not to lose sight of the fact that the signing of an Indo-China truce may have repercussions in Europe at least as important as those in Southeast Asia.

The plain truth is that France is the weary of the war in their once-prized colony. For peace with honor, or even for peace with the appearance of honor, they are likely to show deep gratitude.

Even before the peace agreement was reached, it was freely reported that the stature of Mendes-France was swelling in his homeland. Now he will assume huge proportions of a giant among pygmies of domestic politics. If there be speedy and sweeping disillusionment with the bargain he has made in Southeast Asia, we may at last see the French unite their political loyalties behind one man.

And there may yet emerge in France a government firmly enough entrenched in power to be able to display courage in handling the many problems which face that land.

Mendes-France has frankly regarded the Indo-China truce as merely a prelude to the major tasks which must be undertaken. It would not be surprising if, with this question settled, he will now turn his full attention to the French stand on the European Defence Community. What that way will be does not yet appear certain. Mendes-France has been openly critical of some aspects of the formation of the proposed European Army and yet has appeared reluctant to reject the plan entirely.

It may well prove, however, that his most effective contribution to the strength of the Western world may be in revitalizing the economic strength of France itself. Mendes-France has stated that he believes reforms in the economic field, coupled with such matters as defence and national production, are the key to the restoration of France to the proud place she once held in world affairs. Many of the changes he considers necessary will never be imposed with the consent of the French population. If his success in obtaining a peace agreement in Indo-China should prove to have enhanced his prestige to a point where he can successfully brave the displeasure of pressure groups in his reform program, the Geneva conference may prove to have been a turning point in the fortunes of France.

STAY OUT OF POLLUTED WATERS

M. G. Wright, sanitary officer for Thurlow Township, has announced that the waters of the Moira River, from Frankford to Belleville, are polluted.

Earlier tests of water in the Bay of Quinte, from the eastern outskirts of the city to the western boundary, proved that the waters are polluted.

This is nothing new. Similar tests are held every summer—and similar results are announced.

Some may feel inclined to disregard these warnings this time and go ahead swimming. To any who are considering taking a chance there is only one word of sound advice—don't.

We might add that, while the cause of polio and the manner in which it is transmitted has not been definitely ascertained, most experts suspect that polluted water may play a part in spreading the disease. So, if you have a dip in polluted waters and develop a tickling a few days later, do not be too hasty in congratulating yourself. The ill effects might not become evident until some considerable time has passed. The way to avoid this suspense is simple. Bathe only in unpolluted water.

NORTH POLE NONSENSE

Want to buy a square inch of real estate at the North Pole—or is it in North Pole?

A few days ago the mailman delivered to the Ontario Intelligencer an intriguing real estate man's offer. In spite of the heat then prevailing, the offer failed to arouse any enthusiasm and the epistle made a quick trip to the wastepaper basket. We are living proof that even months later when we say that the one-inch chunks of real estate were located in a township named North Pole in Alaska. This differs somewhat from the Virginian State's understanding of the proposition. The Star thinks that these square-inch lots are located at the North Pole itself and views them as a bad bargain at the asking price of a dollar.

The editor of the Star, apparently, was not favored with an opportunity to acquire Far North real estate himself. He merely reports that the offers are being made to "residents of a Wisconsin area." We can assure him that there is no favoritism in this proposition and if he should change his mind about the desirability of North Pole ownership we will endeavor to dig through the wastepaper bales and salvage the offer received by the Ontario Intelligencer. Personally, we are in full accord with his verdict on the whole proposition:—"Even at the price of a 53-cent dollar, that kind of nothingness comes pretty high."

REASON FOR ENVY

I much admire the perfect rose
My neighbor in his garden grows.
I envy him his sturdy stocks,
The larkspurs, cosmos, the hollyhocks,
And wonder why the plants I raise
Deserve and get so little praise.

I watch him through the evening
As I work among his vines and flowers.
The time he trims, the beds he weeds,
Provides the care a garden needs.
And every bud and root and stem
Display the thought he gives to them.

I wish my lawn could be as green,
And just as his my flower beds clean.
His garden is a beauty spot
Always with bloom, but mine is not.
I wonder, can the reason be
I do not work as hard as he?

Hiding Places

(New York Times)

Readers of this newspaper have doubtless noted, in the financial page on Saturday, Stacy Jones' dry, and often witty weekly report from Washington, of the latest inventions on which patents have been granted. In a recent column Jones was the unwilling assortment of the practical, ingenious, sublime and nevertheless ridiculous; but one item, particularly, stimulates consideration. Mr. Jones, W. Smillie patented a safety box resembling a book or album, to be made particularly of stout but asbestos lining. According to the inventor, "it can be placed on a bookcase or laid on a table . . ." Presumably it is intended to protect its contents not only from fire but also from burglars, since what accompanying man conceivably would have the time or inclination for idle browsing. The inventor apparently made no suggestions for the titles to be printed on the simulated backs of the book. Just to be on the safe side, the manufacturer might choose titles like "Income Tax Dodges in the Southern Hemisphere" or "Ten Surefire Systems for Moral Ease, like "The Straight and Narrow."

At any rate, this secreting of objects hardly seems necessary if not with such sophisticated devices as the hollow steel book—as a universal panacea. The traditional sugar bowl, mattress, old shoe and such are known hiding resorts, not likely to fool even the dullest housebreaker. But actually, despite occasional tales of strangers in one's house, a little imagination in the choice of a cacher should suffice. Not so with intra-familial hiding.

Just before Christmas this difficult and fascinating game is often at its height. The presents for each member of the family who would secrete his gifts from all of the others are hidden in long-term standing will attest to this wholesale domestic treasure-burying is rarely a complete success. Somewhere in the course of the attentions of a dedicated seeker. Some hiders who, suspecting the spirit of the occasion, would not think of poking about before Christmas, find the packages just while looking for hiding places of their own. After all, how does one secrete a pogo stick, cover up a pair of skis?

Christmas hiding is a special, topical aspect of the game. Other periods are unquestioned; there is no permanent loss. But there are family situations in which hiding is always being given a definite long-range importance. Every Cleft parent is blessed with children who, left alone with a pound of candy, can devour their own weight by exactly a pound before she can open a bottle of oregonesia. And there are sportsman fathers who own guns or hunting knives and also young sons ready to search half a day with appalling thoroughness just to fondle the weapons for a few moments—or show it off anywhere tillsuay to a contemporary next door. Now, a house does have physical limits and children have unlimited leisure. And when unlimited leisure is applied to limited space the result is and only one is possible. Discovery.

The inevitable explosions for the hider is failure and another attempt. That is how the game of hiding begins. Then comes the stout search for ever new hiding places. A misstep is swallowed. Ingenuity. A research reveals a few desperate resorts and their secrecy exhausted, the hider is driven to even: which eventually leads to burning the hunting knife. The locked trunk: which turns the hunting knife to the key—and the intermediate key—a temperamental bureau drawer. Then it is on a bookcase shelf: which is soon discovered but may lure young hiders into the more sophisticated scholarly interests. The latter, however, is a trap for the unprepared. Only to produce chaos in neat clothing drawers. There is no entirely satisfactory arrangement, except perhaps in the case of family to buy great quantities of consumable amounts, and in the case of the family which knives the rental of a safe deposit vault in some nearby bank.

Drug Store Dilemma

(Christian Science Monitor)

The United States Information Agency has been given many difficult assignments. None perhaps vex the imagination more than the request to answer, over its Voice of America broadcasts, the question, "What is an American drugstore?"

In this there is little aid to be found in the dictionary. The chemist's shop, a continental apothecary, or a British chemist's bazaar. The American drugstore is a social as well as a commercial institution. The diamond will be found at the rear of the store, but also the cosmetic selections. But before you reach him you will pass a soda fountain and perhaps a counter for light refreshments, an evening paper, a display of cameras, a magazine rack, a counter for the sale of pots and pans, a wide assortment of books and magazines, a wallet, a camera, a supply of film, a display of post cards, a wrist watch, a baseball glove, a gray hat cleaner, some phonograph records, a brief to ice cream, and an evening paper. Sometimes the drug is a very part of the American druggist's business. If you are ill, however, and you are going to want next-before you have thought of it - just step into his store.

'Beefeaters' Once Tasters

(Montreal Gazette)

The other day, a picture was published of Queen Elizabeth inspecting the Yeomen of the Guard, the famous "beefeaters" who once again have been called for a question. What, if anything, have the Yeomen of the Guard to do with roast beef? Did they get extra meat rations in the days when meat was rationed, which ended only this month?

The name does have something to do with beef. The Yeomen of the Guard are the personal bodyguard of the monarch's tasters, to guard against poisoning. "Buffet de tierres." The average Englishman, of that day or this, finds foreign words difficult to pronounce, so the Yeomen became "the beefeaters."

It's the same English habit of making words short and easy which has given us "automobile" as "Chumley" and Worcester as "Wooster." Those words are the roughest handling, however, and "beefeater" isn't the only proof of it.

Where the princes used to examine their food, there is now named "La Route des Roix." Look at it now. "It's Rotten Row."

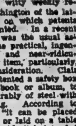
STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

PEOPLE COME FIRST

Horace Mann, the great educator, once delivered an address at a boy's reformatory and made the statement that if the entire reformatory system of the United States changed it only the boy for the better, it would be worth all it cost. Perhaps it is for that that the speech rallied Mr. Mann on his extravagant statement and said: "Wasn't that a bit exaggerated? Do you think all this expense and labor would be worth while if it saved only one boy?" "Yes," replied Horace Mann quickly, "it certainly would be worth all of that if the boy in question were my boy."



So free and easy we can be with other people's money, other people's desires, and other people's lives. When Napoleon returned from the Russian campaign and was asked if he was not appalled at his military losses, he replied jauntily, "Why should I be? We lost over 200,000 men and most of them were Germans."

We should always try to think of war in terms of our own loved ones. We may favor some military expedition, but remember that that expedition is going to take its toll in blood. We may cry out for the authorization of some public work which will cost millions of dollars, but remember that the citizenry of the country has to pay that bill. We should think of all expenditures in terms of persons—and remember that people have feelings.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY.

HOW CURE TETANY GOES UNDIAGNOSED!

Dr. Brady

Back in the halcyon days, when all clinics were what Webster says they are, one ward in the county hospital was occupied by babies exclusively — about forty or ten. Even then with up to the age of 2 years. Practically all the babies were born of illegitimate parents, many of them beautiful babies that any one could not help loving, but only rarely did one of the illegitimate parents ever come back to see a baby—five, of course—who died?

All the babies were bottle babies, and their modified milk was fresh milk from the county's cowherd. But the milk was all sterilized by boiling. Consequently, although doctors didn't understand this at the time, scurvy occurred every now and then, usually when it did the attending pediatric prescriber for the individual (1) orange juice and (3) fresh unboiled milk for a while. Both contain the same quantity of vitamin C in fresh fruit juice, and the vitamin C in fresh cow's milk, especially milk from cows on pasture. Eventually all the babies were given orange juice daily and this put an end to scurvy in the county hospital babies' ward.

To the best of my recollection there were only a few cases diagnosed during my year of internship in the county hospital—and the routine treatment for rickets was a spoonful of good cod liver oil every day.

Unlike scurvy, the manifestations and the cure of which are dramatic and striking, rickets is insidious in development and unimpressively slow in responding to treatment.

But I remember distinctly that a third nutritional deficiency disease was fairly common in the county hospital infants' ward, although it was never diagnosed. Indeed it is common today in infants and in elderly adults and still only rarely diagnosed. The disease is tetany.

An infant with tetany cries a good deal without apparent cause and perhaps in sudden spells as though frightened. It takes expert knowledge of infant behavior to recognize the wrist and/or foot spasm in tetany. Also the breath-holding spells.

In mature adults tetany more often occurs as cramps in feet or legs, sometimes in hands, in the night, cramps that are painful enough to make the victim groan or cry out.

There is more about tetany, which we need not discuss here, if you want further information send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, of course, for the pamphlet Adult Tetany.

The two standard medical textbooks I have seen make a mystery out of tetany. Only in a vague notion or no practical idea of the cause of the disease are some of the textbook writers leave the mystery right where it belongs—in the textbooks or earlier authors.

Parathyroid is the eminent authority of the glorious past conjured up the idea that some part of the parathyroid gland function might be responsible—and this has kept the "authorities" on a wild goose chase ever since.

All the doctors can take the suggestion without gagging. I have the right to say that it would do no harm to boop the tetany patient's daily intake of calcium and vitamin D.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BE A FINISHER!

There are plenty of people who get up early to start something, but what a big proportion of them quit long before anything is done, while has been accomplished. The finishers are few.

I have always been curious about the fascination horse racing has for people. I think I can understand it. In a sport the people who follow it want action. They get it in a horse race, in boxing and in wrestling. Always it is the finisher who gets the acclaim, however. Favorites are forgotten in minutes.

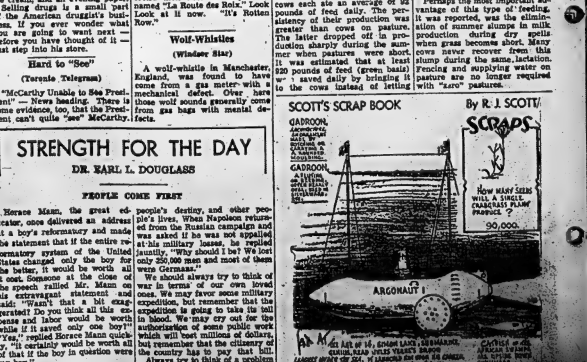
I went my way through college, but a year before I graduated I got discouraged and had a mind to leave school. But first I went to talk it over with an old friend of my father's—a noted minister. He was very kind to me and very sympathetic, but his advice still rings in my ears. He said: "My boy, don't think of quitting. Stick it out. Finish something. There are now altogether too many men with ragged edges to their character. Big things are ahead for you. Settle it out. Be a finisher!" I went back to my studies and did finish, for which I am largely indebted to that wise friend.

Many a man has given birth to an idea but didn't know how to bring it to maturity. Another rose climbed and fell the idea, never getting to it back to useful life. Our first makers of automobiles created strange looking objects but stuck to them and kept improving them, giving to them a finished form. The real finished product is yet to be!

If a thing is worth starting it is worth finishing. There is always an inward satisfaction when you have done a thing completely so if no ragged edges are left behind. We ought to watch the carpenter who is known as a finisher. He has an eye for beauty, and so perfect are some of his last touches to a job that make it look complete. Why should any of us aim to do less?

Room Service For Cow Pays

(Swift' Current Sun)



During tests, 30 head of Holstein cows were kept in their barn all summer. Each day at 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. a wagon load of green feed was harvested and fed to the cows. There was no chance on the opportunity to eat all the green "ed they could consume. The cows were weighed once a month. The result was impressive. The percentage of their production was greater than cows on pasture. The latter dropped off in production sharply during the summer when cows were short. It was estimated that at least 220 pounds of feed (green basis) saved daily by bringing it to the cows instead of letting them trample the pasture. Fertilization was an important part of the project.

Experimenters were prompt to carry out the wishes of the visitors. The first was the excessive waste which reached as high as 75% of the total grass available. This wasting represents an enormous loss of nutrients that is becoming increasingly critical as the value of land increases. Second was pasture. Cows are kept all day and night walking about and seldom have any grazing losses.

Perhaps the most important advantage of the system is the flexibility. It was reported, was the elimination of summer slump in milk production during dry spells when grass becomes short. Many cows going to pasture and this slump during the same, lactation. Fencing and supplying water on pasture are no longer required with "zero" pastures.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Stratford Festival

By Robert Tanner

On first impact Dr. Guthrie's amazing presentation of Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex," the third of this year's Stratford productions, gives the impression of something entirely new, of a theatrical style quite unique. The fantastic masks worn by all the characters, increasing with size and magnificence with the importance of the role, the scanty heavy costumes whose only decoration is the careful gathering of the material into statuesque folds, even the rather slow stylized speech, all give a strange and unearthly aspect to the performance. And yet, in fact, all these seeming novelties represent a conscious attempt to reproduce in some measure the theatrical style of drama in its glorious infancy, 2,500 years ago in Ancient Greece, when audiences of 30,000 citizens gathered to hear the works of their great dramatists.

It was the very vastness of the arenas which rendered facial expression useless and so gave rise to the masks which symbolized the wearer's character, and incidentally allowed the use of small built-in megaphones to amplify the voice. To help distinguish them, the leading actors were built up in height both by the huge shoe soles and by means of platform-soled shoes, until they stood literally head and shoulders above the rest. Within the limitations of the smaller indoor theatre, these features have been reproduced in the new Stratford presentation.

GOOD TEAM WORK

The chief credit, therefore, for the success of this production must go to Tanya Moiseiwitsch and Tyrone Guthrie, obviously working in very close collaboration. The modern treatment from head to foot of the three principal characters, Oedipus in regal gold, Jocasta his wife in beaten silver and Creon her brother in weathered bronze, give a startling impression of statues come to life. Once again, Guthrie's handling of movement reveals complete mastery, and surely that in him the world of ballet is missing a superb choreographer. The opening scene, when for a few moments the whole tent is filled with the smoke of burning incense as the citizens of Thebes come as supplicants before their king, is one that especially lives in the memory, while the clever treatment of the interval, that modern concession to human frailties that the Ancient Greeks did not recognize, gives evidence once again of that freshness of invention which is genius.

The actors' task in this play is an unusual one. With body movement restricted to a minimum and conventionalized almost into mime and facial movement completely obscured, much more emphasis is thrown onto vocal expression, with consequently increased demands upon the control and projection of the voice. Here, the fact that the play is a translation, even by so distinguished a writer as W. B. Yeats, was quite a serious disadvantage owing to the fairly frequent appearance of stilted and unnatural phrases. Perhaps as a result of all this, the general standard of acting did not appear to reach so high a level as in the Shakespearean plays; it is probable, however, that increasing familiarity with this novel medium will effect many improvements as the days go by. —

MASON REGAL FIGURE

In the title role, James Mason presented a very regal figure nobly portraying the mounting horror as the truth of his origin and unwitting sole is borne in upon him. Yet perhaps he lacks the full vocal power needed to drive home the tragic awfulness of his fate. Eleanor Stuart combines queenliness and femininity in a most convincing manner and Robert Goodier makes a very noble and dignified Creon. In other parts, Douglas Campbell was notable as the Man from Corinth, who introduces the only touch of humour into the play, while Douglas Rain as a Messenger concentrates into a few short speeches a dazzling display of vocal power and expression.

But on the acting side, the chief delight unexpectedly is the Chorus of Theban elders, led by William Hutt. A conventional part of all Greek tragedies, the Chorus acts either as a whole or through the mouth of its leader as narrator and commentator, tying the play together. As a result obviously of long hours of rehearsal and a real feeling for the words, this group carries the difficult art of choral speaking to an extremely high level and at one emotional high point in the play breaks into song, strikingly (though anachronistically) in two-part harmony. "Breaks" however is not really the right word; "drifts into song" would describe more accurately an effect electrifying in its impact.

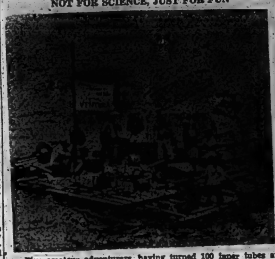
FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT

And so with a third history-making production, the second Stratford Shakespearean Festival may be considered safely launched. In the capable hands of Dr. Guthrie, its artistic success is unquestioned; with the houses often completely sold out, its financial success appears equally certain, so that we can already begin to look forward with keen anticipation to another exciting and stimulating season next year.

As an interesting footnote to the whole Stratford adventure comes the announcement of a new theatrical company to be presented by Tom Patterson, founder of the Festival, and directed by Douglas Campbell, who has appeared in all five of the Stratford plays and now intends to remain in Canada. Associated with him in this new venture is his wife, Anne Casson, daughter of Sir Lewis Casson and Dame Sybil Thorndyke, and a number of leading actors from the Stratford company.

The new group will open in Ottawa in October with Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" with Anne Casson in the title role originally written for her mother. Plans are being laid to take the show on the road and play at a number of centres in Eastern and Southern Ontario, including some which rarely if ever get the chance to see such superb talent. In the words of Tom Patterson, this is "a natural development in the growth of Canadian Theatre and an important stimulant to Canadian Actors."

Barber Pays Debt With Free Hair-Cuts



KITCHENER (CP) — One Kitchener man has apparently solved the problem of rising cost of haircuts—for a couple of years, at least.

For two years he will get his hair cut free. And, in addition, every time he steps down from the barber's chair he is paid 15 cents.

The latter, who owes the man $50, agreed to give him free haircuts until the debt is cleared.

To make the payments easier to calculate, the barber gives his friend 15 cents after the latter has received the usual 85-cent hair-cut.

Before the price jumped 10 cents the payment—about twice monthly —was a haircut plus 25 cents.

NOT FOR SCIENCE, JUST FOR FUN

Five amateur adventurers, having turned 100 inner tubes and a wire frame into a seagoing raft, take off from Venture, Calif. for Catalina Island, a distance of 70 miles. The "expedition" required one gas stove, $300 worth of canned foods, five gallons of water, a compass, thirty gallons of gasoline and equipment for keeping food cold. They called it "the poor man's Kon Tiki." Unlike other Pacific raft expeditions, this one had no scientific purpose. The ocean raft adventurers just thought it would be fun. — Central Press Canadian.

HANSEN—POLLARD

A lovely double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized on Friday, June 25, at 2.00 p.m. in Logan Temple, Logan, Utah, when President A. C. Raymond united in marriage Doris Lillian Pollard, of Provo, Utah, formerly of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Earl Pollard, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Pollard, to Jay Monroe Hansen, of Lewiston, Utah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hansen. Soft organ music was rendered throughout the ceremony.

The bride was charming in her bridal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin having a molded bodice of lace over satin with stand-up collar and satin yoke with scalloped lace edging, and long sleeves, lily-pointed over the hands. The two-tier skirt of tulle, appliqued with lace motifs, featured a Chantilly lace peplum. Her lace scalloped veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a simulated lace bonnet encrusted with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses interminged with lace loops and tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Val Dee Child of Oregon, formerly of Belleville, as matron of honor, was gowned in pale pink satin with lace motifs in ballerina length, featuring molded bodice with stand-up collar and satin yoke.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held at the Bluebird Inn, for close friends and the immediate family, and later, at the Lewiston Community Building, a reception for 300 guests. The bride's mother received, gowned in a sky blue linen suit trimmed with rhinestones. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing navy blue nylon sheer with pink carnation corsage.

For the wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park, the bride chose a pale blue orlon dress with accordion pleated skirt, white accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

During the reception, several musical numbers were rendered by Billie Loy Badgley, Mr. and Mrs. George Williams and James Ponds.

Those who served were, Mrs. Helen Williams, Mrs. Gwen Johnston and Mrs. Darlene Thompson. Miss Yvonne Smith registered the guests, and Ronald Hansen was in charge of the gifts.

SWAIN—MUTTON

CAMPBELLFORD, — Shiloh United Church in Cramahe township was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, when Rena Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mutton, was married to Donald Stewart Swain, son of Hoard Swain, of Salem, and the late Mrs. Swain. The Rev. R. A. McRae officiated.

The church was decorated with ferns, white Shasta mums, white gladioli and daisies. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Marjorie Baker, of Brighton. During the signing of the register, Miss Frances Dunnett, of Brighton, sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waltz-length gown of white nylon net with a lace bodice and an over-jacket of lace. Her fingertip veil fell from a cap effect headdress of nylon net and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible crested with a white orchid and streamers of white satin ribbon and stephanotis.

The bride was attended by her only sister, Mrs. Margaret Irish, of Peterborough, as matron of honor. She wore a gown of emerald green nylon net, with an accordion pleated inset of lime green; a headdress of white flowers and green net, and carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and ivy.

Three nieces of the bride, Misses Ann Irish, Linda Mutton and Judy Mutton acted as flower girls clad in identical gowns of lime green with three-tiered skirts. They carried white Shasta daisies.

The best man was Franklin Smith, of Marmora, and the ushers were Messrs. Roy Mutton, of Stratford, and J. Swain, of Trenton.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, where her mother received, wearing a gown of chocolate brown crepe with lace insets, a picture hat of silver green straw and a corsage of Talisman roses. The bridegroom's aunt, Miss Margaret Coffey of Toronto, also received. She wore a gown of figured grey crepe, a grey straw hat and had a corsage of red roses.

Many guests from distant points attended.

Later, the couple left for a wedding trip to Northern Ontario and a holiday at the Tally Ho Lodge in Huntsville. For travelling the bride chose a white linen dress, embroidered in black with a large black picture hat and black accessories and a corsage of red carnations. On their return they will take up residence in Burlington.

Where'd they all go? Even without free-handed little girls like this, more families ran out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. This is happening all the time. That's because Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste better to more people than any other cereal. Always have. Still do. No wonder so many women pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes every time they buy any other kind of cereal.

Fashion Flashes

The little fur, as the furriers and fashion folk term the small fur jacket or stole, has become big business, accounting for a large portion of the fur business. To most women the little fur means mink—a stole or cape stole and, if not that, at least a scarf of mink skins. A new little fur is a sleeveless, belted lumberjacket of sapphire blue mink, a beauty.

Blooming successfully just now is daisy jewelry. Huge daisies of white enamel with yellow centres, or vice versa, make beautiful pins for suits or monotone dresses. A charming import is a necklace of large black daisies of imitation straw with green crystal centres.

No half way about it, just now handbags are either huge or tiny, but the bag of moderate size is coming in. Handsome and dramatic is a large bag of real patent leather, all-over quilted in a diamond lozenge design. It has a rounded top to contrast with the squared shape.

Just about the prettiest dance dress of the season is a Jean Patou creation fashioned out of the thinnest of paper-weight taffeta, white, with a print of exquisite rose bouquets and tiny individual rosebuds and leaves. The very full skirt, with back interest, is set onto a strapless molded bodice just above the hipbone.

High color such as nasturtium and fiesta, a light but vivid strawberry pink marks the newest millinery. These strong colors are carefully handled, with but a minimum of trimming, leaving the hue to make its mark. White hats have strong shades of trimming, such as cranberry red and burnt orange.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

PROPERTY OF "GETTING IN TOUCH" IN HOME TOWN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My old home town is several states away from here, but it is where my parents still live and also quite a few of my husband's and my relatives and friends. This year, the last of August and September and I are spending our two-weeks' vacation with my parents. Two years ago, when we were for a visit there, we had a discussion which I am sure will also arise this year. It is: Should our relatives and friends, when they know we have arrived, come to see us, or are we expected to take the initiative and telephone them to ask if we may come to them? What is the rule about this?—A and B.

There isn't any rule about this, and usually the question resolves itself quite naturally — that is, anyone who wants to, come to see or telephone to anyone whom he or she is eager to see. The nearest thing to a rule would, naturally, be that you and your husband would, in the spirit of courtesy and thoughtfulness, go to your and his older relatives and older family friends. Then relatives and friends who are contemporaries of yours may get in touch with you, or you with them . . . either is proper. There's usually no reason to stand on ceremony.

SHE MAY SEND FORMAL INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm to have a rather informal wedding—church wedding followed by a reception at home. I'm going to wear a ballerina-length dress, of a lovely shade of pink, with a small jewelled hat. Besides our families and relatives, we are going to invite quite a few friends—approximately about 150 guests. I've always dreamed of having formal, nicely engraved invitations, for both the ceremony and the reception. Now I'm wondering if these would be incorrect because of the formality. I do wish Mrs. Beeckman that you would be able to tell me that it is correct for us to have the formal invitations.—Bride-S.

I'm so happy to be able to tell you, dear Bride-to-be, that it is entirely correct for you to send formal invitations for the kind of wedding you are planning, and particularly for this number of guests. (And another wonderful advantage about this kind of invitation: you may properly send them to all relatives and friends who live at a distance.)

ANNOUNCEMENTS TO FINANCE'S HOME-CITY PAPERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My family and I live here in the East. My fiance has worked in Texas for the past year, and that is where we are to live. He lived all his life (with the exception of his year of war service) with his family in California. My parents and I have already prepared the wedding at the newspaper announcements in our papers here. Now I would like to follow your advice in your column the other day, that these announcements also be published in the bridegroom's home city. How do I go about doing this?—Bride-to-be.

You may either send the announcement as you have prepared it, to your fiance's mother and ask her if she would please send it to the local newspapers there; or you may ask her for a list of the newspapers there and send the announcement direct to them, indicating the same release date as you indicated to your local papers.

Summer Coolers

By Mary Moore

To quench the mid-afternoon thirst of your young fry anticipate their pixie pie pop money by carrying out to the garden five minutes ahead of their noticing a giant pitcher full of ice-filled juice. It is better by far for them.

Let the glamor of buying those frozen sherbets on sticks overcome your discipline why don't you compete? Fill your ice trays with lemonade or orangeade, cover with plastic or aluminum foil, stick in a pop stick and freeze. Then give them a glassful of lemonade or orangeade with a frozen lemon or orange juice ice cube in it. I know you don't have a young mother who freezes a cherry in the centre of these fruit juice cubes. Saves her money in the long run.

LEMON SYRUP

(For summer beverages)

Mix together 1-2 cups each sugar and water and grated rind of 2 lemons and bring to boil. Remove from heat and add 2 cups lemon juice. Pour into glass jar and store covered in refrigerator. When ready to serve pour 1-3 cup of this syrup into each 8-oz. glass and fill with ice cubes and water.

To frost the rim of your beverage glasses this summer, dip the rim of the glass in lemon juice; then carefully in powdered sugar. Chill, right side up, until edges are frosted.

ORANGE-MINT SPECIAL

Mix together 1 1-2 cups each sugar and water and grated rind of 2 oranges and 2 lemons and 1 cup crushed mint leaves. Bring to boil, remove from heat and let cool covered. When cool add the juice of 2 lemons and 6 oranges. Do not strain out rind or mint, but keep covered in refrigerator. Use 1 part of this syrup in a glass to 3 parts of water and ice.

TOMMY'S SPECIAL

NOTE:

Tommy is underweight and does not like milk. His mother has managed to get him interested in some elementary cooking even though he is only six. This is the drink that he mixes for his own at night just before going to bed. One egg, 1-3 cup evaporated milk (he can do this himself), 1-2 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon maple syrup (his mother makes this in proportions of 1 cup sugar to 3-4 cup water and keeps it covered in refrigerator), in a milk-shake shaker shake together the yolk of the egg, the milk, the orange juice and sugar syrup with 2 ice cubes until very well mixed. Beat the egg white until stiff, then with a long spoon fold it into the drink. Pour into tall glass and sip through 2 straws—or 4 straws if you want to be like Tommy.

I have a wonderful dividend for you today that is not a beverage.

SUPERIOR ORANGE ICE CREAM

Two cups orange juice (this may be fresh orange juice or diluted frozen orange juice concentrate, or canned. Fresh is best.) 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1 egg yolk, 1-2 cup each water and milk, 1 cup sugar and 1 cup heavy cream whipped. In top of double boiler over boiling water beat the orange juice and rind until lukewarm. Beat the egg yolk slightly and stir the milk into it — then stir them into the orange juice until blended and let heat, covered 10 minutes, stirring about three times. While that is going on mix together the sugar and water and bring to boil stirring constantly until it boils, then turn heat down as low as possible and cook 3 minutes without stirring. Stir sugar syrup into orange mixture. Remove from heat and cool. Pour into trays of freezer and freeze until there is a 1-inch rim of frozen cream around edge. Remove to cold bowl, break it up, then beat with rotary or electric beater until smooth but not melted. Whip cream, and fold it in and return orange cream to tray and freeze until firm. Six or eight servings.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A SOLDIER CAN'T MEET THE TYPE OF GIRL HE LIKES

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 22, and a soldier stationed near a large city here in the states.

My problem is that I would like to get married, but I am finding it hard to meet girls. I am pretty quiet myself, and prefer a girl of the same type, but since the crowds at dances and other events to which soldiers are invited are pretty free and noisy, it seems I have no opportunity to meet the kind of girls I like. I have tried churches, schools and clubs, but to no avail, so I would really be glad to get any help on my predicament.—Ron.

Dear Ron:

I am very surprised that you find it so hard to meet the quiet type of girl you like. Usually, the hostesses at the USO, on whose stationery you write me, are of all temperaments—gay, lively, assertive or more retiring.

What I would suggest is that you go to someone at the USO, or perhaps directly to the local headquarters of the YMCA, and have a frank talk with someone there, explaining that you are rather shy and reserved and are not at ease with the livelier girls. I think it would be better if you weren't quite so frank about wanting to meet girls so that you could get married, as that sounds as though there might be danger of your becoming engaged, or even married, on the impulse of the moment, and no one would want to marry a boy away from home do that.

Even though you say you have failed to find friends in the local churches, that situation would, no doubt, be easily remedied if you would speak, also, to the minister of some one of the churches and explain your problem to him. I'm sure there must be many nice families in the city you mention who would be only too glad to entertain a lonely GI if he were introduced and hospital equipment to safety.

A CHILD awakened by a bad dream can usually be soothed quickly by this special bit of fantasy. Parents-consult a large specialist where she can locate the fragrance can be called "Texas Dream Drops." They'll drive away the scary thoughts like magic.

Try these suggestions and let me know how you make out.

GET READY FOR DATING BY GLAMORIZING DOWN MIGHT NOW!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 13 years old and all the boys laugh at me. You think it could be because I weigh so much? I weigh 143 pounds.—A.J.

Dear Anj:

You're a little young to be worrying about the figure, but at the same time, I think you'd be smart to start right now getting yourself slimmed down so that, when the right time does come for you to be dating out with boys, you will be so attractive that you won't have any trouble getting dates. Anyhow, 143 pounds is, of course, far too much weight for a girl of your age to be carrying around, and you'd be healthier, as well as more attractive, if you'd drop some of them.

Don't try any trick diets, or pills sold on the market, however. Ask your mother if she won't let you go to your family doctor and get him to tell you just how to reduce safely. I'm sure if you do, you'll find yourself a lot happier in every way.

RESCUE PATIENTS

DETROIT (CP)—About 1,000 volunteers Wednesday rescued 45 patients from fire at a private hospital in nearby Bloomfield township. No one was injured. Firemen said the blaze started when their cars to give aid when they saw flames jumping 20 feet into the air. They helped nurses and doctors carry patients, many of them aged, and hospital equipment to safety.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

KEEP FIT AND SAVE ON THE BEAUTY UPKEEP.

Women expect too much of vanishing and treatments at the beauty parlor. These help a lot of course, and do play a part in the maintenance of beauty and appearance, but they will be of no help if a woman does not, in addition, take care of her health. If you don't feel well, you won't look well.

Today's ideal woman is strong, healthy, capable. She has curves—shapely curves should be and she enjoys a sense of vitality that she places. She is a girl who is alive!

With life as hectic as it is these days, it is especially important for a woman to keep in form. She must have a balanced diet, some outdoor life. She needs regular hours of sleep to recharge her energy batteries and a period of relaxation during the day, if possible, let the mind worry about something she should get through with it as fast as she can and then bar thoughts of it by wholesome channels.

Emotional stress and these deficiencies are both common causes of nervous exhaustion, therefore one should strive to acquire peace of mind and pay special attention to the food she eats as she does to her children's.

SHOULD SEEK MARKETS

DELHI, Ont. (CP) — Foreign markets for Canada's tobacco can be doubled within five years if less effort is put into seeking them, Dr. N. A. Macrae of the central experimental farm, Ottawa, said Wednesday. He was addressing growers at the field day of the Dominion experimental substation here.

Is Glad to Have Been Here And Shall Be Glad to Leave Says English Wife at Kitimat

By ERUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITIMAT, B.C.—(CP)—Wolves howled on the mountains and bears patrolled the woods when Sheila Wynne-Jones arrived here from England two years ago with five children and a dog.

She came to join her husband Sid, an Aluminum Company of Canada engineer on the $350,000,000 Alcan project—the building of a smelter at the site of a former Tsimpsean Indian village 400 miles north of Vancouver.

She stayed to watch the beachhead camp spring into a lusty community of nearly 4,000 (mostly men) and at 36 she and Sid are expecting "our first little Canadian citizen" this summer.

HOPE FOR A BOY

The largest family in Kitimat, they're hoping for a boy to play with Tim, 13, and to be a brother to sisters Jennifer, 15; Diana, 12; Wendy, 11, and Bryony, 8.

Sheila comes from Little Sutton in Cheshire and would like to go home "just for a visit."

Unlike the many wives who have been captivated by life in the Canadian Northwest, she would "definitely" like to leave Kitimat. "It was very exciting to watch Kitimat grow from nothing," she said, "but we want to see more of our new country."

There were only 20 houses to when Mrs. Wynne-Jones, formerly a private secretary to a wool merchant, ushered her family into the clearing on the northern British Columbia coast.

BIGGEST OUT FURNITURE

"We lived for seven weeks before our furniture came out," she said.

Today, the carved English oak table, the sideboard, the tall, straight-backed chairs, contrast with the plain dining of the bedroom house they rent.

That first year the family would file in from listening to the wolves and Sheila learned to bake her own bread, keep house and look over five small children who liked to play in the woods.

Little Sutton seemed far away one day when Sheila and the children, on reels in a picnic there, the Kitimat river, flushed a bear.

"We ran," she recalls.

REMEMBER EARLY DAYS

Only the three oldest girls can remember England. Jennifer misses "the fields." Wendy remembers "thatched cottages" and Diana "the garden at home."

Sheila misses her hairdresser.

Wynne-Jones is a name he never uses) thinks back on the sports. He watched Roger Bannister run in England and wondered if he would be able to see him again at the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer.

Cleaning is another problem in a land where the constant rain turns the roads into muck. "Dry-cleaning has to go 800 miles round-trip to Vancouver and takes 10 days," Sheila says.

But there are compensations. One is the floating coffee sessions when the wives go from one house to another throughout the week.

FRIENDLY CANADIANS

What do they particularly like about Canada? The friendly people," Sheila said. The food" was the unanimous choice of Jennifer, Wendy, Diana, Timothy and Bryony.

Jennifer has taken over as "assistant mother," leaving Sheila time for outside interests. She is a former vice-president of the ladies' social club and of the Parent - Teachers' Association of which Wynne is secretary and we learned square-dancing.

She and one of the girls joined a badminton club and her three "big girl guides." They camp out and come home smelling of wood smoke.

Life has been rigorous in Canada's north — 90-degree summer temperatures and in winter, sub-zero and snow three feet deep. The first phase of the Aluminum Company project is nearly finished and Wynne is engaged mostly in townsite planning.

"We are glad to have been here," Sheila says, "and we shall be glad to go. We want to see more of Canada."

Rhee's Dream of Re-United Korea Viewed As Hopeless

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL (AP) — President Syngman Rhee leaves Saturday for Washington, probably to be told that there is almost no hope of realizing his fondest dream—a republic of Korea embracing the Communist-ruled north.

Ostensibly the 79-year-old president is going to Washington to discuss a new unification policy with President Eisenhower, since the Geneva conference failed to reach a Korean settlement. And publicly he still rallies South Korea's 21,000,000 people with the cry "go north."

But an informed governmental source says privately that Rhee has all but abandoned hope of seeing this divided and war-shattered peninsula reunited before he dies.

President Eisenhower's Far East advisers, almost certainly have told him that North Korea must be written off as a loss to the Communists, observers here say.

Intelligence reports from North Korea indicate Red China has turned the area into a vassal state tied tightly to Peiping both politically and economically.

If unification is all but a dead issue, the agenda for the Washington talks slated to open Monday will include the urgent need of pumping more vigor into South Korea's economy and strengthening its army.

Eisenhower has called in some of his top experts on Korea for conferences before Rhee's arrival.

He is expected to seek additional advice from Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who just completed a three-month survey of U. S. Miuitary assistance programs in Korea, Japana, Formosa and the Philippines.

No one here will predict the outcome of the important talks in Washington, but all agree that Eisenhower will go into the sessions thoroughly briefs on South Korea's varied and troublesome problems.

Thorncliffe Annexation Order Confirmed

TORONTO (CP)—An order of the Ontario municipal board providing for annexation by suburban Leaside of Thorncliffe race track, has been confirmed by the Ontario government, it was reported Wednesday night.

The order, made last April, turned over to Leaside a 387-acre tract marked for development as an industrial and residential area.

Both East York and North York townships protested the order of the board on the grounds that only 19 acres of the race track are in Leaside, while 221 acres are in East York and 156 acres in North York.

In its decision the board ruled that Leaside could best provide water and sewerage facilities for development of the area.

'Mr. Montreal' May Retire

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Montreal may be going to retire.

City Hall became alive with rumors Wednesday that Camillien Houde, colorful seven-time mayor of Canada's largest city may shortly propose his own resignation to the city administration.

The mayor is due to come up for re-election in October.

Officials speculated on Mr. Houde's retirement when the mayor's chief of secretariat was transferred to another post on the municipal staff. Last month the mayor's personal bodyguard was also appointed to a new job.

They said the mayor, who is eligible for a $12,000-a-year pension on retirement, may have been acting on the principle that a new chief executive does not like to inherit his predecessor's chief secretary and other close aides.

Meantime the genial Mr. Houde had no comment for inquiring newspaper men on his future plans.

However sources close to the mayor said he has asked the municipal law department for an opinion on what steps he should take if he resigns before the end of his current term.

New Guide Book To Moscow Has No Maps

MOSCOW (AP)—They've issued the first guide book to Moscow since the war, but you do not find in it a lot of information you usually look for in a guide book.

For instance, it doesn't give the population of Moscow. Nor are there any maps—even of the subway system, although bits of it are described extensively in word and picture.

The 456-page, hard-cover book is printed by a branch of the state publishing trust.

It contains numerous pictures of museums, hospitals, parks, beaches and some skyscrapers, and also of the Kremlin.

There are no pictures of factories.

As for population, best guesses are that pre-war Moscow of four million has grown to some six million.

The Russians keep the population of Moscow a secret. Maps of cities are also considered secret—documents for official use only. This is presumably why no map of Moscow is included in the guide book.

Purges Maintain 'Quality' Of Commie Party

LONDON (Reuters)—Communist party purges have left the world total fewer than 30 million, latest figures published in Moscow indicate.

Yet, under Communist sway today, are countries totalling more than 900 million persons. They include the 200 millio. of the U.S.S.R. and the 600 million of China.

Today, there is not a single country in the world without a Communist movement—legal or illegal—says a booklet called "The Agitator's Notebook" issued by the central committee of the Soviet Communist party.

The membership figures illustrate this Moscow principle that there should be a restricted "quality," rather than quantity, membership in the party, which should be regarded as a "leader and tutor" of the masses. In Russia and several other Communist states, a candidate has to pass severe tests and close scrutiny before being accepted as a full party member and there are periodical purges to keep the membership up to standard.

Minto

MINTO — The July meeting of Salem W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Stan Thompson on Thursday afternoon.

Denies Husband Knew in Advance Of Japs' Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says it's ridiculous to contend that her husband knew in advance of the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

Admiral Robert Theobald, in his recent book, "The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor," wrote that President Roosevelt knew of the attack and failed to notify military commanders in Hawaii.

In her regular column in McCall's magazine, Mrs. Roosevelt writes:

"I am quite certain my husband did not know about Pearl Harbor in advance.

"Notification to the people in the field would have come from the military generals anyway, and not directly from my husband. But to suppose that he knew and deliberately withheld such information from the people in command is simply ridiculous."

Oppose Proposed Move Of Sir John's Statue

HAMILTON (CP)—The statue of Sir John A. Macdonald moved once since its unveiling 61 years ago in downtown Hamilton, may be moved again.

But it will not be moved without opposition from local Conservative ranks.

"Over my dead body," declared councillor Jack Macdonald, when he heard a suggestion by a Liberal member of Parliament that the statue be moved from the Gore Park extension to a point nearer the flagpole.

"Sir John was not just a run-of-the-mill politician," Con. Macdonald said. "I would not like to see him placed in a less prominent position than he is now. After all, he was the founder of our country."

The spot where the statue now stands would be shared by busts of Sir Robert Borden and William Lyon Mackenzie King.

Thomas H. Ross, Liberal member of Parliament for Hamilton East, had suggested to the parks board that the Gore Park extension should be reserved only for the cenotaph that stands there. He would have Sir John's statue placed near the flagpole flanked by other monuments of former premiers.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop started to smoke the first half of his 2nd cigar, saying to me, It's a bit early, perhaps, but it occurs to me we haven't made any plans for a summer vacation.

Why William, do you really mean we'll be able to experience this year? ma said, and pop said, Well, not exactly. The cost of living hasn't gone down, and the commission on insurance policies hasn't gone up. But from my experience with vacations, the pleasures of anticipation always exceed the pleasures of the reality, so why not injoy a little free planning? If you have any suggestions, my dear, there's no reason not to speak freely, he said.

Well, goodness, as long as the sky is the limit, I mile as well plan a trip to Paris France, with an unlimited letter of credit that will make me a welcome site to all the famous dressmakers and hat designers, ma said. What are you planning, William? she said, and pop said, I'm thinking of a little jaunt to the Austrian Alps. Not that I'm fond of mountains, but I understand that it's a good part of the world to pick up a meerschaum pipe reasonably.

Do you want to hear what I'm planning? I said. I'm planning a trip to the bottom of the Indian Ocean in a glass submarine to study the octopusses so I can write an intriting composition for school, I said; and ma said, Well now that that's all settled, William, you better jot down a memo-rial note to patch the holes in the screens before the mosquitoes plan a nice long vacation as our house guests.

POTATO PRICE UP

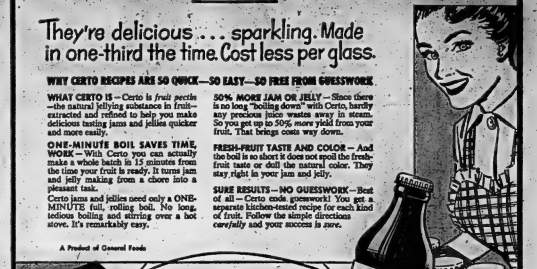
They're delicious . . . sparkling. Made in one-third the time. Cost less per glass.

WHY CERTO RECIPES ARE SO QUICK—SO EASY—SO FREE FROM GUESSWORK

WHAT CERTO IS—Certo is fruit pectin—the natural jellying substance in fruit—extracted and refined to help you make delicious tasting jams and jellies quicker and more easily.



ONE-MINUTE BOIL SAVES TIME, WORK—With Certo you can actually make a whole batch in 15 minutes from the time your fruit is ready. It turns jam and jelly making from a chore into a pleasant task.

Certo jams and jellies need only a ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil. No long, tedious boiling and stirring over a hot stove. It's remarkably easy.

50% MORE JAM OR JELLY—Since there is no long "boiling down" with Certo, hardly any precious juice wastes away in steam. So you get up to 50% more yield from your fruit. That brings costs way down.

FRESH-FRUIT TASTE AND COLOR—And the boil is so short it does not spoil the fresh-fruit taste or dull the natural color. They stay right in your jam and jelly.

SURE RESULTS—NO GUESSWORK—Best of all—Certo ends guesswork! You get a separate kitchen-tested recipe for each kind of fruit. Follow the simple directions carefully and your success is sure.

Jury Trying Wilbert Coffin Hears Police Officers Tell Of Finding Hunters' Remains

PERCE, Que. (CP)—Two provincial police officials Wednesday night told the jury trying Wilbert Coffin the gruesome details of finding the remains of three American bear hunters in the Gaspe bush.

Maurice Hubert, 44-year-old police photographer and artist, told of finding part of a skeleton 10 miles from Murdochville, in the Gaspe wilderness. He said the remains were later identified as those of Eugene Lindsey, 47, of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Hubert said there was very little flesh left on the skeleton. Police said it had been eaten away by bears the ink had set out to hunt.

OTHER DISCOVERY

Capt. Raoul Sirois testified that he discovered the bodies of Richard Lindsey, 17, and Albert Claar, 20, near a deserted logging camp about a mile from where the elder Lindsey was found. Parts of the bodies were littered over a wide area.

He said two boots containing the lower parts of the legs of Richard Lindsey were found some distance from the rest of the body.

Capt. Sirois also displayed a woolen jacket and sweatshirt said to belong to the younger Lindsey. Police photographs showed each garment had a hole above the heart.

Coffin is charged specifically with the murder of Richard Lindsey.

Most of the session was taken up with photographs of the bodies and the district where they were found. A map outlining the area also was introduced as evidence.

DENIES STATEMENTS

Earlier in the day, Jean-Guy Hamel, 29-year-old former employee of defence counsel Raymond Maher, appeared for arraignment before Judge Maurice Brasset in another room of the courthouse on a perjury charge arising from his testimony Tuesday.

Hamel denied statements attributed to him by police, in which he allegedly fixed the blame for the murder on Coffin. He also denied he ever told police he had helped dispose of the murder weapon.

His denials came at a court session with the jury barred. Earlier Wednesday Mr. Justice Gerard Lacroix ruled the police statements were not admissible as evidence.

Maher, also implicated in the disposal, of the gun in statements attributed to Hamel by police, has not been present at the trial for the last two days.

Francois Gravel, his assistant, said he was out interviewing witnesses and would appear soon before the court to "supply important information on the testimony heard which greatly involved his integrity."

Witnesses Crowd CNE Grounds For Convention

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly 15,000 Jehovah's Witnesses crowded the Canadian National Exhibition Grandstand Wednesday at the opening session of the Watch Tower Society's annual five-day convention.

The rally is expected to swell to 17,000 witnesses as delegates arrive by train, bus and car from Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Hundreds of babies and many older children were among the Wednesday's audience, welcomed by Canadian chairman Percy Chapman.

TO PREACH

Toronto Mayor Does Not Plan Rent Issue Meet

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Leslie Saunders said Wednesday he will not call a summer session of city council to reconsider extension of rent controls beyond Sept. 2, unless he receives a petition signed by 12 councillors.

A brief presented to Toronto board of control earlier Wednesday by the tenant-ratepayers of Toronto said the association had the signatures of eight members of council and that four more councillors might sign their petition.

The ratepayers', brief urged the convening of a special city council meeting before Sept. 2 and suggested the rent control period be extended to March, 1955.

Rents in Toronto are "probably the highest in North America," the brief said.

OPEN TALKS

HAMILTON (CP) — Conciliation talks between the Steel Company of Canada and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) open here today to try to avert a threatened strike of 6,500 workers at the company. The workers have been asking for a 15-point contract including a general 8½-cent-an-hour raise.

Stab Bear With Penknife To Save Boy at Toronto Zoo

TORONTO (CP) — A 600-pound polar bear clamped his teeth on the arm of a nine-year-old boy who was feeding him peanuts at Riverdale Zoo Wednesday and tried to drag him through the cage bars.

Larry Williamson's right arm was severely mangled before spectators rescued him by kicking the bear, hitting it with sticks and stabbing its nose with a penknife.

He was taken to hospital in semi-conscious condition, mumbling: "I guess the bear didn't like peanuts."

The boy was grabbed by the bear after he scaled a wire-mesh fence and stood feeding the animal in a pit where watchmen patrol the cages. He was mauled for nearly five minutes.

Five men, a woman and three boys rescued him. They climbed the fence and drove off the animal.

Larry's father, Howard, was playing baseball on a diamond near the east Toronto zoo when the accident happened. He took the boy to hospital for emergency treatment.

Indian Village Uncovered Near Midland

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP) — An archaeologist said Wednesday he has found evidence of a palisaded Indian village, 400 feet long by 200 feet wide, built long before the white man came to Huron county near here.

"For the first time we have an opportunity to uncover in this part of Ontario a substantial prehistoric Indian site which is relatively undisturbed," said Wilfrid W. Jury, curator of the Museum of Indian Archaeology and Pioneer Life at the University of Western Ontario.

He said the site, located on a farm six miles south of here, has only been surface plowed. Seven to 10 inches down in the sandy loam, carbonized wood has been excellently preserved.

LUCKY AGAIN

TORONTO (CP) — Steve Muchajiler, 37, of Toronto, was pulled from his car by two men seconds before it was thrown 80 feet by a Canadian National Railway freight train in the east end of the city Tuesday.

Muchajiler had purchased the car with some of the $2,000 he won last March in the Irish sweepstakes. It was his first car.

370 Attend Annual Lawn Social at Wellman's School

RAWDON — On Friday evening, despite the cool weather, approximately 370 children and adults attended the annual lawn social at Wellman's school grounds under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association Board.

Two softball games were played with public school pupils from Wellman's and Bethel playing a team from Williams and Allen public schools at Mount Pleasant. The score was 23-21 in favour of the Wellman's and Bethel group. The was played in the adjacent school grounds.

In a nearby field another softball game was scheduled with a score. This was played in the group from Wellman's. The score was 17-15 in favor of Wellman's.

A tug-of-war between Burnt Irse and Rawdon circuit resulted in a slight victory for the visitors. A series of races was enjoyed with the children as contestants.

On the grounds was a confectionery and ice cream booth in joint effort. The ladies of Bethel appointment sponsored a sale of homemade candy. The ladies of Mount Pleasant had a parcel sale, which sold at a quarter each, and the Wellman's ladies sponsored a fish pond corner for the children.

The gate receipts showed 220 paid admissions. All children of public school age, as well as all those having a part in the program were admitted free. Visitors were in attendance from Trenton, Havelock and all nearby points.

A picnic supper was served about 6.30 p.m., consisting of sandwiches, pickles, cheese, cake and pie.

BAND CONCERT

At 10 p.m., Pipe Major Harry Anderson and Havelock Pipe Band, presented a program of pipe duets and band selections in the school yard. Following this the Pipe Major introduced the individual selections which were given on the school steps, with pipe accompaniment. This was "Highland Fling" by Misses Helen Anderson, Carol Anderson, Linda McCready, Betty Linn and Beverly Mann; solo "Sword Dance" Linda McCready; Skean Truesbe Reel and Carol Anderson; dual sword dance, Helen and Carol Anderson; tap number with pipes, Linda McCready; Highland Fling, Carol Anderson; Sailors' Hornpipe — Helen Anderson.

The band was generous with its music and was still playing as the large crowd left for home at midnight. They were all dressed in costume and their appearance marked the band beside the children who gave individual numbers.

The social was successful and the parsonage board will have approximately $115 to add to their yearly allotment from each appointment.

Colorful Commonwealth Athletes Arrive for British Empire Games

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The contending arrival of scores of athletes from many parts of the world made it plain today that these British Empire Games are something but a misnomer.

They poured in Wednesday, until all hours of the night, smiling, happy and sporting brightly-colored blazers.

They came from Uganda and Kenya—big black-skinned fellows who look every inch athletes—and they came from England, Scotland and Northern Ireland. They were lithe, snappy and with every evidence of being athletically fit and ready. Late Wednesday night, the Pakistan and Nigeria teams arrived. More are still to come, but the arrivals now are dwindling daily. Another big contingent is due Sunday—the men's track and field team from England with the great Roger Bannister.

When all are finally assembled there will be about 800 athletes, representing 35 countries, housed in the busy Empire Village on the University of British Columbia grounds.

The nine-man team from Kenya and the five-man team from Uganda arrived late in the morning. Hours later came a full plane load from the United Kingdom. Aboard were the girls' track and field team from England and the English cycling and boxers; the Scottish team of 25 intact—track and field, boxers, swimmers, cyclists and wrestlers; the eight-member Northern Ireland team of eight, track and field and swimmers.

The Kenya team is managed by Arthur Reeves, an Englishman who serves as a sports director for the government in the African colony. He and his nine athletes—only three of whom speak English—are housed in Swahili, a tongue common to all tribes of Kenya.

Two of Evans' men have peculiarly marked ears. One big fellow, a javelin thrower, has large holes in the lobes. Another has a curly-cue twist to his right ear—something even a boxer or wrestler can't duplicate with the best of cauliflower ears. These peculiarities denote the man's tribe.

Evans thinks highly of a three-miler he has, named Nyandika Maiyore, who ran in England and gained plenty of experience in finishing third to Fred Green and Chris Chataway.

One of Evans' prize packages is a high-jumper, John Lenemiris, who has done six-feet-seven in competition in his homeland but has slipped off to about six-three or so. There are no sprinters on the Kenya team.

Bluebirds Drop 13-4 Verdict To Point Anne

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

The Point Anne Cementmen dominated both the city and district softball league during the past month with top-sided victories, and they continued the same pace last night by downing the Bluebird Yankee 13-4 to mark their eleventh consecutive win.

Between a thirteen hit attack, which included safe hits by every starting player, and a neat five-hit pitching effort by Pat Marcle, the winners had little trouble in stopping Bill Spafford's squad. They added seven runs in the fourth after taking a 3-0 lead in the early innings and finished with singletons in each of the last three frames. The Bluebirds got one in the fourth and came up with one good inning, the seventh, to send the other batters home, but they were held hitless in the final two innings.

Marcle went all the way to gain his victory while surrendering five hits, one a home run. He whiffed seven and walked three. Bruno McCurdy was the mound victim for the Bluebirds and although he was tagged for 13 solid hits, seven errors by his mates added considerably to his troubles. McCurdy got three on strikes and gave six free passes while hitting one.

The league-leaders went out to show their supremacy in the first inning but McCurdy pulled out of trouble with the bases loaded. They bunched singles by Sero, Warshaugh and Hull plus an error on the second frame to get one run while Pat Marcle's Texas-league single scored a pair in the third. A single by Leo Goyer and Wallbridge's outfield error put the runners on base earlier.

Hull reached base on an error to open the fourth-inning nightmare and a three-base error allowed him to score. Green then blasted a triple for another marker. Wade was safe on another error and Sero singled as did Bill Strahan for an 8-0 score. Marcle's infield out, a walk to Warshaugh, White's error on a routine grounder and Bob Strahan's single capped the score to 10-0.

Bobby Green hit a long home in the fourth that cleared the left-field fence for one Bluebird run. An error, followed by three hard singles off the bats of Fred Russell, Leo St. Denis and Pete Green accounted for the other tallie in the seventh.

Sero's double, plated one for the winners in the seventh, two walks and Green's single got the 12th while Marcle scored home on the final with a long triple in the ninth.

Nick Sero had a good night with the hickory, pounding out a pair of hits, singles while double and two singles each and John Green each clained a triple and single. Onetaggers were Warshaugh, the Strahan brothers, Hull, Goyer and Wade.

Bob Green homered with singles for Russell, St. Denis, Day and Pete Green.

Line ups—Pt. Anne: Warshaugh, Hull, Bob Strahan, Green, Goyer, Wade, Sero, Mulholland, Bill Strahan, and Marcle.

Spills, Thrills Mark Kinsmen Stock Car Races

It was hell-for-leather at the Fairgrounds last night when 12 stock car drivers smashed their chariots in mechanical bouts through the first of a new weekly series of races featuring the yells and crocks.

Sponsored by Belleville Kinsmen, the event also marks a new departure for the club into the scorched field of the souped-up junk heaps.

There were three spills and one minor pileup but there was no serious injury to any of the misshapen jalopies.

The aficionados of this giddy sport first night about 750 attended, and seshers for excitement from the word go. George Jones of Belleville pulled the injected on their nerves by snatching first in the opening heat; Bud Young won the second heat and Dusty Sandford the third.

Sandford came through with another win in the first semi final while Goldie Goldfinch, Kingston, took the second heat.

Kingston's Wes Thomson took a flip in the first semi final but returned uninjured. George Jones and Ted Broad, Belleville, also took spills but escaped unscathed.

Early in the race an elderly man was struck by a stock car and removed to hospital, he was treated for head injuries and released. OZ officials said. John Demorest, Trenton, was watching the race on the ground near the track, when the car hit him.

Orchestrating Harold Marshall, Cartwville, received a flesh wound when a motor fan broke and while he was repairing an engine and struck him on the arm. He was released from hospital after treatment.

Shore Wins Two for Leafs; Wings Drop Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Anyone doubts the importance of a top relief pitcher, he need only take a look at the International league standing, which shows Toronto Maple Leafs' 11 games out front.

The reason? Among other things, big Ray Shore, who has chalked up seven victories against one defeat.

Shore turned his fireman's helmet twice Wednesday night and got credit for the Leafs' double conquest of Buffalo Bisons, 5-4 and 10-4. He relieved Ruby Minarcin in the sixth inning of the first game and came on in the third and lasted until two were out in the ninth of the nightcap.

Ed Stevens' 11th home run of the season decided the opener. In the second game the Leafs had to come from behind when the Bisons scored five runs off three Leaf pitchers in the first inning. After taking over, Shore sailed along until he began to tire in the ninth and loaded the bases with two out. Jack Crimian got the last man.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, Havana Cuban Sugar Kings won a doubleheader from Ottawa Athletics 3-1 and 2-1, Montreal Royals swept a twin bill from Richmond Virginians 10 and 3-1, and Syracuse Chiefs beat Rochester Red Wings 1-0.

Julio Moreno was ahead all the way to win the first game for Havana. Saul Rogovin won the draw in the winning run with a single in the fifth.

Ken Lehman and Tom Lasorda hurled fine ball for the Royals. Lehman gave up only two hits and Lasorda five in the second game. The Royals' only run off Irv Medlinger in the twilight affair was unearned, while Rocky Nelson provided the winning margin of the second game with his 20th home run of the year.

The Red Wings dropped a game and a half to the Leafs when Woody Smith hit a single with the bases loaded in the ninth to give the Chiefs their victory. Jack Meyer tossed his second straight shutout.

LONG MAY HE WAVE

Baseball is a funny game. Nine players take active part in it on the field—another nine, more or less, sit on the bench, ready for what may happen. The teams are entitled to one manager (official) and two or more coaches, (official). It is the only game extant, and has anywhere from twenty to five hundred extra managers and coaches in the stands.

They are there by the shining right of two or three quarters, a half-dollar—or whatever the tab may be. That entitles them to the self-appointed capacity of coach, manager or president of the club.

The coin of the realm, in exchange for a tiny piece of pasteboard, gives the fan the right to exercise his vocal chords. He can recite Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg, Hamlet's soliloquy, the Lord's Prayer, excerpts from Songs of a Sourdough, maidens from "Casey at the Bat". He can use English, French, Spanish, Uhangi, Senegalese, Chinese, Upper Slobbovian, Zwisk's Island, or any other language in which he is proficient. Any or all are sometimes garnished with some colorful dashes of profane.

He can insult nine, ten, eleven or twelve (depending on the number of umpires) people collectively or individually, all at one breath. Rarely, if properly incensed, he has been known to toss "pizza corpses" at umpires. For this indication of sentiment, if caught, he is sternly but briefly frown upon the park by an assaulting limb of the law, who secretly wishes the culprit's aim had been better.

But he is in his glory when using a vocabulary copyrighted by the Royal and Ancient Antediluvian Order of Baseball Fans, (see your newspaper for the number of the local).

It is quaint, novel, humorous (generally), critical if the home team is losing, and sarcastic for the fee if the local Jones boys are leading.

The fire of his feelings is always smouldering. It can burst into a mushroom of verbal flame if the object of his ardire as much as flips an eyelid in his direction—or less likely, by handling it after effort, gives notice that he has heard the remarks. This is special treatment, reserved as a rule for the umpires.

Generally his criticism is along the humorous line. Veteran baseball-goers will tell you that it is a day lost when they attend a game and do not hear at least one fan sally as original as the apple that caused the downfall of mankind.

And his remarks vary their targets. Quite often he will engage in a verbal embrogilio with fans of the opposing team. This starts a double feature. Like the one the lady fan sailed the other night, "Aw shaddup, you've got a mouth big enough to hold three sets of teeth." A biting remark, but which drew the retort, "Yeah? They could hang a man down the top of yours."

Then there is the coach-manager type. This fan starts the "ball" or the "back-slaps" the minute the team takes the field for the pre-game workout. "Yer the lovvy-mike" his yell soars. "Yeahh what he's got plenty of that! That guy couldn't stop a balloon in a hangar", or "Well, that's better, that schmoe he had out there the other day was as useless as a horn on a jet plane."

But all fans have one thing in common—umpire baiting. The poor men in blue "The Three Blind Mice" as they have been dubbed verbally, and musically, are the butts of fan humor, sarcasm and sometimes venom.

They are not only blind, but senile, stupid and "whatsisit" ever told you you could umpire? It is remarkable how the old numbers of fandom can see through, around, and across the pride arbiter, while the corners of the plate are as clear to his vision as the popcorn in the hand of the kit next him. Strikeouts for the hometown batter and walks for the visiting twirler would reach preponderous figures if John Fan scored the game as he sees it.

But there is nothing you can do about it. The good-natured and other patter of the fans is as important a part of the baseball scene as the pitcher. Imagine a crowded ball-park with a dramatic situation in hand, and 50,000 people sitting like mummies in an Egyptian tomb. As the Irishman said when he saw his first giraffe, "It's a dom lie; there ain't no such thing."

It is the fan's irrefutable right to "blow his top" as he sees fit, "Yer a fernaloaf" either tearfully or loud by way of airing the privilege. After all he pays his money—lives in a democratic country, and if through his exuberance he runs into trouble, there is no one to blame but himself—and another fan. Long may he rave.

"BUNNY" SPEAKS

"This is going to be on the up-and-up and no behind-the-back shenanigans," said the venerable "Bunny" Dunlop, referee extraordinary, who will boss-man the return embroglio between Whipper Watson, Paul Baillargeon, and the Mighty Ursus and "Weeping Willie" Bollen here tomorrow night. "Bunny" will have some of the Tunney officiating hired help along just in case the roof falls in, and the walls collapse. It will take all the efforts of a joint combination to keep this foursome in hand for the Whip and Paul are seeking over last week's treatment and Ursus and Zebra intend repeating the dose. What goings on. Then there is Timmy Geohagen and Ski Hi Lee, Ike Henning and Ray Villmer. That should satisfy the most fastidious fan.

HE FELL FOR IT

It was an old gag but it worked. And big good natured Barney McColl, star singer of the Frankford Merchants softball team, had a slightly pink countenance during the game with the Bobcats last night.

Barney had reached second, and was balancing his six-foot plus frame on the bag. The Bobcats second baseman stood behind Barney and murmured, "D'ya mind if I fix this bag, it is not fast."

Barney, always as obliging cuss, stepped off the sack. Then the crowd, the whole lyrically-five of 'em roared. The Bobcat infielder, unknown to Barney had the ball and as the big se-and-se stepped off the sack he was promptly tagged out.

Four National League Teams, 5 American Eye Series Loot; Tribe Ties; Sox Whip Yankees

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

By now only five teams have serious ideas about reaching the world series this fall but a whole hatful of others in both leagues are still scrapping to see who will help cut up the swag.

Players on the first four teams in each league share in the world series receipts.

It's generally conceded among all but 'the diehards that either the New York Giants or Brooklyn will be the National League representative against Cleveland, the New York Yankees or the Chicago White Sox.

But a check of the standings shows the fights in both circuits immediately below these private pennant races.

FOUR BUNCHED

In the National League four teams are bunched a game and a half apart from third to fourth place. Philadelphia holds third by a percentage point over Cincinnati and Milwaukee with St. Louis still a big factor.

The American League is running with a five-team "second division." Fourth-place Detroit is at 23½ lengths out of the lead and 17½ behind the third-place White Sox. But the Tigers hold only a single game edge over Boston and Washington and the last eight games separate them from the tail-end Baltimore Orioles.

If things continue as they are the American League may set one peculiar record—the lowest percentage for a fourth place finisher. Detroit, after Wednesday night's 4-1 loss to Philadelphia, had a .438 percentage. The record low for the league is .467 in five different years.

ANOTHER TIE

In the games' brackets Wednesday Cleveland took a half-game lead over New York when the Yanks crumbled before Chicago 15-3 while the Indians were playing their second straight tie in Boston. Rain halted the 7-7 contest in the top of the ninth inning.

The Athletics crumbled their seven-game advantage over Brooklyn with a 9-1 thumping at Chicago. The Dodgers tripped Cincinnati 5-1.

St. Louis outscored Pittsburgh 13-12. Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 6-1 and Washington shaded Baltimore 8-3 in other action.

Brooklyn's Carl Erskine turned in the outstanding pitching performance, registering the last Cincinnati batters in order after Bob Rosenwald homered in the second inning. He got plenty of support for a change with Carl Furillo's five-hit splurge leading the 15-hit attack. Erskine gave up two hits and struck out 10.

WINNING RUN

A pinch single by Bill Taylor drove in the winning giant run in the ninth inning at Chicago. He scored Hank Thompson who had singled and moved around on a sacrifice and an infield out. Sal Maglie checked the Cubs on four hits.

The White Sox scored early and often against the Yankees, opening with five runs in the first and closing out with five in the ninth. Minnie Minoso and Johnny Groth collected four hits each. Virgil Trucks was credited with goose to become the first American League pitcher to win 13 games and be wilted from the heat in the seventh and needed help from Morrie Martin and Harry Dorish.

Home runs by Jim Hegan, Al Rosen and Larry Doby lifted Cleveland from a 6-0 deficit into a 7-6 lead at Boston but Ted Sox Williams across the tying run in the sixth and kept it that way until rain intervened. The same two teams played a 18-inning tie Tuesday night.

Team or Pilot, Big Question In Brooklyn

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It was inevitable that the time would come when the owners of Brooklyn Dodgers would be reminded that they had fired a pennant-winning manager. Charlie Dressen, and installed in his place a big, quiet fellow named Walter Alston who never before had directed a big-league club.

Now, as the once-proud leaders suffer through an extended slump and fall farther behind the flying Giants in a National League race that threatens to develop into a runaway, the abrupt change of pilots that shocked the baseball world last fall has again become a burning topic of conversation and conjecture.

Would the Dodgers still be on top if the scrappy, alert Dressen were at the helm? Or was the likeable Alston presented with a ball club that, because of age and recurring injuries to key men, was ready to fade before the onslaught of the free-spending rivals?

The only clue we have to offer comes from a former big league pitcher, Ewell Blackwell, who has had an opportunity to study the methods of both Dressen and Alston.

DRESSEN FASTER THINKER

"They're both good managers," he said, "but of an entirely different type. Alston still looks a little bewildered to me though, maybe a bit overwhelmed by what's happened to him. I don't doubt that he's a sound baseball man, but I've seen him make some mistakes that Charlie never would have made.

"I don't believe he thinks quite as fast as the little guy did, it wasn't the book about Charlie stealing your signals. He could hurt you, and I'm convinced he helped some of his batters by calling pitches for them. He had the hunches, sure, but he helped them win a lot of close games."

Dressen, now managing Oakland, said in a telephone interview the day after the Dodgers fought to walk in. With Don Newcombe and Roy Palica (both pitchers) back from the service, he thought they'd walk in easier than we did last year. From what I've heard, Alston's doing a fine job. Maybe they'll get started yet."

ALSTON, TEAM STUNNED

As for Alston, they say that he, like his players, is still a little more stunned day by day as misfortune dogs the team.

Only once, apparently, has the rookie pilot permitted his temper to flare openly. That was when, after a recent loss to the Giants, he ordered the entire team, pitchers and all, to engage in special batting practice until dark. No member of the team could recall this having happened before.

Alston has shown no hesitancy in shaking up the club. He has benched Jackie Robinson, a veteran sparkplug, as quickly as the next one, and he has been mildly criticized for this. If the Dodgers ever are to get going, contend these critics, it will be only when Robinson begins to hit again.

Canadian Grid Squads Start Practice, Tigers Object to Camera-Toting Fans

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Carl Voyles is putting the clamps on football fans taking their cameras. Some coaches don't usually worry about spying tactics until clutch games get playoff time.

The opening of the Big Four football season is two weeks and a month away but Voyles, coach of last year's Grey Cup champions, said Wednesday night he won't stand for any quarterback sneaks by cameras-at-the-ready fans at Tiger-Cat practices these days.

Voyles thinks he has a good thing a few surprise plays for the other three Big Four teams but he did comment when he got wind of the camera whirring away in the stands:

"We'll try to exclude fans with cameras from the practices. If they continue taking photographs, we'll have to lock the gates to the public."

WORK OFF FAT

Meanwhile, the other clubs in Canada's two major leagues continued to work off the fat in preparation for opening games, in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, the defence units of Calgary Stampeders have taken over the coaching from the eye of coach Larry Siemering.

Nearly fans a night have been watching the Stampeder scrimmages.

In Vancouver, the British Colum bia Lions have been practising two hours a night for two weeks. Coach Annis Stukes expects to start cutting his 35-man squad this week-end. The Lions are also looking for a top American backfielder.

The Ottawa Rough Riders, who lost to the Tiger-Cats in the Grey Cup game in Toronto last year, will start cutting their squad this week-end. They have been practising in exhibition games but Coach Al Sherman says they are fast rounding into shape.

TWO A DAY

In the east, coach Clem Crowe of Ottawa Rough Riders is sending his 65-man squad through two practices a day; one in the morning and the other at night.

So far the morning drills are "helping considerably." He has until Aug. 13 to get them into shape to meet the Blue Bombers in Ottawa in an exhibition game.

Nineteen members of the squads attended the first practice of the Eastern Section of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Wednesday night.

Veterans at the drill included Jack (Red) McKelbie, Dutch Dewey, John Pleasance, Sammy Oosterhi, Jim Burr and Eric McKeever. The imports were Harold Jack Jim Lambert from Heidelburg College, Ohio, and Larry Hairston, former of Bradford. Redskins of the ORFU and Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Workouts for the rest of the week will consist of light drilling, with serious training will start Monday with the arrival of a few new players.

Canada Last In Horse Show Jumping Event

LONDON (CP)—Canada Wednesday night chalked fifth and last in an international team jumping event at Britain's international horse show in competition against Britain, Germany, Portugal and the Republic of Ireland.

Shirley Thomas, 18-year-old Ottawa rider, on a bullless round upon her mare, Princess Midas, but Torontonian Jim Elder had an unfortunate ride and North York's and scored 12 faults in a time of 56 1-5 seconds.

Britain's team, which included ace rider Pat Smythe, on Tosca, won.

Miss Thomas, last rider to perform, was presented with a bouquet address system with "happy birthday to you" in honor of her 19th birthday today.

She and Elder were the first competitors to ride after the arrival of the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret and saluted the royal family before making their rounds.

The Queen arrived immediately after their ride to watch the finals of the major jumping competition, the King George V Cup in which all Canadians were eliminated Tuesday.

Empire Games

VANCOUVER (CP) — A mammoth two-hour "military tattoo" with more than 600 soldiers, sailors and airmen plus military bands and cadets will be a feature of British Empire Games opening ceremonies here July 30. In addition, the three services will turn out a 600-man guard of honor for the Duke of Edinburgh Aug. 5 and for Earl Alexander's opening night.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Australian oarsmen here for the British Empire Games recovered Wednesday from a bad case of the jitters.

They obtained a replacement for their borrowed shell destroyed by fire Tuesday, 11 days before the start of the games.

Manager Roy Thurnfield said the University of Washington in Seattle was lending the Aussies a four-oar shell.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Yvette Williams, New Zealand's outstanding athlete and considered a threat to win the broad jump at the July 30-Aug. 7 British Empire Games, created something of a sensation Wednesday when she potted the shot for a distance of 44 feet 10¼ inches in a practice heave. The unofficial mark topped British Empire record for women is 40 feet 6¼ inches.

Miss Williams holds the world and Olympic record for the broad jump with a distance of 20 feet 9¼ inches. She is centered in the shot put, broad jump, discus and 80-metre hurdles in the games.

Jackie MacDonald of Toronto set a Canadian women's shot put mark of 43 feet 10½ inches in a meet at Victoria last Saturday.

Bobcats Clawed By Frankford In 25-8 Defeat

Thirty base shots including four homers were scattered over the CNRAA Recreation Park softball diamond last night as Frankford Merchants mushroomed their batting trucks, Martins (7) Dorish (8) and Evers; Ford, Sturdivant (8) Kucks (4) and Berra, Silvera (8).

The weakened Bobcats put up a plucky battle against the better balanced, more experienced Frankford team, and battled 'em to the last inning, scoring four runs in the ninth innings.

The Merchants rattled 17 hits off two Bobcat hurlers, three of them home runs, with three triples and a double tossed in among the'ating lies. The Cats banged out Barney McColl for 13 base swipes, one a home run by Jack Reid.

Jack Reid started for the Cats but lasted one and one third innings, more than any batters got to him for five hits and nine runs. Thompson relieved for the Cats, but suffered a similar fate being nicked for twelve hits and 18 runs over the rest of the losing route. He walked eight and whiffed two. He was relieved by Jack Reid, who, giving up eight hits for four runs over eight innings, then yielded the cloth for four tallies in the final frame. He struck out four and walked one.

The Merchants grabbed a three-run lead in the top of the first then proceeded to add four tallies in the second when Thompson came to the rescue. They shoved over four more in the third, the same number in the sixth, then blew wide open four eight runs in the eighth.

The Cats scored singles in the third, sixth, seventh and eighth and powered four in the ninth.

Bill Rankin's big bat powered the Frankford assault with two homers and a triple, with Austen getting a triple and two singles. Big Barney was good for three one-baggers and Gilmore two. Dafoe hit a home run, Mitts a triple and Watson a double.

Thompson batted in a lost cause with three singles but Jack Reid stole any thunder with a three-bagger and single. R. Donovan had a single and Gord a double.

The score:

Frankford	304 040 000—25 17 2
Bobcats	000 001 104—8 13 2
McColl and Murphy, Wickson (6); Reid, Thompson (3) and Templin.

Woodbine Track

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Miller Wray's Ben Boy retained his unbeaten status at the Woodbine racetrap Wednesday night when he won the $1,500 Torontonian Trot Preview in a driving finish with Jack Huddleston up outstanding trotter of 1953, Vanduzen.

In the day's feature pace, Lena's Boy, owned by Reg McGee of Goderich, and driven by Earl Thrvey, came from behind to hand Now, owned by Dave Pinkney of Strutford and driven by Vic Lehman, his second defeat in six starts at Woodbine. Lena's Boy toured the mile in 2:08 4-5 to catch Now in the stretch and win by a neck.

Snead Plays Hard 'Squirrel' Shot, Climbs Tree Fifteen Feet for Ball

ST. PAUL (AP)—Sam Snead, manoeuvring with a sharp list to the starboard and a grouchy lie that was the natural result of a stiff neck, had to climb a tree on the 15th hole to make a reasonably good score in the first qualifying round of the Professional Golfers Association championship.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, suffering from a painful kidney ailment that has forced him to drop out of several recent tournaments, holed putts from all over the course for a five-under-par 66, best of the day. And 28 players shot 71 or better over the barren, sun-hardened Keller course to turn the opening by the wind. The ball lodged in round of the nation's toughest test of professional golf into a race against par for the 64 available places in the match play bracket.

That was the story as 132 of America's leading pro golfers headed into today's qualifying second round with the promise that the 65-hole total of 136 or better would be needed to get into the showdown stage of match play starting Friday.

Sneaky Sam — from a post oak tree alongside the 15th hole was the high spot of the opening round in which the pros took Keller's par of 36-35—71 to pieces just as they had been stymied.

Snead almost pulled out of the tournament. But he decided to give it a try and until he hit the 225-yard 15th, was doing very well.

There his luck was not caught the fork of tree, some 15 feet above the ground, and Sammy, stiff neck and all, had to go up after it. He knocked it out and got a five on the par three hole for a creditable score of 33-38—71.

World Hockey Cup Or Allan Cup; Up to Penticton

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Penticton V's will probably have the choice between defending the Allan Cup next year or representing Canada in the world hockey championships in Germany, Dr. Mel Butler, president of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association, said here Wednesday.

Dr. Butler said he would meet with representatives of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League Friday night to deal with Penticton's proposed European jaunt.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced Sunday that Penticton had been chosen to represent Canada in the world tournament. The club is scheduled to leave Feb. 13, 1955, and play exhibition games in Paris and Switzerland before the championship series.

Canada lost the world title last March when Toronto East Yorks, a Senior B team, were beaten by Moscow Dynamos.

FINALS DATE

Dr. Butler said the CAHA has ruled the playoffs must be completed under way by April 18, which means a western Canada representative must be decided by April 16.

The BCAHA president said both Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Senior A League and Dauphin Kings had been asked to represent Canada should Penticton decide to forego the championships and defend the Allan Cup.

He said Penticton would not even be in a position to defend their Allan Cup title if they expect to compete. Next season B.C. will meet the Alberta-Saskatchewan champions to start the Allan Cup playdowns and OSAHL playoffs will have to get under way September 16.

Dr. Butler said he would meet March 4 while Canada's overseas representative is still in Europe.

Canadian Flavor Noted In Tennis Singles

By GARY SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The singles matches in Canadian Open Tennis championships have just a bit of Canadian flavor.

Eight singles were down to the quarter-finals today and only Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., was in there to go after top international players. Bedard, second seeded behind Art Larsen, Jr., of Japanese Davis Cupper and fourth-seeded foreigner, Ajmad Miyegi.

Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., the wiry southpaw stylist who is top-seeded foreigner, was scheduled to meet Ricardo Baldiers of Chile, fifth-seeded among the foreigners.

The other two members of the Canadian team which went down lost to Canada last week gained revenge today by also reaching the quarter-finals of the Dominican championships.

Hisaky Iaiz Ayala, Chilean national champion, meets No. 1 Japanese player and third-seeded foreigner, Koeel Kamo. Ayala is the second-seeded foreign player in the tournament.

Straight-set conqueror of Lorne Main, Canada's top-ranking player, in Wednesday's fourth-round play, Andres Hammersley, 36-year-old Chilean star, goes against Andy Paton of Ann Arbor, Mich. Paton is ranked sixth among the foreigners while Hammersley is seeded seventh.

All men's singles matches from here in are best-of-five sets.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Carl Erskine, Brooklyn Dodgers, relired the last 23 batters in order and gave up only two hits while striking out 10 as Brooklyn beat Cincinnati 5-1.

Batting — Minnie Minoso and Johnny Groth, Chicago White Sox, each collected five hits in Chicago's 13-3 rout of the New York Yankees.

Brantford Sox Trim Panthers; Oakville Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Red Sox probably have the best one-two punch combination in their line-up of any Senior Intercounty baseball club in Ontario. That probably accounts for the fact that the Sox are right in the middle of a four-way fight for first place.

Not only have the Sox got two heavy sluggers for their one-two punch but the same two men are also top pitchers.

By now you've probably guessed that the two players are Wilmot Fields and Harry Fisher. The pair combined with pitcher Bill MacDonald to help the Sox wallop Kitchener Panthers 10-3 in Brantford Wednesday night. The victory hoisted the Sox to within six percentage points of the first-place St. Thomas Elgins and three percentage points of the second-place Wardsville Merchants.

The Majors kept the pace by crushing Listowel 11-1-54 in London with the aid of seven Galt errors.

FIELD DAY

Fisher, who has won nine games for the Sox as a pitcher this year, and Fields, who has clouted 16 homeries on the mound so far, had field days Wednesday night. Fisher hit the plate Wednesday night. MacDonald lifted the Panthers to three hits to frame the spotlight with his 4-hit pitching.

Fisher knocked in five runs by slamming two home runs—his seventh and eighth of the season—and Fields added two. Fields has in four trips to the plate, including his 16th homer of the season, and plated two runs.

At Oakville, the hometown Oaks came from behind to defeat Toronto Caterers 13-7 in a Viaduct Intercounty baseball league game. Down 8-7 going into the seventh inning, the Oaks scored six runs for the win.

St. Thomas meets the last-place Elmira Sons in a game tonight to Kitchener during Intercounty action tonight.

'Lost Team' Is Found

MONTREAL (CP)—Found: One British Empire Games team.

The eight-man Trinidad team, scheduled to arrive in Montreal Tuesday night, couldn't be found when the plane arrived. They were on the side of the continent.

The West Indians were quietly enjoying their trains at the depot when they were found Wednesday, all unaware they were lost.

Team captain A. Chapman explained their ship was held up by strong, canadian winds in miles scheduled connections for the west coast. They left Wednesday night.

WOMAN KILLED

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Sarah Isbanicls, 70, of Toronto, was killed Tuesday night when the car in which she was a passenger left the road 18 miles north of here and plunged 15 feet into a creek.

Harness Race Records Set At Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Two world's harness racing records were established in consecutive grand circuit events at Saratoga raceway Wednesday night.

Stenographer hung up a mark of 2:03 4-5 for a three-year-old trotting filly over a half-mile track at the same time a 4-year-old stroud Hambletonian shock another boost by winning the first dash of the season's championship.

Adora then set a standard of 2:03 1-5 for two-year-old pacing fillies on a double oval in capturing the $5,000 Chadam.

Stenographer, owned by Max C. Hempt of Mechanicsburg, Pa., defeated 10 rivals in scoring her sixth consecutive, win. Her time clipped 4-5ths of a second of the 2:04 3-5 record set by Liz Peck at Delaware, O., in 1952 and matched at the same track last year by Earls Song.

Adora, a filly belonging to C. Y. Townsend, Jr., and H. H. Quillen of Dagsboro, Del., took down the 2:04 2-5 standard set by Adios Betty at Roosevelt raceway last year and equalled last week at Lexington by Phantom Hanover in 2:04 flat.

Moore Doubtful About Sincerity Stanky Apology

By CHRIS EDMONDS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — There seemed to be some doubt in the Philadelphia Phillies dugout about the sincerity of the apology made the other day by manager Eddie Stanky of St. Louis Cardinals.

"He said the same thing in 1952, right after he got the job, but the reform didn't last long," said Terry Moore, new manager of the Phillies who was involved in the fracas last Sunday at Busch Stadium in St. Louis. Moore, a Cardinal coach in '52, was released a short time later by Stanky, and the two haven't been exactly friendly since then.

Moore chuckled Wednesday night when someone mentioned that the Cardinals had beaten the Phillies Monday night under the direction of coach Johnny Riddle while Stanky was under suspension.

"Yeah," said Moore, "and things were a lot different in the dugout, the boys tell me. Why, they said some of the Cardinals were even smiling and I heard somebody say it was too bad Stanky didn't get the whole season off."

Moore went on to explain that under Stanky there is strict discipline in the Cardinal dugout during games, with no conversation permitted and players ordered to look straight ahead at the field at all times.

"He used to have a system of fines," Moore went on, "I think it cost you a dollar if you took your cap off like this," and he put his cap on his head. "There were a lot of others, too."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You need more than a lick and a promise to go for a slam. The least you should spot is enough possible tricks. And among the tricks you expect there must be enough quick takers to give you timing.

These was the rubber bridge deal shown here:

NORTH
♠Q 6 2
♥9 6 3
♦K Q 6 5 4
♣A 9

WEST
♠10 8 5 3
♦10 8 2
♣Q J 10 8 7

EAST
♠J 9 7
♥Q J 7 2
♣5 4 3

SOUTH
♠A 4
♥A K 10 4 3
♦A K
♣K 6 2

Any good bridge pair would be in slam with this holding because they can count 12 tricks and are able to show them. Not many would be in six no-trump, which can make. The best suit trump is evident.

The bidding should go like this:

South	North
1 Heart	2 Diamonds
2 Hearts	4 Hearts
4 No-Trump	5 Hearts
6 Hearts	Pass

The opening one bid by south promises five tricks. His second bid is not a raise in number and shows no more tricks for that reason. It simply admits the heart suit is rebiddable.

The north jump on the second round shows tricks enough for a game. Since South had shown only five tricks in then, the north jump showed the other five tricks that would be needed for game.

With two tricks more than his first two bids had shown, south is then able to see a count of 12 tricks in the pair. His four no-trump is the asking convention for aces and kings; probing for slam.

Five hearts in reply is Gordon convention for showing only one ace and one king. With all four aces and all four kings, there is no doubt that south should be in at least six of something.

In a duplicate match some players would prefer 5NT no-trump as a means of getting a slightly higher score. But six hearts is correct. Get a club lead and make it. Can do.

Old Line Parties Falling Apart Says Bennett

VICTORIA (CP) — The current strife within the B.C. Progressive Conservative party "is evidence the old line parties are falling apart all over Canada," Premier Bennett said in an interview Wednesday.

"And the Liberal party isn't far behind," added the premier.

Mr. Bennett bolted the Conservatives during the 1951 legislative session and joined social credit.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver the federal group of Conservatives who broke away from the B.C. Association at Vernon Saturday, started Wednesday to organize a "Federal Progressive Conservative Association of B.C." by opening headquarters in a downtown office building.

Seein' Stars in "ROB ROY, the Highland Rogue"

AT THE ECAPITOL—George "Foghorn" Winslow is attempting to secure the clothes off Clifton Webb's back for a Boy Scout drive in a scene from Twentieth Century-Fox's hit comedy "Mister Scoutmaster," now playing at the Capitol theatre. Little does Webb realize that soon he will become the commander of a pack of daredevil Boy Scouts and in doing so wind up with many a headache and much more grey hair. Edmund Gwenn and Frances Dee are also starring in the riotous comedy. On the same program "The Tall Texan" starring Lloyd Bridges, Lee J. Cobb and Marie Windsor. Both attractions are first Belleville showings.

Fireplace Plaque Dedicated At Quin-Mo-Lac

An impressive Service of Dedication took place on the evening of July 13th in the newly-constructed Vanderburgh Lodge situated at the well-known Quin-Mo-Lac campsite of the Bay of Quinte conference on the shores of Moira Lake. A beautiful and modern fireplace freshly built that very day was dedicated. Inscribed on a shining brass plaque were words of memorial which read:

"A memorial to Robina Templeton who with her warm heart and keen interest gave leadership to CGIT since its beginning."

This fireplace memorial was given by members of the Belleville Girls' Work Board. Many residents of the city and surrounding areas will remember Robina Templeton as a teacher of domestic science in the old high school. Miss Templeton was a graduate of MacDonald College. But belonging to the Dominion Founding Board she was far better known as a leader in youth movements, making her a pioneer of the birth of CGIT in this country. Her first mid-week CGIT meeting in this area was under her direction.

It was in October, 1943, that Miss Robina Templeton died.

It was a rare sight to watch more than eighty CGIT girls with their leaders, all fresh in uniform, ascend the hill, row by two, to the Vanderburgh Lodge. Joining them were some forty or more residents of Belleville of the Girls' Work Board and some one-time students of Miss Templeton.

At the commencement of the service the chairman of the Belleville Girls' Work Board, Mrs. E. Berry, unveiled the plaque as the audience sang the Crusaders' Doxology "Great Lord Jesus." Then, Mr. Bruce Beasley, student minister, offered the prayer.

The Rev. H. W. Giffin, of the Foxboro United Church, gave a short address directed mainly to the youth present. He spoke on the privileged responsibility in leading youth, mentally, physically and spiritually with stories of a missionary and a Sunday School teacher to illustrate. Then, leading up to the distinguished contributions of the late Miss Templeton he turned the service over to the Rev. R. A. Rowley of Tabernacle United Church of Belleville.

Mr. Rowley terminated with an impressive dedication ceremony just as the shades of evening were falling and the glowing red in the west ended another day.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1964

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — The major planets in top-ranking positions. Do all you can to make this a "red-letter" day on your calendar. Industrial matters, new and established businesses, professional pursuits favored.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Things you've wanted to do for a long time? New ideas to try out? Here's a responsive day for them and all regular activities as well. You on vacation should enjoy it.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mental alertness and astuteness are favored this fine day. If you direct energies purposefully you should score a big record.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — This is a day for getting ahead in worthwhile matters. You have versatility, talent, good judgment, ambition and high aims: Use all today.

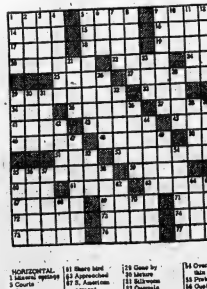
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Handling tools, machinery, minerals, chemicals, and the like can be profitable, advantageous. The day holds promise for many and varied lines of endeavor.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Some splendid influences for large and small business, for personal and general interests. You should find helpful aids whichever way you turn.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Notations to Taurus applicable here today. Keep spirits high and healthy good to enjoy this generous day. Make ready too, for a happy week-end with family, good friends.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A brisk, encouraging and perhaps exciting day. You can have a satisfying and progressive time of it if you apply yourself in your capable, smart way. No worrying; push ahead with faith.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—You will, should, feel enterprising, ratin' to go. Fine aspects for honest, worthwhile matters and for vacation activities, personal and health interests.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Well-run business and financial transactions are given encouragement; also purely personal interests. This is a promising day for good deeds and good people. Still, fill your better self.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—While the day, on the whole, is stimulating and benefic, you are advised not to go to extremes or endanger health or other valuable assets by recklessness. Enjoy some diversion.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Take sensible precautions from both Cancer and Leo as the Sun was leaving the one Sign to enter the other at your birth. You can have a very interesting, intriguing somebody with your many talents and general capability. Curb a tendency to over-sensitiveness and to argue needlessly. You are innately reliable, clever in business and profession, can attain truly great heights if you apply yourself assiduously to your life's work. Pray when troubled, in doubt, and in thanksgiving.

Birthdate: Coventry Patmore, famed poet, critic; His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons.

Saunders Denies Charges Hydro Is Buying More Land Than It Needs for Seaway

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, has denied accusations by Cornwall district farmers that Hydro is buying more land than it needs for the St. Lawrence seaway and power project with the idea of reselling it later at a profit.

Reports from Mills Roches quoted some of the farmers in that area as saying they have been offered "ridiculously low" prices for their land, some of it well back from the river. A few were quoted as saying the offers are satisfactory.

"We are not in the real estate business and do not contemplate any profit from land, nor have we, as a provincial commission, any right to seek a profit," Mr. Saunders said Wednesday in a statement.

"I do not know, and nobody else knows, what the land values will be several five years from now when we may find we have been surprised at the cost of the once project.

"If we do have surplus land, the policy is to sell it to the highest bidder if the bid is a fair price. We stand to lose or profit, depending on the level of land values at that time."

Mr. Saunders said "a few" farmers claim they are being offered too low a price for their land, but "I know of many who consider the offer is generous."

ONLY 121

He said that since 1945 Hydro has concluded more than 113,000 property transactions with only 121 going to the provincial evaluator for settlement.

"That's the best evidence I know of that people selling land generally are satisfied that they get fair value from Hydro," he added.

Premier Frost promised last week that everyone who finds it necessary to give up a home or property as a result of the seaway construction will be treated fairly in compensation and rehabilitation. He made the statement at a meeting between cabinet members and representatives of seaway municipalities from Hydro," he added.

Three Scientists Trying To Improve Prairie Coal

CALGARY (CP) — In a quiet laboratory here sit three men deeply engrossed in the problems of the black diamonds that enrich western Canada's earth.

Dr. J. Viman, a coal preparation engineer, and his two chief colleagues, a mining engineer and a chemical engineer, have been in Calgary since 1951 experimenting to improve the quality of Prairie coal.

"Our work is a long-term project," says Dr. Viman. "It is unlikely that immediate success will revolutionizing the western Canadian mining industry, could be achieved."

He says western coal has the potential to be a valuable but expensive competition with other fuel sources if improved beneficiation by cleaning, drying and agglomerating.

"Uniformity of size, moisture and ash are the real issues of the problem. The solution lies in the foresight and initiative of each operator and in the broadening of research."

Dr. Viman says new methods will have to be developed to overcome the difficulties of bettering coal. And it is these new methods which occupy the time and thought of the three experts.

They are the trouble-shooters. They visit the pits, make on-the-spot studies and report to the operators on all information obtained from lab tests.

The most successful outcome of the experiments has been a system of sluicing and flotation in the Lethbridge washeries of all Alberta mines which enables operators to produce a coal of more constant ash content.

Dr. Viman said ash content and distribution may differ between seams and sometimes in a mine as a result of a different cycle of operations.

The competition of coal with oil and natural gas on the Canadian market and Ontario coal prices have increased the demand for uniformity of size and quality especially in relation to steam coal, the chief Alberta product.

Coal samples from western Canada are shipped from the Calgary laboratory, operated by the mines branch technical surveys department, to fuel research laboratories in Ottawa and Nova Scotia which form the basis for an official quality guide for producers and consumers.

The importance of the project is best with figures—about 94 per cent of Canadian coal reserves lie in Saskatchewan, Alberta, B.C., and the Yukon.

Benefit Game Nets $61 For Injured Player

WELLINGTON (Special)—Thanks to the sportsmanship of Belleville and Wellington baseball players and officials, and the generosity of fans of this district, an injured juvenile baseball player will receive substantial assistance in the payment of hospital and other bills.

Cliff Wilkinson, of Waupoos, a member of the Picton juvenile baseball team, was confined to hospital with injuries during a game played here a short time ago. He suffered a slight brain concussion, necessitating hospital treatment and medical care.

Last night the Belleville Regents sponsored by Ald. Bryson Reid, and the Wellington team played an exhibition game before a large crowd. The proceeds will net young Wilkinson some $61.

Featuring the game was the appearance of two hurlers of the mound corps of the Belleville Bntal baseball organization, Intermediate League. Johnny Mowat went to the mound for the village club while Bill Wellington, 15, has a wee, fireeyed recruit with the stars hurled for the Regents. Both performers appeared for a three-innings stint.

Billy Greer, village hurler took over for Wellington with Harvey Stoliker and Bill Regent doing regulars finishing the job for the city team.

Incidentally the Wellington squad edged the "city slickers" 7-6 in a well-played game.

The Batas hurlers appeared with the fine co-operation of Manager Jack Carson and pilot Norman Vern Goyer, while Alderman Reid gave the services of Ald. Jack Wright and old umpire "Red" Carson and his colleague.

The game was an indication of the fine spirit of co-operation and sportsmanship that exists between baseball sports officials and players and those of this village and district.

Other Batas players included Bruce Gilbert, catcher; Jerry Cuthfidler, and Tony Petitti, first-string catcher.

Evening things will be different in Belleville on Friday night when these two teams clash under the lights at a Belleville District Baseball League scheduled game. The Belleville Regents have been playing outstanding baseball in their last three outs, and with the village squad on their toes, too, Belleville fans should see an outstanding game. Batas dropped a lot of support, and after last night's game here, no doubt a large crowd of village fans will take in the pastime.

DISCOVER BODY TIED TO TREE IN DELHI RIVER

Find Unidentified Man, With Tether on Leg

DELHI, Ont. (CP)—Two fishermen found the body of an unidentified man in Big Creek river near here Thursday with an eight-foot length of canvass material, about a half-inch thick, looped tightly around his right ankle. The other end was tied to a tree.

A watch and a wallet containing a card bearing the name of a Hearst, Ont., taxicab company were the only things found with the man's clothing. He was about 30 years old.

Police said the body had been in the water since Wednesday and said there were no marks of violence.

W. A. Scott of Hagersville and John Wallace of Delhi had been fishing along the creek and had reached the spot about the same time. They said the body was in 18 inches of water, about two feet below the surface in eight feet of water.

The body was found in an area called the Delhi jungle where transients used to grow tobacco here often camp.

A post-mortem was scheduled to be made today by provincial police and provincial pathologist Dr. J. M. Deadman of the Hamilton General Hospital. Police said they are delaying their investigation until results of the post-mortem are known.

Chrysler Strike Keeping 44,850 Idle at Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — All of Chrysler's Detroit automobile plants were shutdown today in the fifth day of a strike which has made 44,850 workers idle.

Assembly lines shut down completely Thursday with the layoff of 13,000 assembly, motor builders and maintenance employees in the mounting tempo from Monday's strike of 10,700 at the Dodge main plant.

Only an approximate 21,000 hourly employees, including department workers, are off on the job.

All the affected employees are members of the CIO United Auto Workers. Dodge strikers walked out in protest of what they termed speed-up, which management denied.

LACKS APPROVAL

The Chrysler strike lacks the approval of the UAW international union. At the same time the international UAW has not given the strikers its backing for the 30 cent an hour package which the union has demanded by the company that the strike is unauthorized and a contract violation.

NEW TRAINING SHIP

HALIFAX, (CP) — The second sailing vessel in Royal Canadian Navy history to bear the title "HMC Ship" before her name—HMCS Oriole, a 90-foot Bermuda rigged ketch—has been commissioned here and sailed for Vancouver where she will be a training ship for future RCN officers.

British Airliner Crashes In Sea Off Coast of China

HONG KONG (CP)—A Cathay Pacific Airlines plane ditched in the sea near Chinese Communist territory this morning; and several hours after the crash there were indications that only one of the 17 aboard had been picked up by the Reds.

Eight survivors and one body were landed here by a United States Air Force PBY flying boat. Airline officials in Singapore said three others were picked up by a British Sunderland flying boat, but a government press officer here said this report had proved untrue. He said all Sunderlands which took part in the sea search had returned to base here.

However, there were other reports that several persons were picked up by small boats from Hainan Island off the South China coast.

The British-owned plane was en route from Singapore to Hong Kong via Bangkok. It crashed in the South China Sea at 6:45 a.m. Hong Kong time after an engine caught fire.

All the survivors were injured, some appearing severely cutand bruised. They were kept incommunicado by Hong Kong authorities and taken to hospitals where no one was permitted to talk to them.

Cathay Pacific Airline officials also prevented reporters from talking to members of the PBY crew, so details of the crash and rescue of the survivors were not immediately available.

Airport and airline authorities would not even give the names of the eight survivors and the one dead person brought here.

One Cathay Pacific stewardess, badly cut about the head and body, was the first out of the plane. There were two air hostesses listed on the crew.

Eyewitnesses aboard two commercial planes which saw the Skymaster ditch in the China sea said scores of small boats and sampans put out quickly from Hainan and all aboard the plane probably were rescued unless some were trapped inside.

The plane went down within one minute, said British correspondent Basil Spurr, who was aboard a Viet Nam plane which circled the scene for 45 minutes.

Spurr said he saw a small boat pick up three persons from a life raft. The Red Chinese gave no Communist names.

PICTON JUDGE FAILS TO SETTLE STEEL DISPUTE

Conciliation Talks At Hamilton Collapse

HAMILTON (CP) — Conciliation talks between the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and the Steel Company of Canada have collapsed. The six-month wage dispute continues.

In a last-ditch attempt, Judge W. S. Lane of Picton, Ont., head of the conciliation board, met Thursday with the United Steelworkers but there was any chance of settlement without a board report. He later told union delegates there was no sign of immediate settlement.

More than 6,500 workers here are affected. The workers voted to give power to union delegates to call a strike, if necessary to enforce their demands.

The union is also negotiating for similar increases for union members in steel plants at Sault Ste. Marie and Sydney, N.S.

The company asked the board not to consider any wage increases or benefits from the Hamilton plant employees. This request was made after a brief was issued by the union asking that the company grant a ten-cent-an-hour wage increase over the present basic wage of 1.43½ plus certain benefits.

NEXT ROUND

Comparative wages to those of basic industrial steel workers are not being asked for said union delegates. "We want only what is the difference "at the next round of negotiations."

C. J. Dawson, Stelco's director of industrial relations, said company officials would study the request "in common sense.

Because of a drop in demand for steel products, the company said, production has been slowed down, shipments have been curtailed and there has been a layoff of 10 per cent of the employees. Since March 1 of this year, it added that industries accounting for 'one-third of the Canadian steel production also have had drops in business.

The company submitted to the board but it could make considerable contribution to its employees welfare and to that of Canada by recommending that existing wages and benefits at the company be kept.

Indian Nationals Invade Portuguese Colony on Coast

Armed Indian Police Stop Portuguese Sending Help

BOMBAY (AP) — Reports reached here today that armed Indian police have sealed off Daman, the Portuguese Indian village invaded by nationalists Thursday.

These reports said police units are keeping the village on India's west coast separated from the nearby Portuguese territories of Damao and Selwasa as the liberation drive led by Francisco Mascarenhas consolidates its control.

Portugal charged today that the invaders shot down several defenders. It was then Prime Minister Nehru's government that any further aggression would be repelled "with the utmost severity."

Nehru declared recently that both French and Portuguese colonies held in India could "no longer be tolerated."

Portugal, however, has rejected Nehru's demands and has refused to negotiate, claiming that Portugal has historical and moral rights to its centuries-old India possessions totalling 1,537 square miles. She has made veiled threats to call on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—to which Portugal belongs — if the enclaves are attacked.

Mother Thinks Son Strapped Second Time Before Suicide

GUELPH (CP)—The mother of an inmate of the Ontario Reformatory here said today she would have the body of her son exhumed to determine if he had been strapped the night before he committed suicide by hanging himself with a belt from the bars of his cell.

The statement was made at a coroner's inquiry at the reformatory Thursday as Mrs. Clarence Jacobs, mother of William Jacobs, 18, of Stratford, took advantage of coroner T. R. Pickard's invitation to hear any other witnesses in the courtroom, as the inquiry drew to a close.

NINE STROKES

Jacobs, along with two other prisoners among five who made a mass break from the institution on July 7, was given nine strokes of the strap and placed in confinement for his escape attempt. He was found by a guard Saturday morning hanging from a belt.

Mrs. Jacobs told the court: "I have been trying to be published again. One of the boys saw him in the hospital the night before his death, handcuffed and being examined to see if he could stand more punishment. There was no doubt he was going to get it again and I'm positive he got it the night before he died. I'll have the body exhumed."

Gerald Wright, superintendent of the reformatory, denied the accusations of Mrs. Jacobs.

"There was not an element of truth in it," he testified.

The superintendent expressed the belief that Jacobs had intended to get "just a set of pseudo-stripes" so he would be moved to a mental hospital. I think it was a tragic mistake that it was allowed off the lower bar."

United Mine Workers Open Drive to Smash Lake Union

MONTREAL (CP) — The Star Thursday quoted union sources as saying the first steps have been taken by the United Mine Workers in an attempt to "smash" the Seafarers' International Union (AFL-CIO) on the Great Lakes.

In a newspaper story, the newspaper said United Mine Workers Ont., newly-formed affiliate of the Mine Workers, aims to obtain bargaining rights for miners on the St. Lawrence seaway.

"In Montreal, by tugboat and elsewhere, 1,000 other seamen approximately are involved," the story said, "in Toronto 120 tugboat men have been signed."

In both cities, the men had been members of the Association of Railway Clerks (AFL), but now have joined the Marine Workers, which was formed by John L. Lewis soon after he was ejected from the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), ran into difficulties in the United States.

The newspaper said that "in Toronto the new group's case for certification was reported to be before the Ontario Labor Relations Board with early decision awaited.

"Organizers have been in Montreal and Toronto, only mark what a UMW official described today as the start of a drive on the inland waters, such as the St. Lawrence and the Lakes," it said.

A. D. Lewis, brother of John L., was said to be in general charge of the drive, while Barrett of Toronto, vice - president of the United Mine Workers, was also identified as Canadian chief.

Capt. H. Gordon, president of the Seafarers here, was quoted as pledging a "fight to the end" against the Lakers headed by Hal C. Banks.

A UMW official had declared: "Essentially there is a membership of 50,000 in coastal and inland waters that we are aiming for."

Power Station To Be Named For Hydro Chairman

TORONTO (CP)—The main generating station of the St. Lawrence seaway power project, to supply 1,100,000 horsepower to Ontario consumers when it is completed, will be known as the Robert Saunders generating station.

A. Kennedy, president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association, said Thursday night the station will be named after Mr. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, in recognition of his work in making the project a reality.

Mr. Kennedy was chairman at a testimonial dinner tendered to the OMEA, given for Mr. Saunders. About 350 persons attended, including Premier Frost of Ontario.

Mr. Saunders was also presented with a 25-foot cruiser motorboat, and a scroll from the association given "in recognition of the courage and unfailing public service you have rendered as Hydro chairman."

Mr. Saunders said the St. Lawrence seaway was a true education in co-operation that can exist between governments, both on the international plane and on the domestic.

A series of waterships, to be made available next year for postgraduate study in conservation of natural resources, was announced by Mr. Saunders as part of the Hydro commission's efforts to "keep Canada's "great gifts of nature."

Britain and U.S. Ask Nine Nations To Back Truce

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Britain and the United States have asked nine nations to back up the Indochina settlement and so lessen the risk of any new flare-up, official sources reported today.

Without calling for any hard military pledges the nine countries China cease-fire lines, London and Washington apparently are hoping to get from them some assurance:

1. A declaration, similar to that made by the United States that they will refrain from disturbing the settlement by force.

2. A pledge that they will view with grave concern any aggressive attempts to upset the settlement.

The United States has asked Thailand and the Philippines for such declarations. Britain has called for it from India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Indonesia, Burma, Australia and New Zealand.

Pilot, Instructor Pulled From Flaming Plane

THEDFORD, Ont. (CP) — A NATO student pilot and his RCAF instructor were pulled unhurt from a burning Harvard training plane Thursday after it crash-landed two miles north of here.

The student pilot, from Norway, and his instructor, FO. Gordon Fryley of Grand Bend, were admitted to hospital in Strathroy. Suffered first-aid cuts and the Norwegian, whose name was not released, was shaken up.

Four farmers, Wilfred Willsie, his son George Willsie, and neighbors George Wilson and John van Haaren raced across a field, tore away the side of the burning plane and pulled the men out. They ripped a seat from its floor bolting to get one man free.

Lands Minister Orders Action To Stop Cruelty

TORONTO (CP) — Orders directing all district officers of the Ontario department of lands and forests to assist police in correcting reported abuse of horses in the province were issued today by Lands and Forests Minister Mapledoram.

The new minister said the already-existing laws were a matter of deep concern to him.

"I realize that such matters under the provisions of the Criminal Code and are therefore a matter for law enforcement," said Mr. Mapledoram.

U.S. Air Force Sells Silver By Mistake

SHELBY, O. (AP)—The U. S. Air Force is asking some embarrassing questions today about how tons of silver and silver-plated emblems and decorations were put up for sale.

Until the questions are answered the air force is holding up confirmation of the sales. Chances are good the air force will end up still owning the emblems and decorations.

The items were offered as brass in Saturday's auction at Wilkins air force base depot. But some wondering the beavers trying to find out. We do not have a firm figure on the total."

Other sources said "the total would be about 32 tons. Fifie silver is worth about $14.68 a pound.

Vietminh Raid French Outposts

HANOI (AP) — Ignoring the impending Indo-China cease-fire, the Communist-led Vietminh threw a heavy force in small harassing attacks at French Union posts Thursday and Friday, the latest in minion-provincial level.

A series of skirmishes, to be made available next year for postgraduate study in conservation of natural resources, was announced by Mr. Saunders as part of the Hydro commission's efforts to "keep Canada's "great gifts of nature."

Enjoying 5,500-Mile Trip by Canoe, Florida Engineer Reaches Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) A retired electrical engineer from Miami, Fla., reached here Thursday on the mid-point of a 5,500-mile canoe trip, and said he wants to enjoy life while it's still worth living.

"Most people work until they are old, so they can have a better income," said 50-year-old Frank Casser. "You see, I have enough income to start enjoying life right now. Why wait another 15 years?"

Mr. Casser travelled the 2,700 miles here from Melbourne Beach, Fla., in a canoe powered by a two-horsepower outboard motor.

"I average 30 miles a day. Sure, it's slow but heck, you are a king of country." He set out April 1, myself," he added.

300 Are Buried As Indian Fort Collapses

KALIMPONG, India (Reuters)—More than 300 persons were buried under debris when a fort on the river Manchong near the Indian-Tibetan border collapsed, reports reaching here today said.

Chinese military authorities have recovered five bodies, believed to be those of Indian officers.

The fort, which is in Tibet on the river bank facing the trading centre of Gyangtse, collapsed a few days ago after incessant rain and floods.

No one in the fort escaped when it collapsed.

Those in it at the time included Indian escort personnel, Indian post and telegraph staff and members of the Indian trade agency.

Urges Witnesses To Forget Self

TORONTO (CP)—The president of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society has urged Jehovah's Witnesses to work for the glory of the organization, rather than for their own, and never to defy the authority of the organization's body.

N. H. Knorr told an audience of 13,200 Witnesses they should not rebel or feel dissatisfied if promoted in the organization, but in a chastened spirit work for the side of the brother who replaced them.

Workers were told by vice-president F. W. Franz that true Christians must be part of a worldwide theocratic organization—the true Christian church—founded in the first century. He said the work started with house-to-house preaching and must continue that way.

About 6,000 Witnesses began canvass Thursday of every Toronto home in an effort to contact and to extend a personal invitation to each to attend the three-day convention, which ends Sunday.

Martial Law Is Proclaimed in City Of Night Clubs and Gambling Dens

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—Residents of a city long hardened to violence stood by today as governor-elect national guardsmen enforced law under an unprecedented order issued by Governor Folsom Pepper.

The armed militia men, hurried into the city by truckloads, relieved Phenix city law-enforcement officers of all responsibility. Their duties Thursday when the qualified martial law was proclaimed.

This stormy community of shady night clubs and gambling dens across the big Fort Benning, Ga., army base erupted five weeks ago when the opposing attorney - general, A. L. Patterson, was slain in an alley below his law office.

Persons said he was invoking martial law to "suppress the state of lawlessness, intimidation, violence and fear which reigns" here. He added that Phenix City officers have either been "unable or unwilling" to control the city's tangled affairs.

City and county law officers as well as state militiamen were ordered to turn in all firearms and other weapons to the military command headed by Adjutant-General Walter J. Cook Thursday.

Crowds of townspeople ringed the courthouse and police station as word spread that the old order was changing.

Almost as soon the once-teeming streets were almost deserted. Before noon Thursday 50 were locked in five persons on charges of being drunk, a fair playground of Fort Benning, the world's largest infantry training center.

One of the policemen objected to surrendering his gun to a photographer for the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer as a prop for a picture outside stood around with empty holsters. He warned the photographer not to print the picture.

A woman whose job in one of the shady night clubs has been threatened by the crack - down replied at a reporter: "Get back to Georgia." The town has been out of bounds to all military personnel for 24 hours after Patterson was assassinated.

Army Worms Strip Field of Barley At Hazzard's

The appearance of army worms which have already stripped one field of barley in the Hazzard's Corners area in Madoc township, was reported today by Agricultural Representative A. O. Dalrymple.

This is the first report of the army worm in Hastings County this year although reports of worms on a lesser scale have been received from other sections.

Mr. Dalrymple visited the cornfield attacked by the worms in Madoc county was not worth cutting and the crop already had been almost completely stripped by the advancing crawlers. Corn is also liable to attack by the worms, if they are not brought under control.

Where entire fields of grain are affected and there is no danger of domestic animals having access, a poison brand mash is effectively used to control the worms. Where corn is attacked a spray can be used to kill the worms.

'Stolen' Car Was Just On Loan to Friend

It all turned out to be a mistake but a certain Toronto man will undoubtedly have a few questions to ask Sarah in the Queen City of a certain party who had him arrested on a charge of car theft.

Yesterday Belleville police received notification from Toronto that a car bearing a certain license number had been stolen. Shortly the car was spotted and the driver taken into custody. In communication with Toronto police, local officers were instructed to hold the man for return back on a car theft charge.

Still later Belleville police were instructed to give the Toronto man his freedom.

The reason the "stolen" car had been loaned by the owner during a drinking spree. The owner forgot about it, decided and later reported the vehicle stolen.

Had No Fishing Licence, Fined $25

A Hastings county resident charged with fishing with gill nets in Lake Ontario was assessed $25 fine and $20 costs by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county magistrate's court today.

TO ORGANIZE JOBLESS

Anti-Sub Test Craft Zips Along at 70 Knots

HALIFAX (CP)—The designers of Canada's small, fast and deadly anti-submarine fleet trotted out a true "mighty mouse" today in the form of a boat that "flies" and could torpedoes at an enemy ship while doing 70 knots.

The top-secret craft looks like a flying saucer flying too low and has prompted a buzz of wonderment among people who live around the shore of Bedford Basin north of Halifax harbor where defence research scientists have been testing their astonishing brainchild for months.

The 40-foot test craft is equipped with hydrofoils—winglike sheets of metal sticking out from the side of the vessel. When the Rolls-Royce Merlin aircraft engine guns the boat to the right speed, the hull lifts out of the water altogether and the whole contraption whizzes along on the hydro-foils. The extreme speed—unofficially—was estimated them to be about twice that of the fastest conventional warship afloat—are possible because the "lift" eliminated water-drag on the hull.

The engine is anchored in the fore section of the vessel and the screws are angled deep into the water so they won't rise above the surface when the hull does.

The hydrofoil theory is not new and experiments in its applications have been conducted since the turn of the century.

There also is speculation that the principle may one day be put to use on larger warships.

Information Sought About Early Settlers

Statistical records at Belleville city hall go back quite a few years, but they don't go back quite far enough for a Rochester, Michigan, party, who is seeking information on a Dutch family which settled in the Bay of Quinte area some time prior to 1824.

Mrs. Frederick Ashley writes from Burlington, Vt., wants information about one Joshua Van Hoose who married a Melinda Hunter. Their children were Oramil, Joshua and Caroline.

Still another request received at city hall is from a London, England firm which is seeking information about the family of a William John Dodds, stonemason, born in Surrey in 1872 and who settled in Belleville district. Mr. Dodds married Isabella Walker.

Any persons having information of either of the above two families are asked to communicate with the city clerk's office at city hall.

Quinte District Pastures, Grain In Need of Rain

Farmers in the Bay of Quinte district are in need of rain to give new life to thirsting crops.

Hastings county agricultural representative A. O. Dalrymple of Stirling stated, today that pastures here in particular need of rain and were rapidly drying up.

Spring grain is badly in need of rain, with the hot sun ripening heads so quickly that a light yield is expected. Hoe crops are also suffering from lack of rain although it is now too late for rain to do early potatoes much good as early varieties are already being dug.

Army Racket Is Uncovered

QUEBEC (CP) — Army police were reported Thursday night to be bringing back to Quebec under escort from unidentified Canadian Army camps a dozen suspects in a furniture-moving racket uncovered by the RCMP and the army recently.

Brig. Frank Fleury, officer commanding eastern Quebec military area, said Thursday no charges have been laid against any of the 28 army men involved although this will be done within a day or so.

The Quebec military commander who announced uncovering of the racket in a terse 125-word statement Wednesday said "at least one civilian" is involved. He said army personnel will be charged and that civilians involved will be charged by the Crown in the normal way before civil courts of justice.

The army has said the racket involved around claims made for the fictitious moving of furniture by a private moving concern on behalf of army personnel. In this way the army is said to have been defrauded of "between $5,000 and $10,000" over a period of 52 months.

HECHINGEN, Germany (AP)—A self-confessed jewel thief, Paul Falk, described Thursday to a court how he stood alone in the treasure chamber of the Hohenzollern family castle but refused to steal the glittering crown of the German emperors. He had too much regerence for royalty to take it." Falk is tried for the theft of some 24,000 worth of jewelry from the castle near here.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved slightly ahead in almost non-existent forenoon trading today.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 278,000 shares, the lightest since Dec. 1952.

Financial institutions led an industrial advance. Senior base metals traded little with juniors drifting off pennies. Western oils were harder and uraniums started a small decline. Golds drew little interest but prospects added ground.

Canada Life, Chartered Trust and Traders Finance edged ahead to establish 1954 highs. Additional Utilities marked a high after a small price change as did Dominion Bridge 18 7-8 unchanged. Steels reacted little to climbs at New York.

Western oils continued their upward trend of Thursday with most issues showing small gains. Mercrill climbed 10 to early trade, Liberal Pete and Anglo-Canadian were up five cents.

Uraniums drifted off with a few issues adding pennies.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

HAMILTON (CP) — Conclusion of the purchase by Pelmar Enterprises Ltd., of the Hamilton Printing and Publishing Company, publishers of the semi-weekly Hamilton News, was announced Thursday by Burton R. James, vice-president and general manager of Pelmar.

The new owners are proceeding with plans for publication of the newspaper as an independent daily later this year.

The effective date of the purchase was June 25 with transfer of all shares from the International Typographical Union, which started the paper several years ago.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle prices remained steady on good to choice slaughter steers and fed yearlings this week at the Ontario stockyards. Cows and heifers were $1 a hundredweight lower, while bulls held slow and steady. Veal calves, hogs and sheep and lambs were unchanged.

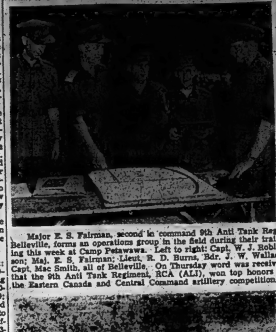
The run of 7,901 head of cattle was about 2,000 head less than last week. The comparatively light offering of cattle was unevenly balanced with the bulk of the grades being of common quality. Despite a good demand for dressed beef, the plain grades were far too numerous for the trade to assimilate. Lack of pasture due to the dry weather of the past few weeks is to blame for the heavy marketing of unfinished cattle.

There was about 10 cars of cattle shipped to eastern Canadian slaughters but no exports to the U.S.

PRICES

Prices paid during the week: choice steers, all weights, $21.50-22; a few lots of high yielding steers to $22.50; good steers $20.50-$21.50; medium down to $19; choice heifers mostly $19; good heifers $18-19; medium down to $17; common light steers and heifers down to $8; good cows $13-13.50; a few light heifery cows to $14; canner and cutter cows generally down to $7; good heavy bologna bulls $14-14.50; common light bulls down to $12; choice fed yearlings mostly $21-22; a few choice steer calves selling to $22.50. Good fed yearlings were $20-21; medium down to $19; Demand for replacement cattle was only fair with good steers selling at $19-19.50; common to medium selling down to $15.

Calves totalled 1,921 head. Veal calves remained unchanged from last week selling at $21-23 for good to choice; cull vealers; mediums $14-20; common light grass calves down to $8.



Hogs were 2,638 head. Prices were unchanged with the bulk selling at $33.50 for grade A; B-1's were $32.50; several small lots sold at $33.75; sows were $1 a hundredweight lower at $18; dressed, one small lot of sows sold for $18.50; stags were $14, dressed.

There was a run of 1,274 head of sheep and lambs. This is more than last week. Lambs opened steady to last week's close at $25 weighed off car and $24 a hundredweight weighed off truck for good ewes and wethers. Ducks were discounted at $1 a hundredweight; common lambs mostly $15-22; good light sheep $8-10; common down to $4.

Second Seaway Conference Planned Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second meeting between United States and Canadian officials concerning plans for the St. Lawrence seaway development has been tentatively scheduled in about two weeks in Ottawa.

A spokesman for the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation—the agency authorized to construct and maintain the U. S. portion of the 27-foot-deep Great Lakes-to-the Atlantic waterway—said the proposed meeting will, like the first, be "largely exploratory."

At the end of the first meeting, also held in Ottawa earlier this month—it was agreed to confer again around the first of August. Since then, the spokesman said, it has developed that some of the Canadian officials would have to delay their attendance until later because of other commitments.

Water Supply For Alymer Seems Assured

ALYLMER (CP) — Residents in this town just east of St. Thomas have hopes they will never be short of water. First results of an experiment to establish a reserve water supply indicate they may be right.

The Catfish creek conservation authority last year spent $10,000 on surveys of the subterranean area around here, to determine whether it would be practicable to replenish the underground streams supplying the town's water.

This spring a replenishment well, five feet in diameter and 39 feet deep, was built in the bed of Catfish creek. The well carries water from the creek to gravel strata underground at a rate of about 100 gallons a minute.

Early reports indicate the experiment is a success. If long-term results are satisfactory a settlement bed will be built to remove silt from the river water and the replenishment well will be enlarged.

Total cost of the project will be about $20,000. The Ontario government has agreed to pay 75 per cent of the sum as a conservation project.

DIES FOR MURDER

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP)—A New York City longshoreman paid in Sing Sing prison's electric chair Thursday night for shooting down a pier hiring boss more than two years ago. William VanderWyde, 43, was convicted of the killing of Benjamin (Barney) Dietz, 42, in brawl over dock schedules laid down in the Soviet state plan, Moscow radio reports.

INDUSTRIAL TROUBLE

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's council of ministers Thursday rebuked some key industries for failing to meet their production quotas for the first half of 1954. Farms and fisheries, the ministers said, are also not reaching production goals. The ministers did not keep to production schedules laid down in the Soviet state plan, Moscow radio reports.

IMMIGRATION AND UNEMPLOYMENT

The Canadian bureau of statistics reported on Wednesday of this week that on June 19 this year 5,171,000 persons were gainfully employed. This figure Canadian residents were working on was only 1,000 less than the 5,172,000 who were working on June 20, 1953. Yet the number of unemployed persons this year was 185,000, compared to 90,000 at the same time last year. It is thus evident that there are 94,000 more Canadians in the nation's labor force this year than there were a year ago.

First reaction of some is to blame this situation on immigration. This is absurd. That immigration has increased our labor force is self-evident, but it should be equally obvious to all that these new mouths to feed, these new bodies to clothe, these new families to house, have also increased the effective demand for the products of Canadian farms and mills and factories.

Just how much has our population grown as the result of immigration? Well, the Research Group for European Migration Problems, in a bulletin forwarded to the Ontario Intelligencer by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, reports that for the years 1946-1953, European Migrants settled permanently in Canada 772,800 persons. Of these 386,400 were males.

We ought to remember that these immigrants were not selected at random from the population. They were carefully selected. They do not include many elderly people—and therefore the rate of increase amongst these elderly people will have been low. They do include many young people, including young married couples, and the birth rate will therefore have been comparatively high. It does not seem unreasonable to suggest that as the result of this immigration our population has probably increased by a million persons.

Actually the total population increase since the end of the war to date as the result of immigration from all of the world to the nation of Canada is about one million hundreds, not just Europe, is now well past the million mark. Not long ago it was announced that the millionth immigrant had arrived, and to these new arrivals must be added their offspring born since they took up residence in this country.

How the proportion of workers among a million of these persons compares with the proportion of workers among a million Canadians is somewhat difficult to guess. On the one hand the immigrants and their children will include a large number of children. But on the other hand, there will be few dependent elderly people. Moreover, there may be some tendency for the younger members of the immigrant group to find work at an earlier age than is usual among native Canadians.

How do our immigration figures compare with those of other countries? Well, third in the world is the United States heads the list with 1,375,600 immigrants from 1946-1953, but this figure, though double Canada's, is actually smaller when related to the population of the two countries. Therefore it judged by the standard of the ratio of immigrants to residents, Canada is in second place, with nearly 750,000 immigrants since the end of the Second Great War, but as the Research Group for European Migration Problems points out the movement of Jews to Israel is in a special category.

Australia is next to Canada, with 717,900 immigrants, in comparison to its population a larger figure than Canada's. Then there is Argentina is in fifth place, having accepted 532,000 newcomers. It is somewhat surprising to learn that the vast expenses of Brazil have received only 304,000 immigrants. Incidentally, the Brazilian economy has been expanding at an extraordinary rate. Pig-iron production, for example, has multiplied thirty times in the past twenty years.

Belgium has taken 131,500 immigrants, Southern Rhodesia with 88,500 and New Zealand with 84,500 are the only other nations whose immigration figures for the 1946-1953 period are listed. The Research Group's pamphlet adds that various other nations have accepted immigrants in smaller numbers. For example, from February of 1952 to the end of 1953, the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration moved 2,100 immigrants to Chile and 5,400 to Venezuela.

BRAZILIANS HAPPY

The Brazilian Government Trade bureau is happy.

"The figures for 1954 look very favorable," it reports in its publication "Brazilian Bulletin."

"From the point of view of foreign trade," it says, "the probable continuation of high prices for coffee and cocoa in the consumer markets should offset the reduced harvests expected this year."

Three questions spring to mind.

1. What has happened to the awful lot of coffee the Tin Pan Alley once reported was prevalent in Brazil.

2. Will "continuation of high prices . . . offset the reduced harvests" or are these reduced harvests the reason why prices are so much higher?

3. Since Brazil is in the southern hemisphere and it is now mid-winter there, is not this a little early in the season to be predicting smaller harvests for next season's cocoa and coffee crops?

THAT "LET DOWN" FEELING IS WELCOMED HERE

"There are," an advertisement in the New York Times assures us, "many well-groomed New Yorkers who make it a point of pride never to 'let down' in hot weather."

Since the advertisement is sponsored by a men's wear firm, it goes without saying that the cardinal sin of "letting down" consists of failing to remain dressed up.

We regret to report that in Belleville there are not only very few well-groomed residents who refuse to "let down" in hot weather but the suspicion lingers on that most of them welcome the opportunity.

Particularly immediately after a repot of a 38-pound lunge being caught in the Moira River.

IMITATORS

If we smile a little more,
Smiles returned we'll surely see.
Since good will we bargain for,
Good of will we have to be.
If we speak the cheerful word,
Cheerful speech will then be heard.

We are imitators all.
Frowns with frowns are promptly met.
Wherever'er we go to call
We take with us what we'll get.
Speak in anger and we'll be Answered just as angrily.

We are mirrors every one.
In each other plain to see
Is the way we carry on.
Whatsoe'er the mood may be
As we are, and as we act,
Conduct similar attract.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

DO WE DESERVE TO GO ON?

As the War of 1812 drew to a close, great despondency fell over our country. There had been much unnecessary fighting. The realization prevailed that the issues would be settled more conclusively at the peace table than they had already been settled on land and sea.

At last a ship sailed up the New York harbor bringing the commissioners from Ghent. News flashed through the city that a treaty of peace had been signed. There was great rejoicing over the outcome. The war was over. People rushed through the city streets, shouting, "Peace! Peace!"

Why, after all these centuries, do we still have to endure the horrors and the insane absurdities of international conflict? Can man who has conquered space, invented the TV and the computing machine, who has explored the secret domains of knowledge—can man not solve this problem of how to get along with his fellows?

If he cannot, then the future is dark indeed. Of what value are all his discoveries and inventions if in the end somehow or some thing comes in to smash them and he is retaliation crosses his neighbor's property line with ax and club?

The peace of God is described in the Bible as passing all understanding. It is only when this peace gets into our hearts that we will have sense enough to live, or that we will deserve to continue to exist.

Throwing Things

Montreal Canadiens have set out to make war on spectators who throw objects onto the ice. But the custom of throwing figures onto the ice will probably continue, thus contributing to the growing violence of the game.

Tara's Halls

(By Jane Mary Farley in the Milwaukee Journal)

Recently a considerable portion of the Hill of Tara, County Meath, once the seat of the high kings of Ireland, came into the hands of the Irish for preservation as a national monument. The hill is a bit too soon, either. For in the 1,500 years since the Irish have neglect and desecration of the sacred spot have probably caused more harm than good over in his grave.

Neighboring farmers have filched soil and rock from the ancient burial mounds; centuries of cattle have trampled the hill. Mysterious stones which once wept at the coronation of legitimate kings around generations of Irish have been chipped away to keep the traditions of the place.

Now there are so many ways to tell of Tara as there are Irishmen, and all are different. In fact, the plateau is dropped in myth and mystery as it is dropped in time and history. It is under mists settling over the land; so that it is hard for a man to pick his own way.

Yet, however the story is told it is constant: For all its present silence and ruin, the hill was once the hub of ancient Hibernian life.

Warriors, gods, faeries, kings, dwelt on the green plateau. Here, a great story it was that pagan Lolguire, son of Niall of the Nine Hostages, had a fabulous feast. Rich face to face over an illegal Easter bonfire.

The history of the sport was first officially recorded in the History of Lanarkshire, published in 1831. Then, when the place was already falling to ruin, enthusiastic Scots began to monsters and magic. Many an strange tales about the headless horseman of Tara.

Today only a few monuments to one or another woman. One of these is the Mound of the Hostages, the burial mound of Tara

Weary Senators Pause 25 Minutes In 3-Day Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weary senators talked this morning toward their third day of round-the-clock debate on the Eisenhower administration's atomic energy bill.

The marathon session which began at 10 a.m. Wednesday broke off briefly during the wee hours. But 25 minutes later the orators were at it again, with no end yet in sight.

Leaders in the House of Representatives gave up waiting on the Senate and scheduled a session of their own today on the omnibus measure which would revamp the basic 1946 atomic energy law. Debate in that body could be as bitter as the Senate's, but not as drawn out, for House debate-limiting rules are strict.

A Senate effort to curb discussion came shortly after midnight when Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, filed a petition to invoke closure. The petition was signed by 38 senators, all Republicans. But no test can come on it before Sunday morning.

CLAIMS OBSTRUCTIONISM

Knowland has accused "liberal Democrats" of conducting a filibuster against the measure and of tactics of "pure obstructionism" against the uncompleted portions of President Eisenhower's legislative program. Most opponents of the bill have disputed that, saying the debate has been confined largely to the issues.

Generally, the bill would allow the United States to share with its allies some limited information on atomic weapons, and would open the way for private industry to develop peaceful atomic power.

Opponents of the administration bill scored an upset victory Thursday night when the Senate voted 45 to 41 to keep the federal government to go into the commercial production of electrical energy from atomic fuel.

Ontario Polio Light This Year

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario may have one of the lightest polio outbreaks this year since the epidemic of 1937.

The Ontario department of health says 30 cases of poliomyelitis have been reported since April1; at the same time last year there had been 223 cases.

Figures for the province suggest that a high year of polio is usually followed by a low year. It is believed persons develop an immunity during a high year.

However, health authorities and physicians warn that the slowness of polio in developing across the province is no guarantee that it will not strike.

The most serious outbreak in Canada occurred in Ontario in 1937 when 2,674 cases were reported with 99 deaths.

Scientists From 54 Countries Launch Assault on Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Scientists from 54 countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain launched a new joint assault today against cancer, which kills someone in the world every 10 seconds.

The doctors come from Russia, the United States, Britain, Korea, Poland, Brazil, Chile, Greece, Hungary, in fact almost any country you can name.

Nearly 1,000 physicians, chemists, physicists, biologists and other scientists are converging here and exchanging their latest knowledge to mobilize their answers in the death and suffering from cancer.

Their meeting ground is the sixth International Cancer Congress. The congress last met in Paris in 1950.

In the next week the delegates will listen to some 500 reports dealing with treatment, detection, new scientific research and public education concerning cancer. They also will meet informally, seeking from or telling to other men and women scientists the findings which might supply keys to the answers they and the world want.

OPENED TODAY

The congress was formally opened today by Dr. Antonio Prudente, congress president and head of the Brazilian Cancer Institute.

About 2,000,000 persons over the world fall a victim to cancer annually, he said in his opening address. This congress must seek the mobilization of all men and women to combat this enemy.

Dr. Prudente said new promises from research in various fields offer great hope, and each new fact learned is potentially useful in solving the riddle.

Prior to the opening session, Dr George T. Pack of New York's Memorial Hospital, told Thursday of a new operation to cure cancer of the liver. In some cases he said, the whole right lobe of the liver, 75 to 80 per cent of the organ, had been removed by new surgical techniques.

After such operations he said, the left lobe regenerates and expands until the liver becomes nearly its original size.

ELDORADO

Friends Bid Farewell To Neighbors

ELDORADO—On Monday evening a large crowd of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Pigden to bid them farewell, after a stay of 54 years in Eldorado, before leaving to their new home in Madoc village.

The evening was spent in a social time of visiting, after which Mr. and Mrs. Pigden and Lela were asked to take specially allotted chairs in the living room. Miss Bernedette Thompson read an address and, Mr. and Mrs. Pigden were presented with a lovely occasional chair and Lela with a dresser lamp.

Mrs. Kenneth Bateman then read an address from the Bannockburn and Elzerado Women's Institute and Mrs. Pigden and Lela were presented with china cups and saucers. They each expressed their appreciation and thanks for the lovely gifts and invited all to visit them when they get settled in Madoc.

Refreshments were served to the large crowd and each enjoyed a social time before their departure to their several homes.

Beria's Henchman Is Executed For Doctors' Plot

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—M. D. Ryumin, henchman of the executed Soviet police boss, L. P. Beria, has himself met death before a firing squad nearly 15 months after he was tagged with the blame of the "doctors' plot."

His execution was announced today by Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper. Pravda said the military collegium of the Soviet Supreme Court tried Ryumin from July 2 to July 7 and ordered him shot on charges of forcing the doctors to "slander themselves and other people." It also accused him of treason.

(There was no explanation why the courts took so long to deal with Ryumin, who was arrested in April, 1953, as the scapegoat in the case.)

NINE ACCUSED

The internal security ministry first announced details of the plot in January, 1953. It accused nine physicians, several of them Jews, of plotting to kill Soviet leaders and charged that they already had done away with Politburo member Andrei Zhdanov with "reverse therapy."

Three months later the ministry, which had since been taken over by Beria, announced that the nine doctors and six others had been freed and that Ryumin had been arrested. Beria was jailed himself in June, 1953, "on treason charges and his execution was announced last December.

Pravda said the death sentence was imposed on Ryumin because the court "took into consideration the special dangers of criminal activity . . . and the heaviness of the consequences of the crime perpetrated by him."

Kemano Woman Misses Conversation, Shopping

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KEMANO, B.C. (CP) — Billie Kenward, tall, blonde and mother of two youngsters, was born in Winnipeg but "outside of an occasional trip outside," doesn't care if she never pounds pavement again. Chances are, she won't.

Her husband, Ken, a native of Bowsman, Man., is a field auditor for the Aluminum Company of Canada. He will be one of 60 men and their families permanently at this mountain-tinged power base 400 miles upcoast from Vancouver.

At peak employment last fall, there were approximately 6,000 men on the payroll here, building the tunnel and the underground powerhouse which will soon fire the furnaces at the aluminum company smelter at Kitimat.

PREFABRICATED HOME

Billie, who believes her parents' choice of the christian name "Willa" was unfortunate, keeps busy tidying up their neat, prefabricated, two - bedroom home which they rent from the company and laughs at the suggestion that Kemano is isolated.

"Both Union and Canadian Pacific Steamships call here," she says. "It's on the Pacific Western Airlines regular route and Queen Charlotte Airlines calls in here. There's a base plane for emergencies."

But by next fall, with only 60 families living there, the steamers will stop calling and the airlines will fly right on past to Kitimat or Prince Rupert.

"By then we'll have our own base boat for 80-mile trip to Kitimat," Billie says. "There will still be two or three helicopters here for inspection trips up the transmission line north to Kitimat."

She and Ken, who have lived here since early in 1951, belong to a book club—but their bobbies are looking after Billy, 9, and their two-year-old daughter Leslie.

"WONDERFUL PLACE"

"We have a wonderful place here," Billie says. "It's warm in the winter and just about right in the summer. We have two oil stoves for heat. We even have bathtubs, which is wonderful. Some of the contractor's houses have only showers."

Their home has a utility room where Billie keeps her gleaming washing machine. In the kitchen is a tall, wide refrigerator.

"I do about three washes a week," she says. "Some of the girls sort sheets and blankets—the heavier things—down to Vancouver. We have to send all our dry-cleaning that way. They have it back in 10 days."

Right now, her shopping is confined to the camp commissary or mail order. The school for Billy is 3½ miles away at the little company settlement of Wash-Wash, the camp pronunciation for the Indian Wach-Wa, a creek which skirts the area. Every Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday there are shows in the huge theatre quonset.

MISSES CONVERSATION

What does she miss most about life "outside"?

"Conversation, I think. Radio reception is pretty poor up here and while I have some very dear friends among the families of the men Ken works with, you can usually dispense with shop-talk in about two minutes. Then it becomes pretty wearing."

She looked through the window at the transmission lines looping north.

"And sometimes I think about those lighted windows in the stores and I'd like to go shopping—without a dime in my pocket."

Cooper-Remington DVBS Conducted By Y.P. Caravan

A busy, but enjoyable two weeks for Cooper and Remington was brought to a close on Friday, July 16th, when the Daily Vacation Bible School ended.

This Vacation Bible School was conducted by a caravan of young people, from the Board of Christian Education of the United Church of Canada: Miss Evelyn Tisdall, Miss Helen Cowper, Mr. Robert Nichol and Mr. Harvey Etherden, assisted by many of the ladies of the district.

The caravan built the program of the school around life central theme, "The Growing Church." Stories, songs and Scripture verses memorized as walk-by hand-work done, all contributed something to this central theme.

On Thursday evening, the school was "At Home," to parents and friends, who enjoyed hearing songs, stories and memory work, given by the children and seeing their display of handiwork.

During the evening, certificates were presented by the leaders to those who had attended seven days.

SURPRISE FEATURE

A surprise feature of the evening was the presentation of four gifts to the four members of the caravan by children of their classes.

Mr. Lewis expressed the appreciation of the community for the work done, by the caravaners.

In expressing their thanks for these tokens of appreciation, they also expressed their appreciation of the willing and efficient help of the local leaders.

This school should lead to a clearer understanding in the minds of the pupils of the place of the church in the life of the community and of the individual.

Women's Institute

QUINTE W.I.

The regular meeting of Quinte Women's Institute was held at Front lead Church with over 50 present. Mrs. Sandercock, the president, opened the meeting.

Mrs. Arnold Mitchell read letters of thanks from Mrs. F. Purdy, Mrs. W. Trumpour and Mrs. Keene. Mrs. Bunnett spoke of having her Life Membership pin. It was decided to cater at Tobe's if the occasion arises.

Mrs. Jack Parrott took the meeting as this was the girls' meeting, the program was presented mostly by children of S.S. 20, Bayview School.

Little Jane Thompson delighted all with a piano solo "Sunbeams".

Mrs. Arnold Mitchell took the motto, "A gardener's pleasure knows no measure". Mrs. Mitchell appropriately spoke on sentiment, influence and the pleasure of flowers.

Miss Mabel Craig gave a solo "Bless This House". Joan Clazie gave a reading "Rose".

Three little girls, Donna Way, Ruth Ann Mintz and Sheila Waite, sang "Dutch Kindergarden".

Mrs. John Craig took the motto "Choosing a Vocation". This was most inspiring to the girls with good advice on how to choose a vocation; to know yourself and set a goal. This was enjoyed and profitable to all.

Jane Thompson and Joan Clazie favored with a duet. Mary Lu Thompson, a recitation; Diana Bradshaw and Joan Conlie a duet, "Ha Walks With Me." Mabel Reid favored with another solo.

Mrs. A. Greatrix reported on the Garden Club for Barbara Greatrix, who was ill. Barbara had her report made out and a record of all they had done and were doing. Credit goes to Mrs. Clifford Reid and Mrs. Greatrix who coached these girls, Donna Way, Ruth Ann Mitz and Sheila Waite gave another song.

Refreshments were served and thanks tendered to Mrs. Parrott for making this lovely program possible.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

ATTENTION . . . ALL GUESTS

When you are a guest, for a short visit or for longer, leave at the arranged time—for your hostess. Your hostess may feel that it is the way of gracious hospitality to say (or perhaps just to murmur) "I wish you would stay." But be wise, dear guest, and don't do it. Undoubtedly your hostess has her definite plans. . .and you should have yours, and stick to them.

GROOM'S MOTHER AGAINST GIVING SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son's fiancee lives in a city quite a distance from here. We met her and her mother and father three months ago when they came here to visit Anne's aunt and uncle. But Anne's aunt is a semi-invalid, and so no parties were given. This visit was just before the engagement was announced. Now that the engagement is announced, my son thinks we should invite Anne to visit us for a week or so, and while she is here, he thinks I should give a bridal shower for her, inviting all our relatives and friends, and all his friends. He even said that he thought his fiancee "expected" me to do this, so that she could have the opportunity of meeting the relatives and friends of the family, particularly as they are to live here after their marriage. Personally I don't think it would be proper for me to give this kind of party, for I would certainly feel embarrassed asking our relatives and friends to come and meet Anne, to bring presents to her. She's a charming girl, we're all devoted to her, but this is a conservative town and we just naturally draw back from planning to do something that could be criticized. Also, Mrs. Beeckman, don't you remember that you think it isn't good taste for the mother of the prospective groom to give a bridal shower? — His Mother

You are entirely right in your point of view. For you to give a shower for your son's fiancee would be in extremely poor taste. . . and precisely for the reason you so well state. You reveal yourself as a woman of such sure taste that you would be, as you truly say, "embarrassed" at giving the kind of party that obliges every relative and friend invited, to bring a shower present for a girl they have not even met.

It's perfect procedure for you to invite your son's fiancee for this visit, . perfect for you and your husband to give a party inviting all relatives and friends to come to meet Anne. A late-afternoon party, say on Saturday or Sunday.

WHEN COLD SOUP IS THE FIRST COURSE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In these summer days, when the first course (luncheon or dinner) is a cold soup, . . either a cold cream-soup (such as Vichyssoise) or a jellied soup, . . is it proper to have it in the soup-cups at the individual places before the hostess asks the guests to come into the dining-room? — Edna S.

Yes, . . in these days of no-service or limited-service, this procedure is practical, convenient, time-saving.

IF HER BABY IS A BOY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm going to have a baby soon. If it's a boy he will be named after his father, who is a "Jr." The paternal grandfather, who is "Sr." is living. Would I put "III" after the child's name? — I.F.

Yes . . he would be "III". That is when the grandfather, son and grandson all have exactly the same name, the father is "junior", and the grandson is "third" (III) because he is the third of that name.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . I sure enjoy your column. It helps a lot when I have to plan and cook meals and I don't know much about it. I would like some Chinese recipes . . . some like Chicken Chow-mayn (that's what I think it's called).—Lin. O.

ANSWER:

I think the Chinese dish you are referring to is

CHICKEN CHOW MEIN

In 3 tablespoons hot butter in large frying pan brown lightly 4 tablespoons finely chopped onion and 1 cup sliced washed mushrooms (not more than 5 minutes over low heat). Add and simmer for 15 minutes 1 1-3 cups cooked chicken cut in shreds (about 1 or 1 1-2 inches by 1-4 inch wide) 1 cup celery cut diagonally or stalk in 1-4 inch pieces, 1 1-2 cups chicken stock (or 2 cups bouillon cubes dissolved in 2 cups water), 2 tablespoons soy sauce (buy this in large grocery store), 2 teaspoons sugar. When this heat has reached a boiling stir together 1 1-2 tablespoons cornstarch and 3 tablespoons cold water and stir this into meat mixture until thick then cook 5 minutes longer over low heat. This is always served hot over hot chow mein noodles which you can buy in tins and heat in top of double boiler. The noodles must never be allowed to get moist—just hot. This amount serves four.

CHOP SUEY

Brown in 3 tablespoons peanut oil or butter 1-2 to 1 lb. pork or veal or chicken which is raw and cut in small strips, and 1 thinly sliced onion, for 5 minutes over low heat. Add 2 cups chopped cut-up celery, 1 tablespoon finely shredded green pepper, 2-1-2 cups veal meat stock (or water and 1 or 2 teaspoon whike seasoning —MSG or Accent), 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons soy sauce. Cover and simmer 30 minutes—uncovering during last 20 minutes. If desired chop suey may be cooked a much shorter time than this—the Chinese like and serve their vegetables while still crisp. Serve chop suey on fluffy boiled rice.

FLUFFY ICING

(Courtesy Mrs. J.)

One egg white chilled, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-3 cup boiling water, vanilla, few grains salt. Mix egg white, sugar, salt and cream of tartar in large bowl. Add boiling water, beat steadily until thick and fluffy, so it will hold its shape. Add vanilla. It takes about 5 minutes with a rotary beater.

This icing should be used the same day it is made.

QUICK CHEESE BREAD

(Courtesy Mrs. J.)

One and one-half cups sifted bread flour or 1 2-3 cups sifted pastry flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 3-4 cup grated cheese, 1 egg, 2-3 cup milk, 4 tablespoons melted shortening. Grease pan 5x8x2 inches. Preheat oven to 425 deg. Fahr. Sift flour then measure into sifter, and add salt and baking powder and sift into mixing bowl. Mix in cheese. In another bowl beat egg and add milk and shortening to it. Mix liquids lightly with fork into dry ingredients until barely mixed. Spread evenly in prepared pan and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 25 minutes. Break apart with fork and serve at once.

ANSWER:

That fluffy icing is a find for me. Thanks for a grand letter.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

NEW NECKS FOR OLD

Every woman approaching middle age should take a vow to save her neck. It can become a good looks liability almost overnight if it does not receive the same cosmetic attention that she gives her complexion. And its defects cannot be hidden or camouflaged.

The woman whose neck remains firm and of pleasing contour is usually the up-and-coming girl, for that we mean that she carries herself with spirit, keeps her head on the level, doesn't let her chin droop. As with some other beauty problems, poor posture is often a factor that contributes to stringiness and wrinkles at the neckline.

If the neck skin has started to wither, it cannot be rejuvenated in a hurry. Plastic surgery can take a few tucks in the sagging tissues and loose skin, but these treatments are expensive. The thing to do is to watch for early signs and start on a campaign of neck treatments. If the beauty budget will permit an indulgence in professional services, they will help too. Facials include muscle toning of the throat.

Depleted tissues must be vitalized by speeding up circulation that brings nourishment to the cells. By spending fifteen minutes a day doing corrective massage exercises a forlorn neck can be made to perk up and take notice.

Get a jar of heavy cream. Oils and emollients of light consistency are not suitable; they do not offer resistance to the manipulations that should be deep enough to revive the underlying fibers.

Spread the cream over a clean skin surface. Turning the head to the right, dip up and down strokes with flattened fingers on the left side and vice versa. Throw the head back, sweep up and down from collar bones to chin. With the head forward, treat the back of your neck; often the skin there may have a dingy look. Clasp your hands at the nape line, turn the head from side to side with a strong muscle pull.

MASSENA BOOMING

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP)—This northern New York village, which will be a centre for construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project, is having a building boom. The village clerk reports that in the first six months of the year he sold permits for construction estimated by him at $1,281,750 in estimated construction permitted in 1953 and four times the total construction in 1947.

TRY TO RAISE BONDS

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Teck township will seek authority to raise $120,000 by the sale of debentures for a six-room extension on the collegiate here. A school inspector said extra space is necessary since "boys and girls are staying in school because of the difficulty of finding jobs outside."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HE'S A DIABETIC—THINKS HE SHOULDN'T MARRY HER

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 21 years of age, and am going with a boy who is a diabetic. He has taken treatments for it and he just got out of the hospital. He rooms out because he has no parents, therefore he is alone most of the time.

He thinks it is wrong to go with me because of his illness and the trouble it might cause in future. We love each other very much, and I am quite willing to take the risk, but he is afraid that if we marry he would only make my life miserable.

Do you think I should just wait, in the hope that he will finally realize how foolish he is to stand in the way of our happiness, or should I try to talk him into realizing it? — S.D.

Dear S.D.: The question of whether or not a marriage will be happy, married to someone who has a chronic disease, is a rather complicated one.

Since, the vast majority of people who have it lead normal lives in every way. Unless this boy has some unusual complications, he can probably do so, too, and need have no feeling that his illness would stand in the way of your marriage.

The only sensible thing to do, of course, is for you both to go to his doctor and talk the whole thing over. He will certainly be able to tell you how much, if at all, your lives are going to be affected by the situation, and then the two of you can make your decision.

FOLLOW THE WISE MAN'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Will you please tell me how to make friends, especially boy friends?

I'm 15 years old, and have never had very many good friends, so I usually have to stay home on Fri. day and Saturday nights because I don't get asked to go anywhere. J.C.

Dear J.C.:

A certain wise man once said: "You will make more friends in a week by getting yourself interested in other people than you can in a year by trying to get other people interested in you." No truer words were ever spoken, so give a lot of thought to them, then act on them.

You make friends, too, when you're good at the things that other young people of your age like to do, such as sports, and dancing—you know the kind of activities that the young people around you enjoy. If you learn to do these well, or even not so well, at first, it will not only give you a common interest to share actively with the others, but it will also give you something to talk about with them.

Go to your library now and take out a book called "Teen-Talk," by Marion Glenning. The first chapter of this book is one on popularity and how to win it. You'll find lots of good suggestions on making friends all through this book.

If you would like to have my own sheet of suggestions on how to be popular, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope, and I'll be glad to send it to you.

Mother's Helper

ANY CHILD'S birthday party is more fun if there's a gaily wrapped gift for each small guest. Of course, these presents can be of the less-toost variety—it's the idea of having "something to open" that's important to a youngster.

"Nightgowns" for FIRE-FIGHTERS

WIDE-AWAKE fire departments may soon be turned out in a new heat-resisting suit built on the general lines of the old-fashioned nightgown. Made of reflective aluminum foil, this outfit gives the hook-and-ladder lads a lot more protection from extreme heat.

Canadian farmers have the same idea when they build their barns of aluminum sheet. Not only is aluminum fire-resistant but it also keeps barns cooler in summer because it reflects the heat of the sun; and in winter reflects back into the barn heat that would otherwise escape. In fact you might say that in the products of Canada's aluminum industry are reflected countless aids to better living — on the farm, in the city, in your own home. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. Sunday School Lesson:

God Is Better Than the Best

By ROY L. SMITH

Every great world religion urges upon its devotees the idea that they should pray, but the prayers of the various religions vary widely because their concepts of God (and man himself) are very different. Psychology and Christian experience alike agree that the Christian's prayers are of the utmost importance to him in the development of a well rounded and completely integrated personality.

TEACHING BY CONTRAST

The skilful teacher, and the public speaker, very frequently attempts to teach by means of contrast. In this week's Sunday school lesson Jesus employs that method. He tells the story of a reluctant neighbor who is entreated to lend a little assistance to a neighbor in distress in the middle of the night. Not because he is agreeable, but because he wants to be rid of a nuisance, he does the thing he is asked to do. It is as though Jesus were saying, "In contrast to such grudging agreeability you can depend on it that God will hurry to help one of His children who appeals to Him for assistance."

HOW MUCH MORE!

On several occasions, according to the New Testament, Jesus compared God to the best of men, and said of our Heavenly Father, "How much more is to be expected of Him."

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for July 25th: "Growing Through Prayer," Psalms 46:10; Isaiah 40:28-31; Luke 11:1-13; Philippians 4:6-7; Hebrews. 4:14-16.

It is a common thing for American tourists to judge foreign lands and peoples by the public servants they meet along the way—taxi drivers, hotel porters, railroad clerks, and salespeople. And these make up a very important segment of any population. But to compare such with the cultured and the cultivated teachers, scholars, merchants, and "leading citizens" back home may be grossly unfair to all concerned.

Jesus took the finest and most lovable characters and compared God to them, saying "How much more!" Our Heavenly Father, He declared, could be trusted even farther than a father could be, for whom a hungry child could make an appeal. Certainly he could be trusted farther than a grudging neighbor grumbling in the night over a trivial bit of solicited assistance.

THEN FRAY THAT WAY

The whole purpose of the stories in the lesson is to teach the simple principle that God can be approached by the praying man with greater confidence, even than a child would approach his father, or then a neighbor would approach a gracious family living next door.

The basic teaching of this week's lesson is one of the most heartening bits of news the world has ever heard. No man need ever be afraid of God!

It is not necessary to argue with God, wear Him down with much pleading overcome all His objections, or importune Him—as though He were a reluctant banker who had to be overwhelmed before he would extend credit.

Instead, He is like a neighbor who comes running over to offer his help when he sees unexpected guests arriving, and He is like a father who is more anxious to do well by his child than the child is to accept the father's help.

Let any man get this concept of God and his praying will take on an entirely different character.

CAMPBELLFORD

Nancy Darrington Wins 1954 Beauty Contest

CAMPBELLFORD. — A pretty 17-year-old brunette, Nancy Darrington, was named "Miss Campbellford, 1954" at the annual beauty contest held by the Rotary Club on Saturday night. She was chosen from among 11 contestants and as her prizes she received a wrist watch, cash and merchandise prizes and corsage.

Second place went to Beverley Dunford, 18, and third was won by Margo Ames, 16. Each received cash and merchandise awards.

FOUR JUDGES

A panel of four judges comprised of Mrs. June Switzer of Toronto, Mayor Ralph J. Locke, Councillor Isobel Tatham and Morley Tanner, made the selections from among 17 young ladies clad in bathing suits who paraded before an audience of over 1,000 persons.

Mrs. D. W. Burgess was in charge of organizing the contest and was presented with a small gift by Miss Campbellford on behalf of the Rotary Club.

The contest climaxed a two-day carnival to raise funds for community welfare work. Large crowds attended on both nights, making it a most successful venture. A draw for either a television set or a refrigerator was won by Henry Oliver, of R.R. 1, Campbellford. Miss Campbellford made the draw from a huge drum on the stage set up on Bridge Street.

RYLSTONE

About 500 Attend First Open Air Band Concert

RYLSTONE—On Sunday evening about 500 people gathered at the picnic grounds Crowe River Bridge, for the first of a series of open air concerts to be held on Sunday nights during July and August. This first concert, was most successful, and was enjoyed by the large crowd who paid perfect attention, which is the best tribute an audience can pay to the performers.

Mr. Bourne, the proprietor of the refreshment booth, and picnic grounds, kindly placed seats for the crowd, and wired the grounds for light and also provided a microphone, which was certainly a great help to people not sat in cars and listened to the music.

The following was the program: "O Canada" by Campbellford Citizens' Band. Speech of welcome by Mrs. Wilfred Bourne, president of the Rylstone Women's Institute. Welcome by Mr. Bourne, proprietor of the picnic grounds. Introduction by Mrs. Donald Kerr, convener for "Community Activities and Public Relations" for Rylstone Women's Institute.

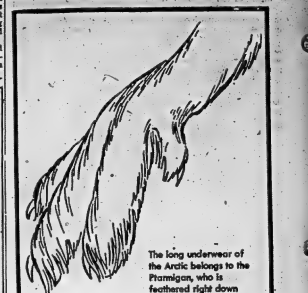
The following selections were all played by Campbellford Citizens' Band under the baton of leader, Donald A. Bennett. "S.I.B.A. March", "A Perfect Day", "Bonbasto March," "Abide With Me," "Sun of My Soul", "March Lorraine", "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and "Sons of the Brave."

COMMUNITY SINGING

Mrs. D. Kerr then introduced one of the older and much respected citizens, Mr. Fred W. Barnum, who led in the following community singing, "Church in the Wildwood", "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow", "When He Cometh" and a chorus "I'll Sing In the Morning", sung to the tune of the "Bells of St. Mary's."

Piano accordion solo, "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross," by Gerald Taylor, of Wellman's Corners. Encore, "Living For Jesus." A pipe band consisting of part of the band of the Band and Carl Laing of the Havelock Pipe Band, played several selections. Members of the Sentinel Pipe Band who played, were E. Irwin, bass drum and Clarence Barnum and Claire Irwin, snare drums.

Mrs. Ernest Irwin Provincial Board Director, of the Women's Institute, gave a brief talk about the aims of the Institute in having these open air sacred concerts and plans for future concerts.



The Campbellford Citizens' Band gave two more selections, "Standard of St. George", and "American Patrol."

The pipe band rendered a few more selections.

Mrs. Donald Kerr, thanked all who had helped make the evening a success, especially the Campbellford Citizens' Band who contributed so generously.

A silver collection was taken up and the band closed the program with the National Anthem.

Another open air concert will be held in the same place on Sunday evening, July 25th at 8 o'clock. Everybody welcome. Come and enjoy the Wildwood programs.

The long underwear of the Arctic belongs to the Ptarmigan, who is feathered right down over his toes. Good thing, too, for on their long migrations, these cold-weather birds often walk most of the way.

Lack of Rain Worries Farmers

TORONTO (CP) — Farmers across the southern sections of Ontario are finishing up their haying this week and hopefully scanning the skies for signs of much-needed rain.

They fear their oat and vegetable crops may be seriously damaged if their dust-dry land does not receive moisture soon.

In southern and western Ontario, where there has been little rain since early spring, white beans, soybeans, sugar beets and corn have suffered severely from the lack of moisture.

Poor pasture growth due to the dry weather has cut milk production in many central and southern counties.

The appearance of army worms in some parts of western Ontario is adding to the farmers' worries.

In some areas of northern and eastern Ontario, on the other hand, excessive rainfall has delayed haying operations.

Aussies' Formula for World Records Plainly and Simply Is 'Will Go Win'

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — What makes the Australians run to world breaking times?

The question has been popped by scores of athletes and officials from nearly every one of the 31 countries here for the British Empire Games and the answer is summed up neatly in four small words:

The will to win."

Australian sports writers here to cover the July 30-Aug. 6 games take it as a matter of fact that the Down Under country has world champions in the sprints and mile. And there are many other Aussies just a step or two behind in the short runs.

There's no secret formula for Marjorie Jackson running the 100 yards, 100 metres, 220 yards and 200 metres faster than any other woman in the world. The same goes for Hector Hogan in the 100 yards and John Landy in the mile.

The Australians haven't training or coaching advantages over any other athletes in the world. Track meets in Australia are operated along the lines of any in Canada—athletes and officials outnumbering the paying customers. Officials clutter up the infield and swarm all over the finish line blocking the view of folks in the stands, just as they do in Canada.

Track meets in Australia, with the exception of Landy's much-advertised attempts to crack the four-minute barrier a couple of months ago, are held before practically-empty stands, just as in Canada.

Australia's rise to world power in many sports —track, tennis, cricket, cycling—may date back to 1838 when the R.E. Games were held in that country. "Sport generally received a big boost after those games," an Australian sports writer here said today.

"Our approach to sport changed. Our athletes go out to win every time and it's old-fashioned for a youngster to compete in any sport just for the fun of it." The rise to power in track events and the Australians' domination of Davis Cup tennis has been a "studious, run."

American Star Favored to Win Tennis Singles

By GARY SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Men's and women's singles in the Canadian tennis championships have reached the semi-finals. The women moved into the spotlight today while the men racked up for their matches Saturday.

In one semi-final bracket, Bernard Bartzen, United States clay courts champion and No. 1 foreign seed in the tournament, was scheduled to face Atsushi Miyagi, Japanese Davis Cupper who is No. 4 in the foreign seedings.

Bartzen stopped Chile's Ricardo Balbiers in straight sets Thursday 6-1, 6-4, 6-3, and ruled as a strong favorite to defeat Miyagi, conqueror of Canada's Bob Bedard in the quarter-finals Thursday.

HALTED BEDARD

Miyagi stopped Bedard, No. 2 Canadian player, in four sets, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, 9-7. Bedard was the last Canadian in the running for the men's singles crown.

Andres Hammersley of Chile who stopped Andy Paton of Ann Arbor, Mich., in straight sets Thursday, 6-1, 8-6, 6-4, squares off against Kosei Kamo of Japan in the other men's semi-final match Saturday.

Hammersley is No. 7 in the foreign seedings and Kamo, who belted Chilean champion Luis Ayala in a surprising straight set conquest Thursday, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, is the third-seeded foreigner in the tournament.

Today's women's semi-final pairing pits Melita Ramirez Castro of Mexico, defending champion and first seed foreigner, against Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., in one match, and Ethel Norton of San Antonio, Tex., against Canada's remaining hope for a singles title, Mrs. Hilde Doleschell of Toronto.

Bluebirds Win Over Frankford By 7-4 Score

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Bluebird Juniors built up a 7-2 lead with some timely hitting last night and then staved off an eleventh-hour rally to take a 7-4 decision over the Frankford Merchants in a postponed game played at the C.N.E. Park.

Three tallies in the second frame put the fifth-place Juniors off to a good start and Bobby Green held the Merchants off the score sheet until the fourth when they plated a pair for a 3-2 score. Three of the winner's hits produced four runs in the sixth and seventh innings to take a commanding lead with Frankford fighting back hard for their final duo in the ninth.

Southpaw Bobby Green went the route to give the Juniors their first win over Frankford this year. The last time these two teams met, Frankford came out with an extra-inning 10-9 victory. Green was touched for seven singles while walking nine and walking seven and did not hit a batter, showing good control during most of the game.

Doug Radner bolo-pitched the distance in defeat, giving up nine hits, all of which were singles while setting three down on strikes and issuing walks to six. He was hit hard in the first two frames but settled down to pitch four-hit ball the rest of the way.

Back to back singles by Bob and Pete Green failed to produce in the initial inning and Radner set the first two batters down in the second before running into trouble. Bert Faulkner started it with a base hit to right field and Paul White slashed another into the opposite pasture with Russell walking to fill the bases. St. Denis also drew a walk to force in the first run of the game and Bob Green singled sharply to send another pair home with Pete Green lifting out to end the rally.

Gilmour singled with one down for the Merchants in the fourth and Ron Mitts followed suit to score Gilmour. Radner was walked and Dafoe sent Mitts home with a clean single to left but Leavitt popped up after Cosgrove walked.

A walk, Bob Green's base-knock and two errors proved costly in the sixth for the Merchants and fifth markers while singles by Day and Faulkner, a sacrifice and walk told the story in the seventh.

Herb Rankin worked a walk in a pinch-hitting role with one out in the final frame with singles by Bill Rankin and Gilmour setting two but it proved a little too late to save the game.

Bob Green had a trio of the winners hits with White and Faulkner chipping in two each. Junior Day and Pete Green got the others.

Dafoe and Gilmour were tops for Frankford, each coming up with a brace of safe blows while the others were divided among Mitts, Austin and Bill Rankin

The lineups:

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

HITTING 'EM.

The Batas discovered their batting eyes with a vengeance in their ball game over four times and as a result the batting average took a definite upswing. According to figures up to July 20, exclusive of a game played in Oakville, seven of the lads are hitting at a .300 plus clip with one over the four hundred mark. We understand the Batas poled out not a few clouts in the missing game and when these statistics are in the .300 clitmiels will be boosted.

Coach Vern Geyer has been blasting the ball with the old gusto and climbed to second place with a .343 mark. Peter Jones, Al. Kelleher, and Tony Pettit are no welcoting with a marked degree of consistency and at the moment the club is making matters plenty tough for opposing moundsmen.

Tomorrow night they entertain the Toronto Dependables who in previous appearances here have proved tough nuts to crack. The Batas are well rested and should be in fine shape for the tilt which probably will see Art Wright gunning for his sixth victory.

But they face a tough grind on Sunday. They trek to Toronto for a doubleheader with the Hoskings and Dependables at Millen Stadium. The results of these games will, do something or other with the standing.

Incidentally we are informed that the top four teams will engage in the league playoffs with the leaders meeting the fourth-place squad and second and third going to the mat. And it has been announced that sectional squads will play a series for OBA championships.

The big series, as we see it, is the finals between Oshawa and the Batas. The Carson squad are not fussy as to whom they eliminate but just for old time sake they would just love to get their City rivals on the hook.....haw-haw. And they will do just that, if and when the teams meet. Hell, I have as much right to say that as has one "Scuz" Campbell. In reverse, that is.

SOFTBALL CONGRESS

The Point Anne softball team is scratching its noggin these days and wondering what it is all about. They received a letter from the recreational director of the Kingston Penitentiary, informing them that as last year's winners of the softball congress, they have been selected to defend the title this year on August 2. Civic holiday that is.

The strange part is that Point Anne did not win the congress title and the Dick Allan Trophy last year. The Glen Ray Juniors turned the trick with the aid of a couple of Ox Fahl players. In fact the junior squad holds the trophy.

In any event the congress tourney sees Point Anne and the Ottawa Riversides clash and Saints tangling with Bloomfield in the morning rounds. In the afternoon the winners meet for the trophy and title.

Another strange angle to the situation is that Don Lee, OASA executive member and co-originator of the congress has not been notified of the goings-on. Of course Warden Dick Allan was co-operated with Lee and all softball authorities in the district but not Lee.

Anyway, that is the situation. There is a mix-up somewhere.

REGENTS PLAY TONIGHT

The baseball tidbit tonight takes place at the Exhibition Grounds where Bryson's Reid's Regents tangle with the Wellington Legionaires in a Belleville District Baseball League tilt. The teams clashed the other night in Wellington in a benefit game for an injured youngster from Picton and the village crew smacked a 7-6 win over the city slickers from Reid's oil wells. But that was an exhibition tilt with Johnny Mowat, Art Wright, Tony Pettit and Claude Cyr of the Batas helping out. Tonight is a different story. Bryson has the boys in tip top condition thanks to Coach Barrage and that ole scrub top "Red" Carson and it should be quite a tilt. The district league is putting up a good brand of baseball, that sometimes tops that dished up by the Viaduct League. Fans should not miss this game. No foolin'.

THEY'RE HERE.

Corpulent "Bunny" Dunlop snuck into town this afternoon and he was not in a friendly mood. That probably is due to the fact that he has not seen his fet, close up, for quite a while due to equatorial expansion, and another reason is he has a big job on his hands tonight, with the help of another of his referee's ilk, to supervise the promised brawl between Whipper Watson and Paul Baillargeon and the Mighty Ursus and Weeping Willie Bollen. From here it looks like fun, fury and fireworks while the bouts between Timmy Geohagen and Ski Hi Lee and Lee Henning and Ray Villmer will add sauce and zest to the ring fare.

Yankee Fielder Has Arrived, Sparkles in Twin Triumph; Tribe Unworried, Wins Twice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the prime reasons for the recent rise of the New York Yankees is the blossoming of Mickey Charles Mantle into a bigtime big leaguer.

The 22-year-old switch - hitting centre fielder apparently has arrived.

His average of .322, is second high on the club. He leads the league in home runs with 20 and tops the Yankees in runs scored, triples, hits, runs batted in, total bases and bases on balls. In the field he ranks with the best.

In Thursday's double triumph over the Chicago White Sox Mantle was the batting star in the first game. He drove in the tying run with a righthanded single in the eighth inning and the winning run with a lefthanded single in the left field in the 10th. The score was 4-3. The Yanks coasted home in the second 11-1.

TRIBE ALSO WIN

Cleveland also won twice, 6-3 and 5-2 over Boston, and kept its half game first-place lead.

Brooklyn climbed a game closer to the New York Giants with a pair of 8-5 victory over Cincinnati while the Giants bowed to Chicago 13-3. New York still holds a six-game edge.

In other action Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 3-2 and St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh by the same score in 14 innings in the National League.

Detroit defeated Philadelphia 9-4 and Washington beat Baltimore 3-2 in the American League.

Two home runs by Vic Wertz helped Bobby Feller post his seventh straight triumph in the first game at Boston. Bob Lemon tamed the Red Sox in the second game, pitching a no-hitter through the first 5 1-3 innings.

Brooklyn found a new cause of joy as big Don Newcombe registered his first success in almost a month. He received help from Jim Hughes but gained the triumph with the aid of home runs by Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese.

The Giants, leading 3-2 after 6½ innings in Chicago, fell apart in the seventh and eighth innings and the Cubs pushed across 11 runs, five in the seventh, six in the eighth.

The Cardinals and Pirates provided a mound duel between Bob Purkey and Ralph Beard for 12 innings. Gerry Staley and Bob Friend took over in the 13th and the Cards won it in the 14th on a single by Red Schoendienst singled home Wally Moon, who had walked, with the winning run before the Y's Men lads squeezed out a 5-5 victory.

Don Cathers gained credit for his initial triumph of the year by hurling 2 1-3 innings of hitless ball in relief of starter Masters, and striking out three. Masters allowed five hits in his 4 2-3 innings. Dave Poirier went the distance in defeat, being touched for eight hits.

Jim Green and Latchford were the winners best, Green banging out two doubles and a single to excell as driving in the winning run while Latchford had a homer and a single while making three real good catches in the outfield. Poirier had a double and single for Vaughan's with Kerrush claiming a brace of singles.

Surging Royals Threaten Leaders; Wings in Slump

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The never-say-die Montreal Royals are back in the thick of the International League pennant fight, five games behind the faltering second-place Rochester Red Wings.

Manager Max Macon's crew making their bid for a second consecutive league title, made it three straight Thursday night, defeating the red-hot Havana Cuban Sugar Kings 4-3 on Dixie Howell's home run with one on, while the Red Wings were blanked by Buffalo Bisons 3-0.

In the only other game, the lowly Ottawa Athletics, behind the brilliant pitching of Art Ditmar, blanked Richmond Virginians 4-0.

Montreal had gone ahead in the seventh on Walt Fiala's single, Joe Blackburn's sacrifice and Jack Cassini's single. Howell's long blast with Bob Wilson on base in the eighth won the Royals' blow for the Royals. Havana scored in the first on two singles and a sacrifice fly and Paul Smith's home run in the ninth.

SEVENTH WIN

Ditmar was credited with his seventh win of the season against six losses.

Righthander Hal Erickson limited a six-hitter for Buffalo as the slumping Red Wings fell three full games behind the idle first-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Erickson struck out six batters and walked one as he boosted his won-lost record to 10-5. Loser was Jim Hughes who now has seven - game winning streak snapped in suffering his fourth loss in 16 decisions.

Ditmar, who recently came from the parent Philadelphia Athletics, gave up eight hits, won his fourth game against five losses while the Athletics ended down their sixth defeat against seven victories for the Virginians.

'Porky' Oliver Wins Medal; Doesn't Want It

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP) — Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., re luctantly won the low qualifying medal in the professional Golfers' Association tournament Thursday with a 36-hole score of 70-66—136.

Said Oliver:

"I don't want it—somebody take it quick," he said.

"They can have the low medal and the $250 that goes with it. This is the first time I've rather stop tonight."

Oliver barely beat out Jackie Burke, Jr., and Cary Middlecoff, a pair of playing partners from Kansas City, N.Y., for the prize.

Burke shot a 69 and Middlecoff a 68 to end up in a tie at 137.

The gallery favorite, Sam Snead, squeezed into the championship flight with a second straight 72 for 146—one stroke below the 147 cutoff mark.

U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol qualified comfortably at 140 after shooting a steady 71.

A field of 64 survivors begins a head-to-head match play this morning. Two 18-hole rounds are on the first day's program, followed by 36-hole matches daily until Tuesday's final.

Karpuk Named Galt Manager

GALT (CP)—Pete Karpuk, former minor professional baseball player, Thursday was named manager of Galt Terriers of the International Baseball League.

He takes over from Mike Pondeltanti, team secretary and part owner of the Terriers, who said he felt the pressure of making decisions on the field along with his duties plus was affecting his play.

Karpuk, formerly with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four, took over his duties in Thursday night's game with league-leading St. Thomas Elgins.

Terriers paced the league early in the season but now are in fourth place, 1½ games behind St. Thomas.

Ponderous Argentinian Stands Up As 'Walls' Comes Tumbling Down

VANCOUVER (CP) — Edgardo Romero, 248-pound Argentine boxing champion, scored a split 10-round decision over Earl Walls, Canadian lightheider, here Thursday night. Walls weighed 183¾.

Walls, seventh ranking heavyweight in the world, was 3-to-1 favorite over the ponderous Argentine, but it was evident early that he was in for a battle. After a slow first round Romero opened up with his heaviest artillery, a looping left, that bothered the 25-pounton battler throughout the 10-round bout.

The fight, held at Callister Park, was the first outdoor bout in Vancouver in seven years and attracted a crowd of more than 8,000, including many boxers here for the British Empire Games.

Romero continually caught Walls coming in with lefts to the head and body that shook his lighter opponent.

COULDN'T SHAKE HIM

Walls, who impressed with a one-round knockout over Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles in Toronto a few weeks ago, couldn't shake the Argentine.

Romero opened up in the third round and banged Walls around with his looping left that had the Canadian hanging on. He forced the fight in the fourth and made Walls miss with rights and staggered the Canadian with lefts to the body.

Romero took the next two rounds easily and dictated the brunt of the bout most of the way. He shook off everything Walls had to offer and was unmarked at the finish, while Walls had a cut over his left eye.

The fight was counted on the points system. Referee Ab Keyes scored it 45 for Walls and 44 for Romero, Judge Bill Oates carded it for Walls and 46 for Romero and Judge Bert Lowes called it 47 for Walls and 43 for Romero.

It was Walls' sixth loss in 40 pro fights and the 34th victory for Romero in 38.

Nine Finals Decided Today In Henley

BY CRAIG SWAYZE
Canadian Press Correspondent

PORT DALHOUSIE (CP)—They begin separating the men from the boys here today as 25 events, face the starting gun on this third day of the 72nd Royal Canadian Henley regatta.

Nine of the races are finals while six are semi-finals in today's big senior events. Most important will be the Association singles final, the winner qualifying for the big championship singles event.

Buffalo West Siders, who lengthened their point lead Thursday in quest of their fourth regatta championship, will throw crews into almost all of today's events. The New York state boys have piled up four wins and a second to amass 39 points in the point system for the Maple Leaf Trophy, emblematic of the Henley title. St. Catharines is second in the main in second with 49½ and Toronto Argonauts hold third with 46. New York AC are fourth with 36.

HELPED SCORE

Buffalo's wins in the junior 145-pound fours, junior singles and junior 155-pound eights helped score their point total.

Brockville and Buffalo battled all the way in the 145-pound event, but the West Siders had a little too much at the finish.

So it was in the junior singles when Ron Cardwell, sculling his last regatta before joining the United States Army, topped Jim Gardner of the host BC by three open lengths with Ed Lynch of New York AC and Don Wilde of Bushby's Point of Toronto. The West Side 155-pound win was apparent from the start with Hamilton and St. Catharines fighting it out for second.

St. Catharines junior 133-pound eight handed Buffalo its only final defeat of the day, finishing almost a length up over the favored Wets Side crew. Joe Montagna stroked the host club eight but it was not for the initial series and blue win.

ARGOS WIN

Toronto Argos' big heavyweight four, stroked by Bill Greenside, recounted for both double blue victories Thursday, winning the opening junior coxswain fours final by two lengths and taking the junior fours by three lengths over the same New York AC crew.

St. Catharines Collegiate made the high school eight final the best race of the day when they retained the Calder Cleland Memorial Trophy for the sixth year in succession and the eighth time since the event was presented. Reputed to be rowing's richest prize, it's worth more than $10,000.

Stroked by rangy Paul Greer, the tricolor crew set the pace from the start and rowing neck and neck with Scarce High School, broke at the quarter for a win by a length of open water. Detroit St. Anthony's classed third with Buffalo West Sides trailing badly.

Argonauts Want Geoff Crain, So Do Riders

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Frank Clair of Toronto Argonauts said Thursday night he wants quarterback Geoff Crain in the Argo line-up but if Crain insists on going to Ottawa, the Rough Riders will have to make a "good deal."

Clair said he doesn't think Crain has a leg to stand on in his attempts to avoid the Argonaut draft call without violating Big Four football draft laws.

Clair made the comments after the Ottawa Citizen reported that Crain, 1953 engineering and football graduate of Montreal's McGill University, wants to play for the Rough Riders and that he will go to court to clear any squabble.

Crain, 21, was Argos' choice in the 1953 college draft. However, he left last year for Winnipeg, where he played with the Blue Bombers in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. The WIFU has no part in the Big Four draft setup.

WANTS TRADE

"I want Crain but I'm willing to give him up in a good deal," Clair said. "I hear they want me to trade him for Calvin Jones. That's no good. I want somebody of Crain's calibre, preferably Bobby Simpson."

The Citizen quoted Crain as saying Clair had never offered him a contract and had never talked to him about playing with Argos.

Not so, said Clair.

"We offered him a $2,000 contract, the maximum amount allowed then by the Big Four draft rule, shortly after the draft was announced." He added:

"We had a talk with the boy and sent him many letters. He even answered one of them.

"They would be go to court? He has nothing to settle and we are not restraining him from playing football. We just want him to play for us. We will pay him well if he comes along with us."

Ab Jenkins established 21 world's automobile speed records in a 24-hour run at Bonneville salt flats, Utah, 14 years ago today. His main achievement was an average speed of 161.8 miles an hour while driving 3,868.32 miles in 24 hours.

EDUCATIONIST DIES

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Darby Percival Philp, former chairman of the York Township Board of Education, died Wednesday. Born in Colborne, about 30 miles south of Peterborough, Dr. Philp served overseas during the First World War with the Canadian Field Artillery.

Western Grid Teams Practice In Earnest

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Frank Ivy thinks Rod Pantages may have been in the wrong place in the backfield.

Ivy, coach of Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, has started moving Pantages from his usual fullback spot into a half position. It's all part of an Ivy experiment as he gets Eskimos into shape for the opening of the Canadian football season next month. Ivy figures the Vancouver-born fullback can provide added service in some other backfield position.

PRACTICES GOING

In other WIFU cities practice sessions were going strong. In Saskatchewan Roughriders' camp, Steve Williams and quarter Frank Tripucka, both United States imports from the Dallas Texans, turned out for practice Thursday night.

Coach Al Sherman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers started cutting his 70-man squad. Thirteen players, including two who seat Blue Bombers into the Grey Cup finals last year, were dropped.

Heading the list of six imports cut was fullback Dave Skrien, who intercepted a pass in the third and deciding game of the 1953 western finals. Skrien will be latched to Tom Casey, who ran over for the winning touchdown.

FRONT PLAY

In Vancouver, coach Annis Stukus of British Columbia Lions burned down, an invitation by Calgary Stampeders to play an exhibition game Saturday night. The Stampe wanted to play in Vancouver but Stukus nixed it, saying he didn't want to take a chance on injuries.

In the eastern Big Four, a couple of Canadians are stealing some thunder from American imports at Montreal Alouette practices. They are back Tommy Manastersky and end Doug McGregor. McGregor, who spurned an offer from New York Giants to stay with Montreal, has been particularly impressive as a pass catcher.

Coach Lou Crowe of Ottawa Rough Riders will start his cutting this week-end. As many as 10 of his players may go. The Riders concentrated on passing Thursday night.

Tennis Stars' Money Demands Stop Tourneys

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidney B. Wood, Jr., former Davis Cup tennis star, said Thursday night there were "indications that unwarranted demands by a few name players" caused the cancellation of a pair of eastern tourneys.

The middle Atlantic grass court tournament at Baltimore, set for July 26-Aug. 1, was dropped abruptly last week. Obviously the Spring Lake, N.J., meet had been called off. The Longbright, N.J., meet was dropped and the Southampton, N.Y., affair cut to little more than a week-end outing after the 1951 competitions.

The New York World-Telegram and Sun said Wednesday in its story on the current Pennsylvania tournament at Philadelphia, that the Baltimore meet was dropped when one of the country's top players demanded $400 as expense money for the week.

Expense accounts also have been blamed for the curtailment of the others.

Wood, speaking as president of the year-old Tennis Players League said the present "condition is detrimental to other tournament players and to tennis itself." He called a meeting of the league for July 30 at Southampton in hopes of passing "drastic corrective measures."

Athletes Have Last Laugh

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's track and field athletes had the last laugh on the officials Thursday.

A sign posted on the bulletin board in the track team's quarters advised Britith Empire Games athletes not to talk to sports writers. The sign was put one up beside it. It read:

"Coaches and managers are not allowed to speak to newspapermen without the consent of the competitors."

The sign was hurriedly taken off by a somewhat-ruffled official.

Galt Edges Elgins 8-7 Behind Karpuk

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt baseball fans, anxious to see if their Terriers would do better under new management, got some encouragement Thursday.

The Terriers, in their first game since Pete Karpuk took over, came from behind to edge league-leading St. Thomas Elgins 8-7 in an Intercounty Senior Baseball League game at Galt.

Mel Duncan went the route for Galt while Jack Caffrey took the loss.

In a pair of Nickel Belt games, league-leading Creighton Indians scored a 5-4 win over Wood Steelgers at Sudbury and hometown Copper Cliff Redmen took their fifth straight victory by downing Coniston Red Sox 6-2.

Three home runs — from Mike Pontarelli, team shortstop and coowner, who said he felt his duties as manager were having a bad effect on his playing.

Galt smacked Elgins 13-8 as Butch Lawlog paced them with three for five. Herm Mason had a single and homer while Bruno Casasova had a single and a two-run homer.

In the seventh, with one out and two on base, Caffrey walked two batters to force in a run. He was lifted in favor of Johnny Ambrose and then Ed Steele doubled to clear the bases.

Ralph Branca Joins Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Branca, who pitched for three world series losers as a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers, joined the five-time world champion New York Yankees Thursday.

The big righthander, only 28 despite nine years of big league activity, had been a free agent following his unconditional release by Detroit Tigers last week.

Branca, a native New Yorker, started his major league career with Brooklyn in 1945 and was sold to the Tigers last July. He won 21 games in his first year with the Dodgers in 1947 but never pitched like that again.

Branca reached his lowest point in the final game of the 1951 National League playoffs between Brooklyn and New York Giants when he threw that famous home run pitch to Bobby Thomson. The blow gave the Giants the pennant. Branca never quite got over that, winning only four games in the next two seasons with the Dodgers. With Detroit this season, the 6-3, 220-pound Branca had a 3-3 record but was confined more as a starter, failing to go the route in any of his starts. He blamed that on lack of work and insists that his arm, injured in 1952, is as good as new again.

Yankee Golfer Takes Lead In 'Blind' Tourney

TORONTO (CP) — Charlie Boswell of Birmingham, Ala., took the lead Thursday in the first 18-hole round of the international blind golf tournament at suburban Lambton Country Club.

He set the pace with 111 strokes over the par-71 layout, including 35 putts.

Nick Genovese, the 25-year-old Dundas, Ont., operatic singer, carded 112 for second place and is top contender for the Canadian title. His brother, Carmen, who is Nick's coach, was therefore in line for the Dr. W. J. A. Counsell Trophy, awarded the coach of the Canadian title winner.

The United States is leading in the team event, with an aggregate of 731 for the low six players on the seven-man team. Canada's score was 737. On individual games the American leads with 12 of the seven twosomes.

The blind golfers gave all the credit to their coaches, the men who let the patients know the lie and line of this interesting but tricky course.

But only the hours of painstaking practice and intense concentration could produce the type of golf that enabled Joe Lenzi to hit a par five on the 477-yard eighth.

The stocky, bronzed veteran from Waltham, Mass., who lost his sight in Italy, was leading at the turn with a 52 but ended the day's play in third spot with a 115.

Canadian Drivers Win Double At Buffalo Track

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP) — Two Canadian drivers accounted for the 80-20 daily double at Buffalo Raceway Thursday night. Lorne Tothurst gave the two-year-old trotting filly Saltwood, a record of 2:12 4/5 in the first race and Harold Wellwood won the second 8th Cherry Adam, a pacer making his first start here.

Gordon and Lloyd Farm's Mitchell, Ont., trotter, The Bachelor, was the beaten favorite in the opener, finishing second to a photo with Saltwood.

Registering his second win on the card, Johnny Chapman gave the 29-70 winner, Mr. Flynn, a workmanlike mark of 2:06 in the fifth race, a CC pace. The three-year-old gelding, owned by Edward and Mabel Holden of Wallaceton, Ont., had to come from eighth position to defeat Lenzi and competitors.

Veteran Leo Charlesworth Strathroy, Ont., drove his five-year old pacer, Glendale Dillard to a close second behind the 2-27 set winner, Jesters Sweetheart, in the sixth event.

The feature winner, Minda Dillon, gave Harold Wellwood a double Thursday night. The 5 to 2 favorite, owned by Carl Smith of Harrow, Ont., won by a full length after gaining the lead at the head of the stretch.

Athletes Prepare For Strenuous Empire Games

By W. E. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The number of athletes Canada may have win at the British Empire Games is problematical, certainly at this stage, but one can't beat the Canadian team as a unit for hard work.

You can start with the wrestlers and boxers at 6 a.m., some of them beat the gun and get out at 5:30, and carry on a full day of work and more work right up to dark.

Canadians weren't the only ones to take full advantage of a balmy sun Thursday. Every country turned loose its athletes in full force and Empire Village throughout the day was like a ghost town —except at meal times.

SWARMS OF THEM

At the track and field stadium of University of British Columbia sprinters and runners were already steadily. Sprinters from various countries used the 100-yard section of the track. Almost every few minutes galloped groups of from six to 10 of some Empire nation's distance men. On the infield grass, behind high throwers, broad jumpers and high jumpers and pole vaulters plugged away.

Jack Landy, Canada's great miler, trotted about easily and attempted no strenuous work. Hector Hogan and Forster Jackson, Canada's two Aussie sprint champions, went through practice sprints briskly paying particular attention to starts.

Ron Miller, Canada's ace pole vaulter from Toronto, was going over the bar easily at 13 feet and was given a great hand by the crowd.

STELLA BUSY

Roy Stella of Sudbury was busy throwing the discus. Farther down the infield a group of hurdles from Scotland and Southern Africa were at work with javelin, discus and shot.

At the nearby outdoor pool Canada's swimmers went through the first of their two-a-day hourly workouts. Gerry Whitehead of Vancouver, a winner for Canada at the last Empire Games reported in top shape, George Park, the Hamilton coop, was doing better than a minute in the 110-yard freestyle.

Sarah Barber, 13-year-old Brantford girl for whom a great swimming future is predicted, was working at her specialty—the backstroke.

In the university gymnasium the fencers of Hamilton had his charges going through a stiff drill at boxing, rope-skipping and bag-punching; Gerry Buchanan of Montreal, a heavyweight, and Bill Misselbrook, light-heavy from Kitchener, Ont., slugged it out for three fast rounds while well-protected with helmets.

Lavery will soon start easing up on the grind but meanwhile the routine calls for rising at 6 a.m., followed by road work and physical training, then boxing in the afternoon.

There are relaxation periods for all the whole team, too, and often in the evening sight-seeing parties are arranged by residents of Vancouver.

Pitching—Bob Feller, Cleveland, won his seventh consecutive game limiting Boston to seven hits as the Indians defeated the Red Sox 6-3.

Batting — Mickey Mantle, Yankees, drove in the tying run with a single and the winning run with a home run in the 10th inning of a 4-3 victory over Chicago White Sox.

HOW TO TAKE A CURVE
Stay in right-hand lane . . . and slow down before you enter curve!
• Enter the turn at slower speed. Then, to offset centrifugal force, accelerate slightly after you are half-way around the curve.
• Keep your foot on the accelerator all the way around. This gives you greater traction and better control.

Whist players of past generations knew all the bridge plays we now use so proudly. Since they played without dummy hand exposed, it was a little more difficult for them than it is to us.

When declarer can see his opposite cards he can make more use of his safety play knowledge. As in the rubber bridge deal shown here:

NORTH
♠Q 6 5
♥9 6 5
♦K 10 6 5 4
♣A 9

WEST
♠10 8 5 3
♦10 8 2
♣Q J 10 8 7

EAST
♠7 2
♥K Q 7 2
♦J 9 7
♣5 4 3

SOUTH
♠A K
♥A K 10 4 3
♦A Q
♣K 6 2

South played it in a small slam contract at the start. He got from west the natural opening lead of club queen. With what he can see in dummy there seems nothing for declarer to worry about.

If the third south club is not ruffed in dummy it can be shed on dummy's diamond. Therefore, the only seeming loss is a trick in trump which a small slam can afford to give up.

Ordinarily, this would end the figuring because the most usual division of the missing cards is three and two. In that case a trump trick could be given up at once or on the third round of it.

However, if either opponent has more than three trumps there is the danger of losing two trump tricks. And this is something a good player must always consider in a serious situation.

If west has four of them, nothing can be done about it. If east has them a safety play will prevent the loss of more than one trick. This makes the safety play an important consideration.

So, when south took the first trick with his club king he did not cash his two top trumps first. Instead, he led a small trump to the dummy nine and lost a trump trick to the east jack.

Next time declarer got in he cashed a top trump and learned that east had the two remaining unseen trumps. So he entered dummy and returned a trump that trimmed east out of what he had left.

There is nothing extraordinary about making such a safety play. It is simply a matter of looking ahead.

Argo Coach Predicts Game Full Time Job

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian football sparesicity is getting too big for many Canadian players.

The game is becoming a full-time occupation for honebrews as well as for United States imports. The Canadians haven't paid enough to keep them going on football salaries alone and the change from semi-professional to virtually outright pro status is reported to be driving many of them into retirement.

Coach Frank Clair of Toronto Argonauts says he thinks the day is coming when all clubs will have to pay the Canadians more money. He feels the game is becoming too big to continue on a part-time basis.

Argonauts have two examples. They recently lost two of their better young linemen, guards Jack Roberts and Mavis Hames. Both were prominent in an Argo line that won the Grey Cup two years ago. Both quit part way through practising for the 1954 season.

Other Canadians in the Argo camp are reported also thinking of quitting.

TOOK TOO MUCH TIME

Officially, Roberts retired because of business pressures and Hames because of medical reasons. However, both said they felt they couldn't put the time necessary for football and still stick to their jobs.

Argonauts are working harder this season than ever before. The injury work list is just as long as Canadians but they don't usually bother with part-time jobs because they get higher salaries.

Clair said he would like to work his Canadians in the mornings, as he now does his imports. But he can't do it as long as the Canadians need a job outside of football.

Minor Baseball

The Honee Orange nine racked up a 7-2 victory over the Rose of a bantam game played at the firehall last evening. Errors told the story as with the teams just about even in all other departments, the losers miscued on five occasions while the soft-drink lads made one bobble.

Rushlow for the winners and Pointer both went the route with Plare and Nolan the catchers. Rushlow allowed seven hits while fanning none and walking seven and Pointer touched for nine safe blows as he whiffed one and walked two.

Howard, Moreau, Rushlow and Plane shared batting honors for Honee Orange with a brace of singles each while doubles went to Green and Groa. Locke claimed a triple and single in defeat while Gardner came up with a trio of one-baggers.

OLD WORD

The word "doll" for children's toys is believed to have come from the old Norse "daul" meaning woman.

AT THE CAPITOL—Roy Rogers and Dale Evans in "Down Dakota Way" is the latest feature attraction Saturday matinee at the Capitol Theatre. Movie Column

By HUBBARD KEAVY
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — They said I couldn't write this one — what actors say when they blow their lines.

"Usually unprintable," said the press agents when I began research.

But I've been watching movies in the making for a long time and what the players say when they forget is not always obscene or profane. It's often amusing. Oh, I've heard horrible words come from beautiful throats. We won't mention those girls—can't shatter illusions.

The other day it was Humphrey Bogart. He was to say to another player, "I and you know that we will . . . " He forgot. He grinned sheepishly and turned to the script girl, saying: 'And then after that we will what? My mind's a blank.'

BASIL IN A RUT

In the same scene, the Impeccable Basil Rathbone muffed the same line three times. Each time he said, 'Sorry, dammit."

Forgetting a line is embarrassing. Professionals are supposed not to act like amateurs, but memory is a tricky thing. Most use the same expressions over and over, and here are some of them:

Teresa Wright: 'Oh, golly, I did it again.'

Alan Ladd: 'Hold everything. I lost my stirrups."

Guy Madison, punching his jaw, exclaims: "Get with it, man!"

And when Jean Hersholt forgets he goes completely out of character with: "Tennis, anybody?"

Jane Powell: 'What a way to make a living!"

After blowing his lines six consecutive times in one scene, Richard Burton walked to a wall and smashed his head against it. Most it was only a movie wall of unreinforced plaster and lath and went through. He apologized for his display of temper and the damage and then did his next perfectly.

TIME NEWSCAST

AT THE CAPITOL—Clifton Webb in his Boy Scout uniform for a scene from the comedy romance "Mr. Scoutmaster", now playing at the Capitol Theatre today and tomorrow. Webb portrays a 37 year old bachelor who gets a troop of Scoutmaster of a pack of twenty-four Boy Scouts. Also on same program "The Tall Texan" starring Lloyd Bridges. Both hits are first showings. Extra feature Saturday matinee Roy Rogers, in "Down Dakota Way."

AT THE McCARTHY THEATRE

Tamiroff the Head Hunter

Akim Tamiroff's role in "You Know What Sailors Are" starting next Monday at the McCarthy Theatre, allows this famous actor full scope for his ability to massacre the English language.

As the President of a mythical eastern country, he is responsible for a large share of the fun in this Technicolor comedy. Tamiroff, whose mobile face has been seen in dozens of Hollywood hits, enjoyed this excursion to British studios—but then, as he himself says, "I enjoy every good role."

Russian born actor who has been in films for twenty years now, is a tonic for any unit with whom he is working. His innumerable anecdotes keep his colleagues in fits of laughter, but such is his mastery that within a few seconds of joking with stars, he will walk on the set to give a moving performance that raises lumps in the throats of his audience.

A modest man, he has the knack of forgetting about acting until it is time to act. Now recovered from the illness which kept him away from the screen for many months, Tamiroff is experiencing one of the busiest periods of his hectic and much-travelled career. Apart from filming in Hollywood and Britain he is also spending much time in Paris, where he is making a series of TV films.

Such spare time as he gets is spent indulging his hobby of sculpturing. Akim models the heads of all his players and his collection is reckoned to be one of the finest in America.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 24, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Some excellent influences for business and personal matters. Make use of all your resources, put forth your best efforts and avoid resorting to subterfuge and pointless fault-finding.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — There will be little encouragement today if you are not up to par, especially in making thorough analyses of all situations and problems. But, you don't have to be a world beater in order to achieve.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Be wary of those who call themselves "experts"; those who give you the answers before they have all the facts. They usually make snap judgments, hit-and-miss guesses.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Consider past experiences. What did you do when last in your present situation? You may have to conserve now, forget some desires; but be content with what you have.

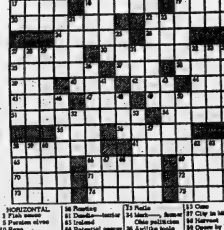
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Top drawer possibilities today. Vibrations are in your favor and it should not be hard to follow through to fine results. P.M. hours are fine for personal affairs, home, romance.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — You may experience some suspense in the early hours. Don't make decisions or commitments quickly.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra) — Final success may be preceded by setbacks—only temporary. Those who take all in stride will be able to recoup losses, avert dread setbacks and increase gains.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Influences show an upward trend for professional and certain business matters. Be alert to take advantage of opportunities. Some leads may appear from nowhere.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Tune your faculties well. Refuse to be badgered by pressure; join only the right groups; work with people who think straight. Certain issues are tricky; don't fall in with them.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — There are some unattractive conditions, circumstances but you must not allow to smother you or your personality. They could bog down today's otherwise good possibilities.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Tend to rightful chores; avoid the unprincipled or questionable. There are those who paint a glowing picture of "easy-ness" but they should not be countenanced.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Your industry and imagination should lead to success during this freshly encouraging period. Use your executive skill and fortitude to better your position.

YOU BORN TODAY are innately a stable, clever, magnetic person with fine, initiative and gracioueess still strong from the waning Sign Cancer. You can reach the pinnacle of achievement if you carefully cultivate your God-given talents. Don't indulge in moods or a tendency to argue. Such faults will always set one back, leave wounds that take a long time to heal. You can achieve in many fields; be sure to choose one suited to your capability and temperament. Birthdate of: Alexander Dumas, Fr., novelist and playright.

BOY CLIMBS ZOO FENCE, ALMOST LOSES ARM TO BEAR

Nine-year-old Larry Williams is in Toronto hospital, below, where nurses are sympathizing with him over his arm, clawed and bitten by a bear in city zoo. Larry, who wanted to feed the polar bear peanuts, climbed over the fence of the bear cage and reached through the bars to see and feel the bear, above, close up. The 600-pound animal, Churchill, grasped the boy's arm in his claws and bit him severely, hanging on until spectators climbed the fence and beat him with sticks and knives.—Central Press Canadian.

Effort to Settle Ford Dispute Proves Fruitless

TORONTO (CP) — Attempts to settle a wage dispute at the Ford of Canada plant in nearby Oakville, were stalled Thursday when a union spokesman said it was "impossible at this stage" to reach agreement.

The deadlock climaxed a meeting of a conciliation board hearing demands from the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) for a new contract.

The statement was made by Tom McLean, assistant Canadian director of UAW-CIO, in replying to board chairman Judge D. E. Lewis of Brockville, who had asked if there was any point to the parties meeting again.

SEEK HIGHER WAGES

About 2,300 company employees in this town 15 miles west of here are seeking a 30-cent hourly wage boost and improved health and welfare benefits. A Ford statement said granting demands would add $13M to the price of a company car.

Earlier, John Paterson, Ford industrial relations manager, said the union made untrue statements when it claimed practically all the company's profits were made in Canada with only a small portion coming from overseas subsidiaries.

Mr. Paterson also denied union statements that Ford's present rate of pay is less than wages being received at many of its supplier plants.

Company wages, which totalled $64,000,000 last year, were above the average for industrial workers, he said. Of the tax dollar, 20.7 cents went to workers while only 1.8 went into company dividends.

SLUMP CAUSE?

Carrol Coburn, UAW economist, said the recent slump in car sales had been caused by the automobile companies through their failure to increase buying power by wage increases for workers.

Mr. Coburn said Ford operating profits had increased 63.4 per cent in the last few years and that salaries to executives were up 223 per cent. However, the workers' payroll had advanced only 45.5 per cent.

Recent company expansion was financed out of undistributed profits, not from newly acquired capital, he said. Employees had to accept a lower standard of living than would have been necessary had the company limited its profits.

Similar wage demands by employees at the Ford plant in Windsor were rejected by a majority report of another conciliation board Wednesday.

Hamilton Police Re-Open Case Unsolved Murder

HAMILTON (CP)—Police said Thursday they have received information in connection with an eight-year-old murder and have reopened their investigation into the unsolved crime.

Provincial police and police at nearby Saltfleet had been unable to uncover any substantial clues in the death of Mrs. Ella Hannigan, a 70-year-old widow found dead in 1946 in the living quarters of her combined service station and fruit market in Fruitland. She was strangled and bound.

Saltfleet police chief Tom Gilliver said "certain information" was given police Wednesday and "we have been questioning a party today." The person was not named.

Robbery was believed to be the motive behind the murder.

Will Investigate Visiting Clerics From Red Lands

WASHINGTON (CP)—Representative Alvin Bentley (Rep.-Mich.) announced Thursday that his House of Representatives foreign affairs sub-committee will investigate the backgrounds of 11 Iron Curtain clerics who are to attend the World Council of Churches meeting in Evanston, Ill., Aug. 15-31.

In a speech before the House, Representative Bentley said the hearings by his sub-committee, to be held simultaneously in New York, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Washington would reveal the "Communist collaboration" records of the visitors.

Calling their proposed entry "a tragic catastrophe" for anti-Communists abroad, Bentley took issue with State Secretary Dulles, who had recommended to the justice department that the Soviet satellite delegates be allowed entry.

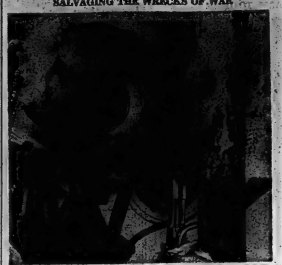
Two of the 11 clergymen are Bishop Josef Hromadka of the Czech Evangelical Church of Christian Brethren and Bishop Albert Bereczky of the Reformed Church of Hungary.

Bentley spoke only briefly to the House in support of his protest, but inserted a five-page speech in the Congressional Record against "admission" of certain Czechoslovakian and Hungarian churchmen as delegates to the World Council of Churches."

Next week he said he would start inserting into the record "background material on several of these individuals."

Traffic Act Amendment May Nullify E-Devices

TORONTO (CP) — A one-word amendment to the Ontario Highway Traffic Act may mean that radar and other electronic devices are useless in proving speeding charges against drivers in the province.



Justice of the Peace Russell Pearse in Newmarket, 25 miles north of Toronto, today dismissed speeding charges against Stuart Brownlee of Toronto because police could not positively identify him as the driver of the allegedly speeding vehicle.

The traffic act was amended last April to read "No person shall drive at a speed greater than..." Instead of "no vehicle shall be driven at a speed greater than..."

Mr. Pearse interpreted this to mean that the driver must be positively identified by police.

Prior to this case, several persons have pleaded guilty to speeding charges laid on the basis of electronic findings and have been fined.

WORST IN 20 YEARS

SILLONG, India (Reuters)—Muddy waters of the Brahmaputra river today swirled over a fertile 300-mile area in the Nowgong region of Assam province in the worst floods there in 20 years. Much damage has been done to jute and rice crops, the two most important products of this rich area where about 200,000 people live.

South Koreans Better Off Now Than Anytime in Last 4 Years

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL (AP)—The reminders of war are still here—bomb-gutted streets, ruined buildings and the maimed and orphaned, but there's a new atmosphere in Seoul. And all over South Korea.

With some assurance that they won't have to pack up and flee south tomorrow, the Koreans have buckled down to rebuild their homes and shops.

In contrast to last July 27, when the fighting stopped, the man in the street appears happier, better fed and better clothed. Certainly, he's better off than any time since the Communists pushed across the 38th parallel four years ago.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

There are almost no big factories to indicate rapid recovery, though a number are in the works. But there are rows upon rows of small stands from which Korean merchants peddle their wares to the city shopper.

And there are plenty of shoppers. Seoul is bulging with people. Police estimate Seoul's population now to be about 1,600,000—some 400,000 more than its pre-war population.

Men and women have taken to wearing Western clothes. All but one of the 203 newly-elected national assembly members, meeting for the first time last month, wore Western business suits.

And the yearning for Western clothes by the women caused one American soldier to remark that a mail-order catalogue is probably Korea's all-time best seller. Many soldiers purchase clothes and yard goods for their Korean girl friends.

The Seoul curfew horn still sounds at 10 p. m. but a few Korean men and women manage to go dancing and dining beforehand at one of several night clubs which have opened in the last year. Two Korean breweries supplement an amazingly big liquor supply in Seoul.

Industrially, Korean factories are starting to produce, although their output is negligible. Lack of power to be self-employed. He planned to buy a cab from Steve Lazoroski for $3,200 and sought to have the licence transferred.

Inspector Albert Marshall, police licence bureau head, opposed the transfer. He asked for a ruling refusing licences to all applicants who are either on the force or have retired from it.

The inspector expressed the view that, if constable Jenkins were given a licence, other members of the force might resign to go into the taxi business. He also said it would be unfair to war veterans on the waiting list.

He added that a serious staff problem on the force could become worse if policemen were allowed to leave and obtain cab licences.

While declining to make a general ruling on the matter, the commission refused to grant the transfer of a licence to constable Jenkins.

Taxi Licences For Ex-Policemen Are Opposed

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto police commission, which issues taxicab licences for the city, Thursday turned down an application from constable Robert Jenkins a member of the city police force since 1950.

Alderman William Allen, appearing on behalf of constable Jenkins, said the officer intends to resign from the force because he wants has been a big hindrance, but that is gradually being remedied. The Korean farmer is having one of the best crops in many years.

PETERSHAM SENTENCED

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Morton J. Thorpe, wealthy Reno physician, was sentenced Wednesday to 10 years to life imprisonment for killing his pretty 33-year-old wife, Elsa, last May 30 in their lavish Reno home. Mrs. Thorpe's nude body was found half-submerged in the bathtub of the couple's $130,000 home in an exclusive Reno district. She had been beaten and strangled.

WILL STAY IN RACE

LONDON (Reuters) — Russian Defence Minister Nicolai Bulganin said Wednesday in Warsaw that Russia will continue producing atomic and hydrogen weapons until the United States stops production in that field. The Communist Polish news agency said Bulganin warned that Russia "cannot afford to be caught unawares and unarmed."

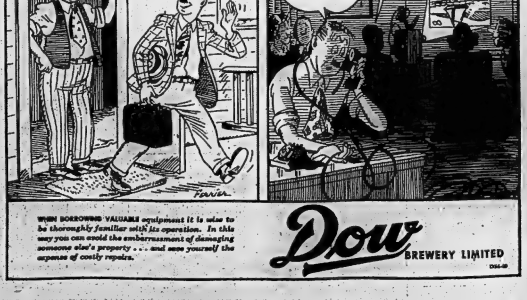
TV NEWS TV

by Gene Hitchon

As American as apple pie, the saying goes . . . and as far as TV is concerned nothing, I imagine, could be more American than Dragnet or Burns and Allen.

Yet the British Broadcasting Corp., I heard the other day, has asked Jack Benny and Allen to sell them old films TV can do their new commercial time sales.

The request from the BBC illustrates what an international medium TV can be — the great American interest in the Coronation on TV films was another example in the opposite direction.



Television, which is so much more gripping than radio, and which deals deal with such a greater range of ideas and information, is becoming second to no important event in America and other peoples.

Even without much international exchange, there is a great variety of TV programs on like at now. TV makes sure your enjoyment won't be interrupted, one of the important steps in TV-buying is to go to a dealer who knows the sets which will give you the best performance under installation conditions in your own TV, of course, and we know how to get the best results here.

Knowing our TV, we think highly of the new Electrohome with their great selling power and steady picture. And we have a wide selection of Electrohomes at Hitchon Radio & Television, 7 Bridge Street, as great a selection of design and picture size as you'll find anywhere.

Editors Attack Sharks, Suicides Favor Mothers

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese editorial writers, faced with the threat of angry protests from readers, have condemned in print only the mad-eating shark—until today.

An enterprising editorial writer on the staid Evening News came up with one other safe object of attack—double suicides.

The papers are almost always for motherhood.

Fishermen Fear Old Legend At Murder Trial

PENICE, Que. (CP) — Superstitious fishermen and farmers in this tiny community looked to the sky today in the fear that an old legend is coming true, as the murder trial of prospector Wilbert Coffin moved into its ninth day.

According to the legend, a sailor was convicted of murder here long before the turn of the century. Immediately violent storms arose, confining fishermen to port and causing a crop failure.

There wasn't another murder conviction until July 14 this year when Fernand Clavet was sentenced to be hanged for the axe-murder of Jean-Paul Pelchat. Since then it has rained for at least an hour each day.

Inquiries by reporters, kept in port for the past two days by rain and 20-mile-an-hour winds, crowded the courtroom Friday to hear the crown attempt to trace Coffin's movements and those of the three American bear hunters he is accused of killing.

MANY WITNESSES

So far the crown has called only 29, of an estimated 105 witnesses it intends to call, and the defence is expected to call about 100 persons to the witness box.

Friday, Donald Davis, 47, a Gaspe service station attendant, testified that Coffin and Richard Lindsey, the 17-year-old hunter from Hollidaysburg, Pa., he is accused of killing, drove into the station sometime after June 9, 1953.

The prosecution says the mutilated body was found in July, 1953, along the Matapedia trail of his father Eugene, 47, and Albert Claar, 20, all of Hollidaysburg.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Wallace H. Clark, vice-president of industrial relations for Ford Motor Company of Canada, said Friday an early meeting will be arranged with local 200, United Aphomobile Workers (CIO-CCL) over a contract dispute.

Mr. Clark said the company is still studying the report of a conciliation board handed down this week.

REDS BUILDING FIFTH COLUMN WITHIN CANADA

Army Journal Warns Preparations Made

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Canadian army intelligence officers say Communist preparations for a fifth column in Canada are already under way.

The warning is sounded in the latest issue of the Canadian Army Journal by Lt.-Col. C.P. Hayes, until recently a staff security officer in the directorate of military intelligence, and Lieut. G. H. Parry, who now holds a similar post in the same service.

In an article entitled "Hail! Who Goes There?" the two officers write:

"During the Second World War there were, in Canada, only a few proven cases of sabotage. . . .

PERIODIC CHECK

"It must be remembered, however, that during the recent war the Communists and their fellow-travellers were working in the interests of the common war effort against fascism.

"They will, in future war, be combatting communism it may well be a different story.

"We must be prepared to accept the fact that preparations for subversion and governmental system by similar means are already under way. . . .

The authors conclude:

"The people in this country would advocate that . . . our military installations and means of production should be during with armed guards and protective devices. Such measures are foreign to our democratic system. In addition, the cost to the state in man power and resources would be enormous.

"There is a need, however, periodically to check our security and to make sure that every man is made aware of his responsibilities."

Missionaries Disabled

TORONTO (CP)—Some 116 missionary graduates of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead, South Lansing, N.Y., received diplomas Friday before an assembly of 20,000 persons in the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand. Nathan Homer Knorr, president of the school and president of the Watchtower organization, told the graduates that in spite of increasing educational standards crime is on the increase and, "it is evident that with all the education, people's mental powers have not been trained nor guarded."

Canadian graduates included Donald and Marjorie Morrison, Cobalt, who will go to Singapore.

Jerseys True to Type

GUELPH (CP)—Ontario cattlemen have been told that Canadian Jersey herds that should any animal be returned secretly to the United States as a Jersey it would pass as island born, Sir Thomas Dunn, mayor on behalf of island, told Rotary Club members Friday.

Speaking the World Jersey Cattle Bureau conference here, he said he was amazed to find the jersey breed in Canada absolutely 'true to type.'

100,000 Pilgrims Are on Their Way To Ste. Anne de Beaupre Ceremony

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STE. ANNE DE BEAUPRE, Que. (CP)—More than 100,000 pilgrims are expected by 11 a.m. this Sunday in Ste. Anne de Beaupre, 20 miles east of Quebec City to attend ceremonies Monday in honor of "la Bonne Sainte Anne"—Good St. Anne.

Most Rev. Giovanni Panico, apostolic delegate to Canada, and archbishops and bishops from all parts of Canada will take part in religious ceremonies in the vast basilica, decorated with mosaics depicting scenes from the life of the Blessed Virgin's mother.

The blessing of the sick by the apostolic delegate will highlight ceremonies that include torchlight processions on a nearby hill, solemn high masses and bilingual prayers.

Nearly half the pilgrims will come from the United States. A group led by Andrew G. Ahearn of Springfield, Mass., who first visited here in 1922, will attend.

Shrine authorities say Mr. Ahearn was cured of paralysis on his first trip. Since then he has been organizing pilgrimages. A group of 172 this year will include 39 priests.

The history of the chapel here is traced back to a group of Breton sailors in 1650.

Fearing a shipwreck the sailors vowed to build a chapel to their patron saint if they survived. Their shattered boat crashed on the coast of Beaupre but they lived to fulfil their vow. Ever since then pilgrims have been coming to Ste. Anne de Beaupre.

West German Security Chief Speaks for Reds Over Radio

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

BERLIN (AP) — Germans and mounted police for a full inquiry into the apparent defection of West Germany's security chief to the Communists after a broadcast purportedly made by him from the Communist zone.

The Reds claimed Friday night that the missing official, Dr. Otto John, had voluntarily fled behind the Iron Curtain. He vanished Tuesday. A voice, introduced over the Soviet zone radio as his, said he had contacted "Germans of the East" so he could work for the divided country's unification.

The West German parliamentary security committee in Bonn called a special session for Monday to look into the case, and asked the interior ministry for a full report.

Since 1950, John, 44, had headed the West German government bureau charged with safeguarding the republic against subversive activities.

The West German government has maintained silence on this disappearance because known Thursday that he was interrogated by Communists. The United States high commission said after an investigation that he was "trapped or forced" to go east.

The West German Free Democratic Party, a member of chancellor Konrad Adenauer's coalition government, demanded an investigation of the federal republic's security forces.

The party chairman declared: "This is the biggest scandal the young West German federal republic has experienced until now."

Bonn officials refused comment after hearing that the Red radio had introduced John to read a statement "to my German compatriots." The statement said he defected because he was under continuous attack in West.

"Germany is in danger of being torn apart forever by the conflicts between East and West.

"It needs demonstrative action to call up all Germans working for unification.

"Therefore I took this determined step . . ."

The voice sounded clear and calm. Germans in West Berlin said they were reasonably sure it was John's.

There appears little doubt that the case has been a major blow to the intelligence operations by the Soviet zone of Germany. Allied officials admit they may be forced to revamp their intelligence networks.

Miss U.S. New Miss Universe Miss Canada Misses Finals

LONG BEACH, California (AP)—Miss U.S.A. has been named Miss Universe of 1954, winning out among five finalists in competition at Long Beach, California.

Miriam Stevenson, a perfectly proportioned southern belle, who earlier had won the miss U.S.A. title, became the first contestant to make a grand sweep in the three-year history of the competition.

Miss Stevenson is a Winsboro, South Carolina, beauty.

Runners-up to the winsome southern lass were Maria Martha Rodo of Brazil, Virginia June Lee of Hong Kong, Regina Ernst of Germany and Ingrid Gillstedt of Sweden.

Joyce Landry of Toronto, who represented Canada, was favored by many throughout but failed to make the final.

Miss Stevenson not only was voted the world's most beautiful girl but also got back her lug gage, lost ever since she arrived here a week ago Friday. To recall her story briefly:

"If you-all evah come down to South Carolina, I took you into the biggest heapin' plate of corn pone, hominy grits an' ham hocks you ever did see."

The Miss Universe and Miss U.S.A. crowns carry with them almost identical sets of prizes. Each set includes a $4,000 convertible, a $5,000 scholarship to Universal International movie studio and half a dozen pieces of jewelry.

See More Signs Slump in U.S. Is Nearly Over

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rising stock prices provided fresh ammunition this week for those who contend business is getting better, and generally is headed up, despite frustrating setbacks.

Business apparently took its stride during part of the Geneva truce halting eight years of war in Indo-China, as the stock market soared to 2-year highs.

Other business trends, however, were thoroughly scrambled.

Retail trade topped the volume of a year ago; electric power output was down. Steel, builder of construction activity continued to set new records.

There was further evidence, however, of glutted markets for many consumer goods. Automakers were still plagued with inventory problems.

AUTO SALES PROBLEM

Auto makers indicated they would revert to the pre-war custom of shutting down briefly during ready for production of next year's models. The effect usually is one of shock. Manufacturers don't want to be loaded down with unsold 1954 models when the 1955's come out.

Steel operations limped along at 66 per cent of capacity as producers spoke hopefully of a pickup after September.

The oil industry was still flourishing in an ocean of surplus gasoline.

One of the nation's biggest farm equipment manufacturers said it was laying off 5,125 workers because of a bigger-than - anticipated drop in sales.

Railroad carloadings were off more than 12 per cent from the year before.

JPS CANCEL DOWNS

The mixed nature of the economy was pointed up in a U.S. Commerce Department review of June business.

"Divergent changes" in the economy, said the department, cancelled each other.

Pagan Revelry In British Banks Twice Yearly

LONDON (Reuters) — Pagan revelry sometimes goes on behind the closed doors of straight-laced British banks, but not necessarily of adultery, a divorce court judge ruled Friday.

Judge Hanon White said the revels, carried out on a "decorous scale appropriate to an institution like a bank," take place twice a year at the bank's annual dinner.

After the dinner completes its semi-annual balance sheets and finds that the assets are "neither too much nor too little," he said, the portals are closed and "rejoicing begins in proportion to the exuberant to the pagan harvest festivals of old."

But just because a man places "arms around female members of his staff and implants a chaste salute" at such times, he said, is no reason to suspect him of adultery.

He threw out a petition by a bank clerk's wife for divorce on grounds of adultery and granted a divorce to her husband on grounds of desertion.

Canadian Bridge Co. Workers Go on Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — About 650 workers at Canadian Bridge Company Limited struck for wage demands for a job evaluation program which would adjust wages at the Windsor plant.

Ray Quenneville, president of local 3471, United Steelworkers of America (CIO - CCL), said the union accepted the unanimous recommendations of a conciliation board as a basis for negotiation. The board recommended a five-cent hourly wage increase and a job evaluation plan to adjust inequities in the existing structure.

The company is understood to have offered a 2½-cent hourly increase but refused to agree to a specific evaluation plan or set money aside for such.

CAN SAVE REST OF INDO-CHINA IS VIEW OF U.S.

Dulles Tells Newsmen Quick Action Needed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration has reached two basic conclusions about the Indo-China peace settlement at Geneva:

1. If the United States and its allies act quickly and decisively they can take military, political and economic measures which should save the rest of Indo-China from Communist conquest either by aggression or subversion.

2. Because Russia and Red China agreed to an Indo-China settlement this does not provide any basis for believing the Communists now will cease to desirable Korean, German and Austrian settlements or to disarmament and atomic control systems.

These points stood out in a press conference held by Secretary John Dulles late Friday near the end of a hectic week in international affairs. They demonstrated that the U.S. government assumes the cold war is still with us—contrary to what that Russian talk of sweeping world settlements is simply propaganda designed to soothe the Western allies.

Dulles said again that the Indo-China settlement was one which the U.S. did not like, but that in effect it simply reflected the military reality of a situation in which Communist Chinese armies and Communist troops were winning the Indo-China war.

SEIZE OPPORTUNITY

"The important thing from now on," he said, "is not to mourn the past but to seize the future opportunity to prevent the loss in northern Viet Nam from leading to the extension of communism through southeastern Asia and the Southwest Pacific. . . .

"If the free nations which have a stake in this area will work together to avail our present opportunities in the light of past experience, then the loss of the present may lead to a gain for the future."

In the wake of this opening statement, Dulles was asked what he thought about a Russian declaration of Thursday that more international conferences now should be held.

Dulles said the U.S. is always hopeful of Soviet co-operation. But he added that any step in recent meetings to test out the good faith of the Soviet Union, and so far the results had been entirely negative.

John Lewis Plans To Organize Seaway Workers

CHICAGO (AP)—An official of district 50 of the United Mine Workers said Friday about 17 miles of Seaway construction will meet in Chicago July 30 to discuss organizing drives on the St. Lawrence seaway project.

John Barnes, Chicago regional director, said there are to organize the workers into the new marine division of district 50. He said organization of construction workers, and other personnel in and around shipyards, will be discussed.

Barnes did not disclose further details pending the meeting.

Miami Skin Diver Sets New Record, Camping on Ocean Floor 24 Hours

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Skin diver Ed Fisher carried a world endurance record Friday by camping on the ocean floor for 24 hours.

He popped to the surface from 24 hours and two minutes after diving to the floor of a coral reef canyon. His skin was blue and wrinkled like a prune and his head ached, but he and his surface associates were jubilant.

His long stay 30-feet below the surface of the sea off Key Largo was made as a free dive, in which piece, he had no direct connection with the airy world above him.

He lived on fish, drank soup, ate candy, and for breakfast shot a fish with his water spear, sliced it and ate it raw.

His endurance dive was to test if "Tiv-Air," a newly-developed underwater breathing apparatus similar to the French Aqualung, can face mask covers his eyes and nose, but leaves the mouth free, so that by removing a mouth-

Britain Protests Attack on Plane Off Hainan Island

Some Passengers Were Hit By Fighter Planes' Bullets

HONG KONG (AP) — There is "substantial evidence" that two unidentified fighters shot down the British Skymaster airliner which ditched off Red China's Hainan Island Friday with 18 aboard, the Hong Kong government announced today.

Hainan, which lies about 200 miles southwest of here, is the site of several large Communist military air bases.

Chief stewardess Iris E. Stobart, one of eight survivors picked up by a United States Air Force rescue plane, said bullets were received in the legs of the survivors at Kowloon hospital today. Two doctors said one man suffered what might have been a bullet wound, but that no bullets were recovered.

J. Thorburn, Hong Kong bank official whose wife was rescued, said a bullet hole was in a glass door above the ear.

He quoted her as saying bullets spattered among the passengers and "unquestionably" a number hit. He said he took it from this that others were able to escape before the four-engined airliner went to the bottom of the South China sea.

ON NORMAL ROUTE

An official Hong Kong government announcement said "there is substantial evidence that the Cathay Pacific Airways plane which ditched in the sea off Hainan Island yesterday morning was shot down by two unidentified fighter aircraft while on its normal route from Singapore to Hong Kong. Enquiries are continuing."

The announcement, broadcast by Hong Kong radio, gave no source for the report, but presumably the information was supplied by the three members of the crew who survived.

Reporters were barred from talking with survivors, but an official at Kaitak airport quoted pilot Philip Rayner of Hong Kong as saying the airliner was shot down by fighter planes.

Report that Rayner had identified the fighters as MiG jets could be confirmed. Colonial officials and airline spokesmen refused to comment.

Dulles said the U.S. is always hopeful of Soviet co-operation. But he added that any step in recent meetings to test out the good faith of the Soviet Union, and so far the results had been entirely negative.

LONDON (AP) — Britain today instructed its charge d'affaires in Peiping to protest to Red China against the shooting down of a Cathay Pacific Airliner off Hainan.

A foreign office spokesman said the two aircraft which attacked the plane could not have come from anywhere else than from Hainan, according to our information from Hong Kong."

The Hong Kong government in an official statement said the Skymaster, flying from Singapore to Hong Kong via Bangkok Friday, was apparently shot down by two fighter planes off Hainan Island, which is part of Communist China.

Eighteen persons were rescued but when the plane ditched in the sea. Eight survived.

The foreign office spokesman said charge d'affaires Humphrey Trevelyan has been instructed to prepare the note of protest in Peiping. The note presumably will be delivered later today.

The foreign office declined to give a description of the two fighter planes.

Asked if the airliner might have been set off course, the spokesman said: "The plane was a considerable distance from Hainan."

He said the government acted on descriptions of the incident as given by the pilot and co-pilot of the doomed plane.

Families Find Homing Pigeon Hard to Lose

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Two New Haven families have learned that it's hard to lose a pigeon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Paler fell responsible for a banded pigeon that began occupying their adjoining back yards last week-end. The bird's band is marked "AUSMUS 56."

No one could tell them where the bird came from.

Friday they decided to release the bird in Bethany, a nearby town, reasoning that it would find its home.

Five minutes after the Merriams and Palers got back from Bethany, the pigeon was in their back yards.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 9th, 10th, and 11th, the Quinte players will begin with their initial successful presentation with Harry Segall's "Mister Angel." Mr. Segall the author may best be remembered for his story that was made into a successful movie a few years back, entitled, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

It is again being presented at Belleville's new summer theatre location, Tobe's County Cabaret at Rossmore.

This play is under the direction of Sydney Rose, whose several successful presentations have established him as a first class director.

Miriam Bishop, who had had several very fruitful roles in the past, takes the female lead in played while the male lead is played by Ted Alexander of Trenton, whose talents are well known in this area.

Rehearsals are well under way, and everything is being made ready for opening night. Tickets may be obtained from any of the Quinte Players or at the usual downtown locations.

Planners See R.C.A.F. Station Expanding to Area to North

TRENTON (Special)—R.C.A.F. Station Trenton is suffering from growing pains.

It will soon be 25 years since this prodigious project first got underway. In the years its expansion has been sound and steady.

Construction has provided billions of working hours for labor and this administrative and training base has served the free world well. It still is a key link in the Allied effort to maintain peace.

Construction plans which look ahead 10 years express concern about the cramped conditions at the station.

They become more evident as the government stresses the importance of its expansion to have their eyes on the tract of land to the north which includes No. 6 Repair Depot.

Station Trenton is basically a training station. Since the establishment of nuclear weapons greater emphasis has been placed on training young Canadians to fly because all the atom and hydrogen bombs in the world would be useless without a means of conveying them to an enemy target. This is why Canada's defence heads decided to spend one billion dollars this year on the R.C.A.F.

There is little room for expansion on the south side of No. 2 highway. The waterfront is available (some 20 acres of it is reclaimed land) but the feeling is that buildings there would hem in the built-up area to the north.

Training facilities can move another way, however, the planners think. And that direction is north.

NEW HANGAR BUILT.

Space on the flight line at Station Trenton was augmented early this year by the addition of a giant million-dollar bomb-resistant hangar. Almost immediately afterwards an increase in flying training left the administration staff with the double-edged problem of needing more room for aircraft storage and maintenance. And apparently the population at the station is keeping pace and the physical growth. The many more mouths will be fed at the new mess hall now under construction. The one which was until this year, the station theatre.

It is known that an accelerated defence program calls for a step-up in training air crews here. It is known, too, that the government has an option on closing the buildings at the Repair Depot should its establishment be shifted to Downsview.

So maybe the Department of National Defence had a specific purpose in ordering the transfer of No. 6 R.D.

Seven Teams Play 'Monkey Golf'

TRENTON (Special) — Seven teams comprising 28 players from Flying Instructor School at Station Trenton spent the regular weekly sports' afternoon playing "Monkey" golf on the local course.

Now this brand of golf is altogether different from the orthodox game but the contestants seemingly have about the same characteristics and find themselves lingering longest around like 19th hole.

"Monkey" golf must have derived its name from a golfer who made a monkey out of himself. All the golfers in this competition appeared to be related to the founder. Which means many of the players were novices and were playing for the first time.

Consider what it takes to transport it is. There are four players to a team. Each player carries a different type club. The four players use only one ball.

As the competition progresses the players rotate clubs in order of shooting. Often you see some of them putting on the green with a driver. Then another drives off with a putter. You can expect anything to happen and it does.

The pastime provided lots of laughs and the players all thanked the organizer, F/O. J. B. Smith.

Brighton Man's Auto Damaged in Collision

TRENTON (Special) — car driven by Wm. Spry, 50, of Brighton, was damaged to the extent of $300 in a crash with a truck operated by George Offen, 22, of Carrying Place, at the Dundas Street and Dufferin Ave. intersection last night. Police reported that the car, proceeding west on Dundas Street, stopped apparently to make a left hand turn into Dufferin Ave. The truck pulled across into the path of the truck approaching from the west and struck the car's right side. The truck slid eight paces forward before the impact and one jack skewed afterwards. The truck, owned by Zenner Bakeries of Toronto, suffered $150 in repairs. Police reported that Spry carried no insurance.

Canada's Provinces to Collect, Spend More Money Than in 1953-54

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 10 provincial governments together expect to collect and spend more money during the current fiscal year than in the 1953-54 year.

Net general revenue of the 10 governments amounts to an estimated $1,311,200,000, an increase of 11 per cent over last year's $1,-197,800,000, the bureau of statistics said today.

Net general expenditure — excluding debt retirement — amount to an estimated $1,332,800,000, a lump of 5.9 per cent over $1,271,-000,000 of 1953.

The estimated total tax yield rose by $236,400,000 from $475,000,000 compared with $207,000,000.

The general sales tax is estimated to yield $128,000,000, compared with $102,000,000 and income taxes $73,000,000 compared with $53,000,000.

The provinces also will collect more from the federal treasury under tax rental agreements—$198,000,000 compared with $186,000,000.

Revenue from privileges, licences and permits is expected to bring $262,000,000, $20,000,000 more than last year while profits of provincial liquor administrations will rise $2,000,000 to $117,000,000.

The largest single outlay will be $370,000,000 for transportation and communications, lower than last year's $374,000,000.

Health and welfare expenditures are expected to rise to $335,000,000 from $306,000,000. Education costs to the provinces will rise to $247,000,000 from $223,000,000. Debt charges are up to $12,000,000 from $115,000,000.

Grass Fire on Coleman Flats Within Inches of Residences All City Firemen Called Out

Residences in the North Coleman - Boswell street area were endangered Friday afternoon when a fast-spreading grass fire raced across Coleman Flats and took every available man on the city fire department to bring under control.

At the height of the blaze flames leaped high into the air as the fire devoured tall grass and reeds in the flats.

At one time the fire was within inches of several houses on Boswell and Coleman Streets. Residents turned in to help firemen extinguish the blaze.

The blaze started near the C.N.R. railway tracks at the north end of the flats at about 2.30. It then moved steadily raced to the scene but a north wind carried the flames across the flats and the fire was soon out of control.

Every available man on the department was called out to extinguish the blaze. The vicinity is privately-owned water tank owned by Jack Pinkle, public bakery. The water is used to haul water.

But the Coleman Flats fire was only one of about a dozen to which fire fighters were called during the grass blaze sprang up all around the city.

The grass fire alarms started shortly before noon when firemen were called to Dannifon Road for a blaze along the river bank.

During the noon hour they were called to the Chapelle Boat Works on Herchimer Ave. where a grass blaze threatened to get out of control. The wind, however, was in the fire fighters' favor and kept buildings out of danger.

Also during the noon hour firemen answered a false alarm and at 1.30 were called to North Frank Street for another bad grass blaze.

At two o'clock the department was called to the End of Thurlow where grass and shrubs were still away on this and at the Frank Street fire when the Coleman Street blaze sprang up.

At five o'clock there was another grass blaze at Boswell St. and shortly before midnight firemen were called to Dixon's Bakery, Front Street where an awning was ablaze, apparently started by a carelessly tossed cigaret.

North Star For Duke's Tour Reaches London

LONDON (CP)—The special red-trimmed RCAF North Star aircraft which is to carry the Duke of Edinburgh on his Canadian tour arrived today at Londonderry.

The four-engined plane, designated No. CC, is the same one which carried the Queen, then Princess Elizabeth, and the duke part way on their Canadian tour three years ago. It was piloted by Wing Cmdr. W. T. Hutchinson, officer of Winnipeg. He will be at the controls of the plane throughout the Canadian tour.

Three RCMP officers, who will act as security officers during the tour, were also on the plane.

It is reported that the duke's departure for Canada Wednesday will be informal, without the ceremonial usually laid on such occasions.

He will probably say goodbye to the Queen and Arundel Castle, a few miles away, where she will be staying with the duke and Duchess of Norfolk for the Goodwood races which begin Tuesday.

Will Prosecute Drivers Blocking Fire Trucks

Fire Chief Gerald Vance today warned that motorists who persist in blocking the way of a fire truck while on the way to fires will face prosecution.

On several occasions during the past week motorists have pulled out in front of vehicles and have raced fire trucks to the scene of fires," the chief declared. "If this practice continues prosecution will follow."

The fire chief pointed out that when fire sirens are heard motorists are expected to pull right close to the curb as possible and allow the trucks to pass.

Chief Vance also appealed to residents to be particularly careful not to do anything to start grass fires in the present dry period could easily get out of control to endanger life and property.

"Quite a few of the numerous grass fires occurring recently have been caused by carelessness," he stated. "People should try to remember that a simple grass fire can do a lot of damage if it gets out of control. Every precaution should be taken to get rid of cigaret butts and to do everything possible to prevent a grass fire starting."

A Lift For Living

Values That Last

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

VALUES THAT LAST

In the Book of Ecclesiastes we find this statement: "Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof."

If the writer means that the end of a thing is more important than its beginning, then I for one would readily admit that he is right! Better certainly it is to have a thing turn out well than to have it start well.

But as a matter of fact, the end of a thing is not always better than its beginning. A career may start well and end miserably. Japan's war with America began with a victory for her at Pearl Harbor and ended with utter failure. When, therefore, we read the statement, "Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof," we may say, "That depends."

First of all, if a thing is to end better than it began, it must be based on values that last. Kenis said, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever." Understanding persons recognize this truth in the realm of art. The frescoes of Michelangelo and the Sistine Madonna of Raphael are prized even more today than when they were first produced. Yes, we admit that time adds to the beauty and value of some things.

CRIME REAPER

But when we turn to the realms of our own lives, we do not seem to feel that they grow better with age. We picture Father Time as a grim reaper who cuts down the grass of the field.

Time withers the fresh vigor of youth, it saps our strength, it dims our eye. It lures us with hopes and then clashes our dreams like the mirage of the desert. It can enhance a fine work of art, but it seems to spoil the art of work.

Is it useful to make our own living such a work of art that it grows better with age? Well, on that depends on whether we learn to live with and for the values that last. We start to school at about the age of six, and during the next 15 years we have spread before us in condensed survey the findings of the ages in the various fields of human endeavor. We learn, or should learn, what has been tried and tested. Thus we profit by the experience of the past.

WISDOM OF ANCESTORS

Thus man differs from a dog. The dog of 1954 goes through the same tricks as the dog of 54 B.C. Dogs cannot avail themselves of the wisdom of their ancestors, to bet man can.

That is why we go to school.

But study in school is only the beginning. We must go on learning lasting values by living. The late Dean Karl Stolz of Hartford Seminary divided adult life into four periods. From the age of 23 to 35 he called the period of adjustment. From 35 to 50, the period of achievement. From 55 to 65, the period of conservation, and from 65 on, he called the period of retirement.

But retirement does not necessarily mean inactivity. Like a good general, a person may retire his forces on some fronts in order to advance on others. Some of the world's best work has been done by those who were too old to get a job in the business field. Immanuel Kant was 74 when he wrote his monumental "Metaphysics of Ethics." Goethe was past 80 when he finished "Faust." John Wesley in his eighties was still preaching up and down England, saying with a smile, "Tis time to live, if I grow old."

Perhaps not many of us can use our later years to produce noteworthy creations in stone, in canvas. But I think of an unmarried aunt no longer able to find commercial employment and capable of creating artistic things. By her cheerful contagious fortitude and cheerful co-operation, she is worth immeasurably much to both the younger and older members of the household. She has learned to live on the growing edge of life.

Once after a notable political defeat William Gladstone rose to speak in the House of Commons with a happy format: "Thus ends our old story." So it is with all of us who live for lasting values.

FOR STRAINS

Increased activity during the summer may result in painful sprains at the joints caused by a sudden wrench or twist that stretches or tears the ligaments. St. John Ambulance says that sprains must not be confused with fractures and that if there is any doubt the injury must be treated as a fracture. The signs of a sprain are pain at the joint, inability to use the joint without increasing the pain and swelling, followed later by discoloration.

The injured limb should be placed in the most comfortable position possible, preferably elevated, and movement should be prevented. Expose the joint and apply a firm bandage. Then wet it with cold water and keep it wet. This tightens up the bandage. When this ceases to give relief, take the bandage off and re-apply it.

Muscle strain is another injury which may come from unusual exertion or exercise. In this case, the muscles or tendons are overstretched or they may be actually torn or ruptured.

The sign of a strain is a sudden sharp pain at the seat of the injury. In the case of a limb, the muscles may swell and cause a severe cramp. If the back is affected the patient may be unable to stand upright. Further injuries by the patient is difficult or impossible.

Treatment for a strain is to place the patient in the most comfortable position, giving support to the injured part. When the injury is treated immediately, apply cold compress (cloths soaked in cold water and then wrung dry). When an interval has passed between the injury and the treatment, apply a hot compress (cloths soaked in hot water and then wrung dry.)

WHO WAS THIS?

By A.A.M.

Who was the prophet of Israel who cut off the army into a trap in the city of Samaria, but advised the king not to kill the enemies in his power? This prophet had been of great assistance to the king in the warfare against the Syrians. Constantly he advised the Israelites where they were going to be attacked. They placed their guards there, so the Syrians were defeated.

This happened so often that the king of Syria became suspicious that a Syrian traitor was revealing the army plans to the Israelites. But he was informed that there was no leak in army circles. Rather, "The Man of God" sends word to the King of Israel, "Beware that you do not pass this place for the Syrians are going down there."

The Syrian king resolved to capture the prophet of Israel. He sent a great army to Dothan to do this. By night a large number of Syrian horses and chariots surrounded the city.

"Alas, my master!

WHAT TO DO!

"What shall we do?" asked the servant of the prophet when early in the morning he saw the Syrian army. The prophet replied, "Fear not, for those who are with us more than those who are with them." Then after the prophet had prayed, the servant saw the horses and chariots of fire round about the prophet.

A second time the prophet prayed and the Syrian army was stricken with blindness. Then the prophet went to the Syrian commander and said, "This is not the city you want. Follow me and I will bring you to the man whom you seek."

The Syrians followed the prophet who led them right into the walled city of Samaria with the hosts of armed men of Israel about them. When the blindness departed from the Syrians, they saw they were trapped. The king of Israel asked the prophet, "My father, shall I slay them?" But the prophet answered, "Would you slay those whom you have taken captive with your sword and with your bow? Set bread and water before them and then let them go back home."

Such generous treatment brought its own reward. For many years "the Syrians came no more on raids into the land of Israel."

Read this prophet's name and story in Second Kings, Chapter 6, verses 8 to 23.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

By HORACE B. POWELL

O GOD, THE ROCK OF AGES

O God, the Rock of Ages,
Who evermore hast been,
What time the tempest rages,
Our dwelling place secure;

Before thy first creations,
O Lord, the same as now,
To endless generations,
The everlasting Thou!

Our years are like the shadows
On sunny hills that lie

Or grasses in the meadows
That blossom but to die;

A sleep, a dream, a story
By Strangers quickly told,

An unremaining glory
Of things that soon are old.

O thou who canst not slumber,
Whose light grows never pale,

Teach us aright to number
Our years before they fail.

On us thy mercies lighten,
On us thy goodness rest,

And let the spirit brighten
The hearts thyself hast blessed.

By HORACE B. POWELL

"O GOD, THE ROCK OF AGES"

Everyone who has read the Nineteith Psalm must have been impressed with the majesty of its opening lines:

"Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever Thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God".

Those paragraphs, and some others, in the Psalm gave Bishop Edward H. Bickersteth, English churchman, the inspiration for this magnificent hymn of praise which has been precious to all Christendom for more than three-quarters of a century. It was written about 1860 and was published two decades later in the Hymnal Companion.

Its author was serving at the time as vicar of Christ Church at Hampstead, England. Later in charge after taking holy orders in the Church of England in 1848. Five years after the hymn was published, he became Dean of Gloucester and the same year he was appointed Bishop of Exeter. He retired in 1900 and died in 1906.

Bishop Bickersteth wrote another very popular hymn entitled "Peace, Perfect Peace", which many suggested at his own funeral while he was on an outing at Harrogate, England, and heard a song—the third verse of the twenty-sixth chapter of Isaiah.

Star Hobby Happy Choice

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Silently, one by one in the Infinite meadows of heaven
Blossomed the lovely stars, the forget-me-nots of the angels".

Have you had this summer and watched the stars appear on a clear night when there was no moon? It is an experience no adult and no child can forget!

Emerson said "If the stars should appear only once in a thousand years, how would believe and adore and preserve for many generations the remembrance of them." But the stars are so common! It costs us nothing to gaze at their beauty and every public library has good bowns on astronomy. A star hobby is a happy choice for a family on vacation in the country or at a cottage. There is so much to learn about the heavens!

Fascinating legends of the stars have been told by every race. They have imagined adventures of the giant Orion and the bear which march across the heavens. There are 89 constellations and each group soon there are over two dozen constellations which can easily be picked out by even an amateur star gazer. It is interesting to compare the Greek legends of the stars with the star stories of our North American Indians.

STARS REALLY SUNS

Very few public school youngsters study astronomy and so they can have the thrill of learning something quite new and different as they star gaze. Few of them know that the stars are really suns. Our sun around which the earth revolves is only a very minor star. It is similar to the other faint stars in the Milky Way galaxy of which we are a part. Planets are heavenly bodies revolving around a sun and they shine with a steady, reflected light. Our sun has nine planets. Our moon, which revolves around the earth, is our nearest space neighbor. It is only 240,000 miles away!

There is one seemingly fixed star, Polaris, the Pole or North Star in our sky in any season. For centuries, sailors have piloted their ships and travellers have plotted their course by its light. Polaris has a different spot in the sky for every latitude within that hemisphere. At the North Pole it is directly overhead, while at the equator it is near the horizon.

SHOULD KNOW POLE STAR

Every child should know how to find the North Star, so called because a straight line drawn from it to the horizon shows the direction north. It is the brightest star in the Little Dipper and is the last star in its handle. Two of the seven stars of the Big Dipper in the bowl of the Dipper farthest from the handle, seem to point to the North Star.

The Pole Star is like the centre of a great clock face, with the pointer point to the hour hand. The Big Dipper seems to swing from left to right, the pointers rounding it in a counter-clockwise motion. When one dipper is upright the other is upside down, their handles stretching in opposite directions. On a clear night with no moon, it is fascinating to watch their stately march across the dome of the sky.

Because of the yearly motion of the earth around the sun the stars appear a little farther west at the same time on successive nights. Thus they may be observed in the sky in the same position four minutes earlier each night. The Spring and evening constellations differ quite a bit from the August stars. Once the dazzling constellation of the winter evenings cannot be seen on a summer evening.

PLANETS FOLLOW FAITH

The planets follow a path, somewhat similar to the sun. The ancient peoples called this pathway the zodiac. Different planets are located in varying constellations each year. There are five planets which can be seen with the naked eye—Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, and Mercury (which is always close to the sun and can sometimes be seen in the West immediately after the sunset.)

To strengthen national defense many countries are now training "Sky Watchers" who will be able to spot enemy aircraft. In this age of international distrust and the H-bomb, it is important to retain as much peace and poise as possible. Men and women, boys and girls who are "Sky Watchers" looking at the stars, have a hobby which is particularly satisfying. Few people can look up at the Heavens on a dark night and not echo the Psalmist's exclamation of wonder about the stars which are "the work of God's fingers".

THE BEAR'S SIDE OF THE STORY

Many wild animals are dangerous. Larry Williams, 7-year-old Toronto youngster, found that out this week when he was clawed by a polar bear at the Riverdale Zoo. But comment by George Stewart, chief keeper at the zoo, shows that the wild animals are no more dangerous than wild people. Sometimes are too many.

The polar bear which clawed Larry had frequently received showers of bottles and bricks. Boys generally litter a young sweep just starting to swim and another about to leave its shell. Somebody threw a burning cigaret onto an alligator's back and watched the creature writhe in agony. A favorite stunt of some zoo visitors is to thrust red peppers into the monkeys' cages. We cannot blame all those cruel, thoughtless actions on unthinking children. Some adults, says Mr. Stewart, are worse than children when it comes to throwing stones, firecrackers, bottles and other objects at the animals.

Perhaps the polar bear was under the impression that it was acting in self defence when it sank its teeth into Larry's arm. Perhaps it was believed that that arm was the forerunner of a bottle or a brick. "I only wanted to feed peanuts to the bear. I guess the bear didn't like peanuts," said Larry, whisked into hospital for an emergency operation. The bear did not know that. The wild people who tossed bottles and bricks at it cannot enter a similar plea of ignorance. They knew that the bear, in its cage, did not like being hit.

Lads like Larry, who are willing to be friends with even such a ferocious-appearing animal as a polar bear, should confine their activities to animals which are not wild, to animals which appear to have acquired the ability to accurately judge the intentions of humans.

Unfortunately it appears unlikely that authorities will look with favor on this suggestion, which is that wild people who toss bottles at bears or drop cigarets on alligators should be compelled to give the animals an even break, no holier interest and no bars to hold the animals from wreaking vengeance on their tormentors.

NO SECOND CHANCE IN NEW WAR

A dispatch from Ottawa states that government officials there have a new worry. They fear that the cessation of fighting in Korea and Indo-China may eventually result in a lessening of public support for defence expenditures. Since these officials know that the danger of Communist aggression has not been lessened by one iota, any such change in public opinion would confront them with a problem of great magnitude.

Perhaps they are under-estimating the intelligence of the Canadian public. There are no signs that Canadian voters are prepared to trust the Communists.

It is impossible to be safe, but to be as safe as possible we must be as well armed as possible. The terrible destructive power of the A-bomb and the H-bomb will give us no period of grace in which to build up our defences after war is declared.

True, in two world wars the unprepared democracies eventually achieved victory. It is even possible to argue that their unpreparedness was the reason that they were unprepared. They entered the war unburdened by any backlog of equipment outmoded by later scientific developments. They were not committed to war and therefore unhampered by old theories which did not meet present-day conditions. Their arms, when they were produced, and their methods, when they were evolved, were the most modern the best brains in the nation could conceive.

There is a school that holds that unpreparedness paid off—in the First Great War and again in the Second Great War. The argument is that it will pay off next time. There will be no hat-trick. One trump card in winning wars has always been to get there "fustest with the mostest"; in the next war there will be no opportunity to play the second trump, getting their "fastest with the bestest".

RED DREAM BOAT

The Russians are now in the race to space.

Recently the Soviet government, through one of its numerous publicity departments, announced that it would be operating a manned earth satellite within 10 years. This artificial space station, as all stories on space stations would have it, would give the controlling nation a magnificent new lookout as well as an observation platform for the watching of military manoeuvres in unfriendly countries.

However, the greatest appeal of a space station seems to lie in the belief that it gives its owners a premier platform for the aiming of atomic bombs at its helpless, and closely observed, enemies below.

There is considerable speculation in certain quarters of the American press about the building of such an earth satellite. The idea has been given great impetus by detailed explanations of the operation and construction of such a station by German rocket authorities now working on guided missiles in the United States.

However intriguing the thought of world domination from an artificial moon in space might be, we humbly suggest that such hopes are doomed to failure. It may be possible to build and operate such a station. We are informed that it is.

But if that is true, it is also true that such a station itself becomes a target for those being watched or menaced. And if it is possible to launch from such a space station a guided missile that will seek out and destroy the space station. And the beauty of the guided missile is that it is cheaper.

And the one to dig the worms
To straighten every tangled line.

I string the fish for meal or

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

I had the honor of addressing a social club whose meetings over the year are devoted to raising funds for a worthy purpose. The meeting was called for 8 o'clock sharp and like a dope, I got there at five minutes to.

At twenty after eight, though only a few members were still arriving, and the hall was nicely filling up, the chairman of the committee were still hustling back and forth up and down the aisles in search of more chairs to meet the urgent business. At twenty-five to nine, the business began. I remember a few more the airs of a man who still had a lot of unfinished business on his mind.

The meeting was called to order. The chairman seized the occasion to outline the purposes of the club and to thank, to thank in no uncertain terms, the various members of the organization, and the members, who had contributed so much to the success of the meetings during the past year. Then he remembered a few more names. At three minutes to nine, with a most businesslike attack, he called on the secretary to read the minutes. The secretary read the minutes, which consisted to a considerable extent of laudatory commendations of all those who had done so much for the success of the meetings during the past year, with the resolutions to back them up.

The chairman himself, at the conclusion of the minutes, recollected three or four names that had not been mentioned in the minutes, and warmly recommended the meeting to endorse him in the suggestion that their names be written into the record.

So it went. The treasurer was asked to read his report. It was a little complicated, and the treasurer had to sit down a couple of times and do a little extra adding and subtracting.

Then the membership committee on the fund; then a few words from a visiting clergyman who sat near the front; and when the clergyman sat down the front, they always expect to be called on for a few words, then the program committee gave a rousing outline of next month's meeting.

At last came the entertainment. It was a fine night, a fair evening. Then a lady and a gentleman sang. Then a young boy, with a bright future, as the chairman said, played the violin. I think the next day was the chairman's nephew.

At three minutes past ten, when all Christians ought to be in bed or within sight of it, I was called on to address a few words, by suggesting audience, about as easy to pick up and lift as a poached egg in the bare hand.

Guest speakers should never be called on later than twenty minutes to nine. And at dinner meetings, never later than twenty to eight.

Steam Engines Sent to Korea

(W. I. Clark, in The Windsor Star.)

Nine steam locomotives are being sent to Korea by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway. As the road equips trains with diesels, an outlet is found for the discarded steam engines. They can be used to good effect in Korea, where the war plagued havoc with rolling stock. Those locomotives can haul trains through the valleys and up and down the hills of Korea.

When the engines get to Korea they will be a great aid to Canadian and Canadian troops there. They will see the locomotives and hear the whistles and know they are something right from home.

The Aga Khan

(By John Connell in London Calling)

In the Islamic world the Aga Khan is beloved and venerated by millions. A figure of unique religious and personal significance. To the West he is a legend, a legend often encrusted with inaccuracy and distorted by incredulity and vulgar, speculative inquisitiveness. In a fashion which the Aga Khan has together easy to analyse, he is an institution of our time. Historically he has not been a spectacular success, yet a great surge of political interest has attended him.

Since the Second World War he has abandoned the higher and more active fields of politics, though he maintains a tenacious interest in the problem of multinational commonwealths, especially in East Africa, where there are a great many of the Ismaili followers — that phrase brings me to the matter, the intensely significant matter, of the Aga Khan's religious position and character. I have had occasion, as I pass so often people who think themselves quite well informed, to say: "The Aga Khan is a kind of God?" A Muslim would think that blasphemous. He is not a devout and sincere Muslim. He is, however, the leader of a minority inside a minority.

The exact description of his religious status is that he is the hereditary Imam of the Ismaili branch of the Shia sect of Islam. He is a direct descendant of the Prophet Mohammed, and by virtue of his principality he is the whole Eastern world. Only an Oriental genealogist could begin to attempt to unravel his exalter but complex pedigree. He is a British subject; he is Karachi getting on for eighty years ago, nowadays his claims—and responsibilities—Persian as well as British nationality. He has been Privy Councillor; he holds the rank of Knight Grand Cross in three Imperial Orders, Grand Commander of the Star of India, the Victorian Order and the Order of the Indian Empire. He was, in a critical period at the end of the 1914-18 war, the principal representative at the League of Nations and a leader of the League Assembly. There was at one time a big move to get him awarded a Nobel Peace Prize. He is undoubtedly, unswervingly, a man of peace. The very word Islam, he points out, means peace: and as one of the outstanding personalities of Islam he has always been aware of his responsibilities as a peace-maker.

There are some ten million Ismailis, the most progressive section of the Islamic world — in Pakistan and the Republic of India, in Persia, Syria, Arabia, in Burma and South-east Asia; in Sinkiang and in pockets in Egypt and East Africa. Those attractive and mysterious people, the Assassins, are in fact a sub-branch of the Ismailis.

It is natural the Ismailis are a reliable, industrious, and trustworthy element in the world in which they find themselves. It has been the Aga Khan's infinitely rule, for the reign of seventy years or so, to make quite sure of it. To all his followers all over the world, the distinction between their spiritual and their temporal allegiance, their authority is exerted solely in the spiritual sphere. Politically, politically, he reminds them constantly, they are citizens of the country in which they live, and if they owe all their temporal duty to the state, so to its fluences them politically in any way.

There is about the Ismaili outlook and way of life a genial and unpretentious sufficiency. Aga Khan has encouraged a discreet and practicable process of modernisation. The contemporary world; wherever his word runs he has urged his people to "subscribes as 'the dreadful custom' of purdah, and has encouraged the social emancipation of women. In the wider racial field he has built up a remarkable social assimilation, a principle which he has himself largely upheld in his own private life.

His relationship with his Ismaili followers is benevolently paternal yet democratic in feeling. The most striking feature is the relationship which King George VI so steadfastly sustained — with his peoples. The Aga Khan is surrounded with an atmosphere of trust and affection, and of loyalty which is not attached to his Imamat as an institution.

I have stressed this side of the Aga Khan's life, because I know that it is the least public — in a multifarious, interesting, and often controversial career — matter. The world has always mattered most. Beneath the social, the political, the racial barriers, the wealth, the social and the aesthetic dilettantism, there is a sincerely religious man who strives to do good as he conceives it.

The only house in Europe which the Aga Khan owns is a beautiful villa on the hillside above Cannes. He has the highest standards as elegant house, a rich man's house; but any Italian rich man's house; but any Italian or French or some English or American gentleman would put a very minor starlet into! In his annual peregrinations to Paris, to Geneva, to Evian, to Aix-les-Bains, to Venice the Aga Khan stays in hotels, and the retinue which accompanies him is modest, though it includes a member of the French Bureau, a parrot, and several cats.

Europe and the Aga Khan has his secular fame as a remarkably successful breeder and owner of thoroughbred racehorses. In this side of his interest he has a tremendous fair and immense knowledge. It is an inherited expertise, of course.

It was the Aga Khan's grandfather — the first of the line to take this title — who went as an exile to India in the middle of the nineteenth century, and there taking up the pastimes of his native land established a reputation as one of western India's biggest and shrewdest racehorse owners. He passed it on to Aga Khan, as a young man, owned and raced a number of fine horses in India; he first began to build up a stable—and later a studfarm—in Ireland in the World War. He employed first-class trainers, men like Richard Dawson and Frank Butters; he spent money generously but prudently; and his success was great. He was to be the owner of no fewer than the Derby winners, the sire of his horses—Bahram and Tulyar—have been among the most successful of all. His elder son, Aly Khan, has inherited his father's interest in racing and in their field, and of recent years has been his partner.

Nowadays the Aga Khan comes to England for a few weeks only for Ascot. I suspect because it is to him the last surviving relic of the pageantry of the Imperial Empire, to whose political development he contributed as Privy Councillor; he holds the rank of Knight Grand Cross in three Imperial Orders, Grand Commander of the Star of India, the Victorian Order and the Order of the Indian Empire. He was, in a critical period at the end of the 1914-18 war, the principal representative at the League of Nations and a leader of the League Assembly. SISTER CURED THE PARAKEET

My sister has a pet parakeet, writes a correspondent. She had some bad luck, and it seemed the bird had developed intestinal trouble, which ended in loss of appetite. Sister remembered that once only before had that not only every member of the family but also the cat, the dog, the chicken and the canary needed an iodin ration. So she crushed a tablet in the parakeet's drinking water every day, and to our surprise the bird is happy as ever and flies around the house as he did when he was young.

For that matter, the sheep, the horses, the cows and all the other creatures in most areas of this country need a wee, wee bit of iodin every day, as well as people do.

LADY OF THE WEEK

COUNTY'S POPULAR TRIO

Miss Fiona Barker, Bloomfield Librarian, who officiated at the christening of "Quinte Loyalist" ferry at the Adolphustown landing Friday, July 23 at 3 p.m.

Bridge May Be Built Later Doucett Says at Christening Of Ferry at Adolphustown

PICTON—Two ferries are now in operation on the Bay of Quinte, connecting Adolphustown and Glenora, after a colorful christening service held at Adolphustown Friday afternoon for a new ferry, the Quinte Loyalist.

"This ferry is a step forward in the development of the Ontario Highway system. It will double the present ferry facilities and further join the historic counties of Prince Edward and Lennox," said Hon. George Doucett, Ontario Minister of Highways.

"Some ask why not a bridge at this point. With the rapid growth of the population of the Province and the increased demand for roads and bridges, it is not possible to build such a bridge at the present time. This ferry should alleviate conditions, but in time, with the growth of the district, should conditions warrant, the Department would give consideration to such a bridge, which it is estimated would cost seven million dollars at this point and also necessitate a swing or lift bridge," said Mr. Doucett.

Mr. Doucett revealed that the new 12-car ferry cost $190,000 and that the new docks to accommodate it cost $218,000. With a crew of six men, including a captain and a mate, the annual operation cost is $75,000. The companion ferry, The Quinte, was built in 1950 at a cost of $20,000 and costs $45,000 a year to operate.

The new ferry should increase the tourist trade in Prince Edward and greatly facilitate traffic on Highway 33. Records show that as early as 1821 there was a ferry at this crossing.

TRIBUTE TO LOYALISTS

Referring to the name of the new ferry, the minister paid tribute to the Loyalists who laid the foundation for a nation in which succeeding generations and all nationalities could live in peace and work together to develop a great country.

Introducing the minister, Norris Whitney, M.P.P., referred to Mr. Doucett's interest in the municipalities and the acts of legislation which he has introduced to extend benefits, such as a development of roads and 80 percent subsidies for bridges.

In tribute to the United Empire Loyalists, I name thee The Quinte Loyalist,' said Miss Fiona Barker of Bloomfield, as she christened the new ferry. Descendent of well-known Loyalist families, Miss Barker briefly paid tribute to the example they have set and urged that those who had fought and died to maintain the same principles never be forgotten.

In respect to her Quaker principles, ginger ale was used for the christening instead of the traditional champagne. The bottle, wrapped in white, swung against the side of the ferry in perfect style.

After the christening, Capt. James Haylock and crew swung the ferry out into the bay so that all might get a good view. While the ferry returned to the dock, arm bouquets of roses were presented to Miss Barker and Mrs. Norris Whitney by Joan Allison of Lennox and Linda Brooks of Prince Edward, who were dressed in old time dresses.

Dexter Goodison of the Erieau Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., builders of the ferry, presented Miss Barker with a silver tray. A Napanee lady who gratered to [illegible] enormous, [illegible] a silk ensign, through Mr. Whitney, to Capt. James Haylock to be used on the ferry.

On behalf of Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce, president Sam Gentile presented Quinte cheese to Mr. Doucett, Mr. Whitney, James Gilmore of Montreal, the architect, and Dexter Goodison.

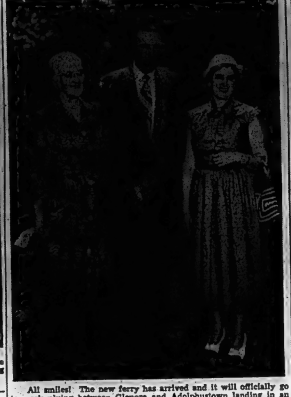
NAME APPROPRIATE

George Tustin, M.P., Prince Edward-Lennox, who acted as chairman, referred to the name of the ferry as being most appropriate since the Loyalists had landed near by in 1784. A historic spot, Adolphustown had been the scene of the first municipal council and the first permanent settlement was also there.

Among platform guests was 94-year-old Fred Allison who has resided all his life near the place where the Loyalists landed. He is a former reeve of Adolphustown and has in his possession a Crown deed from King George III. Mr. Allison had brought along for display a huge poster which had been used in June, 1884, to advertise the celebration of the 100th landing of the Loyalists at Adolphustown.

In keeping with the Loyalist sentiment were ladies, members of Women's Institutes in Prince Edward and Lennox who were seated on the platform. They were dressed in lovely old time costumes. They were Mrs. Bernard Brooks, Prince Edward Area president; Mrs. Fred Perry, Lennox Area president; Joan Allison, Linda Brooks, Mrs. Clem Proctor, Mrs. W. Gallow, Mrs. A. Jackson, Mrs. Ross Allison, Mrs. R. Oliver, Mrs. A. Glenn, Mrs. R. M. Daverne, Mrs. E. Fleming, Mrs. B. Cummings, Mrs. C. Parks, Mrs. J. Haggerty, Mrs. W. J. Glenn.

Others on the platform were County Warden Donald Walker of Prince Edward who had his entire council and all municipal officials with him, as did Warden Erwin Huff of Lennox; Mayor Lorne Smart, Napanee; Mayor H. J. McFarland of Picton; T. G. Bowerman, ex-MPP. who was member when the other ferry was built; James deC. Hepburn, ex-MPP; J. Gilmore, naval architect, Montreal; D. Goodison, of Erieau, the builder; Capt. and Mrs. J. Haylock and Col. J. M. Gibson, liaision officer and bridge engineer with the Ontario Department of Highways.



After the ferry returned from its short turn in the Bay, service was officially inaugurated by the cutting of a white ribbon by Miss Barker, while the ribbon was held by Hon. Mr. Doucett and Mrs. Whitney. Then the ramp was lowered and, amid whistles and music, the crowd flooded onto the boat for some stesi ferry for the initial trip to the Glenora shore. It passed the old Quinte enroute and passing salutes were given.

Quite a number of tourists from the United States attended the ceremony.

The ceremony was carried out in a setting of real natural splendor, the wind-rippled waters of the Bay of Quinte with its tree-lined shores, a bright sun, a blue sky and across the bay, the tree-covered Lake-of-the-Mountain towering like a hale.

The new ferry will more than double the facilities for moving and encouraging traffic from Kingston along Lake Ontario by highway No. 33, through Bath, Adolphustown and across the Bay of Quinte to Picton, Wellington, Consecon and Trenton.

With the two ferries operating steadily and with 24-hour service

All smiles! The new ferry has arrived and it will officially go to work plying between Glenora and Adolphustown landing in an effort to solve the traffic problems at this point of Scenic Highway 33. Miss Fiona Barker, Bloomfield librarian and historian did the honors at the christening Friday at 3 p.m. Norris Whitney, M.P.P. and Mrs. Whitney are shown with Miss Barker.

traffic is expected to greatly increase on this scenic route. While officially rated as a 12-car ferry, the Quinte Loyalist can carry 15 or 16 since it is free of obstructions in the centre. High praise for designer and builder were given by speakers at the ceremony.

As the new vessel's name, "Quinte Loyalist," indicates, it will ply the waters of the Bay of Quinte, deep in United Empire Loyalist territory. It was informally launched, on May 15th, at Erieau, where its keel was laid and initial work to make it seaworthy was completed. Since that launching, construction has been completed and the trial runs held. The vessel will soon be riding the waves of Lake Ontario on the way to its home base of operation between Glenora in Prince Edward County and Adolphustown, in Lennox and Addington County.

WELL CHOSEN

No more suitable person could be found to officiate at the christening of a vessel named "Quinte Loyalist" than Miss Fiona Barker of Bloomfield. Two of Miss Barker's great great grandfathers came from Dutchess County, New York, in 1787, Maj. Major Van Alstyne. Another great great grandfather, Cornelius White came from Duchess County to the new Loyalist community at about the same time. All of these United Empire Loyalist ancestors settled originally near Adolphustown and their descendants soon spread throughout Prince Edward county and Adolphustown district.

Another of Miss Barker's great-grandfathers, Stephen White, donated land for a Society of Friends meeting house, for a cemetery, now a part of the Bloomfield cemetery, and roads as well. Part of the land deeded to set up a road to meeting house and cemetery is now incorporated in King's Highway 33 through the town of Bloomfield, just a few miles from Picton, the County Town.

LONG JOURNEY

When the Ontario Historical Society held its annual meeting at Bloomfield, in 1940, Miss Barker became a full members. It is interesting to note a reference to an ancestor of Miss Barker's, mentioned in Papers & Records of the Ontario Historical Society, published in 1930. In that book is found an account of Phoebe Roberts' story of a Quaker Missionary Journey to Upper Canada. Four ministers of the Society of Friends set out from Richland, Pennsylvania, and streams to reach the Niagara River at Lewiston, on October 10th. According to this record, they travelled to the Newmarket district, on to Uxbridge, Pickering, Grafton and Colborne. By November of that year they had reached Prince Edward County, and went on to Kingston by way of Adolphustown. They lodged with Friends along the way, and the diary records: "they dined at James Barker's near the meeting house on the lake shore, a beautiful situation indeed, two miles farther. Lodged at our kind friend, Aaron White's."

Miss Barker is the great-great-granddaughter of the Aaron White mentioned in this diary. She is still a member of the Society of Friends, although there are few members of the sect in that district today. However, those who are, still hold executive meetings twice a year.

A ferry was in operation from Glenora to Adolphustown at that time, as the writer of the Diary refers to the fact "two of our men thought they would go with the wagon and cross in the Ferry Boat and we to cross in another craft some distance from the Ferry."

The Quaker Cemetery, for which Miss Barker's great-grandfather, Stephen White, donated the land, has been incorporated as a general cemetery for many years now. When it was in use a Quaker cemetery it followed the pattern of all such cemeteries, where headstones are all of one size.

ACTS AS LIBRARIAN

Fittingly enough, Miss Barker is the librarian at Bloomfield. She is active in any organization concerned with the betterment of the district. She organized the Bloomfield Woman's Institute in 1908, and served as its president for 13 years. This branch raised funds to furnish a private room in the new hospital planned for Picton.

Miss Barker, whose knowledge of the early history of her county places her in the category of a historian, feels that more plaques should be erected commemorating historical sites. If such a movement were started, she would be pleased to offer her services.

Mr. Norris Whitney, M.P.P., is the representative for the riding of Prince Edward-Lennox, in the provincial legislature. The christening of the Quinte Loyalist at Adolphustown will serve to tie in Prince Edward County and the mainland, both parts of his constituency.

The new ferry is 92 feet long, and has a 32-foot beam, and when loaded to capacity will have a 600 foot draft. It is capable of carrying 12 motor vehicles and 70 passengers.

Wheat Growers Vote Controls, Marketing Quota

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States wheat growers voted Friday by the narrowest of margins to fix marketing quota controls for the 1955 crop. It was not until after 1 a.m. EDT that the official "yes" and "no" vote from North Dakota sent the quota control over the top in a countrywide referendum that was not supposed to be even close.

It required 66.7 per cent of the votes to be favorable for the controls to go into effect. Before the returns came in from North Dakota the percentage stood at exactly that figure. North Dakota with a whopping 96.5 per cent "yes" vote, pushed the margin up to 71.8 per cent.

Four states remained to be heard from, but returns from these states plus the 13,000 challenged votes would not change the results of the referendum.

Last year, U.S. wheat farmers gave 87.8 per cent backing to the quotas. The total vote this year appeared to be running less than half of that recorded in 1953.

The vote for controls was 188,801, with 66,375 against.

Disappearance of West German Bureau Chief Blow to US Intelligence

BERLIN (AP) — The United States high commission Friday said inquiry shows that Dr. Otto John, West German chief of anti-subversion, has been "trapped" or "forced" into the east and now is being held in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

The official American statement backed up the theory of the WKEST backed up the theory of the West that the disappearance in Berlin Tuesday night was an evident "abduction."

West Berlin police had been leaning strongly to the idea that John and a companion defected voluntarily to the Communists.

John, civilian head of the Bureau for Protection of the Constitution, had been in a tussle with the military branch of intelligence and also the defence ministry in some kind of a struggle for power recently.

In his position, John had access to a wealth of information which Western security agents admitted today could deal their counter-spy network a body blow. One authority said:

"He certainly knows the identity of several hundred people in the Soviet zone who have been providing information to the West. He also knows the workings of the Allied counter-espionage. It's immaterial whether he defected or was abducted from this viewpoint because in any case he will be compelled to give this information."

Miss Fiona Barker's visitor is the popular member of the Legislature, Norris Whitney who is pleased at the arrival of the second ferry to his constituency from Glenora to Adolphustown in Lennox. Mr. Whitney chose Miss Barker to do the christening honors, Friday, when the new ferry "Quinte Loyalist" will start its career on Bay of Quinte.

Prisoner's Threat of Suicide Does Not Soften Guelph Judge

GUELPH (CP)—A threat that he would hang himself if sent back to the Guelph Reformatory was made in county court today by James Henry Woodworth 30, of Kenora, when he faced trial on charges of escaping custody.

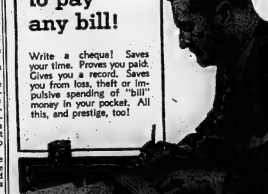
Judge R. Stewart Clark told the youth that he was not forcing the court to a decision by that assertion, for that was purely a custodial matter.

Woodworth was sentenced to serve two years in Kingston Penitentiary on the escaping charge plus the unexpired 43 months and 19 days of his previous reformatory term, which will be also served at Kingston.

"You must have strict, hard discipline," the magistrate said. "Your thinking is confused for no man is forced to take his own life. But people are forced to accept discipline when they break the law."

Woodworth, prior to the passing of sentence asked the court to send him somewhere to learn a trade that would help him in the future and allow him to help his parents.

"Do you mean there is no opportunity to learn a trade at the Guelph reformatory," asked his honor.



"They told me I didn't have the brains to learn a trade," replied Woodworth.

"I think you have misunderstood the sentence. You were sentenced because of the crime you committed, not to learn a trade—and because discipline is necessary to put you right. Why didn't you think about helping your parents before your first crime?" asked his honor.

Woodworth declared he wouldn't stay at the reformatory if he were sent back there, for there was no opportunity to learn a trade.

Weddings

GRAHAM—ANDREWS

Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, effective with white gladioli and blue delphinium, was the setting for a double-ring wedding ceremony on Saturday, July 17th, at 3.30 p.m., when Marilyn Yvonne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Andrews, was united in marriage to Douglas Charles Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham, of Peterborough. The Rev. R. A. Howey, pastor of Tabernacle United Church, officiated.

The wedding music was provided by Mr. S. Alec Gordon, and the soloist, Mrs. W. Burgoyne, rendered "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Hymn."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of white satin fashioned with over pastel blue net and white taffeta, styled with fitted bodice touched with seed pearls and having a scalloped neckline and tiptoe-length sleeves edged with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt fell in graceful folds. Her fingertip veil was of pastel blue illusion with cap of nylon embroidered with seed pearls. She carried white, feathered carnations centred by an orchid.

Mrs. Robert Lacey, as matron of honor, was gowned in ice blue crystalette in waltz-length and trimmed with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. The other attendants were the bride's little sisters, Carol and Elinor, who were flower girls, attired in short frocks of ice blue crystalette with tiny fitted bodices and full skirts. All carried cascade bouquets of white and blue feathered carnations and blue cornflowers and wore matching headdresses.

Mr. Darrell Ackford, of Buffalo, was groomsman, and the ushers were, Mr. Donald Pope, of Toronto, and Mr. Gordon Graham, of Peterborough.

The reception was held in the church parlors with the bride's mother receiving the guests, assisted by the mother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham will reside in Peterborough.

HAMILTON—ANGELO

CAMPBELLFORD.—A double ring ceremony took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, on Saturday, when Joan Marie DeCarlo, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McNaughton, was married to James A. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hamilton, of Campbellford. Rev. A. E. Toombs officiated.

The church was decorated with gladioli and the wedding music was played by Mr. Albert Hassell. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Isabel Wallace sang "Through the Years" and the "Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. James Hamilton, of Peterborough, wore a gown of white nylon with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white roses on a spray of white feather from Basilisk.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Viola Cook, who wore gown of blue nylon organdy with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bride's uncle, Mr. Harry Cook, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Trent House where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of pink shantukin with a white flower hat and a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's mother also received in a dress of navy sheer with a navy and white hat and a corsage of pink roses.

After the reception, the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to Eastern Canada and points in the United States and on their return will reside in Campbellford.

Out-of-town guests attended from Toronto, Brighton, Peterborough and New York.

COLE—PHILLIPS

On Saturday, July 17, at 3.00 p.m., a pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. J. F. Lane at the Madoc parsonage, when Donna Anne Phillips, of Madoc, R.R. 3, daughter of Mrs. Bruce Phillips, became the bride of Harold Arthur Cole, of Corbyville, R.R. 1, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cole.

The bride was attractively attired in ice blue nylon marquisette with white accessories. She wore a corsage of dark red roses, white picture hat and long white gloves.

Miss Marguerite Cole, of Corbyville, sister of the bridegroom, assisted the bride. She attended the pale blue nylon trimmed with taffeta, with white accessories, and corsage of red roses.

Mr. Grant Phillips, of Madoc, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom.

The reception was held at the bride's home, which was prettily decorated with pink and white streamers, wedding bell, pink and white candles, sweetpeas and a profusion of other summer flowers, where a buffet luncheon was served. The bride's mother received, wearing white, trimmed with pale yellow, and corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in pale blue trimmed with lace, assisted. Her corsage was of white and pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride travelled in blue nylon, with white picture hat. Mr. and Mrs. Cole will reside in Corbyville upon their return.

Guests were present from Corbyville, Stirling, Kingston, Tamia, Belleville, Peterborough, Trenton, Madoc and Springbrook.

Report of Agriculture Convention Given At W.I. Meeting

Pine Grove Women's Institute held its regular summer meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. G. Barkdahl, Oak Lake, with 12 members and four visitors in attendance.

The members were pleased to learn of the appointment of Miss Faye Irvine, a 1954 graduate of Macdonald Institute, as county home economist for the counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington, and Northumberland, with headquarters in the Department of Agriculture office at Napanee.

BROADCASTS

A series of broadcasts, "Discrimination in Employment," may be heard over the local station, CJBC, from five to five-fifteen each Saturday afternoon for four consecutive weeks.

Members received copies of "Home and Country," "The Canadian Association of Consumers' Monthly Bulletin," and a booklet on Ontario peaches.

Large envelopes were distributed to the standing committee convenors in which to keep material pertaining to the work of their committee, and which are to be passed on to succeeding convenors each year.

A letter from Mrs. E. B. Finkle expressed her appreciation for the gift given her by the West Hastings District. Mrs. Finkle has been a valued member of the Institute for 31 years.

Mrs. F. Finkle reviewed the Home and Country pointing out items of particular interest.

Mrs. P. Campbell, as Citizenship convener, reported on radio evaluation, and Mrs. H. Detlor reported on the Canadian Infantile.

GUEST SPEAKER

The meeting was then turned over to the Agriculture convener, Mrs. H. Coulter, who introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. C. Holmes. Mrs. Holmes commended the members on their review of the "Home and Country" and on the memorization of the Mary Stewart Collect. She mentioned that in Newfoundland the first provincial convention of Guilds, Institutes and similar Women's Institutes was being held, with the W.I. Dominion president attending for the first time she has ever done so.

Mrs. Holmes also gave an interesting account of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture Convention which she had attended in Toronto in January as one of the delegates from Hastings county.

Mrs. F. Campbell thanked Mrs. Holmes for her report.

The convener gave some items regarding the value of the cow in Canada's economy.

Business, Professional Women's Clubs to Meet

TORONTO (CP)—More than 400 women from across Canada gather here Monday for opening sessions of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs biennial convention.

During the week delegates will discuss the status of women in the business and professional world and hear two guest speakers, experts in the field of engineering.

The convention theme strikes an optimistic note: "Women, horizons unlimited." Speaking on the theme will be a distinguished United States management engineer, Lillian Moller Gilbreth. Dr. Gilbreth, who speaks at the final banquet Friday is best known as the real-life mother in the book "Cheaper by the Dozen." She is also a noted author, scientist and humanitarian.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments will be served and a social half-hour enjoyed.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Here is a swimming pool with a capacity of 600,000 gals, the most attractive of which is Esther Williams it takes some doing to figure out new ways to display Esther in the water, but Herman Pen is our man.

Its officially-named dance director went into mythology because the story is about Hannibal and Rome, to dream up a number for Esther. In the pool are statues of Apollo and several other fellows who could have been kinsmen of Hermes. Esther glides into the pool and Apollo—in the person of Johnny Olsen, M.C. of the Groucho Fool ball Cardinals—comes to life when Esther kisses him. This is fantasy! On the screen the entire sequence will last but seven minutes. But it involves 75 players and choreo-claus, five weeks of rehearsal and five full-days of filming.

Heretofore Esther's under-water life has been filmed through a window in the side of a big tank. You got to be pretty stale stuff, because about all Esther could do was cut her capers in front of the camera. The limitations were pretty narrow. In this one, called "Jupiter's Darling," the camera will be in the water, too, which will give Esther and companions much more latitude.

Wellington on the Lake

JULY

I love the July weather,
The month the poets scorn,
I love the morning quiet,
When the day is newly born,
The fragrant clover meadow,
The summer shaded shore—
With every fleeting summer
I love them more and more.

The little barefoot urchin
Happy at work or play,
The busy birds a-singing
From morn till twilight gray,
The tourist seeking holiday
In the calm countryside,
With quiet peace within the heart
To linger and abide.

Even in the heat of noonday
When nature seems at rest,
When earth's wild timid creatures
Cease from their endless quest,
I joy with fervid feeling
In the gifts the summer brings,
For soon, too soon, the moments
Slip by on fleeting wings.

Gladly I greet the dawning
Of each glowing July day,
Glad that the snows of winter
Are far, so far away,
Thankful to Him the Giver
Of each pink-petalled rose,
Who over the fields of harvest
His golden mantle throws.

And so may summer sunshine
In my life play a part,
And like a golden treasure
Sink deep within the heart.

—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON—The days have been busy here with the factories canning peas, giving employment to both men and women. And now the berry picking is underway, while a drive into the country reveals that many "fields are ripe already to harvest." But notwithstanding the busy-ness of the days, the holiday spirit prevails, and folk are coming and going on leisure and pleasure bent.

A WEEK-END HOLIDAY

On Saturday morning we were invited by friends to join them in a motor trip over the hills of Hastings. We joyfully accepted, the scenery and loneliness of the north being a contrast to that of our county. At a tourist camp at Jordan Lake we, with other folk on holiday, enjoyed lunch, and crossing Bancroft, we found comfortable lodging in one of the Riverside cabins, while Miss Mary Lunn of our party was welcomed as guest of her nephew Dr. Lunch and family. A delicious chicken dinner was enjoyed at Hotel Bancroft, after which we were interested in this busy town with its crowds of Saturday night visitors. A drive to Baptists Lake, and Bass Lake completed our explorations. We recall with pleasure the attractive homes a few miles this side of Bancroft, the beautiful location, the flowers and shrubbery and the hospitality of the residents made it a place to be remembered. We motored to Lumb, with her aunt and Miss M. Lumb, Miss Marjorie Blakely and Mrs. H. B. Anderson enjoyed this visit to Bancroft and vicinity.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

YOUR VACATION "HOW DO YOU DO"

When you are on vacation and are being introduced, why not acknowledge an introduction will be the first manners impression you will make on the person to whom you are being introduced. And that's mighty important; mighty important. The always-correct acknowledgment of an introduction is "How Do You Do." That's easy to remember. You never have to spend any effort to "think-up" any other reply. But what you should do to be a charming person is to do what people of charm do with those little every-day words, . . "How do you do." Watch how they say them. . . with a charming grace that is something-to-remember and something-do-remember-them-by. . . with a friendly warmth, with a cordial tone of voice. . . with a charm that makes these inanimate words walk joyously on tiptoe! And for "extra added attraction" of charm always listen alertly to hear the name in an introduction, then they add the words to the "How do you do" . . and you know how pleased every one of us is when a person has the desire to remember our name.

To paraphrase Alice-In-Wonderland "That's a great deal to make one phrase mean" . . but you can make your "How do you do's" mean so much that the newcomer-in-your-life will think "Here's a delightful person to know!"

(P.S.: It's a very wise and rewarding idea to do some home-work on saying a charming "How do you do" before you start forth on your vacation. Say it to your full-length mirror, and rate yourself. . . honestly!)

ANNOUNCING THE ENGAGEMENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am about to announce the engagement of my daughter. Please tell me the proper wording. . .my husband is deceased. — W.

If your daughter's father is not living, she is correct in her way of announcing the engagement:

"Mrs. Arthur Gordon Wilson, of 123 Park Circle, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Evelyn Gould Snow, to Herbert Leonard Thompson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Foster Thompson, of Columbine. Miss Snow is the daughter of the late Walter Paulson Browne." (Any other information about schools, colleges attended, jobs, professional or business affiliations, and so forth, may also be included in the announcement.)

If you are divorced, the announcement may read:

"Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Evelyn Gould Browne, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Gordon Wilson, of 123 Park Circle, and of Mr. Edward Morrison Browne, of San Antonio, Texas, to Mr.—"

BEST MAN IN UNIFORM AT WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are going to have a simple morning church wedding soon. The bridegroom and ushers are going to wear blue business suits. My fiancee'd rather not. But the best man is in the Army, in camp some distance away. Since it is doubtful if he can arrive until just in time for the wedding, would it be correct for him to wear his uniform at the wedding? — T.S. Yes!

Readers' Saturday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Would you have recipes or suggestions for fancy sandwiches including openface type? Also would you be free to suggest a price for making such sandwiches if I were called upon to do so. By this I mean on a small scale in my own home for individuals.—Mrs. M. R. A.

ANSWER:

Sandwiches made by bakeries or firms in the party service business cost $1.80 for 48 pieces —that is 24 slices of bread made up in 12 full sandwiches. However firms such as these are making sandwiches up in such large quantities that they can buy ham and chicken at wholesale prices. You cannot do this and it is the fillings that are costly. I would suggest that you charge $1.75 for 48 pieces cut from 12 full sandwiches made from 24 slices bread. I would also suggest that 1-3 of the sandwiches be made with egg filling which is less costly than meat. I have sent you a clipping of the column which explains here on sandwiches on May 20, 1954.

CANAPES

(Small openface "sandwiches")

Bread for canapes is a toast bed. If you care to use these suggestions on small slices or shapes of fresh unsliced bread they will be good too. Toast on one side only bread shapes cut in stars, crescents, diamonds, etc., by sauteing in a little hot butter in hot frying pan over low heat until nicely browned (on one side). Not more than 1-2 hour before serving time prepare toppings: (1) Cut thin slices from scored small cucumber. Place such slice on a prepared round toast bed. In centre squeeze small circle of anchovy paste. Press sliced olive into paste. (2) Moisten pate de fois gras (liver paste) with a little mayonnaise. Spread on prepared toast beds. Dip the edges all around in mayonnaise, then in finely minced parsley. (3) Cut a thin slice from a small red tomato. Place slice on a tiny frill of lettuce on a round toast bed. In centre, press a small shrimp into a dab of mayonnaise. (4) Mix bits of crumbled crisp bacon into chutney. Spread on prepared toast beds. Trim edges with minced pimento.

QUESTION:

. . . your column has given me renewed enthusiasm for cooking. . . our budget is strict so we could afford family and home which my husband builds himself at nights) . . . our three little girls have been more than worth the struggle. . . our food bill last year averaged $37 per month . . . your column helped me . . . the two biggest savings are in using skim milk powder and in learning to like potatoes instead of coffee. . . I've adapted your skim milk chocolate ice cream to a variety of flavors . . . and the orange milk sherbet is a favorite. . . We have been disturbed by an article on pork in which a graphic picture is painted of diseased animals. . .pork and ham are off the menu until from 24 slices bread. I would also suggest that 1-3 of the sandwiches be made with egg filling which is less costly than meat. I have sent you a clipping of the column which explains here on sandwiches on May 20, 1954.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BETTER GET UNENGAGED, ALICE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am an engaged girl of 21, and I'm having trouble with my fiance. He is very jealous, and even resents my going out with a girl friend on the nights he has to work late and can't come to see me. Also, he never seems to be satisfied with the way I look or the way I behave, and is always nagging at me to do things the way he wants them done.

What advice can you give me?

ALICE T.

Dear Alice T.:

The best advice I can give you is to get yourself unengaged, the sooner, the better, and find yourself a wholly different type of fiance. You might as well break off now, because I'm very sure you're going to do so sooner or later anyhow. Or, if you don't, you'll be a very unhappy wife, because the kind of man you describe is certain to be dominating and difficult husband who would be far more interested in himself, and what he wants, than in making you happy.

HER HUSBAND'S GOOD TO HER ONLY WHEN SHE WORKS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been married 11 years and have a son 8½.

Four years ago, I had a serious operation, and since then, I have tried to work off and on, but have become ill on every job I had and had to go to bed again.

My problem is that whenever I am working, my husband is very nice to me, but as soon as I stop, things are very different. He gives me very little money, calls me rude names, and tells me I am of no use to him. I ask him for money for medicine, he says he is not supposed to keep me supplied with medicine. All I hear is to either go and get a job, or move out. I am an miserable and unhappy that I have often thought of committing suicide, but then I think of my son, and put the thought aside.

Dear Toby: I think the best place to find the help you need right now is some sort of family service organization, where someone can go over the whole situation with you and find out where the trouble lies, and advise you what to do about it. If you really are so ill that it is upsetting your whole life, perhaps you need further medical or surgical treatment, and if so, and your husband refuses to provide the money for it, the social welfare organization would, I think, see that you get the necessary treatment and support. On the other hand, if your physical condition has affected your whole outlook on life, so that your husband resents continual complaining on your part, they can show you how to help yourself, so that your husband may take a different attitude toward you. At any rate, you should find out where your real difficulty lies, and if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I will tell you where to go in your neighborhood for advice.

Garden Notes

Fresh Salad Plants for Your Table

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

If your family is trying to follow "Canada Food Rules" a pamphlet issued by the Dominion Department of Health, you will have leafy green vegetables every day. And, of course, you know that the freshest, vitamin-packed greens are in your own garden, or at least they should be. Vegetables which are picked minutes away, and kept in a cool cellar window for a day are not as healthful as those picked within the hour before serving.

To have a steady supply of greens you will need to plant a wide variety of vegetables and successive plantings of many of them. Oakleaf lettuce has a red brown tinge to the outer edges of the leaves, and is slow to go to seed. Other types of leaf, and head lettuce may be grown successfully in hot weather if you provide a lath shade.

Space the laths their own width apart. The shade may be rigid or rolled. By weaving heavy wire over and under the laths a few inches from the ends you will make the shade flexible. It may be supported on a light frame. A short length of snow fence will serve very well.

Keep the plants growing lustily by providing plenty of water. Leafy plants need an extra supply of nitrogen for quick lush growth.

EXTRA SALAD GREENS

Other salad greens are supplied by adding Romaine, or parsley grass or cos. They need rich soil. Blanch some of the leaves by tying up the leaves until the centre leaves are white. Use the small plants you pull when thinning the rows.

Pepper grass has a pleasant nip. Plant it often and use it while quite small. Escarole, or endive, is crisp and tart. Plant small amounts frequently. Of course, the dark green leaves contain the most vitamins, but blanch some for variety or flavor, and color.

French endive, or witloof chicory is planted early in the spring and grown all season as a root. Store it in the winter and plant a few roots in damp sand to start the blanched tops for winter salads. Chinese cabbage, cauliflower, late cabbage and savoy cabbage will extend the green salad season for many months.

Radishes dislike hot weather but by the middle of August you can begin to plant them again for fall. Carrots while usually considered as a vegetable for cooking do play a large part on the relish tray, and in salads, so plant some more carrots for fall and winter salads.

Keep cucumbers healthy by dusting every second week with a reliable bug-killer. Keep them watered in dry spells and feed them well. The vine fruits are heavy feeders.

HORMONE SPRAY

Tomatoes will mature earlier and have solid meaty, almost seedless fruit if you spray with hormone spray known as seed-less-set. Keep soil loose around plants or add a light mulch of grass clippings, chopped straw or hay. It will conserve the moisture and keep the fruit clean and dry.

Tomatoes, too, need extra food and water to produce a good crop of fruit. Work a cupful of balanced fertilizer around each plant, or sprinkle it on the mulch and soak it in with the hose.

Sweet peppers are heavy feeders, too, so if you want plenty of thick-walled fruit feed generously with balanced plant food, or liquid plant food. Both tomatoes and peppers will benefit from frequent dustings with bug killer. It has lime for a base and this seems to suit these plants well. The hormone spray will work well in producing almost seedless cucumbers, peppers and eggplant.

It is rather late to find onion sets in the store, but you may have some multipliers which have dried up in the garden. Pull them up, separate and prepare a shallow trench for them, having first loosened the soil and added some fertilizer. Soak the multipliers, set in the small onions, cover with a half inch of soil then firm. Dry soil. Keep the soil damp for two weeks to give the onions a chance to root and sprout.

No small part of the salad is the piquancy contributed by herbs. These may be added to the dressing, or chopped fine and added to the base of the salad.

HERB GARDEN

It is not too late in the season to plant a herb garden. You will want dill, to add to cucumber salad, as well as for pickle. Chives give a lift to many dressings and should be added occasionally to egg salad, and to cottage cheese. Parsley is slow to start, but will survive hard frosts and may be dried for winter use. Basil, and mint are easily grown and may be dried, or potted for winter use.

Herbs need little care, and will thrive in clay soil, but the other salad plants need rich soil, or frequent feedings, sufficient water and loose soil, or a light mulch to keep the table supplied with salad greens. They are well repaid for nothing balances a meal like a crisp salad, and salads from your garden can help keep the health end food budget balanced.

Centenarians Keep Working Survey Shows

LONDON (Reuters) — An expert on old age has advised would-be centenarians to forget all about retirement and just keep on working.

Dr. Flanders Dunbar of New York told a congress of world experts studying old age here that this formula was based on a survey of 20 per cent of the Americans over 100 listed in the last census.

Far from conserving their strength for the long last lap of life most of these oldsters were to be found still very much occupied in the busiest parts of the country where the stress and strain of living is greatest.

"All had avoided complete retirement," she said. One man of 100 turned over his banking business to his son only to become a boys' club organizer.

Other features of these centenarians were that most of them had higher than average incomes and are a markedly good health throughout their lives.

Each had his own pet theory as to why he is still alive, some ascribing it to abstinence from drinking and smoking, others to a daily draft of whisky and strong black cigars.

But common to all—and perhaps the most important part of the formula—is that they get a kick out of being alive, Dr. Dunbar stressed.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

TORONTO HERE TONIGHT

If the Balas maintain their present hitting clip they are liable to make things mighty unpleasant for the Toronto Dependables, their Vladuct-Ontario Senior Baseball League opposition at Exhibition Park tonight. According to the latest batting averages which appear elsewhere on the sports pages, the Carson-Goyer crew are walloping the horsehide at a more or less terrific clip.

Claude Carr tops the list with a .407 but Claude has only been at bat 27 times. Ten of the lads are smashing the ball for averages over the .300 mark with Peter Jones leading the list with a .373. Wellens, who has been one of the better pinch-hitters, has a .357 for five for 14, then comes Coach Goyer with a .333. Art Wright, Al Kelleher, Gerry Geyer, Davy Jones, Johnny Mowat, Dick Fitzpatrick and Tony Pettit all boast .300 and over while Bob Benton and Keith MacDonald are nudging the mark.

The team collectively has banged out over fifty base clouts in their last three appearances, and if they are still "on" there should be some fancy clouting in tonight's game.

PAGE HOUDINI

Four mighty rasslers
Battling in a spree
One lost his underwear
Then there were three

Three pudgy packydermes
Couldn't get a clue
One got a hammerlock
Then there were two.

Two canny wrestlers
Thinking all fun,
One saw a dizzy bleede
Then there was one.

One lonely wrestler
Thought it was all done,
Went for the referees
Then there were noese.

And wherebuell WERE the referees?

That was one of the wackiest wingdings these wrestler-worry optics have seen in many moon at Memorial Arena last night. It appears both teams had their pet referee; both teams got the decision and the boys-in-white wound up in a blaze of pus-slapping glory outside the dressing rooms. Who got the decision we never did find out but the last we saw of portly "Bunny" Dunlop he was pantless and looking for his shorts. Master Gollop was not available and it was rumored he was later discovered secreted in a dressing trunk trying to look like a 1953 Cadillac convertible.

This department, which has violened many a strange hoop-de-doo in a wrestling ring could not understand why the estimable Mr. Gollop leaped into the ring just as palsy-palsy (or was he), Benny was about to drop the third thrasp of victory which would give Whipper Watson and Gino Ballitargeon the nod. Gollop awarded the hazels to the villainous Mighty Ursus and Weeping Willie Bollens, alias the Zebra for what reason none could fathom. Anshaw, the Whipper pushed Mr. Gollop around some too roughly — and then both referees disappeared. We are still in the dark.

STARKEY FIELD.

Peter Thomson and Bobby Locke, who finished one-two in the British Open, will be in Toronto next month to join the world's top golfers in The Labatt Open, to be played at Scarboro, August 23-28.

Ken Murray, CPGA president and tournament manager, announced at the same time that Cary Middlecoff, top money winner to date on the pro circuit, Dutch Harrison and Jim Turnesa are among a dozen or more top pros definitely committed for the second annual Labatt event.

"As far as I know now both Peter Thomson and Bobby Locke will be here for the Open," Murray said after correspondence with the British Open winner and runner-up. Thomson took seventh place money in the Labatt tournament last year, Locke, who missed Canada's biggest golf event last season, will be making his third visit for a major slice of the $24,500 purse. On the basis of past performances in the world's big tournaments, the fabulous South African is a sure bet for a good share of the prize money.

But Locke and Thomson will be up against a tough field—probably the best ever assembled on a Canadian course—when the top tournament professionals tee off at Scarboro. In addition to Middlecoff, Harrison and Turnesa, other top winners this season, including Bob Toski, Ted Kroll, Jack Burke, Jerry Barber and Tommy Bolt have already reserved a place in the field. All of these entries have around or better than $10,000 winnings to date this season to prove they mean business.

Smith Breaks Tie-Game Battle With Smashing 3-Run Homer; Giants, Brooklyn Meet Defeat

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankee fans who have been waiting restlessly but confidently for the Cleveland Indians to fold, look as if they are in for a long wait.

The Indians have two games left today and Sunday in their current invasion of Yankee Stadium but they could lose both of them by 20 runs and still leave town Sunday night with first place in their possession.

They beat the New Yorkers 8-2 Friday, coming from two runs behind while allowing the Yankees 24 hits.

It's true the Indians have settled for second best the last two seasons and that during that spell they found no sure way to halt the Yankees.

But only in 1953 were the Indians in first place this late in the race. That season Cleveland climaxed a drive from sixth by leading for three weeks late in August. But the climb wore out the Indians and they faded from the games off the pace in September.

BROKE TIE

Al Smith was the hitting star for the Indians, breaking the tie game with a three-run homer in the seventh and then driving in two more with a bases-loaded single in the ninth.

In other action in the American League the Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 7-1; Baltimore pushed Philadelphia into last place with a 7-5 victory and Washington beat Detroit 8-3, leaving the Senators only two percentage points out of first division.

In the National League, the New York Giants lost their second straight game—the first time since May 29-30 - they've been beaten twice running—and second place Brooklyn also lost.

Milwaukee edged the Giants 3-2, St. Louis defeated Brooklyn 4-3, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 7-4 and Chicago and Philadelphia split a doubleheader, Chicago won the first game 7-5. The Phils took the second, 6-3 in 10 innings.

The Braves' fans saw their favorites win on a pinch single with two out in the ninth by Bobby Thomson, who was making his first appearance against his former New York teammates. Thomson's hit was his third in four official times at bat since he broke his ankle in spring training. Bob Buhl flashed his form of last season in going the distance for his second success.

ROOKIE GOT THREE

Rookie Joe Cunningham helped Vic Raschi win his first game since June 15 as he drove in three runs with a double and triple. Gil Hodges and Sandy Amoros homered for the Dodgers.

Danny Schell of the Phils hit a home run in the first game and broke up the second in Chicago with a bases-loaded single in the 12th inning. Howie Pollet, making his first appearance since July 11, was the first game winner. Robin Roberts picked up the second game decision in relief.

The Pirates' victory was their first this season in Cincinnati's Crosley Field. Sid Gordon broke up a 4-4 tie with a pinch homer in the seventh inning.

Cincinnati's collected three hits as the White Sox began picking up the pieces after losing three of four to the Yankees. Harry Dorish, making only his second start, picked up his division title. Connie Ieles relief support from Virgil Trucks after seven innings.

The Senators clubbed on Al Aber of the Tigers for five runs in the first inning and Chuck Stobbs never gave Detroit a chance to catch up. Roy Sievers hit a two-run homer, his 16th, for Washington.

The Orioles, losers in 15 of their last 17 games, found some one they could beat when they tangled with the Athletics. Chuck Diering's two-run single in the sixth provided the winning margin.

Karpuk Threatens Legal Action Against Riders

OTTAWA (CP)—Halfback Pete Karpuk, who now threatens to take legal action unless he is released by Ottawa Rough Riders, accepted verbally the Big Four football club's last offer, president Dave Gill said Friday.

"We had him in here a couple of months ago and he accepted our terms," Gill said. "However, he left town before we could sign him up. Apparently he has received a better offer from some other club."

Gill was commenting on a report from Kitchener quoting Ron Reid, Preston lawyer, as saying Karpuk plans legal action against Rough Riders to obtain his release.

Meanwhile, coach Clem Crowe said Ottawa has tried to trade Karpuk to Hamilton and Toronto of the Big Four, but neither club would offer anyone Rough Riders could use. The club was willing to arrange a trade since Karpuk did not want to play here.

"It must be a sick" shrdl burdlnu not want to play here.

"There is no point in keeping a player around who want to play for us," Crowe said. Karpuk was signed by the last Oct. 17 after a row with Crowe, but apparently the difficulties were ironed out when met members of the club's executive earlier this summer.

Gill said Reid's letter on behalf of Karpuk, asking for a release, was received by Jean P. McCaffery, former club president and member of the executive. The letter was acknowledged and will be studied by the executive next week.

Until then, Gill said he prefers to withhold any comment.

Cricketers Win First Game In England

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Canadian cricket team Friday scored an eight-wicket victory in its English debut, overhauling the Hampstead Cricket Club's declaration of 178 runs with 20 minutes of play left.

In trouble at the lunch break with 140 Hampstead runs for only three of 12 wickets, Canadian skipper Basil Robinson of Vancouver brought back pace bowlers Hal Padmore of Montreal and Brian Christen of Toronto, who finally routed the heart of the Hampstead batting order. Hampstead declared after nine wickets had gone. Added to Christen, three to Padmore and one to Bill Hendy of Vancouver—less than an hour before tea.

Canadian openers Tom Reberty and Bob Quinton, both of Vancouver, scored seven and 27 runs before being out leg before wicket and stumped respectively. Then Ken Trestrail of Toronto and Jim Cameron of London, Ont., opened up decisively, lashing the Hampstead attack for more than 100 runs.

After scoring 66, which included 10 fours against a widespread defensive field, Trestrail was caught and Cameron followed by the same route at 45 with the score 187. Ed Burn of St. Catharines, and Harry Bullen of Calgary added the few runs required.

"I am very, very pleased," said Robinson, who played despite a sore back. It was Canada's second victory on three matches against Hampstead since 1922. The Londoners won the first, but dropped the second in 1936.

Today the team, first official touring squad ever sent to Britain by the Canadian Cricket Association, takes on Lord Cornwallis' team at Maidstone, Kent.

Pitching—Bob Buhl, Milwaukee, held, New York to eight hits as the Braves nipped the Giants 3-2.

Batting—Al Smith, Cleveland, hit a three-run homer with the score tied in the seventh inning to spark the Indians to an 8-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Will Probe Expense Rumors

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Lawn Tennis Association is making an investigation of rumors and hints that excessive expense demands of top-flight players brought about the withdrawal of the mid-Atlantic championships at Baltimore.

Reginald McMann, first vice-president of the USLTA, said he will be trying to reach officials of the Baltimore meet, scheduled to start on Monday but dropped during the past week, to learn if such published reports are true.

The reports had it that an unidentified player demanded $400 as living expenses for the one week of the Baltimore tourney.

McMann said wholesale suspensions would be in order if the printed reports are true.

Whipper, Paul, Win and Lose In Wacky Riot of Wrestling

BY GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

"Who Hoppened?" Who won? Fifteen hundred "freaks" fans would like to know the answer.

It was a jolly old wingding in Memorial Arena last night that saw both tag-teams of Whipper Billy Watson and Paul Ballargeon, and the Mighty Ursus and his "portly pal George Bolitess, neé The Zebra, given the nod of victory.

There were gentlemen in white" said to have been the referees, "Bunny" Dunlop, corpulent arbiter, joined the Whip-Paul contingent with Sammy Vaska, Master of Ring Ruse, Golfing tie-his tot with the villainies, the Ursus and the Zebra.

"Bunny" was not averse to laying some solid smashes on the swarthy puss of the Mighty Mexican at times, and at others he draped a few sweets on the weenie of the Zebra, Steve.

On the other hand the streamlined Samuel, who monkeyed every move, kept his optics glued on the Whip-Paul pair and he dealt out "justice" with a fickle fist.

The climax came in the third fall after the Whip and Paul had been flopped in the first, and "corkscrewed" the Zebra but good in the second. Came a jolly old brawl in the Ursus corner. The Whip piggy-backed Gollop and landed ilk, Hop-a-Long Cassidy mounting his galloping nag, on the Zebra.

Somehow Mr. Gollop got mixed up in the melee and he spun a pretext are before landing on the south side of his lap outside the ropes.

Enley Le Bunny, The Whip had the striped one on the canvas beating the bejabers out of him, when Sammy flopped down, bounced once or twice and began the hount of victory. Mr. Gollop flew back in the ring like a banty rooster over the fence, and stopped the Dunlopian flat as it swung in midair for the third thump of victory.

JOLLY OLD BRAWL

Six men stormed in the ring as Gollop held high the flipper of the Ursus. Fingers pointed and fists clenched as boys started pushing one another around and the faithful milled around the ringside. The Ursus and the Zebra left the ring. So did the referees.

The Whipper and Paul waited, and so did the crowd. Nothing happened and no one put in an appearance for several minutes when the gong got restless and began clamoring for action.

In the meantime, our "ringside columnist" reports that Lost Bunny and Le Samui were engaged in a jolly old bout of wrestling in the corridors of the emporium. In fact he said a limb of the law had to put a stop to it when he also stated that when Sammy finally broke away from her he took part of the Dunlop panties with him.

In any event "Bunny" finally put in an appearance, walked to the ring and held the Whipper's hand high in token of victory.

Ursus and the Zebra applied plenty of argument to the Whip and Paul in the first fall that saw the Zebra given the French Canadian with his flying drop after serving out some heavy body slams.

The Whip and Paul came back strongly in the second fall with first Watson then Paul— tossing the foemen willy-nilly out of the ring. Then the Whip applied the new "corkscrew hold" that put the Zebra's arm in a reasonable facsimile of a pretzel.

La Dunlop awarded the fall to Whip and the Zebra writhed around the ring with his twisted arm. The Whipper obliging "uncorkscrewed" it for him when the Zebra lesped at him in simulated fury. The Whip promptly applied the "screw" again and that was that.

The Zebra appeared in the ring for the third fall with his arm still trying to scratch the back of his neck from between his leg, and the Ursus took over. Came the wing-ding and the show was over.

Timmy Geohagen and Ski Hi Lee battled to a lively draw in the semi with Ray Villmer teaching Lee "The Lee" Henning in the opener.

Guelph Loses To Elgins; Panthers Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

If St. Thomas Elgins finish first in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Guelph - Waterloo Royals should get an assist.

The Elgins have lost only two of their 10 meetings with Guelph-Waterloo—the most victories any club has chalked up against the last-place Royals. St. Thomas won their eighth of the season from the Royals in Guelph Friday night—a 7-4 decision in which three St. Thomas pitchers combined to hold the Elgins to two hits.

In the only other game at Kitchener Johnny Maldovan won his eighth consecutive victory as the Panthers defeated Brantford Red Sox 7-5 in a game studded with nine errors.

Bob Penny held the Royals to one hit for eight innings in Guelph but suffered them nine walks before he was relieved. Penny, however, received the victory. Doc Glenn and Butch Lawing helped the victory with bases-empty homers. Herm Mason and Jim St. Louis both hit doubles and each knocked in two Elgin runs.

SEVENTH DEFEAT

Gord Arias, Guelph reliever, was charged with the defeat—his seventh against two wins.

Because of the rash of errors in Kitchener only seven of the 12 runs were earned. The Panthers scored three unearned tallies due to the five Brantford errors.

Charlie Wolf, who had three hits in four trips to the plate, knocked in two Kitchener runs in his ninth home run of the season. Wolfner Fields plated three runs for the Sox.

Maldovan, who has yet to be defeated, struck out 13 batters to run his string to 73 in the eight games. Harry Silver suffered the loss, his third against nine victories.

Two Nickel Belt Senior League games were played at Sudbury. Copper Cliff Redmen increased their winning streak to six consecutive games by walloping the league-leading Creighton Indians 14-3 and Sudbury Shamrocks defeated the last-place Frood Tigers 7-3.

London Majors play a double-header at Brantford tonight. Kitchener has a twin bill at St. Thomas and Guelph will play a pair with the Terriers at Galt.

Virdon Leads Wings to Win; Leafs Keep Pace

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bill Virdon's prolific hitting Friday night helped Rochester Red Wings keep within hailing distance of the pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs in the eight International League pennant race.

Virdon leads the club in runs batted in, doubles, triples, home runs, runs batted in and third in the league's batting averages. His triple and double, driving in three RBIs, led the Red Wings to a 10-4 victory over Buffalo Bisons Friday night.

Toronto, meanwhile, remained three games ahead of Rochester by downing Syracuse Chiefs 9-6.

In the only other game, Ottawa Athletics scored their second straight victory over Richmond Virginians 9-4.

Rochester pounded out a seven-run lead in the first four innings against four Buffalo hurlers, Cretin, Picone, Lary to rookie Dorish. Dorish lander Larry Jackson, who needed late inning help from Ario Picone, to save the win.

Tommy Burgess drilled a three-run homer off Cretin and lost-Earl Harriet, who lost his eighth in nine decisions.

Scoring six runs in the first inning, Toronto held off a Syracuse rally in the late innings as Eddie Blake gained his ninth victory of the season.

Jim Greengrass, who started for the Chiefs, walked five and was charged with the first-inning runs. Reliefer Thornton Kipper, recently acquired from Philadelphia Phillies, gave up a pair of runs in the second. Bob Bowman and Jack Mayo hit three-run homers for the Chiefs in the sixth and seventh innings.

A two-run single by Jake Sprulli in the third inning gave Ottawa's pitcher Osie Van Brabant his first win in two decisions. It was the Virginians' 21th one-run loss this season.

Odds and Ends in the Outdoors

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(United Sportsman, Author and Creator of Salmar Lures).

As my mail comes in week after week, there are often items of interest that may possibly escape the notice of many readers of the newspapers. Accordingly, I collect these items that I find interesting and then pass them along.

(If you have to depend upon unposted land for your hunting each fall, as most of us do, I'm sure that you will be interested in this one. Out in Greenfield, Illinois a farmer named Jo (that's the way he spells it) Valentine.

Mr. Valentine points out that there are 70 million acres which are responsible for the production of our annual crop surpluses on which farmer-subsidies are paid. He suggests that this surplus acreage be retired from use.

Then, instead of the government paying out good money for surplus crops, most of which go to waste anyway, the farmers could be paid the same amount on their retired acres. This acreage would be open for hunting and shooting.

The benefits would be three-fold: the farmer would maintain his normal income with less work; the hunter would have available to him a decided increase in recreational space; and the game, in grower-over ji fields, would find much-needed extra food and cover.

Visionary, you say? Well, maybe. But think it over a bit. Surely it makes far more sense than do the huge piles of rotting potatoes that I saw the last time I hunted in South Dakota—potatoes for which the farmer had been paid. Although there never was a Jo Valentine may have a real good idea.

DUCK-STAMP FUNDS

A few years ago, you duck hunters will recall that the price of the federal duck stamp was raised from $1.00 to $2.00. The purpose of this increase in duck-stamp revenue was to enable the government to acquire, as rapidly as more urgently needed water-fowl lands.

During the debate, attending a recent debate in the House, Congressman Lee Metcalf pointed out that as a result of diverting this money from the sale of duck stamps was not being used wisely in a manner prescribed by law.

As of June 30, 1953, almost $36,000,000 had been collected from this source. Of this sum, only $3,403,000 was used for the purchase of waterfowl lands—about 10 per cent.

While he was explaining the budget estimates of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service to the appropriations committee last January, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay told them: "The program for fiscal year 1955 will be as approximately the same level as during the current year, since the reduction in direct appropriations will be offset by greater use of the permanent appropriation for management and investigations (and) by a reduction in the land-purchase programs."

The italics are mine. The duck stamp funds are numbered among the permanent appropriations. In other words, Mr. McKay proposes to divert these funds into routine operations (some of which never were intended) and away from land-purchase, which was the purpose for which the funds originally were created).

Boiling it down, the sports men (who buy the duck stamps) are being taken for suckers—kicking for something that they are not getting.

BIG DAM BUILDERS

Quite evidently, the Army Engineers are wrong again—this by their own admission. Mrs. Edward Beecher, formerly of Bonne Terre, Missouri, writes for the Washington (Missouri) Citizen that their new project is going to cost over $86,000,000 to protect St. Louis from floods—a cost so outrageous as to make the famous Pick-Sloan Plan's a failure.

He points out that the expenditure of billions—that's right, billions—of dollars on dams that Missouri River hasn't worked out quite as expected.

It is about time, he continues, for Congress to call a halt upon the Army Engineers' wasteful spending of money on dams that do not produce great quantity of firm power nor do they stop floods.

The war record of the Engineers is an enviable one; viewed from where I sit, their peacetime bigdam record is not.

During recent years, we have learned more and more conclusively that intelligent watershed management is the true answer to flood prevention, whereas big dams do the job only partially, if at all.

There is an old saying about the shoemaker sticking to his last. I'm not sure that it won't apply to the Engineers.

OUTBOARD MOTORS

Reports from the makers of outboard motors are not a little disturbing to a fellow who was brought up, boatwise and canoewise, to depend upon oars, paddles, and a push-pole to supply the motive power on fresh-water lakes and rivers. Now we learn that the outboard builders are in a going great guns and that the supply can't seem to keep pace with the demand.

Time was when an outboard was generally referred to as a "put put." Not any more. Now the racket they make is a heavy roar or, in the case of racing-motors, a high-pitched whine—and I can find such disturbance in the great outdoors distinctly unpleasant.

I really, of course, that nobody can stand successfully in the path of progress. Outboards are here and folks like to use them. Down in the Florida Keys, where once a fellow could go fishing in peace and quiet, the big 25-horse jobs now prevail. During the season it is a large order to find an untrammeled water thereabouts.

To be sure, it is nice to be able to go from here to there in a hurry. But why hurry? Fishing is or should be, a contemplative pastime in which hurry should not be included. Right now, I'd be more than content to reply upon oars, paddles and push-poles if the other fellow would do the same and leave his motor at camp.

What's more, scientists to the contrary notwithstanding, we'd all get better fishing.

Woodbine Track

TORONTO (CP)—Symbol Allen charged from the outside No. 8 post position Friday to win his feature B and CC pace in the 17th day of Woodbine Raceway's 35-day meeting.

A 13-year-old, black gelding, Symbol Allen notched his ninth victory in 11 starts this season.

Driven by W. L. Ireland of Smiths Falls, Symbol Allen had much steam in his old bones for the spotlight three-year-old named Stewart's Gallen, owned by George Lathy of Guelph, and won in a driving finish. The old-timer was a 4-1 mutuel choice, against 2-1 on Stewart's Gallen.

The daily double returned $17.60 for a day of low prices generally. Veliblaze, owned and driven by Albert Simon of Wilmington, N.C., won the first race, paying $8.80 and Peter S. Grattan, owned by C. Jacob and L. Brown of Clinton, returned $6.20 in winning the second.

Canadian Rider Hurt But Not Discouraged

LONDON (CP)—It takes more than cracked ribs, unfamiliar track conditions and consistent misfortune to discourage Shirley Thomas, Ottawa's slim young rider.

The plucky 19-year-old blonde has been in almost constant pain since she fell in an early event at the White City international horse show. Since then she has placed in only one event, despite a week's hard riding.

Friday, however, resting for her last ride at the big outdoor London stadium, she showed no signs of being downhearted.

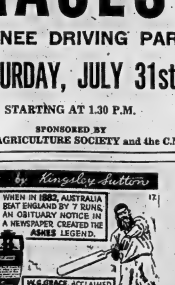
"I just want another crack at them," she grinned, referring to the top riders of England, France and Germany.

White Sable, a big thoroughbred gelding, and Princess Mary, a palomino mare, are Miss Thomas' two mounts.

She admitted that the White City course has been one of the toughest things in the six-day competition, which ends today.

"Out of 15 jumps on each course, I've seen two before in Canada.

"The horses have never seen theater lights before and they had a hard at them before they go over."



Miss Thomas was reluctant to discuss her injury, suffered Monday in a fall from Princess Midas, except to say that her mount had had since she started riding at age four.

In Thursday's Prince of Wales Cup competition, top team event of the show, she collected only 12 faults in two rounds. The other Canadian riders, Jim Elder, Miss Pat Pady and Ms]. Larry McGuinness, all of Toronto, took more than 40 faults apiece.

BY SAM GORDON
The Minister

The bidding vocabulary is confined to only 15 words. A consistent style of bidding combines them for describing as many types of hands as possible. So, combinations are not duplicated unnecessarily.

An opening of two in a suit shows nine tricks and is forcing to game. So an opening bid of two no-trump is used for another purpose. It is to promise eight winners at no-trump and it not forcing.

But it tells partner there is a game in no-trump if he can help out with his high card. With such a high card he is asked to go to game in no-trump. Without it he may pass.

There once was the deal shown here:

NORTH
♠10 8 5 4
♥9 2
♦6 2 4
♣A 7 3

WEST
♠Q 3
♥K 7 6 5
♦Q 10 7 2
♣J 10 9 8

EAST
♠A 7 6
♥10 7 6 5 4
♦3 5
♣5 4 2

SOUTH
♠K J 2
♥A Q 3
♦A K J 8
♣A Q 6

The bidding went like this:

South	North
2 No-Trump	3 No-Trump

South had a biddable diamond suit to show. If he had as many as nine tricks he could have opened with a bid of two diamonds; a forcing to game bid in something.

However, this would have forced north to keep bidding even if he had nothing. And south had too many possible losers to guarantee a sound game with no help at all from his partner.

South might have opened with one diamond. But this would have permitted north to pass if he had less than three tricks. Whereas, anything more than nothing in north might help produce game.

For this reason a good system has a compromise bid that comes between the two extremes. It is an opening bid of two no-trump. This asks partner to bid if he has at least one high card.

North has such a high card. Even with nothing more than that it is enough for game try. Three no-trump in response shows it.

With club-jack lead look twice and make it.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, JULY 25, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A good day to seek and to grant favors, to aid in charity drives, to work for hospitals and all just and humane causes. But first, think of your religious services. Good fun in its place.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — As for Aries, this day favors all wholesome activities but it also warns against recklessness and risks to health and assets. You who must work, do so cheerfully; it can be pleasant.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Now about tending to some personal obligations—letter writing, phone calls, visits to the lonely or ill. First your church and family duties. Day can, should, be happy depending upon you.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Sound judgment will be needed in many ways; also cheerful co-operation with family as well in business and personal relationships. Don't seek the impossible but do strive. And be happy.

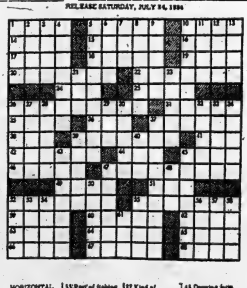
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Tone down enthusiasm to a sane tempo. There is a tendency now to over-aggressiveness, attempting too much for one's capacity. If work is not imperative, enjoy restful diversion.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Read Gemini today, please. Don't overdo in anything. Your church and prayers should come first. Inner contentment, derived from spiritual reflection, is very important to health, mind.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Mild but generally favorable influences for worthwhile interests, including recreation, social activities, and for reasonably advancing personal affairs. Enjoy religious services with family.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—This should be a restful, pleasant day for doing the little personal and homey tasks for which you don't always have time during the week. It's important, too, for you to keep your spiritual side strengthened.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—One of your best planetary days this month; nevertheless there are some restrictions to be thoughtful, accurate. You should have a happy day.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Be suspicious for unnecessary laborious work or doing things not in accord with the Lord's Day. But, on the whole, routine interests (and, of course, religious services), recreation are favored.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Avoid sudden, unwarranted changes in plans, when things are running smoothly. Maintain a moderate pace in all matters. This does not mean to worry or forgo a pleasant schedule.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Extra care suggested in all water activities; also handling beverages, chemicals, oils. Fine outlook for social and church affairs; neighborhood, homey activities.

YOU BORN TODAY are versatile, sensitive and very domestic. You have a delightful personality, showing sincerity, kindness, entertaining qualities. You may have to curb a tendency to argue, thus bringing about unpleasant discussion, causing others to be hurt and yourself misunderstood. You can attain an enviable place in business, a profession, at a trade or a religious calling. If you study and aim for that goal. Birthday: Arthur James (Earl) Balfour, British statesman, writer.

Stewart Warner Upsets Bobcats By 8-4 Count

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Bill Hurst's Stewart Warner nines wound up their league play with a victorious last night, defeating the Bobcats for the second straight time by the 8-4 score. The last time these two clubs met the Warriors took a 6-5 win in a four point affair.

Failure to hit with most on bases proved to be about the only difference in the teams last evening as both clubs were about even in the pitching department and total hits as well as errors. The Bobcats left 13 men stranded on the base paths but often came up with a hit when the necks were empty or there were two out.

Four tallies in the second frame by the winners just about told the story as the Eddie Hunter coached crew fought hard going up hill all the way. Stewart Warner added three more in the third, two in the fifth and pushed another home in the sixth for the frame while singletons in the third and fifth with a pair in the eighth accounted for the Bobcat markers.

Starter Jack Canning failed to go the necessary five innings, compulsory to gain credit for a win, however, he did pitch six and a-half-innings before he left. The win went to reliever Frank Bedford for his 2 2-3 innings work. Dip Young completed the game when Baldwin was hit by a foul ball while at bat in the eighth inning. Between them they allowed nine base hits while getting three on strikes and walking nine.

Buck Burnside led off for the Cats and took the loss in 4 1-2 frames while Wilson touched for eight hits, fanning two and issuing free passes to four. Jack Reid led the Bobcat attack with two hits off him, both of these coming in the fifth inning and whiffed five while walking the same number.

Four singles, three of them infield type, off the bats of Miller, Dracup and Bertram, who teamed with a walk and Bob Brooks' line drive behind the runners first four tallies. Two walks and base knocks by James and Brooks scored what proved to be the winner while a bunt single by Dracup, two more passes walks and a long fly ball made it 7-1 in the fifth. Dracup and Miller were responsible for the ninth with his while a walk to Bert Reid proved the important part in scoring the run.

Ken Dussbury's single to open the ninth was the only hit safely as he scored later on a short passed ball. Dip Young's single to Temple's single among a trio of walks for another run in a lost cause. Baldwin's two bob tally in the eighth with a triple scoring Norman Hatfield and ended the fourth run on Temple's infield out but that was all as the Bobcats lost the 14th decision in 17 outings.

Skippy Young paced the winners at bat with three bunt singles while Hatfield had a double and single. Chick James and Shorty Miller did their bit with two safeties each. Bertram had the other hit, a single.

Ken Dussbury was charged with the wood" in defeat as he pounded out a triple and two singles while Jack Reid collected two. Fitzpatrick doubled. Temple, Doran and Hatfield also hit safely.

Stewart Warner: Brooks, T. Hatch, Ashley, Miller, Dracup, Bertrim, D. Murray, James, Nicholls, Canning, Baldwin, Dip Young.

Bobcats: Tobin, Dussbury, Fitzgerald, Whalen, Bone, Temple, Doran, Hatfield, McBride, Logue, Burnham, Reid.

Line score R H E
S. Warner 0 4 0 0 2 0 1 0 0 — 8 10 0
Bobcats 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 3 0 — 4 9 3

Canadiana Wins At Jamaica

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadiana, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, scored her first victory of the season Friday by capturing the Rippon purse, a six-furlong allowance test for fillies and mares, at Jamaica Race Track.

Halbert May Surprise World With Mile Win

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Landy, the smooth-running Australian who startled the athletic world with a mind-boggling 3:58.5 mile, went the full mile distance Friday for the first time since he reached Vancouver 10 days ago to prepare for the British Empire Games.

He ran it in 4:18.5 and he did it twice—in 4:18.5 and 4:18.5.

Until Friday Landy had been satisfied to work out under the quarter mile and half mile distances. He ran the 440 in :53 and under and was so precise with his timing in the 880 that he did it four successive times in exactly 1:58.0, all in one morning workout.

Landy's first mile warm-up brightened the scene in the Sunday arrival of England's Roger Bannister, whose 3:59.6 made him the first man to crack the four-minute mile.

SPECULATE ON UPSET

There is much speculation in Empire circles, where the 24-year-lster from 25 countries make their homes, that someone else may upset all the records now being established with the big mile. The games run from July 30 to Aug. 7, and the fate of the mile will be on the last day. Heats are scheduled for Aug. 5.

One of the men most prominently mentioned is Murray Halberg of New Zealand, winner of the 1954 Benjamin Franklin mile at Philadelphia in April. Halberg the New Zealand mile record of 4:05.8, made at Auckland last Feb. 23.

Another miler who is being neglected in the speculations is Victor Hamalainen of Finland. In the run at Belfast this summer he ran the mile in 3:58.7. Against that array, Canada's Bill Farnell of Vancouver hasn't been mentioned. Nevertheless, Farnell was the winner, in 4:11.6 at the British Empire Games in New Zealand.

There are hints that the New Zealanders have a lot of points in the rowing events and sprint relays, but little is known about them but they are concentrating on single and double sculls, fours and eights and women's eights.

Meanwhile, Canada's track and field athletes are doing comparatively easy in light workouts, warming up for time trials scheduled for next week. Coaches will watch individual performances critically.

A few minor casualties among Canada's cyclists turned up Friday. Ken Lovell, Vancouver, got a chest cold and was given the day off.

Terry Gamble and Lorne Atkinson of Vancouver had minor abrasions and bruises, Gamble's elbows and hips as the result of a spill. Gordon Grosvenor said he will get extra mattresses for the boys' beds—for easier sleeping and to minimize any pain from the bruises.

Minor Baseball

Vaughan's defeated the C.N.R. squad by a 9-4 score in a bantam game played at C.N.R.A.A. Park last evening.

Gord Vaughan picked the complete game for the winners, allowing four hits while Pat Asselstine was tagged for seven base knocks by the winners.

Plane led Vaughan's at bat with a double and two singles with two singles with two hits each for Belanger, Vaughan and Kerrish. Asselstine had a double for C.N.R.

On The Football Fronts

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Carl Voyles topped two United States imports off his Hamilton Tiger-Cats roster Friday. There's a native Canadian around who would like to fill one of the gaps but he's currently having difficulties with another club over the matter of a contract.

Pete Karpuk says he will see Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four club doesn't give him his outright release so he can play elsewhere.

Karpuk now is getting accustomed to his duties as playing manager of Galt Terriers of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League. The Toronto-born athlete once played for the Maple Leafs in the International basketball loop.

Coach Clem Crowe, meanwhile, said he had tried to trade Karpuk to Hamilton and Toronto Argonauts but neither club was willing to swap any players the Rider could use.

The case, Karpuk said, will go to the courts if the Ottawa club doesn't turn him loose by next Wednesday.

The players released by Voyles were Charlie Fox, 26-year-old guard from the University of Illinois, and Charlie Zahn, who came to Hamilton directly from Fort Wayne, Ind., high school, New Jersey.

In the Western intercollegiate Football Union, Edmonton Eskimos will be holding their first full-scale scrimmage tonight.

Eaks' number one wing line is practising so far has been Hugh Keys at centre, Jim Quandamatteo and Roger Nelson at guards, Lorne Manley and Jim Weatherall in the tackle spots and Frankie Anderson and Gilmer Spring on the ends.

Nelson, weatherall and Spring are newcomers. Nelson played so for first string guard Frankie Morris, his fourth co-captain out with a gimpy knee.

A Montrealer, Ross McCallum, looks like the best of the backfield crop of the prospects. He played last year with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

An ex-Eskimo, picked up on waivers by the Calgary Stampeding Roughriders, was out for practice in Regina Friday night after flying in from Texas. He was released by the U.S. army Wednesday.

Couch Frank Filchock has an injured lineman in hoosier Art McEwan, but the guard was still practising in spite of a shoulder he dislocated last season. Halfback Karl Hildinger, a junior from Moosomin, is holding with an ankle injury and missed the practice.

Aside from his hassle with Karpuk, Eskimo coach Jack Neilsen, Bob Westlake, a former Calgary fullback, under-water instructor in Ottawa Friday night for torn knee ligaments suffered in a workout Monday. Doctors hope he may not be ready for action by October and that will be too late.

Regents Bow To Wellington By 13-11 Score

Bryson Reid Regents went down to a 13-11 defeat before Johnny Howard's Wellington Dukes in a Belleville District Baseball League game at Exhibition Park last night.

The Dukes put the game away in the sixth when they exploded for five runs off four hits and then quelled a threatening Regents' rally in the eighth when Reid's boys shoved over a "too little and too late" pair of markers.

Abbott went the route for the Dukes and was hit freely, giving up eleven hits, two of them two-baggers by Bobby Hodgson. The game was crammed with errors, the two clubs committing eight while the Regents came up with thirteen miscues.

Drummond started for the Regents and lasted until the sixth when Dukes beat him out of it. He was relieved by Bill Dall but it was not his night and before the inning was over Stoddart took over the mound chore.

The Regents chalked up two runs in the first innings, added four in the third and three in the fourth and two in the sixth. The Dukes scored a single in the first and two each in the fourth and fifth stanzas. They erupted for five in the sixth and threw in a single in the eighth and a pair in the ninth. Stephens and Bobby Hill had the only singles for the Regents with Casey and Bird getting a pair each. Scott, Fox and Drummond had singles.

Selder had three singles and Bryant two to lead the Dukes' attack.

The score:
R H E
Wellington 100 225 012—13 14 8
Regents 304 300 020—11 11 13
Batteries: Abbott and Vanderburg; Drummond, Dall, Stoliker and Wallbridge and Elliott.

Hunter Hurls Two-Hitter In Point Anne Win

FRANKFORD (Special) — The Point Anne Cement Co. senior nines of at least a tie for first place in the Belleville and Bobby Hunter hurled them to a 2-1 victory over the Frankford Merchants in Frankford.

The Co-pointers have one more game to play with the Bobcats this Tuesday evening and a win would give them a 16-3 record, one game better than Norm Hecker's accumulated over the league season.

Hunter was at his best last evening as he set the Merchants down on two singles while whiffing ten and walking only two. He hit two other batters. Doug Hunter was the loser, allowing, being touched for six hits, one a home run by big John Green. Hunter also helped his cause, being touched for six hits, one a home run by big John Green. Hunter also helped his cause, batting safely twice in three trips to the plate.

The winners went to work fast for their runs, getting three in the first frame on a single and another pair home in the third for their only scoring. Frankford Merchants got their only pair home in the third for a 2-1 lead. Frankford scratched both their markers in the sixth on a trio of costly errors and one of their two hits, a single.

John Green's homer was the only extra base hit of the affair as Point Anne singles went to Gilmour, Leif Goyer, Wade, Hunter and Bill Strahan. Leavitt and Cooke were the Merchant's hitters.

Line score:
R H E
Pt. Anne 301 000 000—4 5 2
Frankford 000 002 000—2 2 2
Hunter and Green; Radner and Whitney, Murphy (6).

British Papers Think Churchill May Soon Retire

LONDON (AP)—Anthony Eden's prominent role as peacemaker in Geneva stirred speculation today that Prime Minister Churchill may soon relinquish one of his half-apparent foreign secretary.

The Daily Sketch, a strong supporter of Churchill's Conservative government, said this may have been the reason Eden had an audience Thursday night with the Queen.

Most observers thought the Queen called the foreign secretary to Buckingham Palace to congratulate him on his part in working out the Indo-China cease-fire. But such an audience also could mean that the 79-year-old Churchill has recommended Eden to the Queen as his successor.

ONE DETERRENT

The News Chronicle, a Liberal paper, spent considerable secretary lament per speculating that Churchill "may regard this as the right time to hand over to Mr. Eden."

"The foreign secretary is back from Geneva with his prestige enhanced. Sane negotiations are well under way and Washington talks have repaired many rifts in Anglo-American friendship."

The Times of London added, however, that "one powerful influence exerts against the prime minister leaving Downing street now—his desire to seal his period of office with a summit meeting of the Big Three."

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror, which for months has been urging Churchill to step down, complained today:

"Still Sir Winston clings to office.

"He does a great disservice to Eden, his chosen successor, standing in the light for so long."

Say Men Beat Horse With Club For Two Hours

KITCHENER (CP) — Two Magairs district men were accused in court Thursday of beating a horse by beating it with a club for two hours.

The case was remanded for a week for additional testimony when one of the men, Enos B. Martin of Elmira, said traces were used and not a club.

Accused with Martin is Henry M. Bauman of Elmira. Both pleaded guilty to cruelty to the horse, causing it unnecessary suffering.

Wallace Koegler, Humane Society inspector, said that in response to an anonymous letter he visited the Martin farm and asked if Martin had had a horse which died.

He quoted Martin as saying the horse was "a kicker" and an attempt had been made to "break it in." Koegler said Martin admitted a club had been used and the beating lasted two hours.

Bauman is said to closely tied to Russia as to be virtually a province, has had a dizzying series of shake-ups since Stalin's death, but emerged from all was the reappointment of Vullo Chervenkov as premier. There is no record available as to who is first party secretary, but it's not Chervenkov.

Communist parties and governments of the European satellite countries have just finished making themselves into the pattern dictated by Moscow. The result throws new light on Kremlin leadership.

The pattern adopted by the satellites, always obedient to Moscow, hints that there has been a quiet showdown inside the Kremlin. There is new evidence that Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, wields the real power, not Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Moscow laid down the new pattern last September, when the Soviet regime appeared to have regained its balance after the purge of secret police chief Lavrenti Beria and his followers. Then Khrushchev became master of the party of the Soviet party, a job which, according to the Soviet Communist constitution, retinquished.

The party chairmanship is a big or great power. Stalin used it to make himself dictator. Until the Second World War, Stalin preferred to separate the jobs of general secretary and premier. He relinquished before the war was held by V. M. Molotov, certainly no rival of Stalin for dictatorship.

OTHERS FOLLOW SUIT

Soon after the Soviet change last September, Czechoslovakia's Communists adopted the same pattern. Antonin Novotny gave up his government job and became party first secretary. He more demonstrated he was the real boss by delivering a sharp dressing down to the party rank and file.

In Poland, Boleslaw Bierut, premier since 1952, gave up the government job and devoted himself to being first party secretary. He has been Poland's No. 1 Communist since the war.

Rumania's Redic fell into line when Premier Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej resigned his other post, party secretary-general—and Gheorghe Apostol became "first secretary." Gheorghiu-Dej remained premier.

In Hungary, the man known as "Old Potato Head," Matyas Rakosi, long the unchallenged boss, stepped out as premier, but kept himself named first secretary of the party two months ago.

Khrushchev, tough and realistic, is an agrarian of the normality the Soviet Union is seemingly trying to develop at the moment.

In the West, Khrushchev might be a far more dangerous adversary than Stalin was, just because of his realism. Unhampered by the fetishes which cluttered Stalin's mind, Khrushchev can move swiftly and decisively in whatever direction seems to him best to fit Soviet fortunes of the moment.

Stalin's stubbornness and bellicosity were responsible for such Western manifestations as the North Atlantic alliance and the projected European Defence Community. Khrushchev, by presenting a reasonable face to the world, could go and probably already has gone a long way toward dissipating fears of aggressive intentions and toward undermining Western unity against further Soviet expansion, whether by outward aggression or internal subversion.

If Khrushchev has his way, further Communist expansion will be as free as possible of direct risks to the Soviet Union. That means no overt act which might solidify outside opposition to the Communists.

"Time costs nothing" is an old Russian expression. Khrushchev is the sort of Russian who would go along with that.

Drew Will Stay As P.C. Leader, Hees Declares

HALIFAX (CP) — The national president of the Progressive Conservative Association said Friday there is no doubt that George Drew will lead the party in the next federal election fight against the solidly-entrenched Liberals.

George Hees said in an interview that a motion of no confidence in the opposition leader by the executive of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association "certainly does not" herald a trend that would end the six-year leadership career of the 60-year-old Drew.

"George Drew will lead the party in the next national election because he is admired by all of us in the party," Mr. Hees said.

Mr. Hees, in the middle of a "personal contact" swing through the Atlantic provinces, said there probably is no one else in the party organization today who could lead the Progressive Conservatives to victory.

Hees said the British Columbia resolution reflected a feeling that was purely local.

The motion was adopted Saturday at a stormy executive meeting in Vernon. Drew supporters walked out of the hall in anger when the outcome of the voting—40-36—was announced.

Notes Signal, Takes Sick Man To Hospital

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP)—Flying homeward in a helicopter over the wilderness just north of the Manitouwadge base metal area, Bill Waring sighted a strange white spot over his right shoulder. Changing direction, he headed towards it and saw a large tarpaulin spread on the ground. Ray Burns, engineer in charge, lit with pesuliens and awaiting transportation.

Within an hour Mr. Burns was in hospital here.

Births Reach Record High

OTTAWA (CP)—Births reached a record high in the first six months of this year, jumping eight per cent from last year's record total. Deaths were 2.6 per cent less and the number of marriages 1.5 per cent higher.

The Bureau of Statistics reported today that the number of births totalled 212,299 for the six months, up from 196,304 last year. There were increases in the provinces except Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Deaths declined to 63,649 from 65,239 in the first six months of 1953. Fewer deaths were recorded substance to this theory. Khrush-in all provinces except Quebec.

Lawyers' Meet Won't Discuss Hanging Penalty

TORONTO (CP)—An official of the Canadian Bar Association's Ontario section said Friday the parent body is showing "great distaste" to a large group of its members in not listing capital punishment as a major subject for discussion at the annual meeting in Winnipeg opening Aug. 30.

Arthur Maloney, chairman of the Ontario section's criminal justice committee, said the association's action "is depriving the parliamentary committee of the help it would derive in knowing the viewpoints of lawyers from coast to coast."

The Ontario group had discussed the issue and deferred it for further study at the Winnipeg conference.

However, John A. MacAulay of Winnipeg, president of the national body, has since announced the CBA council decided the subject was sufficiently studied by a special Commons - Senate committee last spring.

Plague of Army Worms Costs Farmers Huge Losses

TORONTO (CP) — A plague of army worms which has spread over a wider area than any other in Ontario's history, is costing farmers hundreds of thousands of dollars in crop losses.

A. H. Martin, director of the crops and seeds branch of the Ontario department of agriculture, said the worms have invaded eastern, central and southwestern farmlands of the province and have recently been found in the Lakehead area.

Though the area of infestation is growing than in previous years, the worms have not concentrated as densely in any area as in previous years, Mr. Martin said.

SOME HARD HIT

Hardest hit are the counties of Peel, Huron, Bruce, Perth, Grey, North and South Simcoe, Oxford and Renfrew. The ugly, inch-long worms, which get their name from the manner in which they "march" in rows across a field, have also showed up in the Fort William district.

In the Sudbury area the outbreak is considered so serious that farmers have been warned to check their properties and take immediate steps to control the caterpillar spreads of the insects.

As far west as Manitoba the pests have invaded grainlands, devouring whole fields of barley and oats. Heat deers don't suit their appetites and they leave it alone.

A variation of the common army worm is so destructive it can clean a field within a few hours. It is especially harmful this year because weather conditions are favorable to its growth, Mr. Martin said.

FEED AT NIGHT

The greenish-brown worm feeds in the late evening and at night and lays hidden under clods of earth during the daytime. It feeds by climbing plants and cutting the heads off grain.

The only antidotes are poison bait and spraying which have both proved effective. Aldrin, a new poison, has been shot into the test near Seaforth, about 25 miles northwest of Stratford, in the first field test of the poison in Canada.

Other defensive measures include spreading a mixture of bran, molasses and garis green.

Entomologists hold out some consolation for farmers, however. They say the outbreak will end in another week when the worms change themselves into pupa ground and prepare to become moths.

Farmers lost millions in crop losses during other serious plagues in 1949 and 1951.

'Fabulous Chou' Returning Home In Elated Mood

GENEVA (Reuters) — A cheerful, elated Chou En-lai, Chinese Communist prime minister, left by air Friday for Berlin on his way home from the conference which restored peace to Indo-China.

The Chinese leader will also visit Poland and Mongolia on his way back to Peking.

The "fabulous Mr. Chou," as the United States secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, called him during that Berlin four-power conference, was in figure in brilliant sunlation among the Asian countries based on the principles of mutual respect and peaceful coexistence. He is ready, he said, to join with other countries outside Asia who share the same aims.

Western observers interpret these remarks as the basis for a sustained campaign in Asia aimed at Canada, India and Burma to obtain his "conciliation" policy diplomatic recognition of governments that the Communists aim at military expansion and that defensive measures must be mustered to meet the threat.

Once, again, whom Dulles and other American delegates to the conference deliberately avoided meeting personally, developed a friendly relationship with Anthony Eden, the British foreign secretary, and with French Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

SENDS MISSION

One result of the improvement in Anglo-Chinese relations was that Communist China agreed at long last to send a diplomatic mission to London. Britain has been represented by a charge d'affaires at Peiping for several years.

Another result was the dispatch of the first Chinese Communist this month. A British mission will also go to China.

Find Taxi Driver Who Was Hired By Fugitives

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said Friday they have located a taxi driver who claims to have been hired by two women prisoners, one accused of murder, shortly after their midnight escape Tuesday from the Fullum street jail.

Gertrude Servant, 25, held in connection with the robbery murder of restaurateur E. J. McAbbe and 300-pound Georgette Tremblay, 41, escaped over a 16-foot wall after breaking a dining hall padlock.

Miss Tremblay was serving a five-year sentence for her part in an unemployment insurance racket.

Police said the women may have had inside help.

CRITICIZE JAILERS

Other police officials blasted jail authorities for failing to guard the prisoners more carefully. One said the red-headed Servant woman probably dyed her hair and changed her colfture.

Thursday, police investigated the possibility that male visitors to the jail may have aided the escape.

Police said one of Miss Servant's brothers visited her Monday and a male relative visited Miss Tremblay.

Britain Rejects Russia's Proposed Security System

Cabinet Studies Red Note Calling for Early Parley

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet met today and is reported to have decided Britain must reject Russia's proposal for a European security system as it stands now.

Informed sources said, however, Britain is likely to suggest that the Big Three Western allies should tell the Kremlin in reply:

1. Unless the Soviets have changed their stand on several basic issues affecting European security, the plan for an early East-West conference is unacceptable.

2. The Allies would be prepared to join a pan-European security system after, or as part of, a final German peace settlement. Such a settlement could be negotiated only if Russia accepted the principle of free, adequately prepared and supervised all-German elections.

COST TOO HIGH

3. The Allies are interested in a continental security system including Germany and nations but not at the cost of the Atlantic Pact or of the European Defence Community project.

Russia in notes to Britain, the United States and France called Saturday for an early conference of all European countries except the United States to discuss collective security. Red China should send observers, Russia suggested.

The foreign office would not comment officially on the proposal. A spokesman said Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden might make a short statement on it in the House of Commons very soon. Meanwhile Britain, the United States and France are arranging to set up a joint committee on each of their capitals to draft an answer to Moscow. In doing so the three countries will consult the West German federal republic, Austria and their partners in the Atlantic Pact.

ITALIAN INTEREST GROWS

A first move in the peace of Allied consultation on the subject already has been completed. Foreign ambassador Rene Massigli invited Eden to dinner tonight to discuss this question and also the plans of Prime Minister Pierre Mendes-France to try for early ratification of EDC.

Some British officials privately expressed the opinion that Russia's note was intended to make it more difficult for the French government to win parliamentary approval for EDC.

Transport Board Issues Permit For Gas Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP) — The board of transport commissioners today granted Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., a conditional permit to build a $300,000,000 natural gas pipeline from Alberta to eastern Canada.

The commissioners' decision allows Trans-Canada to go ahead with financing and other moves with a view to a start on construction by next spring. The 2,300-mile line—longer than any now in existence—would be completed by late 1956 under present plans.

It will run as far east as Montreal, bringing Canada's western Alberta gas to western communities along the route of the line to the prospective main market of Toronto and to many other Ontario centres including this Federal capital.

MORE

THE WEATHER

TORONTO. (CP) — Synopsis: Skies are clear across southern Ontario early this morning but afternoon cloudiness with a few isolated showers are forecast for this region, today and Tuesday. Scattered showers and thunder showers occurred across northern regions during the night and spread southward into central regions this morning.

Doukhobors Dynamite Rail Power Lines

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were blamed today for two more attempted dynamite blasts in interior British Columbia that damaged a railway line and a power line.

Police said the dynamiting of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Kettle valley line on the outskirts of Penticton and the blowing up of power line poles on a hill about northeast of here had all the earmarks of earlier terror raids by the radical sect that has kept B.C.'s Kootenay district in turmoil for more than 20 years.

Large numbers of Sons are known to reside in the two widely-separated blast areas, although Penticton is well outside the usual sphere of Doukhobor bombing and arson raids.

ARREST TWO

At Penticton, 100 miles west of here, police arrested four men Sunday for questioning in connection with the dynamite blast that ripped out several railway ties and slightly damaged one rail on the outskirts of the city. Police, who withheld names of the men, said no charges have been laid.

Traffic over the line was disrupted for further west into Vancouver, when fire destroyed a 356-foot wooden trestle bridge in Coquitalla pass. Railway officials said cause of the fire was not known but they stressed there was no incendiary aspect.

In the Beasely Bluffs area, 20 miles northeast of Trail, two power line poles were blown off their base but there was no interruption of service.

Police said poder-filled bicycle tubes were wrapped around the poles and then exploded.

Heroic Nurse Is Visiting U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The heroic French nurse of Dien Bien Phu arrived at La Guardia airport today as the guest of the United States.

Lieut. Genevve Galard-Terraube was taken immediately to the airport administration building for customs clearance.

The 28-year-old French Air Force nurse flew here from Paris Sunday night, headed for a round of receptions in a 19-day tour of the country.

Before leaving Paris, she told reporters she wanted no publicity during her visit—except on television as little as possible and planned to give no pictures.

She was invited by Congress to make the trip to the United States.

Die-Hard Who Called 'Times' Red, Sir Herbert Williams, M.P., Is Dead

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Sir Herbert Williams, one of Britain's best-known members of Parliament though he never attained high office, died in a London nursing home. He was 69.

A veteran of a quarter-century of British politics, Sir Herbert fought a dozen elections, probably more than any other contemporary politician except Prime Minister Churchill. He was first elected as a Conservative member in 1924 and quickly gained a reputation as an independent.

Sir Herbert always sat on the front bench below the gangway, a parliamentary position reserved by tradition for rebels. There he became a Conservative gadfly, raising constant points of order, baiting Labor members and making full use of supplementary questions.

He was a right-wing Conservative. But in 1940 Churchill once called him the "prince of reactionaries." In a 1941 debate Viscountess Astor, herself a Conservative, wheeled on him and said he was "one of the worst die-hards the world has ever known."

Sir Herbert also used forthright language. He called The Times newspaper a "threepenny edition" of the Daily Worker. He did this because it praised the wartime social security report by Lord Beveridge. He described the BBC as an "entirely Fascist institution," onto, was drowned in a cistern

U.S. NAVY PLANES SHOT DOWN TWO CHINESE FIGHTERS'

Were Attacked by Reds While on Rescue Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department reported today two United States Navy carrier planes shot down two Chinese Communist planes which attacked them while the Americans were searching for survivors of a British airliner.

A department announcement said there were no casualties on the American side, and emphasized that the Red planes made their attack "over the high seas."

The British airliner was shot down last Friday by two Communist propeller-driven planes. Ten of the 18 persons aboard were killed. Eight were rescued.

Today's announcement said: "The United States plans to protect most vigorously against this further evidence of Chinese Communist brutality and their belligerent interference with a humanitarian effort. Appropriate steps are conducted over the high seas."

The American fighters were from two United States aircraft carriers ordered into the area Saturday for "protective further rescue and search operations" launched after Chinese Communist fighters shot down the British Cathay Pacific airliner on its flight from Bangkok to Hong Kong.

The Communist radio announced today that the Peiping government was apologizing to Britain for the attack on the airliner. It said the Red pilots thought the plane was Chinese Nationalist.

Report Canada Will Accept Indo-China Armistice Post

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will officially accept membership on the Indo-China armistice commission in a day or two, informants said today.

They added that study of details of the commission's terms of reference and its job has shown that the commission is workable.

Previously, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Canada would serve on the commission with India and Poland if there was reasonable assurance that the commission could function effectively.

This assurance now has been supplied, informants said.

Earlier, the government accepted in principle membership on the commission but said it would require much more information on the commission's work and procedure before it could reach a final decision.

This decision is expected to be announced following a cabinet meeting Wednesday afternoon at which Prime Minister St. Laurent will be present.

It is expected that Canadian representatives will meet Indian and Polish delegates on the commission as soon as possible, probably in New Delhi. India is chairman.

Vietminh Attacks in South As Ho Promises 'Liberation'

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh forces stabbed southward in Viet Nam during the week - end, striking far below the dividing line set by the imminent cease-fire. The new attack, 180 miles northeast of Saigon, came as Peiping radio trumpeted a pledge by Red Vietminh chief Ho Chi Minh to "liberate" the lower half of the partitioned Indo-China state.

A French high command spokesman said the rebel attack in the south began Saturday. He said the Vietminh struck at Nha Trang, on the China sea coast. Rebel commandos assigned several bridges at Nha Trang after Vietminh artillery had bombarded the coastal town's defences.

Two Moncton Youths Speared By Angle Iron from Bridge

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two Moncton, N.B., teen-age boys, riding on a flat car, were impaled on iron spears through their car as it passed over a bridge, were among 26 persons to die violent deaths in eastern Canada during the week-end.

Drownings accounted for 12 fatalities. Traffic accidents took 11 lives. Three died by miscellaneous mishaps.

There were 13 violent deaths in Ontario, eight in Quebec, four in New Brunswick and one in Nova Scotia, a Canadian Press compilation showed.

The other boys were injured Saturday night at Moncton when their car was speared on the nearby Shediac bridge by a 30-foot strip of iron apparently loosened by traffic. Peter Chiasson, 19-year-old son of J. Clair Gaudry, managing editor of the Moncton Times-Transcript, and Douglas Pollock, 17, were the two killed as the iron plunged into the bridge footwalk, passed through the car's right front door and out the roof.

Seven persons were drowned in Ontario, Douglas Hawkins and Jack Lewis, both of Toronto, were drowned in Rice lake near Cobourg, when one of the men, a non-swimmer, tried to retrieve his wallet and the other tried to save him.

Earlier, the Viet Minh radio broadcast statements by both Ho and Vietminh Premier Pham Van Dong to the effect that south Viet Nam was only temporarily in French hands, regardless of the cease-fire.

Ho was quoted as saying 'the demarcation line does not mean the political and territorial border line. North, central and south Viet Nam are inseparable parts of the nation's tegritory. We assure the people of each region that they will be liberated."

The step-up of fighting in the south, just as the cease-fire is about to go into effect, appeared based on a Vietminh desire to show their strength in communist hands which will not be under their control.

REDS WILL LEARN MANY SECRETS FROM OTTO JOHN

West German Can Tell Where A-Cannon Placed

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—Otto John's presence in East Germany may allow the Russians to learn many of the West most vital secrets, Allied officials said here Saturday. These secrets include the location of United States atomic cannons in Germany.

The officials painted a grim picture of the consequences of the Bonn government chief's disappearance, pointing out that he had the complete confidence of the Western powers.

John's own officials here said Saturday that he had told them and their chief himself who had broadcast his "I went of my own accord" remarks from East Berlin Friday night. Jakob Kaiser, minister for all-German affairs, said he recognized Dr. John's voice.

The governments of Britain, the U.S. and France in a note to Allied diplomats here say this is an understatement.

BRAINWASHING TRUST

American sources said he was entrusted with screening all the top-German intelligence and flow of communications running through the southern sector of the American zone of Germany.

These include atomic cannon depots, aircraft, rocket bases, airfields and arms dumps. The area includes Kaiserslautern, west of the Rhine, is the Atlantic Pact's biggest forward base.

During his recent six-week visit to the United States John stayed with Allen Dulles, head of U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

John has worked closely with Britain for the past two years and it is no secret that British pressure tipped the scale when Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was in doubt about appointing him security chief.

The last man to see John on the West side of the Iron Curtain was said Saturday the West German intelligence chief laughed as he crossed the frontier and met the Soviet zone was "exactly where we want him."

The eyewitness, a customs' official, told West Berlin police he saw Dr. John and Erich Wolf, Hamburg Wohlgemuth, in an automobile at the frontier.

Eden Wants Immediate Measures To Prevent Any New Air Incidents

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Eden said today British wants immediate measures to prevent a recurrence of Red China's attack on a British airliner and passenger plane over the China Sea.

Eden's statement came in the House of Commons almost simultaneously with a U.S. state department announcement that U.S. warplanes had shot down two Chinese Communist planes which attacked them while they were searching for survivors of the British airliner.

Eden gave no immediate indication whether he knew beforehand of the Communist attack and shot down.

Eden told the Commons: "In the judgment of Her Majesty's government and in view of the facts and findings on the aircraft attacked, we consider that disciplinary action should be taken by the Chinese government against those concerned."

After a sharp statement on an incident which has roused the British public, Eden declared Britain welcomes Red China's "prompt offer to make amends for this savage and inexcusable attack upon an unarmed passenger aircraft."

The foreign secretary said Britain was grateful for the cooperation and assistance in rescue and investigation given by aircraft of the United States' services.

He said the government's sympathy is with all those who suffered "tragic loss as a result of this wanton attack."

Eden's statement came after Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor party opposition, said of the attack:

"This is not the first time on which attacks have been made on civil aircraft by members of forces which are supposed to be in better informed. It does seem to me that something must in this case and should not the strongest representations be made internationally for the avoidance of these incidents?"

Attlee's reference to possible international representations was taken as a suggestion that the United Nations should take up the case. Attlee is due next month to lead an eight-member official Labor party mission to Red China on a goodwill visit.

Springbrook Crash Claims Two Lives Sunday Afternoon

Accident at Marysville Involves Seven Vehicles

A series of accidents marred week-end travel on highways in this district.

Two persons were killed and three injured early Sunday afternoon in a headon collision on Highway 14, two miles north of Springbrook.

Near Marysville, on Highway No. 2, a thunderstower early Sunday afternoon made the road slippery and started a train of events that ultimately involved ten vehicles, including two Ontario Provincial Police cruisers and an ambulance, in accidents. Three persons suffered minor injuries.

Killed in the accident near Springbrook were Robert Lister, age 34, of 720 Willard Avenue, Toronto, and Annie Stevens, age 73, 1718 Kingston Rd., Toronto. injured were William Forbes, 53, his wife, Catherine Forbes, 49, all of Forbes, Ont., and Peter, 13, all of 32 Sanderstead Ave., Toronto.

Mrs. Forbes, who were on their way to Montreal for a holiday, suffered facial and leg cuts. Following treatment in Belleville General Hospital they returned to Toronto by taxi, Sunday afternoon.

ELDERLY DISTRICT

The accident happened about 1:30 Sunday afternoon, when Lister driving a brand new sports roadster of Italian make, pulled out to pass another car on a straight stretch of highway. He apparently failed to judge the distance of the approaching car and crashed headon into the Forbes' vehicle which was southbound.

Miss Stevens was killed instantly as she was thrown against the windshield and dash. Lister was still breathing when he was pried from the wreckage but died before he reached Belleville hospital where he was taken by Bush ambulance.

First to render assistance at the scene were Provincial Police Constables Don Menzies of Cobourg and O.P.P. Constable Harry Markenzie, 2-3 George St., Belleville.

Thomas Kenrish, Desoronto; Mrs. Joyce Croll, Toronto; and Mrs. Bill Clancy, passengers in different cars, all suffered minor injuries.

Slippery conditions on the highway were blamed for the collision. Lister was unable to stop, skidded into those already involved.

The chain reaction of accidents all began when the Rivera car from New York City skidded on a knoll two miles south of Marysville, early to the left side of highway car in his lane.

To avoid a headon collision with the approaching auto, Rivera swung his car to the shoulder of the highway and his vehicle rolled over in the ditch.

SKIDS INTO CAR

Then Bill Allen who was following the Rivera car came over the knoll and seeing the car in the ditch applied her brakes. Her car skidded into the opposite lane and collided with an outbound vehicle, driven by Clarence Smith, of Marysville. In the chain reaction mishap two additional cars skidded into the vehicles blocking the highway.

LARGE MUSKELLUNGE DISDAINED BAIT

The muskellunge, currently are on a diet in Twin Sisters Lake north of Marmora.

An angler returning from there Sunday tells the story of a big fellow which he believed weighed about 25 pounds, lazily sunning himself in shallow water.

He dangled every kind of bait in front of the muskie's nose but the fish, he swears, curled a disdainful lip at all of them.

A small bass swimming by lifted the big fish from its lethargy and he made a dash for it. By the time the angler returned with some live bait, you guessed it, the muskie was gone.

Three New Areas Report Invasion By Army Worms

Three additional reports of army worms attacking field crops in the Hastings county area were received over the week-end by the A. O. Dairymple, agricultural representative.

The appearances of the army worms are at Thomasburg, east of Belleville and in the Ivanhoe area.

While the seriousness of the three last appearances of army worms had not been fully investigated, Mr. Dairymple urged farmers not to get excited if the worms were noticed only in small numbers.

"We always have a few of them with us," the official noted.

First report of army worms was at Hazzard's Corners north of Madoc where a field of barley was attacked.

POISON BAIT

An effective control for army worms was said to be a mash consisting of 25 pounds of bran, one to two quarts of molasses; two and a half gallons of water and 2 pounds of paris green. Instead of paris green two pounds of 5% per cent available D.D.T. powder may be substituted.

The above mixture should be broadcast on the infected fields in the evening to avoid the danger of the worms getting out of the infected area the mash may be spread in a furrow.

Girl Companion Freezes in Fear As Men Drown

COBOURG (CP) — Three persons lost their lives in two separate drowning accidents in Rice Lake during the week-end.

Tweed Tax Rate Is Revised, Now 61 Mills

Tweed ratepayers will be called upon to pay a 61 mill tax rate this year, an increase of eight mills over the 1953 rate.

The tax rate was set at a special meeting of council held when it was found that expenditures for police and jail were overlooked in the estimates. At a previous session the rate had been set at 58 mills.

Softening the additional mill rate, however, is the fact that there will be a general overall reduction in the assessment this year, amounting to approximately 10 per cent.

Tax bills will be prepared within a short time according to Garrett D. C. Morton, municipal clerk.
